Session 1915 121st of the General Assembly

VOL. 3. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, JANUARY 5, 1915. No. 1.

SENATE.

MONDAY, January 5, 1915, 12 O'Clock M.

This being the day and hour fixed by the Constitution for the meeting of the General Assembly, the members of the Senate, together with the Senators-elect chosen at the last general election held on November 3, 1914, assembled in the Senate chamber.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John M. Reynolds) called the Senate to order at 12 o'clock noon.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. A. C. James offered the following prayer:

We lift up our eyes unto the hills from whence cometh our help. Our help cometh from the Lord which made Heaven and Earth. We come to Thee asking, knowing that we shall receive; seeking, knowing that we shall find; knocking, knowing that it shall be opened unto us. We come unto Thee, the Wonderful, the Counsellor, the mighty God, the everlasting Father, the Prince of Peace. These, whom Thou hast called to be the lawmakers of the people, help them to realize that Thou art the Law-giver, and that this is the Mount Sinai of the present, from which the great Eternal still hands down the eternal law of righteousness and justice. Watch over these into whose hands Thou hast committed this sacred trust. Help each one to realize that Life is real, life is earnest,

And the grave is not the goal,
Dust thou art, to dust returnest,
Was not spoken of the soul.

Hear us in our prayer, we ask it in our Redeemer's name. Amen.

SPECIAL ELECTION FOR SENATOR IN THE TWENTY-SEVENTH SENATORIAL DISTRICT.

The President announced that he had issued a writ for a special election for Senator in the Twenty-seventh Senatorial District, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Honorable John T. Fisher, as follows:

The PRESIDENT. The Honorable Charles H. Kline having received thirty-eight votes, and the Honorable Charles W. Sones twelve votes, I declare that the Honorable Charles H. Kline has been duly elected President pro tempore of the Senate for the session of 1915, and appoint the Senator from Delaware, Mr. Sproul, and the Senator from Lycoming, Mr. Sones, to escort the President pro tempore-elect to the bar of the Senate to take the oath of office.

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. President, your Committee has the honor of presenting the Honorable Charles H. Kline, just elected President pro tempore of the Senate.

ADMINISTRATION OF OATH TO PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE.

The PRESIDENT. The oath of office will be administered to the newly elected President pro tempore by the Honorable George Kunkel, President Judge of the Twelfth Judicial District.

The oath of office was accordingly administered.

The PRESIDENT. It gives me great pleasure to present to the Senate your newly elected President pro tempore for the session of 1915, the Honorable Charles H. Kline, of Allegheny.

Mr. KLINE. Mr. President and Gentlemen of the Senate:

I assure you that words are inadequate to express by keen appreciation of the great honour you have bestowed upon me this day, and I sincerely hope that I will merit at the close of the session, the same confidence you have in me to-day. My sole object will be to do my duty as I see it.

I find no Constitutional authority where I should, upon being inducted into office, lay down any legislative programme, and I assure I shall make no attempt whatever to usurp my authority. My duty, as I understand it is to preside over the deliberations of this body with honesty and common fairness to every one, without regard to party affiliations.

Through the nobility of their nature and the majesty of the intellect of those who laid the foundation stones of this matchless republic, the making of laws is vested in the people. You, men of this body, represent over seven and one-half millions of people who have placed confidence in you and know you will continue to uphold the dignity and honor of the Holy Trinity of our State—"Virtue, Liberty and Independence."

In the making of laws, however, let us not forget that legislation is not necessary for the honest.

That I care not how good the laws may be, they will not please all.

That we should legislate for the majority, not for the minority.

Place no laws upon the statute books actuated by fads or fancies, for they are dangerous.

It is well to adhere to time honored precedents.

It may be well also, in the performance of our legislative duties, and to assist us in the framing of legislation, to bear in mind that this great Commonwealth of ours, through the development of it natural resources, the coal industry alone being greater than all the natural resources of any other state in the Union, and through the proper manipulation of our public affairs, the state is free of debt.

That Pennsylvania is the only state in the Union that gives to private charities.

That more money is appropriated for the health and safety of its citizens than any other state.

Through its natural resources, gigantic, industrial and commercial institutions have sprung up, and through these and several other smaller channels the approximate revenues of the State are thirty-three millions yearly, and above all, the people of this State, ever since it was founded have been committed to conservatism, which is evidenced by the laws upon our statute books and the material progress we have made.

Through the material progress of our nation, the wants and necessities of one state are fast becoming complimental with all, and rapid strides are being made toward uniformity of legislation. But in so doing, let us not forget the magnificent institutions that are responsible for our material growth and progress, and never let us be a party to the destruction of personal pride and personal achievement.

Again thanking you for the great honour that you have conferred upon me, and asking your hearty co-operation in my labors.

The Chair awaits the pleasure of the Senate.

BUTLER COUNTY.

Albert L. Bowser, Butler, January 21, 1915.

JOHN K. TENER.

EXECUTIVE SESSION.

By unanimous consent.

A motion was made by Mr. Vare,

That rule 38, which requires all nominations made by the Governor to be referred to committee, be dispensed with, and the Senate do now resolve itself into Executive Session for the purpose of acting upon the nominations of Notaries Public received at to-day's session, which were not referred to the Committee on Executive Nominations.

Which was agreed to.

Whereupon,

A motion was made by Mr. Vare.

That the Senate do advise and consent to the nominations of Notaries Public received at to-day's session, which were not referred to the Committee on Executive Nominations.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—50.

Ordered, That the Governor be informed accordingly.

RECESS.

Mr VARE. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for five minutes.

Mr. GERBERICH. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS.

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

SENATE PROCEEDS TO HOUSE TO COUNT VOTE FOR STATE OFFICERS.

The hour of 3:30 o'clock P. M. having arrived.

Messrs. Woodward, Roney and Kitts, a Committee from the House of Representatives being introduced, informed the Senate that the House of Representatives was ready for the reception of the President and members of the Senate for the purpose of witnessing the opening, counting and publishing of the official returns of the votes cast on the first Tuesday of November, A. D. 1914, for Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and Secretary of Internal Affairs.

Whereupon,

The President and members of the Senate proceeded to the hall of the House of Representatives.

SENATE RETURNS FROM HOUSE.

After some time the President and Senators returned to the Senate chamber.

TELLERS' REPORT OF PROCEEDINGS OF JOINT SESSION OF SENATE AND HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES FOR THE OPENING, COUNTING AND PUBLISHING OF VOTES FOR GOVERNOR, LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, AND SECRETARY OF INTERNAL AFFAIRS.

Mr. GRAFF, teller on the part of the Senate, made a report which was read as follows:

That the president and members of the Senate and the Speaker and members of the House of Representatives, met in the hall of the House of Representatives, at three-thirty o'clock, this day, and the Honorable Charles H. Kline, President pro tempore of the Senate, in pursuance of the Constitution and laws of the Cmmonwealth did then and there proceed to open and count and publish the official returns of the election for Governor, Lieutenant-Governor and Secretary of Internal Affairs, held on the first Tuesday in November, being the third day of November, Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and fourteen, in the City of Philadelphia, and the several counties of the Commonwealth, as follows:

HOUSE MESSAGE.

COMMITTEE TO CONFER WITH GOVERNOR-ELECT ON LEGISLATION.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, informed the Senate that the House has concurred in the resolution from the Senate as follows:

In the Senate, January 5, 1915.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the President pro tempore of the Senate appoint a Committee of three Senators, to join with a similar committee of the House of Representatives, if the House shall appoint such committee, who together with the President pro tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall constitute a committee to confer with Honorable Martin G. Brumbaugh, Governor-elect, as to the introduction of bills advocated in the Republican State platform and the platform of the said Martin G. Brumbaugh.

And has appointed Messrs. W. H. Wilson, Henry I. Wilson, and Williams as such committee on the part of the House of Representatives.

MEMBERS OF COMMITTEE TO CONFER WITH GOVERNOR-ELECT ON LEGISLATION.

The President pro tempore announced the appointment of the following committee on the part of the Senate to confer with the Governor-elect on legislation: Messrs. McNichol, Sproul and Crow.

ADJOURNMENT.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn.

Mr. CLARK. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 4:30 o'clock P. M. until 9 o'clock, Monday evening, January 18, 1915.

HOUSE OF REPRESENATIVES.

TUESDAY, January, 5, 1915.

This being the day and hour fixed by the Constitution for the meeting of the General Assembly, the members-elect of the House of Representatives chosen at the last general election, held on November 3rd, 1914, assembled in the House Chamber.

The Chief Clerk, (Mr. Thomas H. Garvin) called the House to order at 12:00 o'clock noon.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. J. Elliott Wright, of Edgewood Park, Allegheny County, Pa., offered the following prayer:

Oh, God! It is eminently fiting that the first service of this Legislative Assembly should be the recognition of Thee, God of our fathers and our God. We humbly and reverently bow before Thee, invoking Thy blessing upon Thy servants now assembled for their work. Great dignity and honor has fallen upon them by the choice of the people and the appointment of Providence, and it calls for the recognition of loyalty, fidelity and earnestness of service. May they respond to this call with all sincerity and earnestness, seeking above all else to approve themselves unto God, to their own consciences and to the people of this Commonwealth whom they are chosen to represent. Preside in this session of the Assembly and guide in the choice of the Speaker to preside over it and of the other officials for the ordering of its work.

Bless the retiring Governor of this Commonwealth. May his administration, in the retrospect, be satisfactory to him and helpful to the people. Bless Thy servant coming into this responsible office and give him courage and strength and earnestness of purpose and great success.

Bless Thou the President of the United States and the Congress now in session and preserve us as a people from the distressful strifes which are elsewhere prevailing. Bring Thou to an end this disastrous war and bring out of it such results as shall vindicate Thy name and be for the betterment of the whole world.

All this we ask in the name and for the sake of Christ, our Saviour. Amen.

THE SECRETARY OF THE COMMONWEALTH PRESENTS RETURNS OF ELECTION OF MEMBERS.

The Secretary of the Commonwealth being introduced, presented the returns of the late election of the members of the House of Representatives, agreeably to the eighty-seventh (87th) section of Act of 2nd day of July, 1839, entitled "An act relating to elections in this Commonwealth."

OPENING OF RETURNS.

Mr. CURRY introduced the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

Resolved, That the returns be opened and read.

The said returns were opened and read as follows:

MEMBERS ABSENT.

FAYETTE COUNTY.

1st District.

Tony Ray Lynch.

The CHIEF CLERK. Two hundred and six members having answered to their names, a quorum is present. The House is now ready to proceed to business.

JUDGE TO ADMINISTER OATH OF OFFICE.

Mr. WILDMAN, a member-elect, offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

Resolved, That the Hon. S. J. McCarrell, a Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County, learned in the law, be requested to administer the oath required to be taken by the members of the House of Representatives.

ADMINISTRATION OF OATH OF OFFICE TO MEMBERS-ELECT.

The CHIEF CLERK. The members-elect will present themselves before the bar of the House, where the oath of office, as required by law, will be administered to them by the Honorable S. J. M. McCarrell, a Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County.

The oath of office was then administered to the members-elect.

ELECTION OF SPEAKER.

Mr. HEYBURN offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

Resolved, That in accordance with the provisions of the Constitution the House do now proceed to the election of a Speaker and that the Clerks act as Tellers.

The CHIEF CLERK. The gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Hess.

Mr. HESS. Mr. Chairman and Members of the House of Representatives for the Session of 1915 and Ladies and Gentlemen: It is indeed a pleasure to place in nomination a gentleman whose qualifications make him particularly fitted for the high office of presiding over this distinguished body. The gentleman whose name I shall place in nomination came to this place as a member of this body first in 1902. He has served continuously as a member of this body with the exception of a single term. His experience has been such as to peculiarly fit and qualify him for the arduous duties of the high office to which I nominate him. Not only is he especially qualified but his very genial disposition has won for him friends everywhere among the folks who have had the good fortune of mingling with him. He is the unanimous choice of the Republican caucus. This is indeed unusual. He is the unanimous choice of that Party that has done more to enable humanity to be lifted to higher and higher planes as the years have gone by; the unanimous choice of a Party that has always been progressive, so progressive indeed that no one can study its past record without being convinced of that fact.

It affords me great pleasure, indeed, to place in nomination as the Speaker of this House of Representatives the name of Charles A. Ambler, of Montgomery County.

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Clerk, it is unnecessary for me to extoll on the experience, characteristics and qualifications of the gentleman whom I am about to nominate. The Democratic caucus last evening unanimously selected as a candidate for the speakership of this coming session the gentleman from Elk County, the Honorable John M. Flynn, and I take pleasure in presenting his name as a candidate for that office.

Mr. WHITTAKER. Mr. Clerk and Gentlemen of the House of Representatives: The people of Pennsylvania have entrusted the management and control of this House of Representatives to the Republican party by such an extraordinarily large majority that a great responsibility rests upon us, and it is with a due sense of that responsibility and burden that the Republican members of this House of Representatives met last night and chose from a field of competent and worthy men one on whom they could rely as a leader and whom they could safely follow and in whom they had the greatest confidence as an able-minded and impartial presiding officer; a man who has always stood for the most progressive and most upright legislation in all of the sessions in which he has been a member, and one who will be fair to all parties, both his opponents and those of the other parties in the House. They therefore have chosen unanimously a man of whom the State can be proud and whom, as Speaker, we can all work with in harmony.

I therefore take pleasure in seconding the nomination of my friend, Charles A. Ambler, of Montgomery County.

The CHIEF CLERK. Are there any other nominations? If not, the nominations are closed, the roll will be called and the clerks will act as tellers.

The vote was then taken as follows:

FOR MR. AMBLER.

The CHIEF CLERK. The tellers agree in their count, and the vote cast by the members is as follows: Honorable Charles A. Ambler received 165 votes; Honorable John M. Flynn received 40 votes.

Honorable Charles A. Ambler, having received a majority of all the votes cast, is declared the Speaker of the House of Representatives of Pennsylvania for the session of 1915.

The CHIEF CLERK. I will appoint the gentleman from Elk, Mr. John M. Flynn, and the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. R. J. Baldwin, as a committee to escort the newly elected Speaker to the chair.

CORRECTION OF VOTE.

Mr. SHAABER. Mr. Speaker, owing to the confusion around me at the time, I inadvertently voted for Mr. Flynn for Speaker. I desire to be recorded as voting for Mr. Ambler.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman's explanation will be noted in the Journal and the clerks will make the correction on the roll.

Whereupon,

Mr. Ambler was escorted to the bar of the House by Messrs. Flynn and Baldwin.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Clerk, I have the pleasure of introducing to you the Honorable Charles A. Ambler, of Montgomery, who has just been elected Speaker of this House.

The CHIEF CLERK. Gentlemen of the House, I have the honor of presenting to you the Honorable Charles A. Ambler, Speaker-elect of the House of Representatives. (Applause.)

The oath of office will now be administered to the Speaker-elect.

SWEARING IN THE SPEAKER.

The oath of office was then administered to Honorable Charles A. Ambler, Speaker-elect of the House of Representatives, by the Honorable S. J. M. McCarrell, additional law judge of the Twelfth Judicial District.

ADDRESS OF SPEAKER.

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives:

I feel I cannot say in words how I appreciate the honor you have conferred upon me, for it is a great honor for any man to be chosen Speaker of this House which represents this great State, and I sincerely thank you. I shall endeavor to preside over you in all fairness and do what I can to prove to the people of Pennsylvania that they made no mistake in sending us here to represent them. But I realize I am helpless unless you give me your undivided help and support, and in this I earnestly request you to do. Our Governor-elect, the Hon. Martin B. Brumbaugh, has promised the people that he stood for laws that would benefit and help them all and it is our duty to work in harmony with him and prove that when we present a candidate for their suffrage, we are honest and mean what we say, and legislate for the good to the greatest number and in doing this, we must remember that our work will have much influence for good or bad at the coming Presidential election. Before closing, I want to say to my colleagues who were also candidates for this honorable position that I appreciate the unselfish spirit they have shown, and thank them for the kind words that they have said in my behalf. With a grateful feeling to Him who rules all our destinies and asking His help in our work, I thank you all again. (Applause.)

NOTIFICATION OF THE SENATE.

Mr. HESS offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to wait upon the Senate and inform that body that the House of Representatives is now organized and ready to proceed to business.

The SPEAKER. The Chair appoints Messrs. Hess, Baldwin and Hapgood, as said committee.

SENATE MESSAGE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, as follows:

In the Senate, January 5, 1915.

Resolved (if the House concur), That a committee of three be appointed to act in conjunction with a similar committee on the part of the House of Representatives, (if the House of Representatives shall appoint such committee), to wait on His Excellency, the Governor, and inform him that the General Assembly is organized and ready to receive any communications he may be pleased to make.

Ordered, That Messrs. Clark, Buckman and Wasbers be the said committee on the part of the Senate, and that the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

Said resolution was twice read, considered and concurred in.

The SPEAKER. The Chair appoints Messrs. Williams, Henry I. Wilson and Flynn, as said Committee on the part of the House of Representatives, and the Clerk will inform the Senate accordingly.

NOTIFICATION OF SENATE'S ORGANIZATION.

Messrs. Salus, Daix and DeWitt, a Committee from the Senate, being introduced, informed the House of Representatives that the Senate was duly organized and ready to proceed with business, and were extended the thanks of the House.

ELECTION OF CLERKS.

Mr. WILLIAM H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House now go into the nomination and election of a Chief Clerk, Resident Clerk and Assistant Clerk for the session of 1915.

Mr. COX. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. Nominations for the said offices are now in order.

Mr. WILLIAM H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, carrying out the express wishes of the Republican caucus, I desire to place in nomination for the office of Chief Clerk, Thomas H. Garvin, of Delaware County; for the office of Resident Clerk, William S. Leib, of Schuylkill County; and for the office of Assistant Clerk, Frank W. Morrison, of Philadelphia County.

Mr. SHAFFER. Mr. Speaker, the following names are offered as a substitute for the offices herein named: Chief Clerk, Honorable John G. Harmon, of Columbia County; Assistant Clerk, Honorable John L. Post, of Washington County; and Resident Clerk, Honorable John Null, of Centre County.

On the question.

Will the House agree to the substitution?

It was not agreed to.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I move you that the election of these officers be by acclamation.

Mr. SCHAEFFER. I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point.

Mr. RONEY. As I understand the procedure, the House has now voted in the affirmative to have the election by acclamation. Is it not necessary now to have the House elect the officers by acclamation?

The SPEAKER. The point is well taken. The question now before the House is the election by acclamation of Thomas H. Garvin, of Delaware County Chief Clerk, William S. Leib, of Schuylkill County Resident Clerk and Frank W. Morrison, of Philadelphia, Assistant Clerk.

It was agreed to.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE TO WAIT UPON THE GOVERNOR.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, your Committee to wait upon the governor, in conjunction with the Committee from the Senate, beg leave to report that they have performed that duty.

The SPEAKER. The Committee is discharged with the thanks of the House.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Private Secretary of the Governor being introduced, presented communications in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which were laid upon the table.

OATH OF OFFICE ADMINISTERED TO CHIEF CLERK, RESIDENT CLERK AND ASSISTANT CLERK.

The Chief Clerk, Resident Clerk and Assistant Clerk presented themselves at the Bar of the House, and the oath of office, as required by law, was administered to them by the Speaker.

APPOINTMENT OF ASSISTANT RESIDENT CLERK.

In accordance with the Act of April 12, 1905, the Resident Clerk announced the appointment of I. Dale Meals, as Assistant Resident Clerk.

OATH OF OFFICE ADMINISTERED TO ASSISTANT RESIDENT CLERK.

The Assistant Resident Clerk presented himself at the Bar of the House, and the Oath of office, as required by law, was administered to him by the Speaker.

SENATE MESSAGE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented the following extract from the Journal of the Senate which was read as follows:

JOINT SESSION TO COMPUTE VOTES.

In the Senate, January 5, 1915.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Senate and the House of Representatives will meet in joint convention Tuesday, January five, at 3:30 o'clock P. M., for the purpose of witnessing the opening, computing and counting the vote for Governor, Lieutenant-Governor and Secretary of Internal Affairs, and that Mr. Graff, of Armstrong County, be appointed teller on the part of the Senate.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

Said Resolution was twice read, considered and concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

APPOINTMENT OF TELLER TO COUNT VOTE.

The Speaker. In accordance with the resolution concurred in, the Chair appoints the gentleman from Lawrence, Mr. Walton as Teller to meet with a similar Teller on the part of the Senate in the Hall of the House at 3:30 o'clock P. M. of this day to canvass the vote cast for the office of Governor, Lieutenant Governor and Secretary of Internal Affairs.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE TO NOTIFY SENATE.

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, your Committee appointed to inform the Senate that the House is organized and ready to proceed with business, beg to report that they have performed that duty.

The SPEAKER. The Committee is discharged with the thanks of the House.

ADOPTION OF RULES FOR THE HOUSE.

Mr. WILSON offered the following resolution which was read by the Clerk:

Resolved, That the rules of the last House with the following substitutions and amendments be adopted as the rules of the present House.

That Rule No. 5 of the rules of the last House which reads as follows:

"The Speaker shall appoint the members of select and conference committees unless otherwise ordered by the House." to be stricken out and that there be substituted therefore the following:

"The Speaker shall appoint the members of standing, select and conference committees unless otherwise ordered by the House."

That Rule No. 31 of the Rules of the last House which reads as follows:

"The following standing committees: A Committee on Accounts, A Committee on Agriculture, A Committee on Appropriations, A Committee on Banks and Banking, A Committee on Bureau of Statistics, A Committee on Centennial Affairs, A Committee to Compare Bills, A Committee on Congressional Apportionment, A Committtee on Constitutional Reform, A Committee on Corporations, A Committee on Counties and Townships, A Committee on Education, A Committee on Elections, A Committee on Electric Railways, A Committee on Federal Relations, A Committtee on Fisheries, A Committtee on Forestry, A Committee on Game, A Committtee on Geological Survey, A Committee on Insurance, A Committtee on Iron and Coal, A Committtee on Judicial Apportionment, A Committtee on Judiciary (General), A Committee on Judiciary (Local), A Committee on Judiciary (Special), A Committee on Labor and Industry, A Committee on Law and Order, A Committee on Legislative Apportionment, A Committee on Library, A Committee on Manufactures, A Committee on Military, A Committee on Mines and Mining, A Committee on Municipal Corporations, A Committtee on Pensions and Gratuities, A Committee on Printing, A Committtee on Public Buildings, A Committtee on Public Health and Sanitation, A Committtee on Public Roads, A Committtee on Railroads, A Committtee on Retrenchment and Reform, A Committtee on Ways and Means, shall be elected by the House at the commencement of each session in the following manner:

The representation of each party or association on each committee shall be in the proportion which its membership bears to the total membership of the House. The said membership may be selected by each party or association in such manner as it may by its rules determine, said election to be approved by the House. Each committee shall organize by electing its own officers. The Speaker shall immediately after his election announce the proportional representation to which each party or association is entitled on the various committtees, and each member shall notify the Speaker of the party or association in which he desires to be counted for the purpose of determining such representation.

The several committees shall consist of twenty-five members, except the Committtee on Apprporiations, which shall consist of forty members; and the Committtees on Public Roads, Public Health and Sanitation and Electric Railways, which shall each consist of thirty-five members.

The method of election of standing committees provided for in this rule shall not apply during the session of 1913.

Be stricken out and that there be substituted therefor, the following:

"The following standing committees shall be appointed at the commencement of each session until otherwise ordered: A Committee on Accounts, A Committee on Agriculture, A Committee on Appropriations, A Committee on Banks and Banking, A Committee on Bureau of Statistics,

A Committee on Centennial Affairs, A Committee to Compare Bills, A Committee on Congressional Apportionment, culture, A Committee on Appropriations, A Committee on Corporations, A Committee on Counties and Townships, A Committee on Education, A Committee on Elections, A Committee on Electric Railways, A Committee on Federal Relations, A Committee on Fisheries, A Committee on Forestry, A Committee on Game, A Committee on Geological Survey, A Committee on Insurance, A Committee on Iron and Coal, A Committee on Judicial Apportionment, A Committee on Judiciary (General), A Committee on Judiciary (Local), A Committee on Judiciary (Special), A Committee on Labor and Industry, A Committee on Law and Order, A Committee on Legislative Apportionment, A Committee on Library, A Committee on Manufactures, A Committee on Military, A Committee on Mines and Mining, A Committee on Municipal Corporations, A Committee on Pensions and Gratuities, A Committee on Printing, A Committee on Public Buildings, A Committee on Public Health and Sanitation, A Committee on Public Roads, A Committee on Railroads, A Committee on Retrenchment and Reform, A Committee on Ways and Means.

The Committee on Apportionment shall be appointed only at such times when apportionments are required to be made.

The several committees shall consist of twenty-five members, except the Committee on Appropriations which shall consist of forty members, and the Committee on Public Roads, Public Health and Sanitation and Electric Railways, which shall each consist of thirty-five members."

That Rule No. 37 of the last House, which reads as follows:

"The recommendations by a committee that a bill be negatived shall not affect its consideration by the House, but the words "negative recommendation" shall be printed conspicuously on a line above the title of the bill, but such bill shall not be placed upon the calendar except by a vote of sixty members but if such motion be negatived once, it shall not be renewed."

Be stricken out and there be substituted therefor the following:

"The recommendations by a committee that a bill be negatived shall not affect its consideration by the House but the words 'negative recommendation' shall be printed conspicuously on the line above the title of the bill, but such bill shall not be placed upon the calendar except by a majority of the members voting upon such motion, but if such motion be negatived once, it shall not be renewed."

That Rule No. 63 of the Rules of the last House which reads as follows:

"A committee of six shall be elected by the House, which together with the Speaker ex-officio, shall constitute a Committee on Rules, and shall report to the House from time to time, rules for the government thereof, and amendments to such rules; said committee shall be privileged to report at any time, and said report shall be adoped by a majority vote."

Be stricken out, and that there be substituted therefore the following:

"A committee of five shall be appointed by the Chair, which together with the Speaker ex-officio, shall constitute a Committee on Rules, and shall report to the House from time to time, rules for the government thereof, and amendments to such rules; said committee shall be privileged to report at any time, and said report shall be adopted by a majority vote."

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Elk, Mr. Flynn.

Mr. FLYNN. The amendments to the rules here offered appear to be quite lengthy and some of us do not understand what they mean. It might be well to ask the author to explain what changes are contemplated.

Mr. WILLIAM H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, the purpose of the resolution is to enact the rules of the last session with the exception of the placing of the appointing power of committees and the chairman thereof with the Rules Committee and placing that power where it was prior to the last session, namely with the Speaker. The only other change is that under the rules of 1913 a bill which was negatived by a Committee could be placed on the calendar by a vote of sixty members. This resolution proposes to change the rules so that a majority voting upon that motion can place a bill upon the calendar notwithstanding the recommendation of the Committee. That is the only change made in the rule and practically puts the House back on the basis where it was prior to the last session.

The SPEAKER. The question is on the adoption of the resolution.

It was agreed to.

HOURS OF MEETING.

Mr. RAMSEY offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to.

Resolved, That until otherwise ordered, the sessions of the House shall commence at ten o'clock ante meridian.

THANKING JUDGE MCCARRELL FOR ADMINISTERING OATHS.

Mr. SWARTZ offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives of Pennsylvania hereby extend their thanks to the Honorable S. J. M. McCarrell, a Judge of the Court of Dauphin County, for his services in administering the oath of office to its members.

SENATE MESSAGES.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate as follows:

TIME OF ADJOURNMENT.

In the Senate, January 5, 1915.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Legislature adjourns to-day it be to meet on Monday evening, January 18th at nine o'clock.

Said resolution was twice read, considered and concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, as follows:

PROVIDING INAUGURAL COMMITTEE.

In the Senate, January 5, 1915.

Resolved, That the President pro tempore of the Senate be and is hereby authorized to appoint a committee of seven Senators to act in conjunction with a committee of nine Members of the House of Representatives (if the House should appoint such committee) to make the necessary arrangements for the inauguration, to wait upon his Excellency, the Governor-elect and conduct him in a suitable manner to the Capitol for the purpose of having the oath of office administered to him; and,

Resolved, That the inaugural ceremones take place at twelve o'clock M. on the third Tuesday of January, the 19th, on the south side of the Capitol, should the weather prove favorable, otherwise in the Hall of the House of Representatives; and,

Be it further resolved, That said committee be and is hereby authorized to expend a sum not exceeding twenty-five thousand ($25,000.00) dollars for the making and carrying out of the said arrangements, the same to be provided for in the appropriation bill.

Said resolution was twice read, considered and concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, as follows:

POSTAGE ON LEGISLATIVE JOURNAL.

In the Senate, January 5, 1915.

Whereas, the Post Office Department has decided that the Legislative Journal must be third class matter and has so instructed the Postmaster at Harrisburg;

Therefore, be it resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Chief Clerks of the Senate and the House of Representatives be directed to make arrangements for the necessary postage so that the Legislative Journal may be mailed according to the requirements of the Post Office Department and that the same be provided for in the appropriation bill.

Said resolution was twice read, considered and concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

GOVERNORS BIENNIAL MESSAGE.

The Private Secretary to the Governor of the Commonwealth being introduced, presented the biennial message of His Excellency, the Governor, to the General Assembly.

The message was then read, as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, January 5, 1915.

Gentlemen of the Senate and the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

"The government is a trust and the officers of the government are trustees, and both the trust and the trustees are created for the benefit of the people." The duty of a Governor, therefore, upon his retirement from office, should be to furnish the General Assembly and the people of the Commonwealth with a statement of his trusteeship, and he might, with propriety, refrain from making many recommendations as to measures for legislative consideration, as they may well be left to his successor.

FINANCES OF THE COMMONWEALTH.

GENERAL FUND.

Cash balance in the State Treasury, November 30, 1914,		$7,427,208 58
Less amount credited to the Sinking Fund, which under the law cannot be used for any purpose other that the payment of the public debt, and is therefore not available for appropriation,	$811,733 40
Less amount credited to the Permanent State School Fund, the income only may be expended,	30,804 77
Less amount credited to the Motor Fund, which under the provisions of the Act of July 7, 1913, is set aside for specific purposes,	8,973 00
		851,511 17
Amount in General Fund, November 30, 1914,		$6,575,697 41
Estimated gross receipts for the fiscal year ending November 30, 1915,	$29,380,861 45
Less the following collections which merely pass through the treasury, and are not subject to appropriation: Receipts from various sources, devoted to the Permanent School Fund; receipts from Motor Licences, devoted to the uses of the State Highway Department; receipts from the Federal Government, for the use of the State College and the Soldiers' and Sailors' Home; the State Highway Construction Fund, received from municipalities for the use of the State Highway Department, and one-half of the premiums received from foreign insurance companies, payable to municipalities without appropriation, estimated in the aggregate at the sum of,	1,832,675 35
		$27,548,186 10
Estimated gross receipts for the fiscal year ending November 30, 1916,	$30,849,904 52
Less the following collections which merely pass through the treasury, and are not subject to appropriation: Receipts from various sources, devoted to the Permanent School Fund; receipts from Motor Licenses, devoted to the uses of the State Highway Department; receipts from the Federal Government, for the use of State College and the Soldiers' and Sailors' Home; the State Highway Construction Fund, received from municipalities for the use of the State Highway Department, and one-half the premiums received from foreign fire insurance companies, payable to municipalities without appropriation, estimated in the aggregate at the sum of,	1,832,675 35
		$29,017,229 17
Estimated receipts for the period from November 30, 1916, to May 13, 1917,		12,106,660 97
Total amount available and to become available, June 1, 1917,		$75,247,773 65
Less payments for obligations and current expenses to June 1, 1917, as indicated by the unexpended balances of existing appropriations,		26,468,132 16
Net amount available and to become available for appropriation for the two fiscal years beginning June 1, 1915, and ending May 31, 1917,		$48,779,641 49

SINKING FUND, NOVEMBER 30, 1914

Sinking Fund assets—cash,	$811,733 40
Total public debt,	651,110 02
Net surplus in Sinking Fund,	$160,623 38

In estimating the probable revenues of the Commonwealth, the tax on anthracite coal imposed under the provisions of the Act of the General Assembly of June 27, 1913, has not been included, for the reason that practically all anthracite coal mining companies have appealed from the settlements made against them and have indicated their intention of carrying such appeals to the Supreme Court of the United States. In case of a decision favorable to the Commonwealth, the result will probably be the revenue from this source will not be received until after the period for which the above estimate is made.

APPROPRIATIONS.

Under the law the State Board of Public Charities has free access to the grounds, buildings and all books and papers relating to charitable, reformatory, and correctional institutions; and all such institutions that may desire to receive State aid must give notice to the Board, on or before the first day of November in each year, of the amount of any application for aid they may propose to make to the Legislature, and of the several purposes to which such aid, if granted, is to be applied; and in its report to the General Assembly the conclusions and recommendations of the Board thereon are given. In acting upon appropriations to these institutions I have found these conclusions and recommendations to be carefully prepared and worthy of every consideration. The Legislature, therefore, in making appropriations to these institutions should endeavor to limit them to the amounts recommended by this Board.

The chief problem in the lives of individuals, families, and business enterprises is the adustment of expenditures to the receipts, the outgo to the income. In the management of the State's fiscal affairs there should be established business-like principles. It is wrong for each session of the General Assembly to make appropriations far in excess of the revenue, imposing upon the Governor the responsibility of reducing the amounts to reasonable limits. There is no excuse for such a practice, especially when one considers that the executive and fiscal officers furnish, at the beginning of each session of the Legislature, a statement as to what revenue will be available for appropriation purposes.

I, therefore, urge the General Assembly to discontinue this method of appropriation, and thereby lighten in no little measure the duties of the executive.

INVENTORY OF REAL AND PERSONAL PROPERTY.

In order that an inventory might be made of the tangible assets of the Commonwealth, I appointed an inventory commission, consisting of the Executive Controller, the Deputy Auditor General, and the Superintendent of Public Grounds and Buildings, to prepare an inventory of all the tangible assets of the Commonwealth, both real and personal, as of May 31, 1914. This work has been performed with diligence and ability, with the result that for the first time the Commonwealth is in position to determine the value of these assets. The totals in this inventory aggregate $62,743,876.35 divided as follows: Real Estate, $49,356,392.84; Personal Property, $5,625,766.35; General Fund and Sinking Fund in the State Treasury, $7,761,717.15.

This inventory has been prepared in detail and has been deposited in the office of the Executive Controller, and should prove of much value for comparative purposes in all future inventories.

HEALTH.

The Department of Health has rendered invaluable services to the people of the Commonwealth—in fact, it enjoys an enviable international reputation. The work performed at Austin, after that municipality was washed away, and at Gettysburg in looking after the sanitary and hospital conditions at the time of the Reunion of the Blues and the Grays, is especially worthy of notice.

In its tuberculosis work the department makes its biological products after its own formula; its sanatoria buildings have been planned so as to furnish the greatest possible amount of air and sunlight; and from its 115 dispensaries have not only come the patients for these sanatoria, the capacity of which has been trebled in the last four years, but their nurses enter the homes of our people and help them to protect themselves against the spread of disease. Thousands of patients have been discharged from the sanatoria apparently cured, or with their disease arrested.

By establishing and maintaing quarantine in rural districts; supervising and assisting in the suppression of epidmics at the request of local authorities; cleaning up the premises and purifying the water supplies, the danger to the people from epidemics of contagious disease has been greatly reduced. Trained inspectors have policed watersheds and diverted many thousands of pollutions from streams. Sewage-disposal plants have been constructed to care for municipal sewage. Filtration plants are now furnishing filtered water to more than one-half of the population of the State.

The records of the Bureau of Vital Statistics show a decrease of almost 70 per cent. in the death rate from typhoid fever since the establishment of the Department of Health, and a decrease in the general death rate of nearly 14 per cent.

Under the provisions of the Board of Health Act of June 12, 1913, boards of health have been secured or reorganized in nearly every borough and first class township. These boards are constantly advised and assisted by the department.

By constant use of sane and practical methods, though at very considerable expense, owing to the lack of compulsory vaccination law, epidemics of smallpox have been prevented during a period when infection was persistently being carried into our State from outside sources.

Diphtheria antitoxin furnished free to the poor has saved more than 10,000 lives that would have been lost if this wonderful remedy could not have been readily obtained.

School inspection in fourth class districts, under the provisions of the School Code, has been a success. In 1911 two-thirds of the districts have rejected this inspection. During the present year it has been accepted by 90 per cent. of the same districts. Follow-up work for three years shows 75,000 cases where defects found by inspectors have been remedied by the parents after notice received from the Department of Health.

Through its educational features,—exhibits, lectures and publications,—the department has given the general public a better understanding of health laws and the value of fresh air, of sunlight and sanitary surroundings, and has greatly improved household conditions. Private and public corporations have instituted improved methods recommended by the department. Great industrial interests realize that money and effort expended for keeping their employes well is a good business investment.

Liberal appropriations should be continued for this laudable work. The department's general fund should be sufficiently increased to provide for the Bureau of Housing, and increased appropriations should be made for medical inspections of schools.

PURE FOOD.

Pennsylvania's pure food laws are probably the best in this country. They are enforced vigorously and efficiently. It is the dtuy of a State to see to it that measures are enacted for securing and maintaining a pure and wholesome food supply, to facilitate its distribution, to safeguard its quality, and to prohibit absolutely any and every adulteration in food and drink.

Duing this administration many pure food laws have been enacted. The law fixing standards of composition of milk and cream has resulted in a marked improvement in the quality of these important foods; the law requiring the denaturing of spoiled eggs has protected the consumer from the use in bakers' wares of these deleterious ingredients; and the cold storage law, which was intended to correct a serious abuse, has proven beneficial.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Since the passage of the School Code in 1911 the State Board of Education and the Bureau of Vocational Education have been organized. The former has special charge of the erection of school buildings and the dissemination of educational information. It employs an architect to criticise plans of new school buildings, to suggest necessary changes and to harmonize new buildings with the requirements of the law. It is charged with the duty of acquiring by purchase the property of the State Normal Schools. The schools at West Chester, Einboro, California and Lock Haven have thus far been bought and are now entirely under the control of the State. The Act of 1913 makes the Board responsible also for the care and education of blind babies, and a beginning has been made along this line of beneficence.

The Bureau of Vocational Education has in twenty-eight counties organized and established schools with agricultural and vocational departments, introduced courses in domestic science and the household arts in many of the school districts, and supervised the establishment of schools for the education of miners, many of whom are not conversant with the English language. As soon as the workmen learn to read, write and understand English, and acquire some knowledge of ventilation and other mining problems, the number of accidents is diminished.

Worthy of mention are several benefactions to school districts. On October 13, 1914, Mr. M. S. Hershey presented to Derry Township, Dauphin County, a school building costing $120,000. The rooms are supplied with all the modern improvements. Mr. Charles Lytle Lamberton, born and educated in Carlisle, though a resident of New York at the time of his death, bequeathed over $200,000 for the establishment and maintenance in Carlisle of a public school for the education of pupils in "the industrial, mechanical, technical and scientific arts." William Harris Boyer, also of New York City, gave $30,000 for the purchase of grounds and the erection of a school building in the borough of Halifax.

In the growing centres of population the directors have difficulty in erecting school buildings rapidly enough to accommodate the school children. The system of public instruction is growing in efficiency and is attaining colossal proportions. School buildings with a valuation of more than $100,000,000, with 39,596 tachers in active service, and with 1,401,325 pupils enrolled, constitute an organization the magnitude of which it is difficult for the imagination to conceive. Its influence upon the future of our people makes it worthy of the most liberal support and the most vigilant care and supervision.

LABOR AND INDUSTRY.

The comprehensive law creating the Department of Labor and Industry enacted at the last session of the General Assembly, has been enforced fearlessly and honestly. It is the duty of this department to endeavor in every way to establish friendly relations between capital and labor in order that industrial disturbances may be prevented. The educational campaign for the dissemination of knowledge concerning "safety first" methods has been vigorously conducted, as probably 60 per cent. of industrial accidents are caused through lack of knowledge of safety appliances. Numerous industrial conferences have been held over the State, including two State-wide conferences in Harrisburg, which have already resulted in materially reducing the number of such accidents.

MINES.

Pennsylvania is the greatest coal producing territory in the world; producing in 1913, 264,592,623 tons. The State has enacted comprehensive legislation for the protection of those employed in this great industry. These laws are rigidly enforced and violators of their provisions are promptly punished. The bituminous mining code, enacted at the session of 1911, has already proved its worth in conserving the health of employes and by reducing the number of accidents in and about such mines. The number of inspectors in the bituminous region has been increased to 28 and in the anthracite region to 21.

In order that the greatest possible safety may be thrown about mining operations, the department has recommended the establishment of First Aid Corps and Rescue Corps at the various mines. The primary object of the First Aid and Rescue Work is to render quick service in times of emergency, and the effectiveness of the work has frequently been demonstrated. In the anthracite region there are now approximately 500 First Aid teams, comprising 3,000 men, and the number instructed in the work up to the present time is about 6,000. The number of Rescue Corps is over 100, comprising more than 700 men, and in this work about 3,000 men have received instructions. In the bituminous region there are more than 400 First Aid teams, comprising 2,000 men, and the number instructed in the work at the present time is about 3,000. The number of Rescue Corps is about 60, comprising 300 men, and in this work about 700 men have received instruction.

In all the mining districts encouragement is given to the various methods of education, such as night schools, mining institutes, and vocational schools.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION.

In my last message to the General Assembly, concerning the subject of a workmen's compensation law, referred to in the report of the Industrial Accidents Commission, I said:

"It is important in every civilized community, but is of peculiar importance in Pennsylvania, because of the pre-eminent position of our State in the industrial work of the world. The report deserves especial attention because of the fact that it comes from a commission made up of men who represent diverse interests, who have all given the subject thought and study before their appointment, and who, after many months of work, are unanimous in their conclusions. This unanimity in men of their character and standing speaks eloqently for the sincerity of their efforts and the fairness of their work. Furthermore, the constant publicity which the commission gave to its work, and the frequent hearings which it gave to all interests, show that it has been in clost touch with the general sentiment of the people of the State.

"In the appointment of the commissioners I did not consider, and in some cases did not know, the political views of the men appointed. It is my earnest hope that the matter will be dealt with by the Legislature in the same nonpartisan spirit.

"I strongly urge the enactment of the Workmen's Compensation Bill, and the other related bills included in the report of the commission, * * * * * and without delay, especially the bill regulating the employment of women and children."

I most emphatically reiterate what was then said and urge the prompt enactment of this legislation. One-half of the States of the Union now have laws of this kind upon their statue books; and in my opinion Pennsylvania the greatest industrial State of them all, should no longer hesitate, more particularly as every State surrounding and contiguous to Pennsylvania, with the exception of Delaware, has acted favorably upon this important subject. The General Assembly, having the experience of 24 States to draw from, is in a position to pass a bill that would be acceptable to employer and employe alike.

Duing the past few years there has been throughout the country a marked awakening along all lines pertaining to the care and welfare of the dependent, defeticve, and penal classes. To this call Pennsylvania has responded in a manner that should arouse the pride of every citizen.

During the past four years she has placed upon her statute books legislation looking to the betterment of undesirable conditions. Proposed drafts of statutes are being considered for submission to the General Assembly, covering practically every phase of the care, detention and reformation of the weak, defective, unfortunate and erring.

During this period increased accommodations for the insane have been provided at Farview and Rittersville and additional buildings have been erected at Polk and Spring City for the care of the weak-minded. In addition to the election of buildings to care for the constantly increasing number of these two classes of unfortunates, large sums of mony have been appropriated for the purpose of making them comfortable . The last session of the General Assembly provided for the erection of a Home for Inebriates, a Women's Reformatory, and a Home for Feeble-Minded Women.

The Juvenile Court Act has been extended, in order to make this already useful legislation more effective; and the powers of the Board of Public Charities have been so increased as to enable it to give better and closer direction and supervision over the important matters coming under its jurisdiction.

Many of the laws governing the care of the dependent delinquent, and penal clases were passed years ago, when conditions were entirely different from those existing today. Amendments were made from time to time as necessity seemed to require, until now, taking them together, there are hundreds of statutes relating to these different subjects. In my Message to the General Assembly of 1913 it was recommended that, in order to correct this condition, a commission be created to examine into these subjects and to report a comprehensive plan for their improvement. Accordingly, the commission was appointed, and will report the results of its deliberations and conclusions at an early date.

"Shall the helpless be cared for?" is no longer a debatable question— it must be done. Pennsylvania never hesitated a moment in answering the question, and she has answered it with a liberality which no other State can rival. During the past four years Pennsylvania has biven $11,000,000 for the sick, indigent, and helpless in private hospitals and homes; $1,169,000 to those in semi-state institutions,, which includes the blind and deaf; and $15,600,000 to State hospitals for the care and maintenance of the indigent, insane, weak-minded, and sick. This does not include over $5,000,000 given to the Department of Health for the care of those suffering from tuberculosis, and $5,500,000 for buildings to shelter them.

AGRICULTURE.

The great mining and manufacturing interests of this State have brought to the door of the Pennsylvania farmer a market unsurpassed for everything produced upon the farm.

Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture compares favorably with like departments in other States. This department exercises close supervision over the agricultural interests,—by extending agricultural knowledge, by educational work, and by protecting farmers and other citizens of the Commonwealth from possible fraud on the part of manufacturers and dealers in commercial fertilizers, commercial feeding stuffs, linseed oil and farm seeds. The Division of Farmers' Institutes carries its work into every county of the State, by holding Movable Schools of Agriculture and Farmers' Institutes, delivering lectures and giving object lessons and systematic instruction upon all subjects relating to successful farming, domestic science and the improvement of rural conditions generally. The number of persons receiving instruction in these Movable Schools and Farmers' Institutes has been increasing, reaching last year more than 208,000, the largest attendance in any year since the beginning of the work. Special instructors and demonstrators have gone through the State giving practical demonstrations in soil improvement, dairy and animal industry, poultry production, drainage, water-supply, vegetable and fruit growing, home sanitation, household economics, etc.

LIVESTOCK.

Notwithstanding the fact that the livestock of the State is valued at $180,000,000, we are compelled to depend upon the markets of other States for horses to do our work, and for cattle, sheep, swine, and poultry for our food supply. Pennsylvania should furnish a surplus in this line and be able to export rather than import animals and their valuable products; and, to this end, its institutions of learning and the various branches of the State Government are encouraging greater efforts in breeding and raising animals.

The wisdom of providing hygienic measures for controlling the transmissible diseases of animals has been demonstrated. Practically, without warning, aphthous fever, one of the most dreaded animal plagues of the old world, has been forced upon us. From the Chicago Stockyards, this disease was spread to sixteen States within a period of two weeks. The disease was introduced in its incubation stage to practically 500 herds in 25 counties in Pennsylvania. In many cases the herds were located and quarantined by State agents before the first symptoms of the disease had appeared. Our livestock interests have been disturbed extensively. Regulations, restrictions, and losses have fallen heavily on many. For the public good it has apeared necessary to destroy many valuable animals and much personal property. The Federal and State officers have promised to reimburse those that have been unfortunate in this respect, in so far as the laws and finances will permit. The expenses have necessarily been heavy and the funds provided by the last Legislature have been exhausted.

I therefore recommend that the General Assembly make prompt provision for the payment of bills already contracted and for the payment of expenses necessary to continue the work of exterminating the disease.

ECONOMIC ZOOLOGY.

The Division of Economic Zoology, to which has been assigned all special work concerning fruit production, is well organized, and the gratifying results accomplished by it have more than demonstrated its usefulness.

Original investigations are made for the purpose of discovering successful means for suppressing diseases and destroying insect pests to which fruit-trees and fruit-producing plants are subject. Some of the results obtained by reason of these studies are now being used, not only in this State, but by zoologists in other States and countries. Demonstration orchards have been established in every county in the State, making it possible for any citizen who is interested in fruit-growing to reach a model demonstration orchard in less than one-half day's travel from his home.

GOOD ROADS.

Your attention is called to the fact that on June 1, 1912, the State took over from the counties and townships of the Commonwealth certain existing public roads connecting county-seats, principal cities and towns, relieved the said townships and counties of authority over said roads, and assumed to improve, maintain, and repair the same as State highway routes, solely at the expense of the Commonweath. These routes approximated 9,000 miles in length.

That such a task was stupendous is apparent. Many of these roads were not much more than wagon paths having no drainage system, but marked by "water-breakers" and encroached upon by grass and shrubs.

In order that money might be provided in sufficient amount for the early completion of this comprehensive road improvement, an amendment of the Constitution of the Commonweath was proposed, and the question of authorizing the State to issue bonds to the amount of $50,000,000 for the improvement and rebuilding of the highways of Pennsylvania was submitted to the electors and failed of approval.

The work done has been limited to appropriation and funds totaly inadequate to properly repair and keep up the extensive highway system adopted by the Commonwealth. Broad, well-crowned, smooth dirt roads have, however, been substituted, as far as possible, for the old time, ill-kept paths of travel, and smooth, water-bound macadam roads have taken the place of some of the old, rough, stony turnpikes.

At the close of the season of 1914, there have been shaped and rebuilt approximately 6,300 miles of dirt roads, and there were reconstructed approximately 500 miles of macadam. Also, at the close of the current season's work, there were approximately 481 miles of new State highway construction work finished; divided into three classes: State highway routes, State-aid roads, and national roads. This mileage, in addition to the mileage of stone roads reconstructed by the Highway Deaprtment, shows a completed mileage equal to the entire State highway system of Massachusetts.

There is not a contracted piece of new State road that has been finally accepted and the bond released thereon which is not in first-class condition, and for which the cost of all overhead expenses, including engineering, inspection, administration, and the auditing accounts, has exceeded 7 per cent. of the cost of the work. Considering the area of the territory covered, the wide range of activities and attendant expenses, this overhead cost compares favorably with similar work elsewhere. In fact, the unit cost of any type of work performed by the State Highway Department, either by contract or by force account, will appear to the advantage of Pennsylvania when compared with almost any municipal or other State Government work.

The distinguishing feature of the Department's work during the past four years has been its comprehensive survey of the State Highways. On June 1, 1911, when the department was organized, there was found a complete absence of maps and surveys adequate for its purpose. The Commissioner was required, by law, to cause to be made a survey of all the roads in Pennsylvania; to compile statistics and collect information relative to the mileage, character, and condition of the roads; to make and keep for the Department a general highway plan of the State; and to publish and keep on sale, at cost, complete road surveys of each county in Pennsylvania. By June 1, 1912, the surveys and plans showing crossroads, towns, villages, turnpikes, toll-roads and bridges, grades, culverts and other important points, and data to complete the record of existing conditions, for practically every mile of all the State highway routes, aggregating 9,000 miles, had been made.

This was, without doubt, one of the most extensive continuous surveys ever undertaken and performed in a short time. The plans have been kept up to date, and, together with the other statistics collected and made by the Department, comprise a store of information necessary and adequate for future operations. No following administration need be handicapped for lack of this fundamental data.

INVENTORY OF WATER RESOURCES.

Susbsequent to my message of two years ago, calling attention to the expediency of taking an inventory of the water resources of the Commonwealth, in order that legislation might be enacted to provide for their conservation and utilization under proper State control in a manner which will best promote the interests of all the people of the State, the General Assembly directed the Water Supply Commission of Pennsylvania to make a complete inventory of all the water resources of the Commonwealth; to collect all pertinent information in connection therewith, and to classify, tabulate, record, and preserve the same; and, upon the basis thereof, to determine the points at which reservoirs may be constructed for the purpose of minimizing floods, of storing and conserving water for power, and other utilization and distribution of water and water power, of increasing the low water flow of streams for the purpose of navigation; and, generally, to devise all possible ways and means to conserve and develop the water supply and water resources of the Commonwealth for the use of the people thereof. To this end the said Commission was directed to study and determine upon a public policy with regard to the marketing and equitable distribution of the water of the State; to the restoration, development, and improvement of transportation by water; to the supply of water for domestic and industrial use, and to the conservation of water resources by the aid of forestation.

The sum of $150,000 was appropriated for the purpose, but because of insufficient State revenue I was compelled to reduce the sum to $50,000. In consequence, the Commission will submit a partial report to the General Assembly of 1915. It will contain data concerning the condition and utilization of the streams. The inventory deals with water supplies; water power; lakes and ponds; descriptions of all named streams; floods; navigation; culm in the streams of the anthracite coal field; a study of the methods of flood relief in Turtle Creek Valley; purity; forestation, and fish.

The State would suffer if this work were to be abandoned. Better, by far, continue the work until a definite and comprehensive plan of State control and development of this remaining great resource is worked out.

PYMATUNING RESERVOIR.

The Pymatuning reservoir should be completed at an early date. It is a conspicuous example of the highest form of conservation and utilization of stream flow. There was appropriated to the Water Supply Commission the sum of $400,000, for the purchase of land and to build an extensive storage reservoir in Crawford County, on the headwaters of the Shenango River, to prevent flood damage and to afford ample water supply for municipal and industrial use in communities where shortage of water retards development. I was compelled to reduce the appropriation to $100,000.

STATE POLICY OF CONSERVATION AND DEVELOPMENT.

Considerations of public welfare dictate that the State shall assume more direct control of the economic development of its resources.

Industrial development is intimately connected with the abundance of fuel and cheap power; and while steam power used by manufacturing establishments has increased by leaps and bounds, yet the use of water power has declined.

Of all states in the Union, Pennsylvania ranks first in the production of coal, coke, iron and steel, cement, glass and leather, railroads cars and some manufactured articles. It holds second place in various products, including textiles and electrical machinery, and in tobacco manufacturing. To long maintain supremacy in these lines our natural resources must be conserved.

In no way is the waste of natural resources better illustrated than by coke manufacture in bee-hive ovens. Pennsylvania, in the year 1912, had 43,347 active bee-hive ovens, which produced but 587 short tons of coke per oven. For every 100 tons of bituminous coal used these ovens produced only 66 tons of coke. They destroyed 34 tons of every 100 tons. On the other hand, by-product ovens yield 73.8 tons of coke from 100 tons of coal, and they do more. They produce gas, tar, and ammonia as by-products. In the year 1912 the 1,442 by-product ovens in Pennsylvania produced 1,369 tons of coke per oven. Moreover, and this is the point of the matter, these 1,442 ovens produced approximately $2,300,000 worth of by-products in addition to 1,974,619 short tons of coke. The value of by-products was about four-tenths of the value of the by-product coke. If the coke made in bee-hive ovens in the year 1912 had been made in by-product ovens 4,077,763 tons of coal and about $37,500,000 worth of by-products would have been saved.

The effect of forest depletion upon the lumber industry is well known. Fortunately, timber is different from coal. Enough timber can be grown to meet the State's needs; but coal once burned is gone forever. Pennsylvania's investments in forest lands total a large sum of money.

Inasmuch as the total value of iron and steel produced annually in Pennsylvania is enormous, the State Government and all persons concerned with economic development should be interested in the delivery of iron ore to the great steel centers at the lowest possible cost. The railroad systems are excellent, but must expand to keep pace with the State's progress. The most important point where the transportation system needs strengthening is that between Lake Erie and the Ohio river, where approximately 50,000,000 tons of iron ore, coal, and coke move annually between the Lake and the Pittsburgh and Mahoning Valley districts. Pittsburgh's supremacy in the iron and steel trade is to be maintained only by cheap ore.

The Act approved June 27, 1913, provides for the construction, operation, and maintenance by the Commonwealth of a canal or water-way between Lake Erie and the Ohio river. The sum of $150,000 was appropriated to defray the expenses of the Canal Board in making the surveys and palns and preparing for construction. The 3 mills per ton-mile rate, including tolls, as estimated for this proposed waterway, looks attractive as compared with an existing rate of about 8 mills per ton-mile over railroads from Lake Erie to Pittsburgh.

If the proposed Lake Erie and Ohio River Canal should be found desirable by the inevstigation now ordered, it should receive support from Pennsylvania. Improvements in water terminal facilities in the Pittsburgh district, including better connection with the railroads, would be necessitated by the canal.

In the value of exports and imports of merchandise, Philadelphia, during the year 1913, ranked fifth among Atlantic and Gulf ports; but it ranked second in tonnage. Customs' duties in the year 1913 amounted to $18,875,000; in 1912, to $21,083,000. Contrast with this the total expenditures by the Federal, State and city governments in improving and maintaining the harbor of Philadelphia, from 1890 to 1914, amounting to ony $17,293,000. This sum does not include the cost of improving the Delaware River from Philadelphia to the sea, which, from 1836 to 1913, amounted to $17,-523,000.

The improvement of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh's water terminals is not a local matter. The whole State is interested. The vast improvements needed at these cities are matters of State, City and Federal co-operation.

Hand in hand with the physical improvements at the water terminals in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh should go co-operation between railroads, shipping interests and municipalities. Pro-rating, through bills of lading by water and rail, reasonable terminal charges, physical connections between railroads, wharves and warehouses, are all items of great importance coming under State regulation.

In addition, the Lehigh and Susquehanna valleys are vitally interested in securing ores cheaply from Cuba and Chile. Immediate improvement of the port of Philadelphia should be accompanied by a careful study of the possibility of transporting by water these ores to the very doors of the Lehigh and Susquehanna steel plants.

In certain populated districts the problems of water supply and drainage and sewage disposal call for State establishment of metropolitan districts, and State control and aid in initiating the improvements; but all these things which I have enumerated, and others as important, cannot be done and be paid for out of the State revenues, because the latter are insufficient. It would appear evident, then, that the necessities of the people will demand amendments to the Constitution of the Commonwealth for purposes of economic conservation and development, and I reccommend this to your careful consideration.

INSPECTION OF DAMS.

The legislation recommended by me, and enacted in 1913, provided stringent laws for the protection of life and property against insecure dams, and for the prevention of encroachments along, or obstructions in, streams. In actively enforcing this law the Water Supply Commission examined 258 existing dams, and when imperfections were found orders were issued for repairs. No new dams have been built without the approval of the plans therefor and inspection of the construction by the commission. The number of imperfections disclosed by these investigaitons indicates the wisdom and the necessity of State control of the design and construction of dams.

FORESTRY.

The State owns 1,001,226 acres of forest land, purchased at an average price of $2.25 per acre, from which a revenue of $89,406.44 was derived to December 1st, 1914. Six thousand miles of roads, trails, and fire lines have been built; the nurseries contain over 10,000,000 trees; 200 leases for permanent camp-sites have been approved; and during the current year temporary camp permits were issued to over 4,000 persons.

This department should be given sufficient appropriation to improve its forest fire-warden service and for the purchase of additional forest lands, and should be permitted to furnish trees without cost to municipalities for all kinds of municipal planting.

Worthy of mention is the gift to the State of Childs Park, in Pike County, by Mrs. Emma B. Childs, in honor of her late husband, Mr. George W. Childs, of Philadelphia.

PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION.

The Public Service Company law, created by an Act of Assembly, approved July 26, 1913, is one of the utmost importance to the people of Pennsylvania, and to those corporations serving the people which are defined as public utilities. This law puts the ultimate control of public service companies, with respect to services, facilities and rates, in a commission selected under the authority of the State. Up to the time of the passage of the Act, this control was vested in the boards of directors of these corporations, subject only to such redress upon the part of the public, as could be secured by suits in the courts, and was often exercised without regard to any interests save those of the corporations which the directors represented. During the short period of a year and a half since the enactment of the law, it has proven to be of great benefit to the people. Not only have they come to the Commission with confidence to present their complaints concerning excessive rates, grade crossings and similar matters of importance, but the very fact that there exists such an impartial tribunal, with authority, promptly, and inexpensively to determine disputes, has led to care and self-restraint upon the part of the corporations.

Many cases of far-reaching importance have already been disposed of by the Commission. In one instance, the supply of heat of a borough was turned off as winter approached. The hearing before the Commission was ended at 8 P. M., an opinion was written during the night, and at 10 A. M. the next morning an order was issued requiring the supply to be restored. The whole system of telephone rates throughout the State is under consideration, and the rates upon the transportation of anthracite coal to Philadelphia have been materially reduced. The right of some of the industrial roads to participate in through rates was determined although the Interstate Commerce Commission had decided otherwise.

Between January 1, 1914, and June 30, 1914, 58 grade crossings were abolished and 4 under grade and 7 overhead crossings were established.

Three hundred and ninety-five cases were transferred to the Commission at the time of the expiration of the Pennsylvania State Railroad Commission, and most of these have since been determined. It is an indication of the usefulness of the Commission that in addition to these, between July 26, 1913, and June 30, 1914, 254 cases, some of them raising questions of gravest consequences have been brought before the Commission. One hundred and fifty-three applications for certificates of public convenience with respect to contracts between municipalities and public utility corporations, have been filed and 98 of them have been approved.

Since the work of the Commission is rapidly enlarging both as to the number and importance of the matters brought before them for determination, and since the vast number of tariffs over which they have supervision are filed with them and require to be provided for and analyzed, additional space and facilities ought to be furnished by the Commonwealth.

ATTORNEY GENERAL.

The Attorney General's Department has rendered valuable services to the Commonwealth, not only in advising the many departments of the State upon questions of law concerning the powers, jurisdiction and administration of the several departments, but has carried to successful determination much important litigation in the interests of the Commonwealth.

Quite a number of Acts of Assembly, involving the administration of the various departments of the State Government, were from time to time attacked as unconstitutional, and it became the duty of this Department to meet those attacks, which it did successfully.

The Department argued with success in the Supreme Court of the United States the case raising the constitutionality of the statute prohibiting foreign-born aliens from owning shotguns and rifles, involving important questions as to the police power of the State and the construction of international treaties; and, in the same court, the Department sustained the validity under the State and Federal Constitutions of a very important provision of the anthracite mine code, requiring in the interest and protection of the miners the leaving of barrier pillars between adjoining mines; also the case involving the constitutionality of the Pure Food Law of 1909, which is the principal act under which the Dairy and Food Department operates. The constitutionality of the Full Crew Law, and of various provisions of the taxing laws, have also been upheld in the highest courts of the State, and the act regulating private bankers, and several other important departmental laws, have been sustained in the lower courts.

In addition to this class of important cases, this Department has been successful in obtaining judgments from the courts concerning corporate taxes, which resulted in increasing the State revenues by several millions. In one important case alone, after twelve years of litigation, nearly $750,000 was collected from one company.

CODIFICATION OF LAWS.

The Legislative Reference Bureau, at the session of 1913, was directed by the General Assembly to make examination of the general statute laws of the State and to prepare a list of obsolete statutes and statutes whereon some doubt exists whether they have been repealed by the general repealing clauses in subsequent acts. Accordingly a bill has been prepared, reciting by title and repealing upwards of five hundred laws. The bureau was also directed to prepare compilations and codes, by topics, of the existing general laws, and to report to the General Assembly in 1915 such codes as have been prepared. The bureau has codified and compiled the general laws of Pennsylvania relating to taxation in all its phases, State and local, relative to business corporations (except railroads, canals, banking, and insurance, which will be codified separately), and to boroughs.

Even if the codes mentioned above should not become laws, the amount expended on this work is justified by the results shown.

BANKING.

There were 439 banks, trust companies, and savings-fund institutions doing business in Pennsylvania at the close of the year 1910. This number has grown to 487; the resources have increased from $1,069,486,356.35 to $1,978,644,951.78; the deposits have grown from $747,515,554.36 to $923,294,436.82; and the number of depositors from 1,744,049 to 2,315,321.

Building associations in this State at the close of 1910 numbered 1,550, and now number 1,793. The resources have increased from $181,302,088.27 to $233,564,455.60, in January, 1914; making the total resources of all incorporated financial institutions in the State, for 1914, about $1,700,000,000.

It is to be regretted that the Legislature has not yet deemed it necessary to enact measures similar to those in use by the National Government and many of the States for a more expeditious and inexpensive method of winding up the affairs of insolvent financial corporations.

Legislation should be enacted requiring all individuals engaged in private banking to take out a license, and the provision in the present law exempting certain private bankers should be repealed. They should not be permitted to receive deposits upon the credit of individuals, unless subject to the examination and scrutiny of the Banking Department, in order that such deposits may have the greatest possible measure of security.

INSURANCE.

Realizing that there were but two States in the Union where more capital was invested in insurance enterprises, and but one State wherein the volume of business transacted was greater than in Pennsylvania, the General Assembly of 1911 enacted comprehensive legislation reorganizing the Insurance Department and extending its jurisdiction until today the insurance laws of this State compare favorably with those of any other State.

Policies of life insurance and health and accident contracts have been so standardized that beneficiaries can readily understand what protection they or their families will receive in the event of misfortune.

The liquidation of insolvent institutions had been a source of dissatisfaction on account of the delay and excessive cost of administration. The act of 1911 authorizing the Commissioner to liquidate insolvent companies has proved beneficial. Some twenty-five companies and associations have already been wound up, or are in progress of liquidation, with a minimum cost and no unusual delay.

Little additional legislation is required; but a standard fire policy should be adopted, authority should be given the Commissioner to examine and supervise rate-making associations, and provision be made for the licensing of fire insurance adjusters.

NATIONAL GUARD.

The National Guard has maintained its efficiency. It is composed of about 11,000 young men of the State and is competently officered. I visited the several encampments, and was impressed with the interest manifested by the officers and men. The training and discipline of this organization teaches respect for law and authority and prepares the young men to understand and accept responsibility. The citizen-soldier is the nation's reliance for the defence of her institutions, and Pennsylvania should be prepared to do her part by having a strong force of trained and disciplined men. The General Assembly should give thoughtful consideration to the needs of the National Guard.

STATE ARMORY BOARD.

The work accomplished by the Armory Board, created to provide armories for the National Guard, is commended. The appropriations made by the General Assembly, from time to time, to this Board aggregate $1,250,000. Armories have been erected or acquired throughout the State, representing a value of $2,050,000, or $800,000 in excess of the money appropriated by the State.

STATE POLICE.

The Department of State Police, created in 1905, consisting of four troops of 2 officers and 55 men each, with barracks and stables at Wyoming, Pottsville, Greensburg, and Butler, has rendered valuable service to the Commonwealth.

In the eight years ending December 31, 1913, the members of the force covered 3,367,198 miles and made over 45,000 arrests. During this time the Department received thousands of requests for assistance from all parts of the State.

Four thousand one hundred forty-six requests were received last year from district attorneys, sheriffs, judges, chiefs of police, etc. Less than 25 per cent. of these requests could be complied with, owing to the limited number of men on the force.

Among the arrests made from January, 1906, to January, 1914, were:

369 for murder.
102 for highway robbery.
441 for gambling.
371 for burglary.
57 for horse stealing.
774 for violations of fish and game laws.
121 for keeping bawdy-houses.
145 for rape.
227 for robbery.
490 for violation of the liquor laws.
125 for receiving stolen goods.

But a small percentage of these arrests could have been made by the local authorities, as practically all of them were for crimes committed in small towns or in rural districts where they have no adequate police protection.

Substations, of 3 men each, are established each year in 30 or 40 different counties, giving protection to localities that have no local police; but, owing to the limited amount of money appropriated for this purpose, these substations can only be maintained for two or three months, whereas they should be permanent so that these isolated localities could have the much needed protection all the year.

The necessity for an increase in the number of men and an adequate appropriation to distribute them to the best advantage throughout the State, is proven by the thousands of requests for assistance that are received yearly from State and county officials, with the majority of which the Department is unable to comply.

FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY OF THE BATTLE OF GETTYSBURG.

The act of May 13, 1909, provided for the appointment of a commission of nine persons to arrange for the proper observance at Gettysburg of the fiftieth anniversary of the battle at that place, and to invite the co-operation of other States and of the United States, and make an appropriation of $5,000. The act of June 14, 1911, increased this appropriation to $50,000.

The act of April 17, 1913, provided for the transportation to and from Gettysburg of every surviving Pennsylvania soldier who participated in the battle, and set apart $165,000 for this object. The Congress of the United States directed the Secretary of War to create and maintain a great camp of visiting veterans during the celebration, on condition that Pennsylvania should bear half the expense, and by act of April 17, 1913, the State appropriated $195,000 for the purpose.

The event proved to be a great success and in every way worthy of the Commonwealth. For the first time since the close of the Civil War there was a general reunion of the veterans of the Union and Confederate armies, both of which were represented by large numbers, and the celebration did much to create good feeling all over the country. The President of the United States and the Secretary of War made addresses. The Governors of many of the States and other distinguished guests participated.

The members of this commission are entitled to the thanks of all the people of Pennsylvania.

TRANSFER OF FLAGS.

The commission created under the provisions of a joint resolution of the General Assembly approved June 5, 1913, authorized to arrange and supervise the transfer, from the Library and Museum Building to the cases in the rotunda of the Capitol, of the flags of Pennsylvania commands of the War for the Suppression of the Rebellion and the Spanish-American War, and other flags of historic value, on June 15, 1914, transferred these flags with patriotic and most impressive ceremonies, participated in by a portion of the National Guard, Grand Army of the Republic, and patriotic societies. These flags, the most precious jewels of the Commonwealth, representing as they do the valor of Pennsylvania's sons, are now cared for in a better and more appropriate manner than ever before.

PUBLIC PRINTING AND BINDING.

Under legislation enacted at the last session of the General Assembly the distribution of public documents is now performed in a businesslike way. The creation of the Division for the Distribution of Public Documents will result in a discontinuance of the wasteful method that existed prior to its establishment. The editions of certain reports can be greatly reduced, and it is suggested that legislation be enacted with that end in view, in order that it may be in force when the next contract for printing is awarded in 1917.

Attention is called to the expense of printing pink bills used by the Legislature. The cost of printing these bills for the session of 1913 was $42,843.35. Unless this printing be essential to the proper administration of the business of the General Assembly, they should be discontinued; at any event, the number of these bills should be very much reduced, as a large portion of the waste paper sold by the Superintendent of Public Grounds and Buildings represents a surplus of these bills.

Acts of Assembly authorizing special publications should contain an item appropriating the money necessary to cover the cost of printing, binding, etc., thus enabling the legislators to arrive at some reasonable estimate of the cost of such publications.

CAPITOL PARK.

The Capitol Park Commission, created by the Act of June 16, 1911, has conducted its affiairs in a thoroughly businesslike way, and its members are entitled to the highest praise. The number of properties in the proposed park area aggregate 537, of which 415 have already been purchased by the commission, and negotiations are now under way for the purchase of the remaining 122. The transaction of the rapidly increasing business of the various departments of the State Government makes necessary the acquisition of this area.

PANAMA-PACIFIC EXPOSITION.

The Panama-Pacific Exposition Commission, appointed under the provisions of a joint resolution of the General Assembly approved June 14, 1911, has completed the erection of a building for the participation of the State of Pennsylvania in the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, to be held in San Francisco, Cal., in 1915, to celebrate the completion and opening of the Panama Canal and the Four Hundredth Anniversary of the Discovery of the Pacific Ocean. This building is now being made ready for occupancy and use, and will, it is believed, fittingly represent Pennsylvania at this great international exhibition.

SECRETARY OF INTERNAL AFFAIRS.

Attention was called at the last session of the General Assembly to the fact that the maintenance of the office of Secretary of Internal Affairs, because of the creation of the Public Service Commission and the Department of Labor and Industry, would serve only to produce conflict of authority, duplication of work, and unnecessary expenditure of public moneys. The result was the passage of a resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth for the abolishment of this office, and transferring the powers exercised by it to the Public Service Commission, the Department of Labor and Industry, and the Forestry Department. I recommend that this proposed constitutional amendment, which comes before you for action at this session, should have your early attention, in order that the subject may be submitted to the people for ratification.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

The last session of the General Assembly passed a resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth to determine whether or not women shall have the right of suffrage in Pennsylvania. I recommend that this resolution, which comes before you for action at this session, shall receive such attention, as will enable the subject to be submitted to the voters for their determination.

SENATORIAL AND REPRESENTATIVE APPORTIONMENT.

Attention is called to Article II, Section 18, of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, which provides that the State shall be apportioned into senatorial and representative districts immediately after each United States decennial census.

THE NEW PENITENTIARY.

The very best thought has been given to the erection and organization of Pennsylvania's new western Penitentiary, near Bellefonte, which when completed will house a great portion of the State's convict population. An opportunity will be afforded its prisoners to work in the open, and to live and sleep in sanitary surroundings, to the end that they may be reformed and their shattered physical constitutions repaired. This institution is attracting nation-wide attention.

DEPARTMENT REPORTS.

The details of the work of the several departments and commissions of the State Government to which no special reference is made, will be found in the respective reports. I recommend that the suggestions found therein have your careful consideration.

REPORTS OF COMMISSIONS.

The Building Code Commission, created under the provisions of Joint Resolution of June 14, 1911; the Industrial Accidents Commission, created under the provisions of the Act of June 27, 1913; the Commission to Investigate Laws Relating to Recording of Deeds and Mortgages, created by Concurrent Resolution of May 12, 1911; the Economy and Efficiency Commission, created under the provisions of Joint Resolution of July 25, 1913; the Suburban Metropolitan Planning Commission, created under the provisions of the Act of May 23, 1913; the Lake Erie and Ohio River Canal Board of Pennsylvania, created under the provisions of the Act of June 27, 1913; the Engineers' Commission, created under the provisions of the Act of July 25, 1913; the Commission to Provide for Co-operation with the United States Bureau of Mines in the establishment in this State of a Mining Experiment Station, created under the provisions of the Act of July 25, 1913; the Joint Committee to Investigate Workings of Civil Service Laws in Cities of the First Class, created under the provisions of Concurrent Resolution of June 19, 1913; the Commission to Investigate all Matters Pertaining to Cold Storage, created under the provisions of Concurrent Resolution of June 19, 1913; the State Dependents Commission, created under the provisions of Joint Resolution of July 25, 1913; the Commission to Consider Revision and Amendment of the Penal Laws of the State, so as to Provide for the Employment of all inmates of all Penal Institutions, created under the provisions of the Act of July 25, 1913; the Joint Legislative Commission to Investigate Objects, Methods and Practices of the various Combinations of Fire Insurance Companies, created under the provisions of Joint Resolution of June 27, 1913; the Building Commission for a State Industrial Home for Women, created under the provisions of the Act of July 25, 1913; the Commission to Provide for Selection of a Site and the Erection of a State Institution for Inebriates, created under the provisions of the Act of July 25, 1913; the Board of Managers to Provide for the Establishment of State Village for Feeble-Minded Women, created under the provisions of the Act of July 25, 1913; the Commission to Examine and to Provide for Transfer, under Certain Conditions, to the Commonwealth, of the Pennsylvania Oral School for the Deaf, at Scranton, created under the provisions of the Act of May 8, 1913; the Commission to Provide for Joint Acquisition and Maintenance by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and the State of New Jersey of Certian Toll-Bridges over the Delaware River, created under the provisions of the Act of July 25, 1913; the Austin Dam Commission, created under the provisions of the Act of July 25, 1913; the Commission to Examine into Condition of Susquehanna Canal, created under the provisions of Joint Resolution of July 25, 1913; the Chestnut Tree Blight Commission, created under the provisions of the Act of June 14, 1911; the Commission to Investigate European System of Rural Credits, created under the provisions of the Act of July 25, 1913; the Pennsylvania Historical Commission, created under the provisions of the Act of July 25, 1913; the Commission for the Compilation and Publication of the Statutes-at-Large of Pennsylvania, created under the provisions of the Act of July 25, 1913; the Commission for the Promotion of Uniformity of Legislation in the United States, created under the provisions of the Act of May 23, 1901; the Commission to Supervise the Transfer from the Library and Museum Building to the Cases in Rotunda of the Capitol Building of Certain Flags of Pennsylvania Commands, created under the provisions of Joint Resolution of June 5, 1913; the Panama-Pacific International Exposition Commission, created under the provisions of Joint Resolution of June 14, 1911; and the Capitol Park Extension Commission, created under the provisions of the Act of June 16, 1911—will submit reports to the General Assembly relative to the performance of certain duties and make recommendations based upon investigations authorized by legislative enactment. These reports and the recommendations made by the several commissions are worthy of your careful consideration.

We, in Pennsylvania, have every right to be proud of our State and her achievements. No State has better laws, and in no other State are the laws better administered and more vigorously enforced.

In conclusion, permit me to say that the people throughout the nation, generally speaking, are suffering from a surfeit of laws, rather than from too few. I, therefore, bespeak for my successor your earnest co-operation and assistance in enacting only such laws as are necessary and will prove for the benefit of all the people of the Commonwealth.

I am, with great respect,

Very truly yours,

JOHN K. TENER.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Chair laid before the House communications from his Excellency, the Governor, which were read as follows:

ACTS APPROVED AFTER ADJOURNMENT OF LEGISLATURE OF 1913.

Report of his Excellency, the Governor, of the Acts of Assembly passed during the session of 1913, and approved and signed by him within thirty days after the final adjournment of the Legislature on the 27th day of June, A. D. 1913.

(For acts see Appendix.)

REASONS FOR PARDONS AND COMMUTATIONS.

January 5, 1915.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Gentlemen: In conformity with law I have the honor herewith to prescribe the reasons for pardons granted by the Executive from January 1st, 1913, to January 1st, 1915.

Very respectfully,

JOHN K. TENER.

(For reasons see Appendix.)

The SPEAKER. As provided in the resolution of the Senate, concurred in by the House, the Speaker appoints the following gentlemen to serve on the Inaugural Committee: Messrs. E. E. Jones, Cox, Steedle, Wildman, Hess, Whitaker, Flynn, Shaffer and Body.

RECESS.

The SPEAKER. If there are no objections, the House will take a recess until 3:15 P .M.

AFTER RECESS.

The House reconvened at 3:15 o'clock.
Speaker Ambler in the Chair.

SENATE MESSAGE.

Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, as follows:

JOINT COMMITTEE TO CONFER WITH THE GOVERNOR-ELECT.

In the Senate, January 5th, 1915.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That the President pro tempore of the Senate appoint a committee of three Senators to join with a similar committee of the House of Representatives (if the House of Representatives shall appoint such committee), who, together with the President pro tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives, shall constitute a committee to confer with Honorable Martin G. Brumbaugh, Governor-elect, as to the introduction of bills advocated in the Republican State Platform and the Platform of the said Honorable Martin G. Brumbaugh.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Said Resolution was twice read, considered and concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

The SPEAKER. In accordance with said resolution Messrs. W. H. Wilson, Henry I. Wilson and Williams are appointed the Committee on the part of the House.

COMMITTEE TO ESCORT SENATE.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I move that the Chair appoint a Committee of two to escort the members of the Senate to the Hall of the House to receive and witness the opening and counting of the vote for Governor, Lieutenant-Governor and Secretary of Internal Affairs, as agreed upon and provided for in joint resolution of January 3, 1911.

Mr. COX. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The Chair appoints Messrs. Roney and Woodward as said Committee to escort the Senate to the Hall of the House in accordance with the motion just adopted.

The House will await the arrival of the Senate.

SENATE RECEIVED BY HOUSE TO COUNT VOTE FOR STATE OFFICERS.

The Sergeant-at-Arms announced the return to the Hall, of the Committee appointed on the part of the House to escort the Senate to the Hall of the House.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, the Committee appointed to wait on the Senate and invite to the Hall of this House for the purpose of opening, counting and publishing the official returns of the vote cast on the third day of November, 1914, for Governor, Lieutenant-Governor and Secretary of Internal Affairs, begs leave to announce that it has performed that duty and that the President pro tempore and members of the Senate are now present.

The SPEAKER. The time having arrived for the joint session of the Senate and House, the Chair will postpone the business of this House until the business of the joint session is completed.

After some time the President pro tempore of the Senate and the Senate having returned to their chamber, the House resumed its business, the Speaker in the Chair.

TELLERS' REPORT OF PROCEEDINGS OF JOINT SESSION OF SENATE AND HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES FOR THE OPENING, COUNTING AND PUBLISHING OF VOTE FOR GOVERNOR, LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR AND SECRETARY OF INTERNAL AFFAIRS.

Mr. WALTON, teller on the part of the House, made a report which was read as follows:

The President pro tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House having taken the Chair and Mr. Graff, the teller on the part of the Senate and Mr. Walton, teller on the part of the House, having taken their respective places the Honorable Clarence J. Buckman, Acting President pro tempore of the Senate addressed the Joint Convention as follows:

By the provisions of the Constitution it becomes the duty of the President of the Senate to open and publish, in the presence of the members of both Houses, the official returns of the election for Governor, Lieutenant-Governor and Secretary of Internal Affairs, held on the third day of November, 1915 in the city of Philadelphia and the several counties of the Commonwealth. I now proceed to perform that duty. The election returns will be read by the clerks and the results recorded by the tellers.

The said returns were accordingly opened and read by the clerks of the respective houses as follows:

(For tables showing returns, see to-day's Senate proceedings).

Whereupon, The Acting President pro tempore announced that Martin G. Brumbaugh, having received the highest number of votes was duly elected Governor for the term of four years from the third Tuesday of January, A. D. 1915 and that Frank B. McClain, having received the highest number of votes was duly elected Lieutenant-Governor for the term of four years from the third Tuesday of January, A. D. 1915 and that Henry Houck, having received the highest number of votes was duly elected Secretary of Internal Affairs for the term of four years from the first Tuesday of May, 1915.

Mr. WALTON then read the following three certificates which were ordered spread on the Journal of the House:

We, the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, do certify that the President of the Senate did, on the fifth day of January, A. D. one thousand nine hundred and fifteen, in the Hall of the House of Representatives at the State Capitol, open the returns of the election for Governor of this Commonwealth, and publish the same in the presence of both Houses of the Legislature, conformably to the provisions of the Constitution and laws of said Commonwealth, and upon counting the votes by a teller appointed on the part of each House, it appeared that Martin G. Brumbaugh had the highest number of votes; whereupon the said Martin G. Brumbaugh was declared to have been duly elected Governor of the Commonwealth.

In testimony whereof, we have hereunto set our hands and affixed our seals the day and year above written.

CHARLES H. KLINE,
President pro tempore of the Senate.

CHAS. A. AMBLER,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

SENATE.

MONDAY, January 18, 1915.

The Senate met at 9 o'clock P. M.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (Charles H. Kline) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. A. C. James, offered the following prayer:

In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. All things were made by Him, and without Him was not anything made that was made. Thy faithfulness, O Lord, reacheth unto the clouds. Day unto Day uttereth speech; night unto night showeth knowledge. Thou art the Ruler of eternal destinies. Thy scepter is one of omnipotence. Thy kingdom is from everlasting to everlasting. We are subjects bowing before the throne of mercy. Extend to us the scepter of divine grace. Let Thy kingdom be in our hearts. In this hour of the world's crisis be Thou the Great Counsellor in the council chambers of the nations of the earth; be Thou the strong support of the chief executive of these United States, and of those associated with him in power. Be Thou the constant guide of those who represent this Commonwealth in the national Congress. Be with him who looks back upon the past days of administration; who stands within the last hour of his administrative service. Be Thou with him who has been called by the people to take up the responsibility of public office. We pray for him who would preside at this session of this body, but who is now upon a bed of illness. Be Thou the Great Physician. May Thy ministering angel hover about his bedside. The Lord bless thee and keep thee; the Lord make His face to shine upon thee, and be gracious unto thee; the Lord lift up His countenance upon thee and give thee peace. Amen.

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. Homsher, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

RECESS.

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess until 10 o'clock, so as to receive communications from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which should be acted upon to-night.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE GOVERNOR.

EXECUTIVE SESSION.

By unanimous consent,

A motion was made by Mr. Gerberich,

That Rule 38 which requires nominations made by the Governor to be referred to proper Committees and those reported from Committee to lie on the table one day be dispensed with, and the Senate do now resolve itself into executive session, for the purpose of acting on the foregoing nominations.

Which was agreed to.

Whereupon,

A motion was made by Mr. Gerberich,

That the Senate do advise and consent to said nominations.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—45.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

MONDAY, January 18, 1915.

The House met at 9 o'clock P. M.

The SPEAKER (Charles A. Ambler) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

Prayer was offered by the Rev. Benjamin Bungard, member from Westmoreland County.

Lord, Thou hast been our dwelling place in all generations, before the mountains were brought forth; before Thou didst form the life of the world, even from everlasting to everlasting Thou art God. In Thee we live, move and have our being, and it is from Thee, dear Lord, to-night that we seek for wisdom. We invoke Thy blessing upon this Assembly, and our Heavenly Father, as we are met here to-night upon this occasion we pray that Thou wilt guide us in all that wisdom. We are met here as Representatives of this great Commonwealth—a body of men—our Heavenly Father we pray that Thou wilt guide us all into eternal truth, and into the wisdom only which can come from God. And now, may we so live and move that when our work is ended here in this world, that we may all assemble in that better and larger world, where we shall all pray the same prayer—"Our Father who art in Heaven." This we ask in the name of God, our Heavenly Father. Amen.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of the proceedings of Tuesday, January 5th, 1915.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of Tuesday, January 5th, 1915, when, on motion of Mr. Baldwin, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

SWEARING IN OF MEMBER.

The SPEAKER. The Honorable Tony Ray Lynch, of Fayette County, will present himself at the Bar of the House and have the oath of office administered to him.

Mr. Lynch presented himself at the Bar of the House and the oath of office prescribed by law was administered to him by Hon. S. J. M. McCarrell, Additional Law Judge of the Twelfth Judicial District.

USE OF HALL OF THE HOUSE.

Mr. Baldwin presented the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to.

Resolved, That the use of the House of Representatives for Tuesday evening, January 26th, 1915, between the hours of six and twelve P. M. be granted to the Central Pennsylvania Woman's Suffrage Association for the purpose of allowing United States Senator Moses E. Clapp to deliver an address.

ADJOURNMENT.

Mr. BALDWIN. I move that the House do now adjourn until to-morrow at 11:15 o'clock A. M.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 9:15 P. M.) the House adjourned until to-morrow, Tuesday, January 19th, 1915, at 11:15 o'clock A. M.

SENATE.

TUESDAY, January 19, 1915.

The Senate met at 10:30 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (Mr. Charles H. Kline) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. A. C. James, offered the following prayer:

What is man that Thou art mindful of him, or the son of man that Thou visitest him. Like as a father pitieth his children, so the Lord pitieth them that fear Him. The Lord hath said unto us, "Lo I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world; as thy days so shall thy strength be." We come unto Thee, the giver of every good and perfect gift. We come unto Thee, the inspiration of our lives. We come to the living waters of which, if a man shall drink, he shall never thirst again. Be Thou our strong tower of defense. Hide us in the shadow of Thy hand, and Thy name shall have all the praise now and forevermore. We ask it in our Redeemer's name. Amen.

The PRESIDENT. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings, when on motion of Mr. Gerberich, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal was approved.

REQUEST TO JUDGE KUNKEL TO ADMINISTER OATH OF OFFICE.

Mr. CHARLES A. SNYDER offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to.

Resolved, That Honorable George Kunkel,, President Judge of the Twelfth Judicial District, be requested to administer the oath required to be taken by the Lieutenant-Governor-elect.

COMMITTEE TO WAIT UPON JUDGE KUNKEL.

Mr. McCONNELL offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

Resolved, That a committee of three Senators be appointed to wait on Honorable Judge Kunkel, President Judge of the Twelfth Judicial District, and escort him to the Senate Chamber for the purpose of administering the oath of office to Honorable Frank B. McClain, Lieutenant-Governor-elect.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair appoints as said Committee Mr. McConnell, Mr. Magee and Mr. Sones.

COMMITTEE TO WAIT UPON THE LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR-ELECT.

Mr. GRAFF offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

Resolved, That a committee of three Senators be appointed to wait upon Honorable Frank B. McClain, Lieutenant-Governor-elect, and escort him to the Senate Chamber to take the oath and assume the duties of office.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair appoints as said Committee, Mr. Graff, Mr. Gerberich and Mr. DeWitt.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE TO WAIT ON JUDGE KUNKEL.

Mr. GRAFF, Chairman of the Committee, appointed to wait upon the Honorable George Kunkel, President Judge of the Twelfth Judicial District, reported that they had discharged the duty devolving on them, and had the honor to report the presence of the Honorable George Kunkel.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE TO WAIT ON LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR-ELECT, McCLAIN.

Mr. GRAFF, Chairman of the Committee, appointed to wait upon Honorable Frank B. McClain and escort him to the Senate Chamber, reported that they had discharged the duty devolving upon them, and had the honor to report the presence of the Honorable Frank B. McClain, Lieutenant-Governor-elect.

The Lieutenant-Governor-elect was then escorted to the space in front of the Clerk's desk.

CERTIFICATE OF ELECTION OF LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR.

Whereupon,

The Certificate of the election of the Honorable Frank B. McClain, of Lancaster County, as Lieutenant-Governor, was read by the Chief Clerk of the Senate as follows:

We, the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, do certify that the President of the Senate did, on the fifth day of January, A. D. one thousand nine hundred and fifteen, in the Hall of the House of Representatives at the State Capitol, open the returns of the election for Lieutenant-Governor of this Commonwealth, and publish the same in the presence of both Houses of the Legislature, conformably to the provisions of the Constitution and laws of said Commonwealth, and upon counting the votes by a teller appointed on the part of each House, it appeared that Frank B. McClain had the highest number of votes; whereupon, the said Frank B. McClain was declared to have been duly elected Lieutenant-Governor of the Commonwealth.

In testimony whereof, we have hereunto set our hands and affixed our seals the day and year above written.

CHARLES H. KLINE,
President pro tempore of the Senate.

CHARLES A. AMBLER,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

J. FRANK GRAFF,
Teller on the part of the Senate.

WILLIAM D. WALTON,
Teller on the part of the House of Representatives.

ADMINISTRATION OF OATH TO LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR-ELECT.

After which the oath of office was duly administered to the Honorable Frank B. McClain, Lieutenant-Governor-elect, by the Honorable George Kunkel, President Judge of the Twelfth Judicial District.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS OF THE LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR.

The PRESIDENT. Gentlemen of the Senate, Ladies and Gentlemen, I have the honor to introduce to you the newly elected Lieutenant-Governor of the Commonwealth, the Honorable Frank B. McClain, of Lancaster.

The LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR. Mr. President pro tempore, Gentlemen of the Pennsylvania Senate:

To be chosen by the people of Pennsylvania for the office of Lieutenant-Governor is a high mark of favor and honor, for which I cannot find words sufficiently expressive to tell my appreciation, my gratitude. It is, as well, a distinction which carries with it the presidency of this great legislative body, the Pennsylvania Senate, and the privilege of official and fraternal association with the men who compose it.

I appreciate that the really sensible man is one who has little to say about what he has done and not much to say about what he is going to do. I appreciate that performance and not promise is the standard by which efficiency is measured. I further am aware that the Lieutenant-Governor is a "Legislative Eunuch," but, for all that, he has the right of speech on certain special occasions (very limited in number), and, as this is one of those occasions, I propose to exercise that right.

I make no pretentions to being a "Moses." The role is not a pleasurable one. I am hunting happiness and peace, not turmoil and trouble. But, then, this body doesn't need a "Moses." There are some experiences which were mine when I presided over the House of Representatives in 1907 to guide me in my philosophy.

Let me begin my brief address to you by saying that when I was a legislator, covering a service of sixteen years, my observation was that the people of Pennsylvania looked upon the assembling of the Legislature with more apprehension than hope and the sooner we adjourn the more we were thanked and the greater the chorus of "Peace be with you" that went up from the hearts and throats of Pennsylvania's people.

At the present juncture things are somewhat different, in that the people of the Commonwealth view us with what might be called mingled hope and apprehension. Hope—because all political parties in their platforms, and as well the successful candidate for Governor, advertised new and better brands of social and industrial legislation. Apprehension—because they fear that the legislative fabrics we promised to produce will never be woven, or, if woven, will not be of the quality or of the standard of usefulness we guaranteed in our campaign specifications.

To carry out the most complete programme of constructive legislation ever offered to the people of the Commonwealth, they, the people, have selected the Republican party as their agency by the election of Martin G. Brumbaugh as Governor and large Republican majorities in both the Senate and House of Representatives. The acts of the new Administration, and as well our deliberations and conclusions, will be followed with the closest attention by the body politic. Their's will be a "watchful waiting," not only in name, but in fact.

I mean not to be unpleasantly partisan when I suggest that, under the circumstances, the majority party will be held responsible for happenings at this session of the General Assembly, and cannot evade that responsibility. Our duty lies before us and must be performed. Therefore, let us not treat our party platform of the campaign of 1914 as if it were a series of "New Year Resolutions." If we do, in vain will we afterward beat our breasts and cry out "Mea Culpa," "Mea Maxima Culpa," because neither remorse nor repentance will excuse our acts, whether they be of commission or omission.

We don't need to do a whole lot of things, but what is done should be well done and done quickly. Don't wait until a protest becomes a revolution. Don't defer until a request for correction or readajustment becomes a cry for elimination. Let us enact legislation that will bring the Government closer to the people and not legislation that will separate still further. Let us enact laws that will promote a greater social and industrial justice than now exists. Let us, wherever the same be necessary, do that which will lift up still higher and carry forward the grand system of public education which our Commonwealth has erected to equip its children for the duties of a high citizenship.

Let us make generous provision for the care of the wards of the State; the victims of tuberculosis; the dependents; the defectives and the delinquents, and at the same time be as generous as our purse will permit to the sick, the homeless, the aged, the crippled, children and the blind, in our local institutions.

In making appropriations, however, for these particularly worthy purposes, and as well for other purposes necessary in governmental work, let us not fail to "cut our coat according to the cloth." The net revenues of the State for the year 1914 show a decrease, due to existing business depression. True, the decrease is not a great one, but, for all that, it's a decrease, and present prospects hold out no promise of increase for the coming year. Therefore, a greater economy will have to be practiced. We cannot spend what we do not have, and certainly no increase in appropriations can be made over the appropriations of 1913.

It is positively amusing to hear some people who ought to know better, but don't talk of how the State should appropriate millions for this and millions for that, as if the public treasury was as inexhaustible as "the ever-filling pitcher of the Danaides." They evidently are of the impression that money "grows on the trees" in Capitol Park or can be dug out like culm coal from the bed of the nearby Susquehanna. They talk about a million or two with the same abandon they would talk about "thirty cents" of their own. They seem to forget that taxation is the only method through which gold can be put into Pennsylvania's "strong box." And taxation these days is not a popular brand of legislation. We had evidence of that in the results of the last campaign and under existing circumstances it behooves us of the majority party to sternly turn our faces against all propositions in legislation in the shape of new taxes, whether the same be new subjects of taxation or additional burden upon those who, under existing law and present conditions, are heavily laden.

Let us keep out of the investigation business. The appointment of commissions to peer into this and smell into that, who make a junket of their work and then submit a report which nobody reads and presents the State with a bill running high up into thousands of dollars, is the price of their useless information.

The tendency among legislative bodies for the past several years has been to regulate everybody and everything until it has come to pass that a man or a firm or a corporation engaged in an ordinary, respectable business must be continually hunting a lawyer to tell him what he can do or what he can't do. The people are sick, sore and tired of that sort of thing.

Let us steer clear of "half-baked" theories in legislation, remembering how hard it is to repeal an Act of Assembly even after its inefficiency has been conclusively demonstrated. As an example, let me cite the non-partisan election of Judges.

Let us give no heed to intolerant clamor and indicate our contempt for irresponsible assault.

Our time is too valuable to be taken up with sophomoric schemes in legislation or wild, visionary and untried notions, with changing something old for something new, just for the sake of a change, advocated as such things will be by that element of our citizenship who are infected with the "experimental germ," who are never satisfied to advance cautiously step by step, along a new and uncharted course, who demand with noisy vehemence that all the experience of the past be thrown to the winds and who fiercely denounce those who refuse to subscribe in toto to their hysterical idealism. Many of the most tragic miscarriages in human history have been due to the impatience of the idealist.

Let us maintain the highest and best traditions of the Pennsylvania Senate. Let us jealously guard and preserve our rights and prerogatives as a part of the legislative branch of Government and at the same time accord to the executive and the judiciary a generous exercise of their rights and prerogatives.

The Constitution of Pennsylvania divides our State Government in three separate and distinct branches, prescribes what shall be the function of each branch and in no case do these functions overlap, except in the matter of appropriations due to an unhappy decision of the Supreme Court of the Commonwealth.

We should not attempt to dictate to or to hamper either the executive or the judiciary, and on the other hand, we should see to it that we get as good as we give. Therefore, let each of the separate departments of government, legislative, executive and judicial, "shinny on its own side."

The terms coercion and co-operation both begin with the letter "C" and end with the letter "N," but they don't mean the same thing.

I object to the term "progressive" legislation in its application to this session of the General Assembly. In view of the fact that the Republican party will be held responsible for everything done here, "Republican" legislation is the better, the more appropriate term to employ and then, "lest we forget," progress and Republicanism are and have been, both in the State and nation, synonymous terms.

In addition to the subject in legislation declared for in the majority party's platform, and supplemented by the declarations of Governor Brumbaugh during the campaign, I would suggest the enactment of a law that would make it possible for cases in which the Commonwealth is involved by reason of a question of constitutionality to have that question of constitutionality taken direct to the Supreme Court for adjudication and thus get rid of the interminable delay resulting from first trying the case in the Common Pleas Court which delay often works so disastrously to the Commonwealth's best interests in substantiation of which I point to the coal tax law of 1913. The tax due from these corporations, under the Act of 1913, up-to-date is, I am informed, nearly $3,000,000. The coal companies have collected the tax from the consumer, and more, too, but have never paid it into the State Treasury, and if the Supreme Court should decide the Act of 1913 unconstitutional the anthracite monopoly will have both the "penny and the cake."

The people of this great Commonwealth have chosen Martin G. Brumbaugh to be their Administrative Executive for four years, beginning this very hour. His attitude during a heated and complicated campaign was that of a refined gentleman possessing ideal self control. His expressions concerning public questions during the campaign and since the election indicate fixity of purpose, tenacity of will, unfailing integrity and a wide information upon the subjects with which he will be brought into contact. His is a grave and responsible task, but he will discharge his duty in keeping with the high standard of faithfulness he has proclaimed, and in a manner which will promote the welfare of the political party to whom his elevation is due by administering in the interest of all the people, the laws of our Commonwealth and advancing or defending, as maybe required, the policies in Government he voiced in the political campaign which culminated in his election.

Let us give to Governor Brumbaugh the best we have and give it unstintedly, not because we have to but because we want to. Let us make him feel the help of a "brother's shoulder" under his heavy pack. Let us work together in harmony for the good, the glory of the Commonwealth, adopting for our slogan, "ONE FOR ALL AND ALL FOR ONE."

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (Mr. D. P. Gerberich) in the Chair.

INAUGURATION OF GOVERNOR-ELECT, MARTIN G. BRUMBAUGH.

Messrs. Baldwin, Habgood and Kitts, a Committee from the House of Representatives, being introduced, informed the Senate that they had been appointed a Committee to conduct the President and members of the Senate to the platform on the west side of the Capitol for the purpose of uniting with the Speaker and members of the House of Representatives in the ceremony of attending the inauguration of the Governor of the Commonwealth.

Whereupon,

The President and members of the Senate proceeded to the platform on the west side of the Capitol, where, in the presence of the President and President Pro Tempore, and members of the Senate and Speaker and members of the House of Representatives, the certificate of election of Martin G. Brumbaugh of Philadelphia, as Governor of the Commonwealth for the ensuing four years, was read by the Chief Clerk of the Senate as follows:

CERTIFICATE OF ELECTION OF GOVERNOR.

We, the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, do certify that the President of the Senate did, on the fifth day of January, A. D. one thousand nine hundred and fifteen, in the Hall of the House of Representatives at the State Capital, open the returns of the election for Governor of this Commonwealth, and publish the same in the presence of both Houses of the Legislature, conformably to the provisions of the Constitution and laws of said Commonwealth, and upon counting the votes by a teller appointed on the part of each House, it appeared that Martin G. Brumbaugh had the highest number of votes; whereupon the said Martin G. Brumbaugh was declared to have been duly elected Governor of the Commonwealth.

In testimony whereof, we have hereunto set our hands and affixed our seals the day and year above written.

CHARLES H. KLINE,
President pro tempore of the Senate.

CHARLES A. AMBLER,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

J. FRANK GRAFF,
Teller on the part of the Senate.

WILLIAM D. WALTON,
Teller on the part of the House of Representatives.

After which, the oath of office was administered to the Governor-elect by the Honorable J. Hay Brown, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

Whereupon,

Honorable Frank B. McClain, Lieutenant Governor and President of the Senate, proclaimed Martin G. Brumbaugh to be duly elected and qualified as Governor of the Commonwealth for the ensuing four years.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR.

Whereupon,

The Honorable Martin G. Brumbaugh delivered the following inaugural address:

Members of the Senate and House of Representatives and Fellow Citizens of Pennsylvania:

In assuming the duties of the office to which you have elected me, I am humbled and steadied by the greatness of the obligation imposed and the abiding conviction that I can do my duty only when aided and guided by the Divine. In His name and for His people I enter upon this new field of endeavor. Fortunate, indeed, are we that our Commonwealth is enjoying to-day the blessings of peace and the inheritance of a worthy record through successive administrations of its public affairs. To add an additional chapter to an already honorable record is my earnest desire. To this end I solicit your active co-operation and your unselfish support. This Commonwealth and the colony from which it grew have a record of achievement so splendid that we may take an honest pride in maintaining its traditions, in advancing its interests, in publishing its virtues, in resenting its assailants and in proclaiming our happy lot that we are Pennsylvanians.

Throughout the campaign I stood squarely upon my platform pledges and was elected because the people believed I would use my utmost endeavor to secure legal enactments embodying these declarations. I shall assuredly do so. When 590,700 voters of this great Commonwealth give us a commission, they have a right to demand its fulfillment. A voice so potential is a command to the Legislature and the Executive which, if wise, both shall surely heed. If we give the people the laws they have demanded and we have promised, we shall perform a distinctly valuable service to the Commonwealth. If we fail to do this we must bear the consequences. I pledge myself to an unselfish service to the whole people of Pennsylvania, and ask your aid and active support both in securing good laws and in enforcing those now on the statute books.

We have been over-lawed. We have gone too far upon the theory that legislation is the cure of our social, economic and political ills. We have actually made legal criminals when, as a matter of duty, we should have addressed ourselves to the vastly more worthy task of educating our people into an increasing love for liberty, respect for law and devotion to our American civilization. We should never make a law that in its operation will work harm to the many and good only to the selfish or potential few. It is the business of government to make it easy to do right and difficult to do wrong. We need few additional laws. We could well afford to repeal many more than we enact. I trust, therefore, that we may all plan together to reduce enactments to a minimum, to reject all laws that do not hold the assurance of good to the many and so to facilitate legisfation as to give to the people the few vital enactments they need and deserve. As speedily as may be, this we should do, and when this is done the Legislature should adjourn.

For the moral and the economic welfare of our people we must all stand surely and steadily. Our laws should not be only regulators of procedure, but educators of the public conscience. Our great assets are not material, but spiritual. A government that enriches life and widens a people's vision will endure. No other is worthy of the name. If we address ourselves anew to this holy experiment we shall easily add unto it all essential material good.

I am not unmindful that the quality of administration is the first concern and duty of the Governor. This I shall keep daily in mind. But I also submit that it is vital to the welfare of the people that the laws administered be of the sort that will ensure to our people "peace, safety and happiness." To secure such laws and no others is my duty quite as much as it is your duty. I take this occasion to urge upon you the importance of certain well-defined wishes and admitted needs of our people.

LOCAL OPTION.

I urge upon you, gentlemen of the Legislature, the enactment of a County Local Option law. The people of this Commonwealth have a perfect right to decide for themselves whether or not intoxicating liquors shall be sold in their several counties. This issue is before you. You must meet it, and meet it openly and fairly. I gave solemn assurance to the people that I favored such a law. Your Governor now asks you to join with him in its enactment. Every consideration of moment favors such procedure. The sooner we do so the better. Let this vexed question be taken from partisan control and given directly to the people. They will solve it better than we can. The selection of judges in the several districts should no longer hinge upon this question. It has already worked harm to the judiciary and has lessened the regard of our people for the integrity and capacity of the final legal guardians of the people's sacred rights. It is a dominant issue in the public mind. The party that has given this great State its industrial and educational development has now the sacred opportunity of giving the State a great moral uplift. I trust we shall not fail the people on this issue. I repeat I am unequivocably for county local option.

HIGHWAYS.

The people who are the producers in Pennsylvania have a perfect right to insist upon better transportation facilities, both by land and by water. We add substantial good to our people when we make it easy to transport a maximum load at a minimum cost from farm and factory to the best markets and market stations. Four years ago, under the apprehension that the people would approve a $50,000,000 loan for roads, the State took over more than 9,000 miles of highways. To this, at the last session of the Legislature, additions were made. We now have under State control 10,200 miles of highways. The loan was not approved. The roads were taken over. This was a mistake. The current revenues will not properly care for these roads. They are becoming increasingly unsatisfactory. Unless largely increased revenues are provided it would be wise to admit this mistake and begin again upon the road problem. We must have now a road policy that will meet reasonable acceptance and permit of a continuous treatment for many years to come. The people need, and must have at once, better transportation facilities.

The State should find revenues adequate to the construction of a few great highways, routed between the great centers of population. These should be well built, and when built placed under the care of capable supervisors, whose duty it should be to keep them daily in good repair. It is sheer folly to construct a costly road and, unsupervised, allow it to deteriorate. These supervisors should be licensed road-keepers and not political accidents. Unless a man knows how to repair a road and is willing to put his knowledge to use, he ought never to receive appointment and pay from the State.

We also need State-aided roads. These may perhaps best be worked out on the county unit plan. The county, with power to collect from each political sub-division its quota of road taxes, should receive an equal sum from the Commonwealth. The money thus secured should be expended pro rata by the county upon the roads of the several townships. The routes should be as far as possible those connecting county seats, and the plans and perhaps all, surely part, of the supervision of construction be approved and supplied by the State. Roads should cost less than in the past. The people should know all the while what is being done and what expense is involved. A good highway is not only a public necessity but an actually attainable good for our people.

The State has now many miles of privately owned roads. These are maintained; some well, some badly, by the fees exacted from the users. These should be acquired and made a part of the public road system of the State. It is no credit to us that toll roads, once a blessing, now an irritation, should continue to exist in Pennsylvania.

So vital is this matter and so imminent is the demand that I urge you to reduce your appropriations in other directions as far as possible in order to give the highways the largest possible appropriations.

CIVIL SERVICE.

The public service should be as efficient and economical as private service. I believe in and would approve a sane and practical State civil service.

EDUCATION.

Under the school code our schools have made commendable progress. With few exceptions the provisions of that code are so essentially wise that they should not be changed. Your State Board of Education, to whom the law delegates the duty of suggesting such school legislation as should be enacted, will in due time advise you concerning the laws, if any, that would increase the efficiency of our schools. I commend their findings to you. As the number of pupils to be educated increases the appropriations should increase. More attention must be given to vocational education. We have the largest number of farmers of any State in the Union. Surely agriculture should command greater attention in our schools. I favor the creation of many rural high schools in which both boys and girls may be taught how to earn on the farm and in the home an honest livelihood. An education that does not increase the size of the loaf on the family table is scarcely worth the attention of our people. All education, no matter how liberal and cultural, should be so imparted as to make it usable. The facilities for training teachers should be improved, better supervision provided and higher education encouraged. But the emphasis of the State's concern should rest upon the schools of the many—the great common school so dear to our people and so essential to their welfare. We need a greatly enlarged permanent school fund. Universal education is the best safeguard of our liberties, and money devoted to right education is the State's best investment.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

The resolution passed by the last Legislature submitting an amendment to the Constitution providing for woman suffrage should be re-enacted and the voters allowed to determine for themselves whether or not women shall vote in Pennsylvania.

APPROPRIATIONS TO CHARITY.

Pennsylvania leads all States in its support of dependents. Its record should be maintained. But there is neither sense nor justice in unstudied appropriations to our many charitable institutions and agencies. These constitute important and wholly worthy objects of public concern and support. The Legislature should know from competent authority their real needs and should follow such knowledge in making its appropriations. Moreover the bounty of the State should never exceed the assured income of the State. It should not again occur that the obligation of lessening this bounty should be placed upon the Executive.

It may be that some wiser and surer method can be devised to ensure these funds doing the greatest good and reaching directly the institutions and agencies whose service is best or most needed. Surely the supervision of the State should follow absolutely its gifts. The State can afford to be generous only when it is just.

LABOR AND ITS CLAIMS.

The people who toil are among the choice assets of our Commonwealth. For their protection, their comfort, their advancement, their happiness, we are all securely pledged. I shall welcome any laws that promote these essentially wise ends. We must enact a fair and certain Workmen's Compensation Act. Its provisions should secure reasonable compensation to those who in their daily toil suffer from accident or disease. It should assuredly make for the prevention of accidents. This compensation should be guaranteed. The funds for its prompt payment should be counted among the costs of production. In scope it should not include labor upon the farm nor domestice service. Great care should be exercised to see that the law be drawn in strict compliance with constitutional limitations. The present Liability Act needs amendment to the end that it may be in full accord with the above proposed act and that both alike may guarantee to our workers the certain and speedy relief they merit and should have.

Our Child Labor Laws are inadequate and unsatisfactory. No child under sixteen should be allowed to work. He should be in school. The small sum he earns prior to sixteen at the cost of his physical and mental development is a pittance compared with the loss he and the Commonwealth sustain under present law. Such "penny wise" and "pound foolish" laws are unworthy this great State. When a child is not at work under law he should be in school. He should never be a licensed loafer on the streets. The hours of toil should be supplemented by hours of study in school. Continuation schools to which our children who toil may resort for practical and specific aid should be maintained in every industrial center. No child should be allowed to enter upon any form of service who is not certified by competent agents to be physically fit for such service.

In this great industrial State it is our duty to pay definite attention to the housing problem. Every family should be housed in a home that is private, sanitary, safe and attainable at a reasonable rental. I urge your attention to this important problem. We cannot breed good citizens in disgraceful houses. It would be a great pleasure to me and a great blessing to our workmen if this problem were adequately met now.

OUR FARMS.

We have not learned how to make the most of our soil. The rewards of our toil on the farm are not what they should be. The State should grow more food than it consumes. We ought not to be buyers but sellers of foods. Money should flow to us, not away from us. The departments of the government charged with the conservation of our soil and the scientific development of our crops have sprung up, one at a time, as their services were required and no effort has been made to articulate and co-ordinate these several agencies. There is at least departmental confusion if not actual duplication and conflict of activities. All this means waste in funds and lessened service to the farmer. I hope in this session of the Legislature to have such action taken as will separate the teaching from the administrative functions of these agencies and reduce each to an ordered and scientific service. The funds for the advancement of our agricultural interests ought to express themselves much more largely in wheat and corn and potatoes and less in clerical and other forms of routine service. Let us legislate for the farmer rather than for the office holder.

MUNICIPAL REGULATION.

Our cities have grown more rapidly than our rural districts. Our urban population is so complex that it scarcely knows how to apply the principles of democracy. These people will learn, even if they blunder, when they have the fullest responsibility of control placed squarely upon them. They will learn much more slowly, if at all, while the State at long range is the large regulator of their conduct and their corporate life. Our laws ought not to hinder but help these great groups speedily to find themselves in the difficult task of adjusting municipal affairs to individual welfare. The State should give these municipalities wider freedom of opportunity to develop as they would, and to place definite responsibility upon them so to regulate their affairs as to make our cities centers of moral uplift and examples of clean, capable administration.

CONSERVATION.

Once Pennsylvania was rich in natural resources and unequalled in natural beauty. Much of its wealth has been taken from it. Much yet remains. Its ownership has passed to private and to corporate agencies. They have rights that must be respected. So also have the people of the State a claim upon these great natural assets. In their marketing the Commonwealth plays an essential part. In the returns the people ought also to share. A reasonable tax upon our great natural resources as they flow to our markets is both fair and wise. Our public lands represent a new and increasingly valuable asset. We should speedily acquire many more acres and assist nature to reforest the same. The State can well afford to invest part of its income for the welfare of succeeding generations. Indeed, if we love our continuing Commonwealth more than we love our personal gain, we shall assuredly foster our resources and, whenever possible, add to them.

We fail to sense this obligation aright if we do not remember that our people are our greatest asset. Whatever makes for their good is conservation of the loftiest kind. That they may be safeguarded in their health, their recreation, their education, their homes, their worship, their property, their regulated freedom, their toil, should be our constant endeavor.

CONCLUSION.

Pennsylvania has always given home and haven to the people of the civilized world. Here we have had for a quarter of a millenium the most heterogeneous population of any State. There has never been persecution or oppression. In peace, in order, in brotherhood, we have grown into a mighty people, an empire of substantial purposes. Our people are law abiding and liberty loving. They want the right things to prevail. They welcome the unselfish leadership of clean men. They want and must have a clean, capable and conscientious administration of their public affairs. Those of us that serve should be frankly honest with them. They have a perfect right to know, and they shall know, what this administration stands for and will steadily do.

In the performance of public service let us adopt the finest code of our best citizens and put private integrity into public service. Let us all devoutly pray for this great State and by our words and our deeds humbly help our common God to save, to honor, to exalt this splendid Commonwealth He has given into our care and keeping.

SENATE RETURNS TO CHAMBER.

After some time the Senate returned to its Chamber.

RECESS.

Mr. KURTZ. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess until three o'clock.

Mr. CATLIN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS.

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (Mr. D. P. Gerberich) in the Chair.

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

INVENTION FOR THE CLEANING OF STREETS.

The Chair cleared his table and laid before the Senate communication, which was read as follows and referred to the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation when appointed:

Chemnitz (Saxony), 79 Hainstrasse II., 11 August, 1914.

The President of the Senate, Philadelphia (Pennsylvania) on Delaware.

Sir:—I, herewith, have the honour to call your attention to an invention of mine which is fully described in the accompanying documents, and which in my opinion is of great general importance and interest.

To what extent its introduction would contribute to a maintenance of cleanliness in the streets, is a point left to the expert judgment of the Authorities which could also determine its sanitary advantages and the great saving of expenses it affords in connection with the cleaning of streets and squares.

I am furthermore prepared to place at the disposal of your Municipal Authorities two thirds of the sum eventually estimated as the value of the invention; said two thirds would form the basis of a fund devoted to the Assistance of the Widows and Orphans of carters, waggoners, etc. who have come to grief whilst in the execution of their duties.

I take the liberty to place it at your option to form, in cooperation with your Colleagues, some means for the introduction of this innovation in connection with Public Safety according to your best judgment.

I have the honour to be, Sir,

Your most humble and obedient servant,

EMIL CLEMENS UHLICH.

RECESS.

Mr. HOKE. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a further recess until four o'clock.

Mr. McCONNELL. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (Mr. Charles H. Kline) in the Chair.

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

TUESDAY, January 19, 1915.

The House met at 11:15 o'clock A. M.

The SPEAKER (Charles A. Ambler) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

Rev. Benjamin F. Bungard, member from Westmoreland County, offered the following prayer:

O, Thou Great Jehovah, Eternal God, Prince of Peace, Loving Father, in all Thy mercy this morning Thou hast looked down upon us and favored us with life and health to be able to be here this morning to transact this business which falls to our lot in this great Commonwealth which we so proudly represent, and Our Father and God this morning we invoke Thy blessing upon this Assembly and upon that Assembly which shall convene a little later in the day. Bless all the services, bless all mankind this morning, and be with us in all that we do and all that we think or say. May we be directed by Thee from whom cometh wisdom, peace, joy and knowledge. And Our Father this morning look upon us with Thy gracious smile that though we are created in Thy likeness, help us to live in Thy realms, and this day, Our Father, may it bring great joy and comfort to the many thus assembled. And now, Our Father, when our work is completed, for which Thou hast called us into this life, and as we speedily hasten toward that undiscovered country from whose bourne no traveler returns, when we are safely seated in the greatest assembly of all assemblies, at home with God, then well may we look down upon our imperfections in this world, and they will be perfected in yonder world; give us deliberation God's dignity and respect for our holy duties and guide us continually to Thy praise, in Jesus' name. Amen.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings, when on motion of Mr. Ramsey, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal was approved.

COMMITTEE TO ESCORT SENATE TO INAUGURATION CEREMONIES.

Mr. BALDWIN offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed by the Speaker to wait upon the Senate and inform that body that the House will be ready at 11:40 to proceed to the front of the Capitol to attend the Inaugural Ceremonies.

The SPEAKER. The Chair appoints Messrs. Baldwin, Habgood and Kitts as said committee. The committee will retire at once to notify the Senate.

RECESS.

The SPEAKER. The House will now take a recess for ten minutes.

AFTER RECESS.

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to notify the House that the committee has performed its duty and notified the Senate in accordance with the resolution.

The SPEAKER. The committee is discharged with the thanks of the House.

RECESS.

If there are no objections the House will take a recess until four o'clock P. M.

AFTER RECESS.

The House reconvened at 4:00 o'clock P. M.

SPEAKER AMBLER in the Chair.

The SPEAKER. After the Governor finished the delivery of his inaugural address he placed in my hands a copy thereof which will now be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk read as follows:

INAUGURAL ADDRESS OF MARTIN G. BRUMBAUGH.

CIVIL SERVICE.

The public service should be as efficient and economical as private service. I believe in and would approve a sane and practical State civil service.

EDUCATION.

Under the school code our schools have made commendable progress. With few exceptions the provisions of that code are so essentially wise that they should not be changed. Your State Board of Education, to whom the law delegates the duty of suggesting such school legislation as should be enacted, will in due time advise you concerning the laws, if any, that would increase the efficiency of our school. I commend their findings to you. As the number of pupils to be educated increases the appropriations should increase. More attention must be given to vocational education. We have the largest number of farmers of any State in the Union. Surely agriculture should command greater attention in our schools. I favor the creation of many rural high schools in which both boys and girls may be taught how to earn on the farm and in the home an honest livelihood. An education that does not increase the size of the loaf on the family table is scarcely worth the attention of our people. All education, no matter how liberal and cultural, should be so imparted as to make it usable. The facilities for training teachers should be improved, better supervision provided and higher education encouraged. But the emphasis of the State's concern should rest upon the schools of the many—the great common school so dear to our people and so essential to their welfare. We need a greatly enlarged permanent school fund. Universal education is the best safeguard of our liberties, and money devoted to right education is the State's best investment.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

The resolution passed by the last Legislature submitting an amendment to the Constitution providing for woman suffrage should be re-enacted and the voters allowed to determine for themselves whether or not women shall vote in Pennsylvania.

APPROPRIATIONS TO CHARITY.

Pennsylvania leads all States in its support of dependents. Its record should be maintained. But there is neither sense nor justice in unstudied appropriations to our many charitable institutions and agencies. These constitute important and wholly worthy objects of public concern and support. The Legislature should know from competent authority their real needs and should follow such knowledge in making its appropriations. Moreover the bounty of the State should never exceed the assured income of the State. It should not again occur that the obligation of lessening this bounty should be placed upon the Executive.

It may be that some wiser and surer method can be devised to ensure these funds doing the greatest good and reaching directly the institutions and agencies whose service is best or most needed. Surely the supervision of the State should follow absolutely its gifts. The State can afford to be generous only when it is just.

LABOR AND ITS CLAIMS.

The people who toil are among the choicest assets of our Commonwealth. For their protection, their comfort, their advancement, their happiness, we are all securely pledged. I shall welcome any laws that promote these essentially wise ends. We must enact a fair and certain Workmen's Compensation Act. Its provisions should secure reasonable compensation to those who in their daily toil suffer from accident or disease. It should assuredly make for the prevention of accidents. This compensation should be guaranteed.

The funds for its prompt payment should be counted among the costs of production. In scope it should not include labor upon the farm nor domestice service. Great care should be exercised to see that the law be drawn in strict compliance with constitutional limitations. The present Liability Act needs amendment to the end that it may be in full accord with the above proposed act and that both alike may guarantee to our workers the certain and speedy relief they merit and should have.

Our Child Labor Laws are inadequate and unsatisfactory. No child under sixteen should be allowed to work. He should be in school. The small sum he earns prior to sixteen at the cost of his physical and mental development is a pittance compared with the loss he and the Commonwealth sustain under present law. Such "penny wise" and "pound foolish" laws are unworthy this great State. When a child is not at work under law he should be in school. He should never be a licensed loafer on the streets. The hours of toil should be supplemented by hours of study in school. Continuation schools to which our children who toil may resort for practical and specific aid should be maintained in every industrial center. No child should be allowed to enter upon any form of service who is not certified by competent agents to be physically fit for such service.

In this great industrial State it is our duty to pay definite attention to the housing problem. Every family should be housed in a home that is private, sanitary, safe and attainable at a reasonable rental. I urge your attention to this important problem. We cannot breed good citizens in disgraceful houses. It would be a great pleasure to me and a great blessing to our workmen if this problem were adequately met now.

OUR FARMS.

We have not learned how to make the most of our soil. The rewards of our toil on the farm are not what they should be. The State should grow more food than it consumes. We ought not to be buyers but sellers of foods. Money should flow to us, not away from us. The departments of the government charged with the conservation of our soil and the scientific development of our crops have sprung up, one at a time, as their services were required and no effort has been made to articulate and co-ordinate these several agencies. There is at least departmental confusion if not actual duplication and conflict of activities. All this means waste in funds and lessened service to the farmer. I hope in this session of the Legislature to have such action taken as will separate the teaching from the administrative functions of these agencies and reduce each to an ordered and scientific service. The funds for the advancement of our agricultural interests ought to express themselves much more largely in wheat and corn and potatoes and less in clerical and other forms of routine service. Let us legislate for the farmer rather than for the office holder.

MUNICIPAL REGULATION.

Our cities have grown more rapidly than our rural districts. Our urban population is so complex that it scarcely knows how to apply the principles of democracy. These people will learn, even if they blunder, when they have the fullest responsibility of control placed squarely upon them. They will learn much more slowly, if at all, while the State at long range is the large regulator of their conduct and their corporate life. Our laws ought not to hinder but help these great groups speedily to find themselves in the difficult task of adjusting municipal affairs to individual welfare. The State should give these municipalities wider freedom of opportunity to develop as they would, and to place definite responsibility upon them so to regulate their affairs as to make our cities centers of moral uplift and examples of clean, capable administration.

CONSERVATION.

Once Pennsylvania was rich in natural resources and unequalled in natural beauty. Much of its wealth has been taken from it. Much yet remains. Its ownership has passed to private and to corporate agencies. They have rights that must be respected. So also have the people of the State a claim upon these great natural assets. In their marketing the Commonwealth plays an essential part. In the returns the people ought also to share. A reasonable tax upon our great natural resources as they flow to our markets is both fair and wise. Our public lands represent a new and increasingly valuable asset. We should speedily acquire many more acres and assist nature to reforest the same. The State can well afford to invest part of its income for the welfare of succeeding generations. Indeed, if we love our continuing Commonwealth more than we love our personal gain, we shall assuredly foster our resources and, whenever possible, add to them.

We fail to sense this obligation aright if we do not remember that our people are our greatest asset. Whatever makes for their good is conservation of the loftiest kind. That they may be safeguarded in their health, their recreation, their education, their homes, their worship, their property, their regulated freedom, their toil, should be our constant endeavor.

CONCLUSION.

Pennsylvania has always given home and haven to the people of the civilized world. Here we have had for a quarter of a millenium the most heterogeneous population of any State. There has never been persecution or oppression. In peace, in order, in brotherhood, we have grown into a mighty people, an empire of substantial purposes. Our people are law abiding and liberty loving. They want the right things to prevail. They welcome the unselfish leadership of clean men. They want and must have a clean, capable and conscientious administration of their public affairs. Those of us that serve should be frankly honest with them. They have a perfect right to know, and they shall know, what this administration stands for and will steadily do.

In the performance of public service let us adopt the finest code of our best citizens and put private integrity into public service. Let us all devoutly pray for this great State and by our words and our deeds humbly help our common God to save, to honor, to exalt this splendid Commonwealth He has given into our care and keeping.

ADJOURNMENT.

Mr. SHAFFER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House do now adjourn.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 4:15 P. M.) the House adjourned until to-morrow morning at 10:00 o'clock.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA.

Legislative Journal.

Session 1915 — 121st of the General Assembly

VOL. 3. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 20, 1915 No. 4.

SENATE.

WEDNESDAY, January 20, 1915.

The Senate met at 10 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Frank B. McClain) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. A. C. James, offered the following prayer:

The earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof, the world and they that dwell therein. For He hath founded it upon the seas and established it upon the floods. Who shall ascend into the hill of the Lord; who shall stand in His holy hill; he who hath clean hands and a pure heart, who hath not lifted up his soul unto vanity nor sworn deceitfully; he shall receive the blessing from the Lord and righteousness from the God of his salvation. Lift up your heads, O ye gates, and be ye lift up, ye everlasting doors, and the King of Glory shall come in. Who is this King of Glory? The Lord, strong and mighty, the Lord mighty in battle. Lift up your heads, O ye gates, even lift them up ye everlasting doors, and the King of Glory shall come in. Who is this King of Glory? The Lord of Hosts is this King of Glory. The Lord be with thee when we are absent one from another. Amen.

The PRESIDENT. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings, when, on motion of Mr. Gerberich, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal was approved.

NAYS—0.

Two-thirds of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Governor be informed accordingly.

ADJOURNMENT.

Mr. KURTZ. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 12 o'clock M., until 9 o'clock Monday evening, January 25, 1915.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WEDNESDAY, January 20, 1915.

The House met at 10.00 o'clock A. M.

The SPEAKER (Charles A. Ambler) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

REV. BENJAMIN F. BUNGARD, member from Westmoreland county, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, Maker of Heaven and earth, Creator of man and Redeemer of man, we come to Thee this morning because there is no one above Thee. We recognize this sovereignty of God this morning. Out of the great deep man is born; into the thick deep we go, Our Heavenly Father, this morning we are here not as individual representatives, but representatives of this great Commonwealth; representatives of our people, that government shall be for the people and by the people. Help us then, our Father, to be humble servants of Thine in filling this holy and this great office with dignity and respect to our constituencies and to this great Commonwealth. Bless the new Governor, O God, and help us as Thy helpers and his helpers to make this administration one of great worth to this Commonwealth; that we might stand by him and help him in everything that is for the betterment of mankind, that peace and prosperity might be ushered into this great Commonwealth, and the restoration of all commercial enterprises, so that the wheels of commerce might again be heard humming and running. And now, O God, to Thy praise we would direct our minds this morning, and help us as we are met here to be men, to be known as men, and to have a respect for one another, and above all for Thee. Bless us in all the deliberations of the day, and finally bring us where we shall assemble and be at home with God. Amen.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of the proceedings of Tuesday, January 19th, 1915.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of Tuesday, January 19th, 1915, when, on motion of Mr. Stein, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

Committee.

The SPEAKER. The question is,

Will the House agree to the Resolution?

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, at this time I ask for a division of the question as regards the Reading Clerk, and I desire to put in nomination the name of David D. Davies. As a member of the Slate Committee, having signed the report, I do this in order to give Mr. Davies a chance for the office he is aspiring to.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. Speaker, this report is signed by twenty-nine of the thirty-one members of the Slate Committee. It is a Republican slate and I want to state to the members of the House that the reason why Mr. Davies had not been considered for appointment on this slate was that he was Chairman of the Washington Party Headquarters in the East End of Pittsburgh during the last campaign. For that reason he was opposed by the Allegheny County Republican organization. I ask you to stand by the report of this committee.

Mr. GEISER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to second the nomination of Mr. Davies as made by Mr. Adams of Luzerne.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would state that nominations are really not in order.

The gentleman from Luzerne asked for a division of the question.

Mr. GEISER. Mr. Speaker, I simply wish to speak a word for Mr. Davies and I shall quote from the Governor's message of yesterday in which he says, among other things, as follows: "As speedily as may be, and when this is done the Legislature should adjourn." Now, if Mr. David Davies has a fault his one fault is a failing virtue, and this is speed; so for mercy's sake, Mr. Speaker, give us speed and give us David Davies.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Luzerne has asked for a division of the question which he is entitled to.

The House will now vote on the report submitted, with the exception of Reading Clerk.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the report submitted with the exception of Reading Clerk?

It was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The Committee has submitted the name of Mr. Falkenstein, and the name of Mr. David Davies has been submited by Mr. Adams, of Luzerne.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. Speaker, Mr. Falkenstein is the selection of the entire membership of the Slate Committee with the exception of two members, one of whom was not in the House this week and had no opportunity to sign the report.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I wish to state for the benefit of the new members of the House that I do not think there is a more loyal Republican in the House than Mr. Davies. The position that Mr. Davies sought was a position that most any one would seek that is out of employment. He was Secretary of the Washington Party, as I understand it, and not through any political motive whatever. He is a good, solid Republican.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will call the roll.

REASONS FOR VOTE.

Mr. HUBLER. Mr. Speaker, I desire at this time to give my reasons for my vote, which are as follows:

1. Having promised Mr. Davies my support without the knowledge of the action of the Slate Committee, who had slated Mr. Falkenstein.

2. For his splendid satisfaction in his position.

Mr. LANIUS. Mr. Speaker, after consideration I have decided if twenty-nine members of the thirty-one signed that report and have endorsed the Slate Committee's choice, I certainly would like to change my vote from voting "Present" to voting for Mr. Falkenstein.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: It is very evident that the majority of the members—

The SPEAKER. There is nothing in order until the vote is announced.

The Clerks agree in their count. Mr. Falkenstein has received 133 votes; Mr. Davies 35 votes. Mr. Falkenstein having received a majority of all the votes cast is declared elected Reading Clerk of this House.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, while it is evident that the majority of the House favors the election of Mr. Falkenstein, I, at this time, make a motion that the election of Mr. Falkenstein be made unanimous.

Mr. GEISER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

OATH OF OFFICE ADMINISTERED TO OFFICERS AND EMPLOYES.

At the request of the Speaker, the persons present who were elected and appointed as officers and employes of the House presented themselves at the bar of the House, and the oath of office, as required by law, was administered to them by the Speaker.

SENATE MESSAGE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate as follows:

TIME OF ADJOURNMENT.

In the Senate, January 20, 1915.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur) That when the Legislature adjourns it be to meet on Monday evening, January 25th, 1915, at 9:00 o'clock.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Said resolution was twice read, considered and concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to state that the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Dawson, and the gentleman from Allegheny, desire to exchange Committees. The Chair has no objection.

Mr. Dodds desires to go on the Committee on Mines and Mining and Mr. Dawson on the Committee on Legislative Apportionment, and these changes will be made accordingly.

COMMITTEE ON RULES.

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to announce at this time the Committee on Rules. The Chair appoints on said Committee Messrs. William H. Wilson, Edward E. Jones, Whitaker, Vickerman and Shaffer.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has received a communication which the Clerk will read.

The Clerk read as follows:

THE PENNSYLVANIA SOLDIERS' AND SAILORS' HOME, ERIE, PA.

Thomas J. Stewart, Secretary,
Adjutant General's Department.

Harrisburg, Pa., January 20, 1915.

Honorable Charles A. Ambler, Speaker of the House of Representatives, Harrisburg, Pa.

My dear Mr. Speaker: Under the provisions of Section 7 of the Act of Assembly approved June 3rd, 1885, P. L. 63-64, the Presiding officer of the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania is required to appoint two members of the House of Representatives as members of the Board of Trustees of the Pennsylvania Soldiers' and Sailors' Home at Erie, Pennsylvania. These appointments are to be made on the 3rd Wednesday of January, 1915; said appointments having been made in each Legislative year since the year of 1867.

Very truly yours,
(Signed) THOS. J. STEWART,
Secretary.

APPOINTMENT OF TRUSTEES OF PENNSYLVANIA SOLDIERS' AND SAILORS' HOME.

The SPEAKER. The Chair appoints as said trustees the Honorable Henry Gransback, Sr., and the Honorable William J. McCaig.

ADJOURNMENT.

Mr. SHAFFER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House do now adjourn.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 11.25 A. M.) the House adjourned until Monday, January 25, 1915, at 9.00 o'clock P. M.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA.

Legislative Journal.

Session 1915 — 121st of the General Assembly

VOL. 3. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, JANUARY 25, 1915. No. 5.

SENATE.

MONDAY, January 25th, 1915.

The Senate met at 9 o'clock P. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Frank B. McClain) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. Thomas W. Davis, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, our Kind Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for all the bounties of nature. We thank Thee for this great State of Pennsylvania, and for the principles by which it and the great United States are guided. We pray at this time for Thy blessing upon the Governor and upon his cabinet; Thy blessing upon the President of the Senate, and this distinguished body of honorable men; Thy blessing upon the Speaker of the House and that body, and we pray that these men, in enacting laws that are to reach the largest numbers of people, and give them the largest amount of good, while those laws are being enacted they may remember also the laws that govern their own individual lives. To this end we ask that Thy blessing may be with all these distinguished men and their families. Preserve them in health, physical, mental and moral strength, and grant dear Father, that at all times they may remember that what they are sowing, this great State and they themselves must reap. Guide them so that at all times we may live individually and collectively to Thy glory. We ask it in the name of the Saviour. Amen.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. Daix, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

PETITION.

RELATING TO THE ELECTION OF ASSESSORS AND LIMITING THE POWERS OF THE BOARD OF APPEALS.

Mr. CLARK presented the petition of Citizens of Erie County, relating to the election of assessors and limiting the powers of the Board of Appeals.

Which was referred to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Ordered, That the Governor be informed accordingly.

ADJOURNMENT.

Mr. CROW. Mr. President, I move the Senate do now adjourn until Tuesday morning, January 26, 1915, at 11 o'clock.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 10:10 o'clock P. M. until Tuesday morning, January 26, 1915, at 11 o'clock.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

MONDAY, January 25th, 1915.

The House met at 9:00 o'clock P. M.

The SPEAKER (Charles A. Ambler) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. F. W. Staley, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, we thank Thee that Thou art our God. Before the mountains were brought forth, before Thou hadst formed the earth and the world, even from everlasting to everlasting, Thou art God. Thou are the Creator of governments, the Preserver of States, and the Preserver of this State, and Thou hast made us heirs of all the resources of this great State, of all its history, and of the experiences of patriotic men, even men who died to preserve this great State. We thank Thee that we can call upon Thy great name in prayer to pray for the Governor of this State and for his cabinet and for the men who are his helpers, being the pilots of the Ship of State, to direct the Ship into the desired haven. We thank Thee that we can ask Thee to direct the Speaker by Thy spirit to make just decisions, and to have the courage of his convictions to do that which is noble and right. We ask Thy blessing to rest upon the men who represent the State and who are members of this Legislature. May they take a lesson of co-operation from the tree, and the roots of the tree, how those roots in groups make the bark and the sap and the leaves of the tree and even hold that magnificent tree firm in the ground; and so may these men in groups, in committees, work out together the great problems of the State, the child problem, the home problem and the industrial problem, and all the great problems, and then when our work had been completed, may we hear the words of the blessed Master, "Well done thou good and faithful servant, enter into the joy of the Lord." For all these things we are grateful, and unto the Father, and unto the Son and unto the Holy Ghost we will ascribe everlasting praise, in that world without end. Amen.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the journal of the proceedings of Wednesday, January 20th.

The Clerk proceeded to read the journal of Wednesday January 20th, when on motion of Mr. Wildman the further reading was dispensed with and the journal was approved.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

Mr. SPANGLER asked and obtained indefinite leave of absence for Mr. Barnett on account of illness.

Mr. HAMILTON asked and obtained indefinite leave of absence for Mr. Mangan on account of illness.

Mr. RHOADS asked and obtained indefinite leave of absence for Mr. Hibshman on account of illness.

RESOLUTION.

Mr. W. H. WILSON, from the Committee on Rules, offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

Resolved, That rule 67 be stricken out and the following be inserted as rule 67.

PINK BILLS, CALENDAR AND SUPPLEMENT.

67. All bills as soon as introduced shall be printed on pink paper for the use of Members, and shall be numbered consecutively. At the beginning of each day's session a calendar of bills shall be placed upon the desk of the Speaker, of each Member and of each Clerk. This calendar shall be printed on pink paper and shall show for each bill introduced, up to date, the number, title, name of Member introducing the bill, the date of introduction and the committee to which each bill is referred. At the beginning of each week, a supplement printed on white paper, giving the number, status and last printer's number of each bill, shall be filed with this calendar.

W. H. WILSON,
E. E. JONES,
J. W. VICKERMAN,
CHAS. A. SHAFFER.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Tioga, Mr. Williams.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I arise to question a personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. Speaker, In looking over the assignments of committees, I find that my colleague, from Tioga, Mr. Marvin, and myself are both members of the Committee on Agriculture. In a spirit of fairness to other counties, equally interested in the development of their agricultural resources with the County of Tioga and not being represented on the Committee of Agriculture, I ask to withdraw as a member of the committee in order that the vacancy may be filled before the committee begins its active work.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection the gentleman's withdrawal will be accepted and the Chair will later appoint his successor.

Mr. GARNER. Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Garner.

Mr. GARNER. Mr. Speaker, might it not be well that other gentlemen from the agricultural regions also withdraw in favor of those who understand the work of the committee that they are on.

ADJOURNMENT.

Mr. GRANSBACK. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House do now adjourn.

The motion was agreed to and (at 9:15 P. M.) the House adjourned until to-morrow morning at 10:00 o'clock.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1915 — 121st of the General Assembly

VOL. 3. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, JANUARY 26, 1915. No. 6.

SENATE.

TUESDAY, January 26, 1915.

The Senate met at 11 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Frank B. McClain) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. Thomas W. Davis, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for this beautiful morning, for the preservation of our life and health, and we pray that Thy blessing may be with us today to the one great purpose that we may remember that it is our duty so far as we possibly can to make it hard for our fellow men to do wrong, and make it easy for them to do right. We recognize the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man, and so far as we can possibly do it we desire to have shining out before them at all times the star of hope, that will keep their lives filled with joy and peace and comfort and inspiration, and we know that this body of men gathered here have it in their hearts and minds to do all in their power to reach the very farthest limits of this State of Pennsylvania with such laws that shall be comforting, uplifting and inspiring to those who are associated with them in this great brotherhood. To this end we pray Thee to guide us so that at all times we may live to Thy glory and to the very best good of all our fellows. We ask it in our Redeemer's name. Amen.

The Clerk proceeded to read the journal of the preceeding session, when, on motion of Mr. Gerberich, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal was approved.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

TUESDAY, January 26th, 1915.

The House met at 10.00 A. M.

The SPEAKER (Charles A. Ambler) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. F. W. Staley, of Montgomery County, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, we approach Thee this beautiful morning with the deepest reverence and with the deepest gratitude, and we express our gratitude in the words of the Psalmist, "Bless the Lord, O my soul, and all that is within me bless His holy name! Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all His benefits." We are deeply grateful to Thee, O God, this morning, for the characters which Thou hast presented to us in Holy Scripture. We thank Thee that we can open these sacred pages and read the story of the great lawgiver who formulated laws that have preserved a nation from the other nations of the earth during the thousands of years that have passed away, and His laws which He formulated have become the indestructible principles in government and have saturated the souls of Christian men throughout the entire world. We thank Thee for the teachings of the lowly Nazarene and that we can understand His teachings because they are so simple and so plain; and may we study his sermon on the mount and in the laws that are enacted in this age may the teachings of Moses and the teacnings of the Nazarene be put in these laws so that we may realize that mankind is a great brotherhood and that the future of God has been revealed unto us all, and may we be deeply grateful because Thou hast called us to be lawmakers, and may such laws be enacted as will be a great blessing even to the little boy, to the little girl, to the mother and to the father, and to all the great industries throughout this great Commonwealth; and may we be grateful for all the vast resources of this Commonwealth; and may we be righteous citizens, wise and reasonable men, for we know that they that be wise shall shine as the brightness of the firmament and forever turn many to righteousness as stars forever and ever.

Guide us in all that we do; keep us all faithful servants unto death and administer unto us an abundant entrance into Thy everlasting kingdom, we ask, for Christ's sake. Amen.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings when on motion of Mr. Stern the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. GARNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. GARNER. Mr. Speaker, when I read the newspapers this morning I found that I had become famous as the champion of benzoate of soda and the adulteration of candy for the children.

I had a great deal of work to do at the time and I asked the Legislative Reference Bureau, that is supposed to frame bills for us, to frame me a bill that would absolutely do away with benzoate of soda and all adulterations. I should have read the bill before I handed it in; but I am going to say this, Mr. Speaker, that if the Reference Bureau of this House framed me a bill making me champion of benzoate of soda and adulterated candy I am going to bring in a bill to oust that Reference Bureau; and if the newspaper men that wrote that article did not read it right I am going to buy them each a magnifying glass.

I am against benzoate of soda in any form and against the poisoning of children, and I want the people to know it. (Applause.)

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED.

By Mr. RONEY. House Bill No. 1.

An Act relating to the holding of a Constitutional convention, providing for the submission of the question of holding such a convention to the electors regulating the time and manner of nominating and electing delegates fixing their number and compensation, providing for the organization and constitution of the convention, defining its powers, providing for the publication of the constitution proposed by the convention and for its submission to the electors and making an appropriation to carry out the provisions of this act.

(For Report see Appendix.)

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

Mr. MAURER. Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Berks, Mr. Maurer.

Mr. MAURER. I desire to offer a resolution at this time.

The SPEAKER. The resolution will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then read the resolution as follows:

Whereas, One Valentine Brobst, Sr., died about one thousand eight hundred thirty-eight seized of more than fifty tracts of land in Eastern Pennsylvania, each of which contained from three hundred to three thousand acres; and

Whereas, The lawful heirs of said Valentine Brobst, Sr., alleged that through conspiracy and fraud they have been deprived of said lands, which now, on account of the vast deposits of coal therein contained are extremely valuable; and

Whereas, The heirs of said Valentine Brobst, Sr., allege that they have vainly endeavored by litigation to regain said lands of which they allege they have been deprived by fraud and conspiracy, therefore be it

Resolved, (If the Senate concur) that the Attorney General is hereby directed to investigate the charges of fraud and conspiracy whereby the heirs of Valentine Brobst, Sr., allege they have been deprived of many valuable tracts of land in Eastern Pennsylvania, and to ascertain whether such charges are true, and to report thereon at this session of the General Assembly with such recommendations in the premises as to them shall seem proper.

The SPEAKER. The resolution will lie over under the rules, for printing.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would like to suggest that the different members get together this afternoon and take up some of the bills that have been referred to the different committees. We will have a session to-morrow morning and we would like to get started with the work just as quickly as possible.

RECESS.

The Chair declared a recess until 11:30 o'clock.

AFTER RECESS.

The SPEAKER (Charles A. Ambler) in the chair.

SENATE MESSAGE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented the following extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows, viz:

TIME OF ADJOURNMENT.

In the Senate, January 26th 1915.

Resolved (If the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns to-day it shall be to reconvene on Monday evening February 1st at 9 o'clock and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it shall be to reconvene on Monday evening February 1st at 9 o'clock.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

MOTION TO ADJOURN.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House do now adjourn.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. GARNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question.

Mr. GARNER. Mr. Speaker, before we adjourn I have here in front of me the head of the Legislative Reference Bureau that draws the bills. He acknowledges that I wrote him and requested a bill absolutely prohibiting the use of benzoate of soda in any form or adulterants in any form. He says, though, that he did not draw the bill himself and that he must go and ask the other fellow. Mr. Speaker, we have a long time before us; we are not hurried for time and I move you that the head of the Reference Bureau be granted the floor for the time that he needs and then the reporters that made my seat in this House very doubtful be granted the floor to explain their end of it.

The SPEAKER. You have heard the motion of the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Garner. If there are no objections? Leave is granted.

Mr. MOORE (Head of the Legislative Reference Bureau). Mr. Speaker, and gentlemen of the House: Mr. Garner wrote to Mr. McCurdy, of our Bureau, in regard to this bill that is in controversy. He asked in that that benzoate of soda be prohibited. The bill was drawn as follows—making it short, so that you will understand—Section one was amended to comply with his request. In that section benzoate of soda to one-tenth of one per cent. is allowable. The old section was quoted and it was then amended to read as follows; and in that section which would become the law, should you people pass this bill, that is cut out. Therefore, benzoate of soda is not allowed.

Gentlemen, that is all the statement we can make in regard to this bill. We amended the section and cut out benzoate of soda as a preservative.

The SPEAKER. We will be glad to hear from any of the newspaper correspondents who desire the floor.

Mr. GARNER. Mr. Speaker, the only reason that I was anxious that this should be absolutely squared was that the man that I ran against in this House voted for one-tenth of one per cent. of benzoate of soda. I went around and I made speeches and I condemned him for allowing even that small amount and so I am now in the newspapers allowing it all to come in, Mr. Speaker. I would ask that the newspapermen explain now.

The SPEAKER. We have already given the newspapermen an opportunity.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, is there not only one question before the House—that of adjournment?

The SPEAKER. There is nothing else before the House.

ADJOURNMENT.

The motion was agreed to and (at 11:40 A. M.) the House adjourned until Wednesday morning, January 27th, 1915, at 10 o'clock.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1915 — 121st of the General Assembly

VOL. 3. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 27, 1915. No. 7.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WEDNESDAY, January 27th, 1915.

The House met at 10.00 A. M.

The SPEAKER (Charles A. Ambler) in the chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. F. W. Staley, of Montgomery County, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, we come before Thee this morning as suppliants, beseeching Thee that Thou wouldst blot out all our transgressions and would lead us into paths of righteousness for His Name's sake; and we come as intercessors. Jesus, Himself, was an intercessor. He made intercessions for us and prayed that marvelous prayer upon the Cross, "Father, forgive them for they know not what they do." The Holy Ghost is an intercessor. "He maketh intercessions for us with groanings which cannot be uttered." We are intercessors and would intercede this morning for the families of the members and the employes of this House, and pray Thee that Thou wouldst preserve them from accident and sickness; and may peace, plenty, prosperity and happiness abide in their homes.

We would pray for the father of one of the members of the House who is seriously ill, and pray that he may have passed the crisis and soon be restored to health.

We would pray Thee that each member of the House may have a safe return home and that the Providence of God be over him, and the everlasting arms of God be beneath him.

We present this petition in Christ's name and for His sake. Amen.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings when, on motion of Mr. Cummins, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal was approved.

Session 1915 — 121st of the General Assembly

VOL. 3. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1915. No. 8.

SENATE.

MONDAY, February 1, 1915.

The Senate met at 9 o'clock P. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Frank B. McClain) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. Thomas W. Davis, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, we thank Thee for all the blessings of nature, and for all the possibilities of our own lives. We have moved out of those smaller quarters in which we once lived, and through the faint tick of the delicate telegraph instrument, the railway, and the press, the entire world has been drawn within the narrow radius of a few hours. We are living today not unto ourselves, but we are living as well for others, and we believe that we should live and let live, and we believe all this body of men have dedicated their lives to the one great purpose of making it just as easy as possible for people to do that which is right and as hard as possible for them to do that which is wrong. We pray Thee that at all times we may strive to have a conscience void of offense, both toward God and toward man. Guide us so that in all our deliberations we may aim to help the largest number possible of our fellow men as far as we can reach. We ask these blessings in our Saviour's name. Amen.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session when, on motion of Mr. BUCKMAN, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS.

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

PAGE TO THE PRESIDENT.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair announces the appointment of Carroll Hummel, of Hummelstown, Dauphin County, as Page to the President.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE.

Mr. CROW. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from Committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. CROW, from the Committee on Executive Nominations, reported with favorable recommendation the nominations of Notaries Public made by His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, at this evening's session.

EXECUTIVE SESSION.

By unanimous consent

A motion was made by Mr. CROW

That Rule 38, which requires nominations made by the Governor, to lie on the table one day be dispensed with, and the Senate do now resolve itself into Executive Session, for the purpose of acting upon all the nominations reported at to-day's session.

Which was agreed to.

Whereupon,

A motion was made by Mr. CROW

That the Senate do advise and consent to the nominations reported.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

MONDAY, February 1st, 1915.

The House met at 9:00 P. M.

The SPEAKER (Charles A. Ambler) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. F. W. Staley, offered the following prayer:

O God, Thou are great in Thy goodness and good in Thy greatness. In Thine Infinite wisdom Thou has called men through the agencies of men to positions of exalted honor in the State, in the Nation and in the Church; positions involving great responsibilities; responsibilities that cling to our consciences like the bark clings to a tree; responsibilities that are personal, patriotic, political, moral and religious. These positions have in them obligations to be fulfilled to the State and to the Nation. That master Teacher, that Saviour of men said Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's; render unto the State the things that belong to the State and unto God the things that are God's. These obligations, O God, are not only to the State but they are to Thee, and we ask Thee that Thou would so direct us in the fulfilling of our obligations that we may fear Thee and not man. May we know that it is easy to fulfill our obligations. It is easy for a devoted mother to fulfill her obligations to her dutiful son; it is hard and difficult to fulfill obligations when man fears man and not God. In view of these responsibilities and of these obligations to the State and to Thee we ask Thee to direct the Speaker in the position that he occupies and direct every member in his deliberations as we leave him in Thy presence and under the power of the Holy Ghost we ask for Christ's sake Amen.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of the proceedings of January 27th, 1915.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 4, as follows:

An Act relating to persons habitually addicted to the use of alcohol or drugs and providing for the care and treatment of such persons at the expense of the county and State if indigent

Section I. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the word "inebriate" used in this act means a person habitually so addicted to the use of alcohol or narcotic drugs as to be a proper subject for restraint care and treatment

Section 2 Upon petition of two citizens who shall be either the wife husband parent child committee of the estate of an inebriate or next friends of such person the court of quarter sessions shall issue its warrant requiring the inebriate on a day fixed to be brought into court for a hearing The petition shall not be considered unless it sets forth that the person named therein is an inebriate within the scope of this act and unless it be accompanied by the affidavit or affidavits of at least two reputable physicians stating that they have examined the alleged inebriate and that he is a proper subject for restraint care and treatment

Section 3 If after such hearing the court is satisfied that the alleged inebriate is a proper subject for restraint care and treatment the court shall commit the inebriate to the State Institution for Inebriates When so committed the inebriate shall remain in such institution until on further hearing the said court shall be of opinion that such restraint care and treatment are no longer beneficial to the inebriate or until the Board of Trustees or Superintendent of the Institution shall certify to the said court that restraint care and treatment are no longer beneficial or necessary to the inebriate or that he is cured Whereupon the court shall order the inebriate to be discharged under such supervision and restriction as the court may impose

Section 4 When after hearing an inebriate is committed to the State Institution for Inebriates the court shall determine who shall bear the cost and expense of the restraint care and treatment of the inebriate while in the institution The persons who shall bear such cost and expense if the inebriate is indigent shall be any or all of the grandparents parents wife husband children or grandchildren as the court may direct No inebriate shall be committed to the institution until the court shall by order determine who shall bear such cost and expense nor until payment therefor be made to the said Board of Trustees or security satisfactory to the board be given

Section 5 If at such hearing the court finds that the inebriate is indigent and that the wife husband parent grandparent child or grandchild is unable to pay the cost and expense of the restraint care and treatment in the institution it shall so certify in the order committing the inebriate

The cost and expense of restraint care and treatment of indigent inebriates in the institution are fixed at seven dollars per week Four-sevenths of this amount shall be paid by the Commonwealth and three-sevenths by the county from which the inebriate is committed

Section 6 Any inebriate or any person addicted to the use of alcohol or drugs who wishes to submit himself for care and treatment in the institution may be received therein as a patient He shall be detained therein and given adequate care and treatment Such detention shall not extend more than ten days after he has signified in writing his intention or desire of leaving the institution Admission of such patients shall be under such conditions not inconsistent herewith as may be imposed by the Board of Trustees

Section 7 If an inebriate is committed to the institution the court may appoint a committee of the estate of the inebriate under such conditions as the court deems proper The committee shall continue so to act until discharged by the court

Section 8 The court may by appropriate order enforce any order or decree fixing the liability for the cost and expense of the restraint care and treatment of the inebriate while in the institution

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 21, entitled:

HOUSE MESSAGE.

TIME OF NEXT MEETING.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives, being introduced, informed the Senate that the House has concurred in Resolution from the Senate as follows:

In the Senate, February 2, 1915.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns to-day it be to meet on Monday evening, February eighth, at nine-thirty o'clock, and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it be to meet on Monday evening, February eighth, at nine o'clock.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE.

Mr. GRAFF. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from Committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. GRAFF, from the Committee on Insurance, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 93, entitled:

An Act making it unlawful for any insurance company or association, issuing health or accident policies, to cancel the same except upon written application and consent of the insured, and providing penalties for violations of its provisions.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF DEATH OF HONORABLE WILLIAM M. BROWN.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair with profound regret announces the death of a former member and as well a former President of this Senate, Senator from the Beaver-Lawrence district from 1897 to 1901, Lieutenant-Governor of this Commonwealth from 1903 to 1907, the Honorable William M. Brown, of New Castle, Pennsylvania.

ADJOURNMENT.

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. President, in view of the circumstance just announced by the Chair, and out of respect for the memory of the late William M. Brown, I move that the Senate do now adjourn.

Mr. CATLIN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

TUESDAY, February 2nd, 1915.

The House met at 10.00 o'clock A. M.

The SPEAKER (Charles A. Ambler) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. F. W. Staley, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, Thou art our Father and Thy fatherhood has been made plain to us through the person of Thine only begotten Son. Thou didst come to each of us. Thou didst say unto us, "Ask what I shall give thee. Ask of me and I shall give thee the heathen for thine inheritance and the uttermost parts of the earth for thy possession." One of old asked for wisdom and understanding and with these gifts He worked out the problems of that age and made it the golden age of the Jewish Empire and erected a temple, the influence of which has filled the world with blessings. And Thou dost come to us this morning and Thou dost say unto us, "Ask what I shall give thee," and we ask for wisdom and understanding that we may work out the great problems of the State. May we understand the laws of these problems as the student understands the laws of mathematics and works out the problems; so may these great problems be worked out in such a way that will test the reason, judgment, conscience and the best statesmanship of this great Commonwealth. And may everything that is done meet with Thy approbation and with the approval of our fellow citizens we ask for Christ's sake. Amen.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings when on motion of Mr. Rowell, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal was approved.

RESOLUTION.

Mr. MAURER, asked and obtained unanimous consent of the House to call up Concurrent Resolution No. 1, which was read as follows:

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 1.

Whereas One Valentine Brobst Senior died about one thousand eight hundred thirty-eight seized of more than fifty tracts of land in Eastern Pennsylvania each of which contained from three hundred to three thousand acres and

Whereas The lawful heirs of said Valentine Brobst Senior alleged through conspiracy and fraud they have been deprived of said lands which now on account of the vast deposits of coal therein contained are extremely valuable and

Whereas The heirs of said Valentine Brobst Senior allege that they have vainly endeavored by litigation to regain said lands of which they allege they have been deprived by fraud and conspiracy therefore be it

Resolved (If the Senate concur) That the Attorney General is hereby directed to investigate the charges of fraud and conspiracy whereby the heirs of Valentine Brobst Senior allege they have been deprived of many valuable tracts of land in Eastern Pennsylvania and to ascertain whether such charges are true and to report thereon at this session of the General Assembly with such recommendations in the premises as to them shall seem proper

On the question,

Will the House agree to the resolution?

Mr. MAURER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment to this Resolution.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendment.

The Clerk then read the amendment as follows:

Amend paragraph 4, line 7: Strike out the word "them" and insert the word "him," if it refers to the Attorney General as stated in line 1 of the same paragraph.

The SPEAKER. Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. Will the House agree to the Resolution as amended?

MOTION TO REFER TO COMMITTEE ON JUDICIARY GENERAL.

Mr. W. H. WILSON. I move that the Resolution be referred to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. MAURER. Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Berks, Mr. Maurer.

Mr. MAURER. Mr. Speaker, I have no particular objection to the resolution's being referred to the Committee on Judiciary General, but I can really see no advantage in doing so. If the resolution is concurred in by the Senate it will be evidence that it is all right. If the resolution as proposed by the motion now before you is referred back to the Committee it will mean just double the amount of work. It will mean that the heirs will necessarily be compelled to come here and convince the Committee first of its claims, and then will again appear before the Attorney General and repeat, which will mean considerable expense to my constituents.

I might add, that this resolution was handed to me by the heirs of Valentine Brobst who are my constituents at the recommendation of ex-Attorney General Bell. It was Bell who recommended this procedure, and therefore, the resolution was prepared as recommended by Bell, and is now before you. I really think that the gentleman from Philadelphia should withdraw his motion to refer this to the Committee as I do not see that we can gain anything by referring it to the Committee. If I thought we could, I certainly would not object, but I believe the resolution should be passed and allow these people to have a hearing before the Attorney General.

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker: As I understand this resolution it sets forth certain charges. This House as a legislative body is responsible for its own acts, and in my judgment should not be called upon to pass a funny resolution of this character without having had the opportunity for making such investigations as it thinks fit. The only place that such an investigation can be made and a hearing granted in order to save the time of the House would be for this resolution to be referred to a Committee, which Committee could fix a time to hear the evidence to substantiate the charges and then act accordingly. That would be a great time-saver, but certainly this House should not be obliged to act upon a matter of this kind until it was thoroughly convinced, and after knowing what they are at. Therefore I decline to withdraw my motion and insist that it be put.

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, If I understand this resolution correctly, it appears that there is somewhere in the State someone who thinks that there has been some fraud whereby certain citizens of our State have been unable to get justice. Now, the Courts of that community are open to those heirs to try their case. The resolution appears to me to be one where these citizens desire the State to bear the burden of finding out whether they have a legal right to certain property. Certainly we are not going to shift the burden of each and every citizen where he thinks he has a grievance upon the Attorney General of the State to decide his rights. If this is an exceptional case it seems to me before the House passes this resolution the matter should be laid before a Committee and the whole facts explained to that Committee and then if the Committee reports back that there is warrant to treat this differently from the ordinary differences between men then we can direct the Attorney General at the expense of the State to perform this particular duty as indicated by the resolution. I certainly think that the House would be doing what is right by following the suggestion of the gentleman from Philadelphia. There can be no harm done. The resolution can still be taken from the Committee if it is the opinion of the House that the Committee is not acting fairly. The House is too large a body to undertake the analyzing of this proposition, and I certainly hope the House will follow the suggestion of the gentleman from Philadelphia and send this resolution to some Committee and I think the Judiciary General Committee is just as proper as any other.

Mr. MAURER. Mr. Speaker: This is a matter of information. I wish to say to the gentleman from Delaware that this is an exceptional case. I have letters and documentary evidence, and here are the proceedings of a court trial. These heirs have been active and they have expended considerable money. These are the proceedings of a court trial at Sunbury with reference to something between ten and fifteen thousand acres of coal land. And since it seems to be the consensus of opinion that a committee should act on it, I certainly withdraw my objection to the motion as made by the gentleman from Philadelphia.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on Third Reading of House Bill No. 75, entitled:

A Supplement to an act entitled "An Act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive Judicial and Legislative Departments of the Commonwealth interest on the public debt and the support of the public schools for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and thirteen and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred and thirteen" as approved the sixteenth day of July Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and thirteen Pamphlet Laws page seven hundred and fifty-five providing for deficiencies in certain appropriations made to the Executive Judicial and Legislative Departments by the act to which this is a supplement and for minor appropriations to certain of the Executive Judicial and Legislative Departments not provided for by said act

BILL ON SECOND READING.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 43, entitled:

An Act authorizing Peter C. Kuhn of Scranton Lackawanna County to sue the Commonwealth

The first section of the bill was read as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That Peter C. Kuhn of Scranton Lackawanna county is authorized to bring suit in the court of common pleas of Dauphin county against the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for any sum or sums of money that may be legally or justly due him from the Commnowealth on account of injuries received while in the service of the Commonwealth

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. EHRHARDT. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following amendment:

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend line 8 by striking out the word "mnowealth" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "monwealth."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

The title of the bill was read as follows:

An Act authorizing Peter C. Kuhn of Scranton, Lackawanna County to sue the Commonwealth

On the question,
Will the House agree to the title?
It was agreed to.
And said bill, having been read at length the second time, and agreed to, as amended,
Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

It is the desire of the Rules Committee that we have a short session tonight in order to report out bills that the Committees may act on this afternoon.

GRANTING USE OF THE HALL OF HOUSE.

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following motion:
The motion was read by the Clerk as follows:

Moved by Mr. W. H. Wilson, of Philadelphia, seconded by Mr. Cox, of Philadelphia, that the use of the Hall of the House of Representatives be granted to Honorable W. B. Ainey on Tuesday, February 9th, 1915, at eight o'clock P. M., for the purpose of delivering an address entitled "Our Relations with Japan and the Far East."

On the question,
Will the House agree to the motion?
Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to announce to the House that I have received several communications from Members of Congress requesting the use of the Hall of the House of Representatives for Tuesday, February 9, at eight o'clock P. M., for the purpose of permitting the Honorable D. B. Ainey, who was a Member of the Foreign Affairs Committee of the Sixty-third Congress, to address the House on "Our Relations with Japan and the Far East."
Mr. Ainey has just recently completed a trip around the world, and as a part of that trip visited Japan and there addressed the Japanese Parliament, and he has prepared quite an elaborate address and I think it would be well for the House to grant him the use of the Hall of the House on the night in question.
On the question recurring,
Will the House agree to the motion?
It was agreed to.

RECESS.

The SPEAKER. We are expecting a communication from the Senate and as there is nothing else before the House at present, we will take a recess until 12 o'clock, noon.

AFTER RECESS.

The SPEAKER (Charles A. Ambler) in the chair.

VOL. 3. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1915. No. 10.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WEDNESDAY, February 3rd, 1915.

The House met at 10.00 A. M.

The SPEAKER (Charles A. Ambler) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. F. W. Staley, offered the following prayer:

Almighty and most merciful God, we approach Thee this morning to thank Thee for the Providence that has been over us during the night and for permitting us to see the light of this morning. We thank Thee, O God, for Thy amazing condescension; that Thou didst leave Thy throne to come upon earth to talk to man and to reason with man, a fact that startled the Psalmist, when he said, "What is man, that Thou art mindful of him, or the Son of Man, that Thou didst visit him. Thou hast made him a little lower than the angels and crowned him with glory and honor." Help us, O God, to picture in our minds that Thou art talking to man, a fact that startled the Psalmist and one that startles us, because Thou didst say unto man, "Come, now, let us reason together; let us talk over the great problems of life and character and destiny;" and if God so humiliated himself to talk with man, how much more should we reason with each other and say to one another: Come, now, let us reason together; because we are reasonable men; and we are servants of the State, and we are servants of God. Let us reason out these great problems and eliminate from our minds all bigotry and all prejudice and all partisanship; and what we do may we do for the best interest of the State and for the glory of God; and then when we have fulfilled our mission as servants, we pray Thee, O God, to administer unto us an abundant entrance into Thine everlasting Kingdom. We ask this for Christ's sake. Amen.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings, when on motion of Mr. LANIUS, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal was approved.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1915 — 121st of the General Assembly

VOL. 3. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, FEBRUARY 8, 1915. No. 11.

SENATE.

MONDAY, February 8, 1915.

The Senate met at 9:30 o'clock P. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Frank B. McClain) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. Thomas W. Davis, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for all the blessings of life. We thank Thee for the wonderful possibilities of our own lives and that we are adapted to the work that has been allotted to us. No higher office can be given to us than to labor for the very best interests of our fellow men. We pray that we may so address ourselves to that work that when we have accomplished those things for which we are aiming we may in after life have no regrets for the things that we have done. Guide us so that at all times we may live to Thy glory and to the best good of our fellows, we ask in our Saviour's name. Amen.

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. Herbst, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

MONDAY, February 8th, 1915.

The House met at 9:00 o'clock P. M.

The SPEAKER (Charles A. Ambler) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. F. W. Staley, offered the following prayer:

Almighty and most Merciful Father, we thank Thee for the loving kindness that has been over our loved ones and us during this season of adjournment, and that Thou hast permitted us to return to our posts of duty as servants of the State. We thank Thee for the manifold and marvelous provisions which Thou hast made to supply our needs, and we have so many of them. Our needs are like the grave, never satisfied. We thank Thee for the positions that we occupy in our homes as husbands, fathers and sons; in the community as loyal citizens, and in the House of Representatives as legislators to enact adequate and just laws for a great State—a State splendid in its benefactions and so favorable to moral and religious teachings; a State representing the highest and best kind of citizenship, a citizenship that should possess equal rights, privileges and blessings, for which loyal women are pleading, praying and working. And we pray Thee, O God, if it be Thy will to hear these pleadings, to answer these prayers, make successful these efforts. May it be the will of every voter in this great Commonwealth. We ask for the Redeemer's sake. Amen.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of the proceedings of February 3rd, 1915.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the proceedings of February 3rd, 1915, when on motion of Mr. Adams, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal was approved.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE.

Mr. GREENWOOD asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. Hollingsworth on account of illness.

Mr. SNYDER asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. Weaver.

RESOLUTIONS.

GRANTING USE OF THE HALL OF HOUSE.

Mr. REYNOLDS offered the following resolution, which was twice read and laid over for printing:

Whereas, Numerous requests have been made to the Pennsylvania State Board of Censors for the exhibition of motion pictures in the Hall of the House of Representatives during the present session.

Be it resolved, That the use of the Hall of the House of Representatives be granted to the Pennsylvania State Board of Censors for the purpose of giving an exhibition of motion pictures to the members of the House and Senate on Tuesday, March 2nd, 1915, at 7.30 o'clock P. M.

PETITIONING PRESIDENT AND CONGRESS TO PROHIBIT THE EXPORTATION OF FOOD SUPPLIES TO NATIONS AT WAR.

Mr. MAURER offered the following resolution which was twice read and laid over for printing:

RESOLUTION.

A Resolution petitioning the President and the United States Congress to prohibit the exporting of food supplies and the lending of money to any of the nations now at war.

Whereas, The prices of wheat, flour and bread, not to mention other necessities of life, are rapidly rising, owing to the huge and unchecked shipments of food products from our shores to the war stricken countries of Europe; and

Whereas, Even the United States, with the largest wheat crop of any nation in history, standing dominant as "the granary of the world," cannot much longer stand the strain of gigantic wheat exports to Europe without itself feeling impoverished; and

Whereas, To curb the war in Europe and to curb the monopolists in this country, also to keep this nation from being drawn into the conflict, we must starve the war by cutting off supplies; and

Whereas, In order to bring this about, we must stop the shipping of all food to the war zone, not a penny for loans, not an ounce of food should leave these shores to prolong this terrible shedding of blood; and

Whereas, This is the only honest and complete neutrality. In no other way can we be sure of keeping this nation out of that fearful whirlpool; and

Whereas, Bread and meat and money are as necessary as men and guns and bullets for the killing of men in war. Keeping food and cash here will save lives on both sides of the Atlantic; therefor, be it

Resolved, By the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, That the President and the Congress of the United States be and are hereby respectfully and urgently petitioned by this body to prohibit the shipping to the war zone of food supplies and furthermore forbid the lending of money to any government that has plunged its subjects into war.

RELATIVE TO INVESTIGATIONS BY APPROPRIATION COMMITTEE.

Mr. ROTHENBERGER offered the following resolution which was twice read and laid over for printing:

Be it resolved by the House of Representatives that it is the sense of this body that it is entirely unnecessary for the Appropriation Committee of either branch of the General Assembly to visit the various institutions, public or private, which ask for appropriation from the State, And further, that the recommendations relative to appropriations made after careful investigation by the State Board of Public Charities should be followed and that another investigation would be a great waste of state funds that could well be used for other and better purposes.

BILLS RECOMMITTED.

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 132, File Folio 59, on page two of tonight's calendar, Bills on Second Reading, entitled:

An Act regulating process pleading and practice in all civil cases whether at law in equity in divorce or otherwise howsoever hereafter brought in any court of common pleas in this Commonwealth and providing a complete system of procedure within the limits of the subject matter of this act be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. GEISER. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 41, File Folio 19, page one of tonight's calendar, Bills on Second Reading, entitled:

An Act prohibiting certain institutions receiving State aid and from restricting pay patients in the selection of physicians and surgeons not connected with the institution be recommitted to the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation for the purpose of amendment.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 133, File Folio 51, on page two of tonight's calendar, Bills on Second Reading, entitled:

An Act providing a system of management of the jail or county prison in counties having a population exceeding ninety thousand inhabitants but less than one hundred fifty thousand inhabitants and imposing certain duties on the sheriff controller auditors and commissioners be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE POSTPONED FOR THE PRESENT.

Agreeably to order,

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 43, entitled:

An Act authorizing Peter C. Kuhn of Scranton Lackawanna County to sue the Commonwealth

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EHRHARDT. Mr. Speaker, in calling up this bill I desire to make a brief statement to the House as to why the bill has been presented for this action.

In 1913, in the month of July, the petitioner named in this bill, with a party of others, was on Peck's Pond, Pike County, fishing, at which time a fire occurred a short distance therefrom and a fire warden, under the authority of the Forestry Department, came to this fishing party and drafted, compulsorily pressed them into the service of the State to assist in extinguishing this fire. He exhibited his badge of authority from the Department and under the Act of 1909, P. L. 781, such wardens and deputies are given the power and authority to press any citizens into the service of the State for the extinguishing of fires. Having exhibited that authority and these gentlemen, having read the game and fish and forestry laws, were under the impression they were obliged to render this service, and they did so. The petitioner in this bill became surrounded by fire and from inhaling the smoke and heat became unconscious and fell on the ground. After four or five hours' search he was found and carried from the scene of the fire in an unconscious condition in which they found him, and he has been a physical wreck ever since. There is no provision in the Forestry Laws by which he can be recompensed in any manner and he now asks for an opportunity to present his case in court and prove his cause. The Department does not contend that he was not there. They admit he was present. I have affidavits proving that he was there and was so pressed into the service, and we ask the opportunity to prove the case in court.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 11, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Secretary of Internal Affairs to appoint an Assistant Chief and a Stenographer for the Bureau of Standards fixing their salaries and increasing the salary of the Chief of said Bureau of Standards

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading.

Mr. FORSTER. Mr. Speaker, this bill speaks for itself and needs very little explanation from me. I just want to call your attention to the fact in passing, that while the bill is entitled "An act to appoint an assistant chief and a stenographer," as a matter of fact this bill does not create any new places, as in the workings of the department at the present time both the assistant chief and the stenographer are acting in these capacities, and their salaries are being taken care of out of a contingent fund. For that reason I say the bill does not create any new places.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

VOL. 3. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 9, 1915. No. 12.

SENATE.

TUESDAY, February 9, 1915.

The Senate met at 10 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (Mr. Charles H. Kline) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. Thomas W. Davis, offered the following prayer:

Our Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for this beautiful morning and for the preservation of our lives. We pray that the lives of these Senators and their families may at all times be precious in Thy sight. We thank Thee for the beautiful expression given to us of the power of a man's life in that great leader of men, the anniversary of whose birth we shall pass through in only a few days. Grant, dear Father, that he may continue to live in us and in the lives of those who shall follow. Be with us throughout all the remaining days of our own existence and guide us so that we may live to Thy glory and to the best good of our fellow men, we ask in our Saviour's name. Amen.

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

Section 2 That section nine of the above mentioned act which as amended and supplemented by section four of an act approved the second day of April nineteen hundred and thirteen and by section one of an act approved the twenty-third day of May nineteen hundred and thirteen reads as follows

"Section 9 Either party may within ten days after the entry by said court of any judgment in any civil action appeal therefrom to the court of common pleas of said county by taking and perfecting an appeal in the manner following

The party appealing shall procure from the county court a transcript duly certified under the seal of the court showing the proceedings had in said cases and shall file the same in the office of the prothonotary of said county and at the time of filing the same shall also make affidavit that the said appeal is not taken for the purpose of delay The appellant shall give bail absolute in a sum and with surety or sureties to be approved as hereinafter provided for his compliance with any judgment that may be finally rendered against him and for payment of all interest and costs likely to accrue All costs accrued up to the time of filing the transcript shall be paid by appellant in the first instance and if the appellant shall finally recover judgment in the case appealed he shall be entitled to receive and collect from the adverse party the costs so as aforesaid paid on appeal

The costs on appeals accruing at and from the time of filing the transcript shall abide the event of the suit and be paid by the unsuccessful party as in other cases Provided That if the plaintiff be the appellant he shall pay all costs which may accrue on the appeal if in the event of the suit he shall not recover a greater sum or a more favorable judgment exclusive of interest than was rendered by the county court And provided also That if the defendant either on the trial of the cause before the county court or before an appeal is taken shall offer to give the plaintiff a judgment for an amount which the defendant shall admit to be due and if said plaintiff shall not accept such offer then and in that case if the defendant shall appeal the plaintiff shall pay all the costs which shall accrue on the appeal if he shall not in the event of the suit recover a greater amount than that for which the defendant offered to give a judgment and in both cases the defendants bill shall be taxed and paid by the plaintiff in the same manner as if a judgment had been rendered in court for the defendant But provided further That in all cases where the judgment of the county court shall be in favor of defendant on a counter claim then the terms plaintiff and defendant in the foregoing provisions relating to costs on appeals shall be taken as inverted Any appellant shall have the right to appeal and demand and receive transcripts without payment of costs upon his making and filing with the judge approving the appeal bond an affidavit that he is unable through poverty to pay said costs provided said judge shall be satisfied of the truth of the statements in such affidavit All appeals taken and perfected in the manner above provided shall operate as a supersedeas The amounts of the penalties of and the sureties upon such bonds shall be approved by a judge of the county court

Or within ten days after the entry of judgment in any civil action either party may after such notice to the opposite party as the common pleas court shall require apply to any court of common pleas of said county or any judge thereof for leave to appeal the case to the common pleas court And if such appeal be allowed then after payment of costs in the county court as aforesaid unless the appeal be taken in forma papueris and upon filing the certified copy of said order of allowance the transcript shall be filed with the prothonotary as above provided but said appeal shall not operate as a supersedeas unless the court or judge allowing such appeal shall so order

Any party shall be entitled within ten days from the date of judgment or within such further time as the court of common pleas may grant to a writ of certiorari to remove the record to any court of common pleas of said county in the manner as now provided by law in regard to writs of certiorari issuing out of said common pleas but such certiorari shall not operate as a supersedeas unless bail absolute for said judgment interest and costs shall be given and approved by the court of common pleas from which such writ of certiorari issues

Provided That in all cases in said county court where judgment shall have been entered on the verdict of a jury no appeal to the common pleas court shall be perfected as above set forth until leave to take such appeal has first been obtained by the appellant from the court of common pleas or a judge thereof The application for leave to appeal shall be by petition to the common pleas court setting forth the reasons why a retrial of issue of fact is necessary to prevent an injustice This petition shall be heard after such notice to the adverse party as the common pleas court shall prescribe and if leave to take such appeal be granted a copy of the order allowing the appeal shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the county court" be and the same is hereby amended and supplemented to read as follows

Section 9 Either party may within ten days after the allowance of an appeal to the court of common pleas as herein provided in any civil action appeal to the court of common pleas of said county by taking and perfecting an appeal in the manner following

The party appealing shall procure from the county court a transcript duly certified under the seal of the court showing the proceedings had in said cases and shall file the same in the office of the prothonotary of said county and at the time of filing the same shall also make affidavit that the said appeal is not taken for the purpose of delay The appellant shall give bail absolute in a sum and with surety or sureties to be approved as hereinafter provided for his compliance with any judgment that may be finally rendered against him and for payment of all interest and costs likely to accure All costs accrued up to the time of filing the transcript shall be paid by appellant in the first instance and if the appellant shall finally recover judgment in the case appealed he shall be entitled to receive and collect from the adverse party the costs so as aforesaid paid on appeal

The costs on appeals accruing at and from the time of filing the transcript shall abide the event of the suit and be paid by the unsuccessful party as in other cases Provided That if the plaintiff be the appellant he shall pay all costs which may accrue on the appeal if in the event of the suit he shall not recover a greater sum or a more favorable judgment exclusive of interest than was rendered by the county court

And provided also That if the defendant either on the trial of the cause before the county court or before an appeal is taken shall offer to give the plaintiff a judgment for an amount which the defendant shall admit to be due and if the said plaintiff shall not accept such offer then and in that case if the defendant shall appeal the plaintiff shall pay all the costs which shall accrue on the appeal if he shall not in the event of the suit recover a greater amount than that for which the defendant offered to give a judgment and in both cases the defendants bill shall be taxed and paid by the plaintiff in the same manner as if a judgment had been rendered in court for the defendant But provided further That in all cases where the judgment of the county court shall be in favor of defendant on a counter-claim then the terms plaintiff and defendant in the foregoing provisions relating to costs on appeals shall be taken as inverted Any appellant shall have the right to appeal and demand and receive transcripts without payment of costs upon his making and filing with the judge approving the appeal bond an affidavit that he is unable through poverty to pay said costs provided said judge shall be satisfied of the truth of the statements in such affidavit All appeals taken and perfected in the manner above provided shall operate as a supersedeas The amount of the penalties of and the sureties upon such bonds shall be approved by a judge of the county court but in allowing the appeal the common pleas court may for proper cause order that no bond be required or may otherwise prescribe the conditions of allowance of said appeals as may be just and proper under the circumstances

Any party shall be entitled within ten days from the date of judgment or within such further time as the court of common pleas may grant to a writ of certiorari to remove the record to any court of common pleas of said county in the manner as now provided by law in regards to writs of certiorari issuing out of said common pleas but such certiorari shall not operate as a supersedeas unless bail absolute for said judgment interest and costs shall be given and approved by the court of common pleas from which such writ of certiorari issues

Provided that no appeal to the common pleas court shall be perfected as above set forth until leave to take such appeal has first been obtained by the appellant from the court of common pleas or a judge thereof The application for leave to appeal shall be by petition to the common pleas court setting forth the reasons why a retrial of issues of fact is necessary to prevent an injustice This petition shall be heard after such notice to the adverse party as the common pleas court shall prescribe and if leave to take such appeal be granted a copy of the order allowing the appeal shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the county court Said application for leave to appeal shall be made to the common pleas court within ten days after the entry of judgment by the county court but where the case has been tried in the county court by a judge without a jury and a motion to open the judgment has been made within said court within such time as the county court may prescribe then the ten days for making application to appeal shall run from the date of the judgment of the county court on the motion to open judgment In disposing of the application for leave to appeal the court of common pleas may in its discretion direct the entry by the county court of such judgment as may be proper on its whole record and from such order of the common pleas court an appeal shall lie to the superior court of Pennsylvania

An Act authorizing cities of the first and second classes to appropriate city funds for the maintenance of Historical Societies

Also from the Committee on Appropriations, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 112, entitled:

An Act to amend the first section of an act, entitled "An Act to encourage county historical societies," approved the twenty-first day of May, Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred one, so as to provide that the Commissioners Board, in counties where the population exceeds one million, may appropriate a sum not exceeding one thousand dollars annually, to the Chief Historical Society in said County

Also from the Committee on Appropriations, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 114, entitled:

An Act providing for the printing, binding and distribution of the Report of the Fiftieth Anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg Commission, entitled "Pennsylvania Gettysburg Reunion;" providing for additions to said Report and for the compiling, editing proof reading and indexing thereof; providing also for the preparation for filing of record in the State Library for their proper preservation therein of certain original manuscripts of the addresses delivered at said Reunion and of other original data, souvenirs and records relative thereto; and making appropriation therefor

ADJOURNMENT.

Mr. MAGEE. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn.

Mr. HACKETT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 2:30 o'clock P. M. until 9:30 o'clock Monday evening, February 15, 1915.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

TUESDAY, February 9th, 1915.

The House met at 10:00 A. M.

The SPEAKER (Charles A. Ambler) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. F. W. Stayley, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, we thank Thee that Thou art a prayer hearing God, and that Thou art a prayer answering God; and that we approach Thee through Jesus, our Redeemer, who said, "No man cometh unto the Father but by Me."

We thank Thee that some of the greatest statesmen and men of this country were men of prayer and they prayed to Thee, O God. The Father of his Country, at Valley Forge, on bended knees prayed to Thee for the hungry and starving army and his prayer was answered. That great statesmen, Abraham Lincoln, in his room prayed to Thee as a just God for the victory at Gettysburg. Garfield, that great man and great christian statesman, was a man of prayer. That sweet soul, McKinley, whose body was dying as the spirit went out, whispered:

"Nearer My God to Thee; Nearer to Thee.
Still all my song shall be,
Nearer My God to Thee, Nearer to Thee."

We thank Thee that so many Governors of States are praying men and that the Governor of our own State is a man of prayer, and may his prayers be answered and may his administration also be successful.

We thank Thee for all the praying men that we have in this House, and we know that there are times when every man's soul goes out in prayer; and may our prayers be united for the welfare of this great State and Nation, we ask, for Christ's sake. Amen.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings, when on motion of Mr. Cromer, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal was approved.

RESOLUTION NO. 3.

Mr. MAURER. Mr. Speaker, I wish to call up Resolution No. 3, File Folio 109.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the resolution.

The Clerk then read the resolution as follows:

Petitioning the President and the United States Congress to prohibit the exporting of food supplies and the lending of money to any of the nations now at war

Whereas The prices of wheat flour and bread not to mention other necessities of life are rapidly rising owing to the huge and unchecked shipments of food products from our shores to the war stricken countries of Europe and

Whereas Even the United States with the largest wheat crop of any nation in history standing dominant as "the granary of the world" cannot much longer stand the strain of gigantic wheat exports to Europe without itself feeling impoverished and

Whereas To curb the war in Europe and to curb the monopolists in this country also to keep this nation from being drawn into the conflict we must starve the war by cutting off supplies and

Whereas In order to bring this about we must stop the shipping of all food to the war zone not a penny for loans not an ounce of food should leave these shores to prolong this terrible shedding of blood and

Whereas This is the only honest and complete neutrality In no other way can we be sure of keeping this nation out of that fearful whirlpool and

Whereas bread and meat and money are as necessary as men and guns and bullets for the killing of men in war Keeping food and cash here will save lives on both sides of the Atlantic therefore

Resolved by the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that the President and the Congress of the United States be and are hereby respectfully and urgently petitioned by this body to prohibit the shipping to the war zone of food supplies and furthermore forbid the lending of money to any government that has plunged its subjects into war

On the question,

Will the House agree to the resolution?

It was not agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 108, as follows:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to section one article eight of the Constitution of Pennsylvania

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met That the following amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania be and the same is hereby proposed in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof

That section one of article eight which reads as follows

"Section 1 Every male citizen twenty-one years of age possessing the following qualifications shall be entitled to vote at all elections subject however to such laws requiring and regulating the registration of electors as the General Assembly may enact

"First He shall have been a citizen of the United States at least one month

"Second He shall have resided in the State one year (or having previously been a qualified elector or native-born citizen of the State he shall have removed therefrom and returned then six months) immediately preceding the election

"Third He shall have resided in the election district where he shall offer to vote at least two months immediately preceding the election

"Fourth If twenty-two years of age and upwards he shall have paid within two years a State or county tax which shall have been assessed at least two months and paid at least one month before the election" be amended so that the same shall read as follows

Section 1 Every citizen male or female of twenty-one years of age possessing the following qualifications shall be entitled to vote at all elections subject however to such laws requiring and regulating the registration of electors as the General Assembly may enact

First He or she shall have been a citizen of the United States at least one month

Second He or she shall have resided in the State one year (or having previously been a qualified elector or native-born citizen of the State he or she shall have removed therefrom and returned then six months) immediately preceding the election

Third He or she shall have resided in the election district where he or she shall offer to vote at least two months immediately preceding the election

Fourth If twenty-two years of age and upwards he or she shall have paid within two years a State or county tax which shall have been assessed at least two months and paid at least one month before the election

Fifth Wherever the words "he" "his" "him" and "himself" occur in any section of article eight of this Constitution the same shall be construed as if written respectively "he or she" "his or her" "him or her" and "himself or herself"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker,

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. W. H. Wilson.

Mr. W. H. WILSON Mr. Speaker, If I were to follow my own inclinations, this bill would be submitted to the House without comment, but in view of the great change in the personnel of this House as compared with the House of two years ago, I deem it advisable that a word of explanation be given at this time. Two years ago, this same identical resolution was presented to this House and passed, as well as being passed by the Senate. It being an amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania requires the submission again to this Legislature. The bill or resolution is what is commonly known as the Woman's Suffrage Bill. I take it, sir, that a discussion of the merits or demerits of this resolution is now out of place; the time for that discussion has long since passed; it having passed the Pennsylvania Legislature at a preceding session and now, coming before it again, after it was fully discussed not only before both bodies of this Legislature two years ago but received full and complete discussion in the daily press throughout this Commonwealth.

I take it, sir, that this resolution has now reached the stage that it has become not only a distinct party measure but a measure which has been adopted by the platforms of all of the dominant political parties in this Commonwealth, and when the political parties in Committee met to pass upon a question of this kind and character and put their stamp and seal of approval upon it and we, as candidates for the office of representatives of the great State, in going before the people in our respective districts upon that platform adopted by the State Committee to which we belong, whether we are Republicans, whether we are Democrats, or whether we are members of any other political party in this Commonwealth, I take it, sir, that we are bound by that platform pledge. In addition to that, this resolution and the endorsement of it appears not only in the platform pledge of every political party in this Commonwealth but it appears as well in the personal platform of the present Governor of this Commonwealth, who went before the people from one end of this State to the other and who was endorsed and elected with one of the grandest majorities that has ever been given to any candidate for that high office in this State, based upon this together with other principles which he laid down in his personal platform.

So that I say sir that in view of all those circumstances with the thought and idea in mind that this is merely a referendum measure that it does not mean that every man within the sound of my voice and who is a member of this House should support this measure at the polls, but it merely means, that as a platform pledge upon which he was a candidate he should support this referendum, so that it may be submitted to the people of this Commonwealth at the next general election for them to say whether or not the women of this Commonwealth shall be entitled to the franchise.

And, sir, if our platform pledges mean anything, to my mind they mean the enunciation of a principle, upon each one of us as members stand, and if we are going to come to this Legislature in the session of 1915 with this pledge one of the prime factors in our election to this House, and then say to the people of Pennsylvania who have elected us, and sent us here to represent them, who have elected a Governor upon this same platform and have sent him here, that we now, that we are elected care nothing for our pledges, but that we are going to vote against this resolution. It is a sorry day for any political party within the confines of this Commonwealth or any other Commonwealth, and I say that in all sincerity to you gentlemen of the House. We are bound by that platform pledge to support this resolution at this time and go back home to our people and say that we have done that which our party as a party has designated we should do, and we will submit this to you at the polls, to say whether or not the women of this Commonwealth shall be given the right of suffrage, and I ask each and every man, member of this House to vote "aye" on this resolution.

Mr. BEYER. Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the House. No man thinks more highly than I do of the intelligence the virtue, and the patriotism of the good women of Pennsylvania, but we are not here to-day to discuss the relative virtues or the relative intelligence of the men or women of Pennsylvania. We are asked by this resolution to say to the people of this Commonwealth that we, the members of this session in conjunction with the members of the preceeding session have a proposition to make to the voters of this Commonwealth. I differ decidedly with the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Wilson. This is not a question of referendum, it is a question of a direct proposition and the word "proposition" appears in the resolution which is now before you; and the word "proposition" is a constitutional term embodied in the amendment. This law provides how measures of this kind shall be brought before the people. Therefore I repeat, sir, it is not a referendum, it is a proposition which you as men stand responsible for. It is a proposition in which you say to the intelligent men of Pennsylvania that you believe that the time has come when there is not manhood enough in Pennsylvania to govern itself. That is the proposition upon which you are asked to vote at this time in the House. Why do you suppose the framers of our Constitution made it necessary for two separate sessions to pass upon this question, if it is a mere proposition of referendum? Because of the great importance that amendments have to the people in the changing of their organic law, they have therefore in their wisdom said it is not enough for one Legislature, that might be elected by some momentary hue and cry in their respective communities from which the members come; it is not enough to trust one session of the Legislature, but we demand and we require that there must be a session to follow it. In the meantime a cooling period shall have taken place, and then when the next session comes to convene if they too are of the same opinion that an amendment should be proposed to the voters of this Commonwealth, then let them say so, and if they do, then the Secretary of the Commonwealth, following the mandate of the law, shall lay before the voters of the Commonwealth the proposition of "yes" or "no" on the amendment. To my mind, gentlemen, this is a proper occasion in which to discuss woman suffrage. This movement in its reckless haste has gone entirely too far not only in the confines of this State but throughout many of the states of the United States, and it owes its inception and it owes whatever strength it has ever had from weak man that had not the courage of their convictions to stand up and manfully support God's own organic law, which provides that men through all creation has been fit not only to govern himself but to govern others. I have seen with shame how men wearing the cloth in the holy pulpit of the Church have trod upon God's Holy law, for the sake of momentary favors and support from gossiping women members of their congregation. I have seen how the deans and professors of colleges, normal schools and educational institutions on Commencement day wanting something better to say to the young ladies that were sitting in their seats waiting to be addressed by the speaker of the hour, wanting something better to say to them as a compliment, say that the time is not far away when women like men will vote. But gentlemen there is one law which even you and the good people of this Commonwealth in their supremacy and in their might have no right to change, and a law with which they dare not trifle because all human existence has rested upon it through all creation. There may be some that will point their finger at your humble speaker and say that he carries within him the old fogyism of the past. But, gentlemen, forget it not that there are some laws that are as unchangeable and as immutable and as fixed as the planets in the heavens, and all your legislation and efforts to change conditions between men and women will not change that organic law. When He first placed man in Paradise God laid down the rule of action upon which all mankind has rested. He then laid down an organic law. But I am told by some of my suffragist friends that every woman is not married. Let me tell you if she is not married, there will be a day coming for her when she will have an opportunity to get married. I have wondered why many of them that grow up to be old maids, have not gotten married, and I have come to the conclusion that while we have many evils in our own State, as well as in other states of this great Union of ours that might justly be righted and will be righted by the sober sense and good judgment of the manhood of this nation, that after all underlying all the evils of to-day, lies the emancipation of the woman. We have thrown our women out of our homes into the mills, into the workshops and into the busy marts of trade, everywhere where man ought to be, and if men were there to-day there would not be nearly the talk about poverty and distress there is throughout the land. Woman has taken man's place in the arts and labor, now she wants to take his place in government. I ask you, men, representative men, sent here by your constituency to see the light that God has given you, to stand by his Holy law, and not to subscribe to the false doctrines, fallacies, and tyrannies that are preached by restless women that would not be content anywhere much less than in their own homes.

I have before me on my desk a report from the Committee on the Judiciary of the House of Representatives in Washington. On that occasion in March, 1912, quite a delegation of women came from the several states, but principally from some of the fallacious Western States where men do not live as compact in the large cities as we do here, and they appeared before that Committee and they gave their reasons why in their judgment woman suffrage ought to be a national institution. Among the speakers there on that occasion introduced by the foremost spokesman of the Suffragist party was the Honorable Edward T. Taylor a member of the House of Representatives of Colorado. I am only going to read to you but a short extract from what he said on that occasion in order to impress upon you and some of those pious preachers of our State who have not taken a bold stand against this unholy movement. I am going to read to you how the suffragists abused God's Holy law, and how they abused Holy Writ, "Saint Paul's command that women be in subjection, keep silent and learn wisdom from their husbands has long since lost its authority." He might have gone still a step farther, he might have gone back into the five books of Moses and he might have said to the high brow friends of the Suffrage movement in this great Union of ours that the law of Moses and all the ten Commandments have long since lost their authority. He might have gone a step farther, he might have trifled with Holy Writ, he might have come down to the Immaculate Conception and the work of our Lord and Master and he might have said that His mission here on earth was a failure. Ah, gentlemen, my bitterness upon this matter I have felt for years. I have seen it grow like the weeds in the garden almost from the early days of my boyhood. As a student I saw the false seeds that were scattered here and there, and I do not claim that any of the poor misguided creatures who to-day wear the suffragist sash imagine that some day they will stand in the Speaker's chair and sit here in the House and use their argument against you. Gentlemen, everything they have ever said has been this, that man was not fit to do a thing, he could not do anything until women got busy in politics, and this very man Taylor that spoke before the Committee on Judiciary General in Washington enumerated some fifteen or twenty different Acts of Assembly that they had passed in Colorado and there is not one of the laws that the men of your manhood and your intelligence as representatives of a free people and a free manhood have not enacted in Pennsylvania long ago.

I tell you, it brings with it an element of conceit. Depend on it men, the women tell us we are unfit to govern ourselves. If that is the proposition, we are unfit to govern ourselves, therefore, are called upon to enlist our wives and daughters and our mothers and our sisters to help us, in the name of God, let us be decent; let us offer an amendment now and strike forever from the Constitution the word "Male" in your resolution and let it stand by "female" alone. (Applause).

Mr. CROMER. Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the House of Representatives, I desire at this time to state my position on this matter and what I propose to do. I have never been strongly in favor of woman suffrage nor in favor of this amendment. I am a man who is liberal in his views and I want to say that the speech of the gentleman who just resumed his Chair has almost convinced me that woman suffrage is right. (Applause). There is a question in my mind about it and I am open to conviction in this matter. I hope I am a broad minded man and open to conviction but I have always felt heretofore that it was for the best interest of the women to get along without the right of suffrage. When I am satisfied that the majority of women earnestly desire anything there is enough chivalry in my nature to grant them everything they want. A great many splendid women and men in this Commonwealth desire women suffrage. There are women of equally high character who say they do not want it. If there is any way we can learn what the majority of the people want, let us find it out.

I am going to support this resolution for three reasons and I want the gentlemen of the House to know those three reasons and to judge whether they are good or not. In the first place, you all know that the fundamental principle of our government is the statement that the will of the majority of the people should be law. The basic principle of the Republican party is the fact that the will of the majority of the people is law, and set forth in Article 1, section 2 of the Constitution of this Commonwealth, says:

"All power is inherent in the people, and all free governments are founded on their authority and instituted for their peace, safety and happiness. For the advancement of these ends they have at all times an inalienable and indefeasible right to alter, reform or abolish their government in such manner as they may think proper."

I therefore think this is right, fair and just.

Secondly, a majority of the people in the Fifth Legislative District of Allegheny County want this matter to come before the people at the polls next November, and I claim that the House of Representatives have no right to settle this matter; that it should be settled by the people. I am representing the people of my district. I am not the boss of my district. I am the servant of my district.

Listen further: I was elected on the Republican platform. This is the first plank in my party platform. I have an additional plank of my own that contains about as much moisture as the Governor's additional plank; but I feel it my duty here, as a Member of this House, to help my party to redeem the pledge that we made to the people of this Commonwealth before the election. (Applause).

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the House, despite the fact that two years ago I voted against this resolution, I feel today constrained by a unique reason to support it. There will shortly come before this House the most important measure this House will have to deal with, in the form of a Constitutional Convention Bill.

Two years ago when that bill was before this House it contained provisions that the propositions of the initiative and referendum and equal suffrage be submitted to the people as separate and distinct propositions. The trend of events in Pennsylvania, as evidenced by the overwhelming majority of the Republican party last Fall, indicates beyond any question of doubt or argument that the initiative and referendum has been excluded as a vital political measure in this State. There is, however, at this time agitated over the whole length and breadth of our Commonwealth this proposition of equal suffrage and if the Constitutional Convention Bill shall be passed a great deal of the time of that solemn body will be taken up in the discussion of the pros and cons of woman's suffrage. It, therefore, Mr. Speaker seems to be but wise and time-saving and far-seeing that this House should present to the people of Pennsylvania next Fall, not only the proposition of a Constitutional Convention but also let them decide for the guidance of that Convention what is the peoples verdict on equal suffrage. If they oppose it, if the people, rather, vote that proposition down, the Constitutional Convention can proceed with its serious business without the slightest regard or attention to the question of equal suffrage. If the people shall indicate that equal suffrage shall be the law of this Commonwealth it can be embodied then in that newer and better constitution.

For those reasons, Mr. Speaker, I feel not only entirely justified in what I am doing but I think I would be doing an improper thing and the wrong thing if I did not change my vote from that of last session. I feel that I shall discharge my legislative responsibilities best when I vote in support of this measure and I feel with the gentleman from Philadelphia who has so ably presented the matter, that my vote today shall not in any sense control or indicate my action at the next general election. (Applause).

Mr. URICH. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, you have heard a great deal this morning on the question of women suffrage but there is a part of it that you have not yet heard. You have probably read an article in the paper recently which shows that by passing this amendment you will be opening up the ladies to a criminal act. Down in Kentucky the other day there were several ladies arrested for selling their votes. (Applause) and I don't propose to vote for anything that will put our women in that kind of a position. We don't want them to be arrested. Nine-tenths of the ladies of this vast Commonwealth are poor people, people who can easily be reached. (Laughter).

Then there is another question that comes up, and that is that in putting this question before the people at the next election I have been informed that the cost will be over $250,000 and that money can easily be spent in a more judicious way, in a more beneficial way in helping our private institutions and helping our poor people along. So I say that I for one am unalterably opposed to the passage of this measure.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS.—1.

Smith, J. W.,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

SENATE MESSAGE.

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

House Bill No. 75, entitled:

A Supplement to an act entitled "An Act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the executive judicial and legislative departments of the Commonwealth interest on the public debt and the support of the public schools for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and thirteen and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred and thirteen" as approved the sixteenth day of July Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and thirteen pamphlet laws page seven hundred and fifty-five providing for deficiencies in certain appropriations made to the executive judicial and legislative departments by the act to which this is a supplement and for minor appropriations to certain of the executive judicial and legislative departments not provided for by said act

With information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

In line thirty-five strike out the word "one" and insert the word "two"; in line thirty-six strike out the figures "$1,500" and insert "$2,500."

Mr. SHOWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to know what the amendment is. I don't find it in my file.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, the amendment consists merely of striking out a word and substituting another. We can follow it from the original file of the House which is File 73.

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. Speaker, I move that further consideration of this bill be postponed until the bill is on file.

Mr. McCAIG. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 20, entitled:

An Act authorizing cities of the third class wherein the title to the water-works therein located is in the city to extend their pipes and improvements beyond the city limits and supply water to persons corporations and municipalities within the county and regulating the supply of water.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. FORSTER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the author of this bill and ask him to explain the contemplated change.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Woodward, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. Speaker, yes sir.

Mr. FORSTER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to know what change this brings about?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. Speaker, this act is simply an enabling act that permits cities of the third class to extend their water lines into boroughs and townships adjoining the city. An act of the same character was passed for the City of Erie. The title to the water works, I understand in that city is in the name of the Commission, instead of their municipality and it enables the city to furnish water to the boroughs surrounding.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS.—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered,, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order.

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 21. as follows:

An Act to amend an act approved the nineteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirteen entitled "An Act empowering incorporated towns of this Commonwealth without petition of the property owners to grade pave curb macadamize and otherwise improve public streets or parts thereof and assess a portion of the cost of the same on the owners of property abutting thereon and providing for the collection of the same"

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the first section of an act approved the nineteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirteen entitled "An Act empowering incorporated towns of this Commonwealth without petition of the property owners to grade pave curb macadamize and otherwise improve public streets or parts thereof and assess a portion of the cost of the same on the owners of property abutting thereon and providing for the collection of the same" which reads as follows

"Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That all incorporated towns in this Commonwealth shall have power without petition of property owners to grade pave curb macadamize and otherwise improve public streets or parts thereof which are now or may hereafter be laid out and opened in any of said incorporated towns and collect in the manner hereinafter provided two-thirds of the cost and expenses of the same from the owners of real estate bounding or abutting thereon by an equal assessment on the feet front bounding or abutting as aforesaid said assessment to be estimated by the street commissioner or person in charge of said work or other competent authority designated by the council of said incorporated town Provided That the ordinance authorizing and directing such improvement shall be adopted and enacted by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of all members comprising the council of said incorporated town and shall be presented to the burgess or chief executive of said incorporated town for his approval If the burgess or chief executive approve said ordinance he shall sign it but if he shall not approve he shall return it with his objections to the council at the next regular meeting thereof when said objections shall be entered at large upon the minutes and at the next succeding regular meeting of council after the return of said ordinance the council shall proceed to a reconsideration thereof If after such consideration all of the members elected to the council shall vote to pass said ordinance it shall then become and be of as full force and effect as if the burgess or chief executive had signed it but in such case the vote of the members of the council shall be determined by yeas and nays and the names and votes of the members shall be entered in the minutes If such ordinance shall not be returned by the burgess or chief executive at the next regular meeting of council after the same shall have ben presented to him it shall likewise become and be in as full force and effect as if he had signed it No such ordinance shall be finally adopted and enacted in less than thirty days from the date of its introduction and in the meantime copies of said ordinance shall be published in a newspaper in said incorporated town or circulating therein once a week for two weeks and by at least five handills posted along the proposed improvement ten days before the final passage in council of such ordinance" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 All incorporated towns shall have power without petition of property owners to grade pave curb macadamize and otherwise improve public highways or parts thereof which are now or may hereafter be laid out and opened in any of said incorporated towns and collect in the manner hereinafter provided two-thirds of the cost and expense of the same from the owners of real estate bounding or abutting on such highways by an equal assessment on the feet front bounding or abutting as aforesaid The word "highways" includes streets lanes avenues alleys courts squares and public places The assessment shall be estimated by the street commissioner or person in charge of said work or other competent authority designated by the council of said incorporated town The ordinance authorizing and directing such improvement shall be adopted and enacted by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of all members comprising the council of the incorporated town and shall be presented to the burgess or chief executive of the incorporated town for his approval If the burgess or chief executive approve the ordinance he shall sign it If he shall not approve he shall return it with his objections to the council at the next regular meeting thereof when the objections shall be entered at large upon the minutes At the next succeding regular meeting of council after the return of the ordinance the council shall proceed to a reconsideration thereof If after such consideration all of the members elected to the council shall vote to pass the ordinance it shall then be of as full force and effect as it the burgess or chief executive had signed it In such case the vote of the members of the council shall be determined by yeas and nays and the names and votes of the members shall be entered in the minutes If such ordinance shall not be returned by the burgess or chief executive at the next regular meeting of council after it has been presented to him it shall likewise be of as full force and effect as if he had signed it No such ordinance shall be enacted in less than thirty days from the date of its introduction and in the meantime copies of said ordinance shall be published in a newspaper in said incorporated town or circulating therein once a week for two weeks and by at least five handbills posted along the proposed improvements ten days before the final passage in council of such ordinance

Section 2 The second section of said act which reads as follows

"Section 2 All municipal assessments for grading paving curbing macadamizing or otherwise improving public streets or parts thereof as aforesaid shall be filed with the clerk or secretary of the incorporated town who shall thereupon cause thirty days written or printed notice to be given to each party assessed either by service on the owner or agent or left on the assessed premises that the assessments are due and payable If said assessments or any of them shall remain unpaid at the expiration of said notice the same shall be placed in the hands of the solicitor of said town for collection whose duty it shall be to collect the same together with five per centum additional as attorney's commission and interest from the completion of the grading paving curbing macadamizing or other improvement by a municipal claim filed against the delinquent owner describing the premises upon which a scire facias may issue When an owner has two or more lots against which there is an assessment for the same improvement all of said lots shall be embraced in one claim" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 2 All municipal assessments for grading paving curbing macadamizing or otherwise improving public highways or parts thereof as aforesaid shall be filed with the clerk or secretary of the incorporated town who shall thereupon cause thirty days written or printed notice to be given each party assessed either by service on the owner or agent or left on the assessed premises that the assessments are due and payable If such assessments or any of them shall remain unpaid at the expiration of said notice the same shall be placed in the hands of the solicitor of said town for collection whose duty it shall be to collect the same together with five per centum additional as attorney's commission and interest from the completion of the grading paving curbing macadamizing or other improvements by a municipal claim filed against the delinquent owner describing the premises upon which a scire facias may issue When an owner has two or more lots against which there is an assessment for the same improvement all of said lots shall be embraced in one claim

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill and ask him to explain the meaning of it.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Columbia, Mr. Shaffer, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SHAFFER. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. HERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman what this bill means.

Mr. SHAFFER. Mr. Speaker, all that this bill does, is to conform with the borough act passed four years ago. And it applies to incorporated towns, that is all there is to it. It includes taking in lanes, alleys and so forth.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented extracts from the Journal of the Senate which were laid upon the table.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 74, entitled:

An Act to quiet the title to real estate and to enable citizens of the United State and corporations authorized to hold real estate within this Commonwealth to hold and convey title to real estate which has been formerly held by or for corporations not authorized by law to hold the same

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MAURER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Glass.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. MAURER. Mr. Speaker, I would be obliged for information from the gentleman as to just why this act is necessary.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, this bill is intended to validate the sales by corporations and to entitle them by law to make conveyances in this State, and to validate sales that are made by corporations to citizens. Under the laws of this Commonwealth they are not entitled to hold, but can convey. This bill is to validate conveyances which may have been made since the passage of the act of the last session of the Legislature. A similar act was passed in the session of 1913, and this act simply is passed to validate any conveyances that have been made since the passage of the other act.

Mr. MAURER. The purpose of my rising to ask for the information is this: I suppose most of you remember that I presented a resolution to this House a week ago asking that the Attorney General be instructed to investigate certain irregular land deals in this State. There are many titles that are very irregular and I fear that the passage of this would immediately act as a brake on the resolution that I have now before this House. And I do not think that if there is anything required in any title that we should pass this bill at this time.

Mr. LAUER. This bill was passed by every Legislature for the last 20 years. It simply refers to affairs existing in foreign corporations—a corporation chartered by the laws of a neighboring state for example, Delaware or New Jersey. In the course of their business they obtained title to real estate; they cannot hold it, and they sell it to an innocent purchaser. This is simply to protect the innocent purchaser of real estate, and has no relation to any corporate holding.

They cannot hold real estate, they can only transfer it and this bill enables the citizens of Pennsylvania to perfect their title. In view of the fact that it has been passed by so many legislatures, I ask that this Assembly today vote upon it favorably.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered,, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. REYNOLDS. I ask unanimous consent of the House to call up Resolution No. 2 at this time.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give it unanimous consent to the calling up of this resolution? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the resolution will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then read the resolution as follows:

Whereas Numerous requests have been made to the Pennsylvania State Board of Censors for the exhibition of motion pictures in the hall of the House of Representatives during the present session

Be it resolved That the use of the hall of the House of Representatives be granted to the Pennsylvania State Board of Censors for the purpose of giving an exhibition of motion pictures to the members of the House and Senate on Tuesday March second one thousand nine hundred and fifteen at seven-thirty o'clock post meridian

On the question,

Will the House agree to the Resolution?

It was agreed to.

RECESS.

The SPEAKER. If agreeable to the House, the House will take a recess until 12:30 P. M.

AFTER RECESS.

The House reconvened at 12:30 o'clock.
The SPEAKER (Charles A. Ambler) in the Chair.

SENATE MESSAGE.

SENATE RECEDES FROM AMENDMENTS TO HOUSE BILL.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced informed that the Senate has receded from its amendment to lines 2 and 3 of Section 7 of House Bill No. 75, as follows:

Amend by striking out the words "as shown by bills rendered," so as to leave the bill in the original form.

non-concurred in by the House of Representatives, but adheres to the other amendments of said bill.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, now, that the Senate has receded from the objectionable amendment, I move that the vote by which the House refused to concur in the amendments of the S[illegible] be reconsidered.

Mr. Lee, Haggerty, Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendments made by the Senate and will first read the amendment that they receded from.

The Clerk then read the amendment as follows:

Amend section 7, lines 2 and 3, by striking out the words "as shown by bills rendered," so as to leave the bill in the original form.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will now read the amendments in which the Senate has asked the House to concur.

The Clerk then read the amendments as follows:

On page 3, line 35, strike out the word "one." Line 36, insert the word "two" and strike out "($1,500)" and insert "($2,500)."

Lines 51, 52, 53, 54 and 55, amend "For the payment of costs in suits against delinquent dealers for mercantile and other licenses incurred during the years one thousand nine hundred and thirteen and one thousand nine hundred and fourteen the additional sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary."

On page 4, lines 63, 64, 65 and 66, amend "For the payment of stenographic and typewriter charges remaining unpaid in the office of the Attorney-General the sum of two thousand five hundred and forty dollars and sixty cents ($2,540.60) or so much thereof as may be necessary."

The SPEAKER. The question is on concurring in the amendments.

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, that amendment dates back to a proposition which was presented to this House two years ago dealing with expenses incurred by the so-called Catlin Commission. By the language of that particular section, these expenses could be paid. This House two years ago refused to agree to any such proposition in the general appropriation bill at that time and I connot agree to that amendment. I, therefore, go back to my original motiion.

HOUSE NON-CONCURS IN SENATE AMENDMENTS.

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House non-concur in the amendments of the Senate.

Mr. McCLINTOCK. I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to ask the gentleman whether he means all the amendments or just that particular one on page 4.

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, the bill will have to be returned to the Senate.

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, my motion is just on that particular amendment.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to non-concur in the amendments of the Senate?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

SENATE MESSAGE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented the following extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

TIME OF NEXT MEETING.

In the Senate, February 9, 1915.

Resolved (If the House of Representatives concur) That when the Senate adjourns to-day, it shall be to reconvene on Monday evening, February 15th, at 9.30 o'clock, and when the House of Representatives adjourn this week, it shall reconvene on Monday evening, February 15th, at 9.00 o'clock.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the Resolution?
It was agreed to.
Ordered, That the Clerk notify the Senate accordingly.

RECESS.

The SPEAKER. The House will take a recess until one o'clock.

AFTER RECESS.

The SPEAKER (Charles A. Ambler) in the Chair.

SENATE MESSAGE.

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has receded from its amendments non-concurred in by the House of Representatives to Section Two, lines sixty-three to sixty-six to House Bill No. 75, entitled:

A Supplement to an act entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the executive judicial and legislative departments of the Commonwealth interest on the public debt and the support of the public schools for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and thirteen and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred and thirteen" as approved the sixteenth day of July Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and thirteen pamphlet laws page seven hundred and fifty-five providing for deficiencies in certain appropriations made to the executive judicial and legislative departments by the act to which this is a supplement and for minor appropriations to certain of the executive judicial and legislative departments not provided for by said act but insists on the other amendments to said bill.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendments that are not receded from.

The amendments were read as follows:

"Page three, lines numbers thirty-five and thirty-six strike out the word 'one' and insert the word 'two;' strike out '($1,500)' and insert '($2,500.'"

"Page eight, insert lines nineteen, twenty and twenty-one as follows 'For the payment of salaries of officers of the Superior Court, the sum of sixteen hundred dollars ($1,600) or so much thereof as may be necessary.'"

"Page ten, lines fifty and fifty-one, strike out the word 'two' and insert the word 'six;' strike out '($1,264.00)' and insert '($1,664.00).'"

"Page eleven, add section nine, 'For the payment of the compensation allowed by law to the compiler of Smull's Legislative Hand Book for the year one thousand nine hundred and fifteen the sum of one thousand five hundred dollars each ($3,000).'"

The SPEAKER. These are the amendments which the Senate insists on. What is the pleasure of the House?

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which the House refused to concur in the amendments of the Senate be reconsidered.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the motion?
It was agreed to.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I understand from the reading that the Senate has receded from the amendments on page four lines sixty-three to sixty-six inclusive.

The SPEAKER. They have.

Mr. WILSON. And section seven on page eleven the words in lines two and three, "as shown by bills rendered."

The SPEAKER. They have.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, the balance of the amendments are satisfactory to the sponsor of the bill, and I therefore ask the House to concur in the amendments of the Senate.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. HABGOOD. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask for a little information. There was a Conference Committee appointed on this bill which was to meet on account of the non-concurrence in the amendments made by the Senate to this bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has no knowledge of a Conference Committee's being appointed on this bill.

Mr. HABGOOD. Mr. Speaker, there was one, that is, at least the amendments were refused.

The SPEAKER. That does not carry with it the necessity of appointing a Conference Committee until the Senate refuses to recede from their amendments. The Senate has now receded.

Mr. HABGOOD. Mr. Speaker, am I correct in this, that the amendments as made in this bill have all been arranged with the exception of those on page eleven, section seven?

The SPEAKER. Page eleven and page four.

Mr. HABGOOD. Mr. Speaker, in this connection with the amendments "as shown by bills rendered" for the advertising of constitutional amendments, it is now proposed, if I understand it, that the Senate recedes from that amendment. Is that correct? I would like to ask how that was done without a Conference Committee, or something of that nature.

The SPEAKER. The Senate made that amendment and they also had the right to recede from the same, when the House refused to agree to it.

Mr. HABGOOD. Mr. Speaker, did they take formal action in a session of the Senate taking out that amendment?

The SPEAKER. The Chair did not hear what the gentleman said.

Mr. HABGOOD. I am asking for information, Mr. Speaker. I would like to know if the Senate took such formal action in session.

The SPEAKER. We have no knowledge of it. The Clerk of the Senate informed us accordingly. The Clerk will read the message for the information of the gentleman from McKean.

The Clerk read the message as follows:

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced informed the House that the Senate has receded from its amendments to section seven non-concurred in by the House of Representatives to House Bill No. 75 and adheres to the other amendments to said bill.

Mr. HABGOOD. Now, Mr. Speaker, in justice and fairness in this whole proposition I desire to say at this time, when this bill was in the house prior to the time it came on second reading, I asked to have the bill amended making this change, and also carried with it forty-six thousand dollars for 1912. It was very obvious that this only covered 1913 and 1914, and therefore a separate bill would be necessary for 1912. I talked with the Chairman of the Committee, with the sponsor of the bill, and they agreed to it—they agreed to the amendment; but the proposition came up that it would delay the bill by recommitting it. It was not recommitted with the understanding as agreed to by the Chairman of the Appropriation Committee of the House and the Chairman of the Appropriation Committee of the Senate that the amendments be put in in the Senate. The 1912 appropriation naturally had to be a separate bill. It was perfectly satisfactory to all concerned and it was so introduced. This amendment was put in the Senate; it was passed in the Senate on final passage; it came over to the House this morning and opposition was raised to it. I went for information as best I could in regard to the matter and was told by the sponsor of the bill and by the Chairman of the Appropriation Committee, that this objection was raised because the Governor had sent word that he would not approve the bill with this amendment in it. Another gentleman and myself, a member of the House, a newspaper man from Lackawanna county, went together to see the Governor and have just come from there; and he stated he knew nothing about it; that he did not send any such word; he did not understand about it at all, and the gentleman must have been mis-informed, as we have told him. He further said that he would like to consult with the members of this Conference Committee, if there was to be a Conference before action was taken in regard to this. And now, it seems as we just came from his office to the House that this is all going to be done without a Conference Committee. It is going to be changed wholly on the pretext and on the excuse that the Governor objects to it, when he does not object to it at all, at least he said he never objected to it in the presence of the gentleman from Lackawanna and myself, and he asked to see the members of the Committee or the sponsor of the bill before this committee meets.

Now, gentlemen, the newspapers of this State are not asking anything whatever—

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from McKean.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HABGOOD. Mr. Speaker, certainly.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr, Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if he means to infer that I deceived him in this matter?

Mr. HABGOOD. I do not say that any one deceived me, Mr. Speaker. I simply am stating the facts. I think that they were misinformed and I think that some one has been misinforming the gentleman from Philadelphia on this proposition, and I simply want, in all fairness, to get the matter before the members and the House, including the sponsor of the bill and the Chairman of the Committee.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. Speaker I would like to further interrogate the gentleman from McKean.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. HABGOOD. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. Speaker I would like to ask the gentleman from McKean if I did not accompany him, before this bill was reported for second reading, to the Senate to see the Chairman of the Senate Committee and get his agreement to have this amendment inserted?

Mr. HABGOOD. I said so, Mr. Speaker, that that was agreed to before or I should have moved the amendment on the floor of the House on second reading.

Mr. WOODWARD. I carried out my agreement with him, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HABGOOD. Mr. Speaker, I am simply trying to show the members of the House and the sponsor of the bill and the Chairman of the Committee exactly the situation that this is being put in, and it is being put in this situation, as stated to us, on the pretext that the Governor was opposed to it; and it is not the case, as the Governor has notified us. Now the question is, who is objecting to it? That is the question: who is objecting to it? The Auditor-General has been objecting to these bills. He has been refusing to pay the newspapers what they received previous years, year in and year out from Auditor-General Sisson and the Auditor-General before him. He has been refusing to pay their bills as submitted for 1912, 1913 and 1914 on the same basis as settled for in 1909, and 1910 and 1911 by the then Auditor-General Young, who is now State Treasurer, elected on the same ticket that the Auditor-General was elected on, and who paid these bills at these prices; and he is objecting to settling these bills on the basis that he is paying other bills of the same newspapers for other advertisement for the State at the rates of these bills submitted for Constitutional amendment. Now, gentlemen, I ask that you consider this matter in fairness and justice.

I went to the Auditor-General a week ago to-day or to-morrow, and had a two hours' interview with him, a very friendly and cordial interview. He stated that this $46,000 should be made in a separate bill. I asked him if this full amount was proper, as shown by his statement which I have here for the three years, the deficiency in the bills, rendered, $146,080.70, or whatever the figures are—I asked him if this amount was appropriated, upon what basis he would settle the bills, and he would not tell me, he would not admit that he would settle these bills on the basis settled in 1909 and 1910 and 1911, previous to the time when he was elected, and when the former Auditor-General settled the matter. There has been a lot said on this matter in trying to becloud it. There is an effort made in the newspapers and other efforts to show that the newspapers of this State are trying to rob the State, and it is absolutely false in every particular. They are trying to say that the Auditor-General has done what Auditor-General Sisson done and Auditor-General Young done; but he has declined to settle the bills on the basis on which settled by Auditor-Generals Young and Sisson. He has declined to pay these bills on the basis that he has paid the same newspapers for other advertising for the State as late as July of 1914.

Now, gentlemen, I submit to you as to whether this proposition is going to be settled and going to be handled upon the leadership as we had it in this State and in the session and in the House and Senate of 1914, as to whether we are going to discuss and decide these questions upon the leadership and suggestion and inspiration of the Auditor-General pleading this fact that it is the Governor that is saying this or that or the other, when he is not saying it; or whether we are going to decide these questions on the basis of the majority in the House of 1915. I would not be here, Mr. Speaker, and many of the rest of us would not be here—my colleague would not be here, if the same sentiment maintained in this State last November that maintained two years ago last November, and yet we are here; and I submit to you and to all of you that it is a fair question as to whether this House and this administration is to be controlled and inspired by the propositions maintaining in 1913 as against the propositions maintaining in 1915 in so far as the majority is concerned. The men who were running against my colleague and myself last November would be here if that was so in the minds of the people. Many of you would not be here if that was so in the minds of the people; and yet we come now and we are asked to do the same thing, to take the same inspiration and reach the same conclusion which would have been brought about through the leadership as it was in 1913; and mark you gentlemen of the House, every newspaper which sent in their bill for 1912 and 1913 and 1914 has not been cut in their rates, only in their bill. It might be worth all your investigation to find out what newspapers were paid in full through these years. It is very easy for the man who wants to do something to find a pretext or excuse or reason for doing it. It is very easy for the man who does not want to do something to find a reason or pretext for not doing it; and it is very simple for a man who desires to do something which he wants to do for ulterior or other motives to figure it out on the basis of circulation or any other basis and come to a conclusion on that basis whereby he can reach the conclusion on those he desires to cut and at the same time pay those in full which he desires to pay in full.

Now, gentlemen, I think these are matters that you all should know: The newspapers of this State, 312 of them, involved in these constitutional amendments, are to be paid, representing every county in this State, and they took this advertising in good faith and when this advertising was sent to them in 1912 by the Secretary of the Commonwealth, they accepted it and they ran it and they had a right to run it with the supposition and on the proposition that they would receive the same pay in 1912 that they had received in 1911 and 1910 and in 1909. If it was any private corporation they could be required to pay that by process of law inside of thirty days or sixty days, and every member of this House knows that. They sent the work to the same papers that printed it the previous years and before the present Auditor-General was elected. This work was all completed and the advertising was all done and the bills submitted to the Secretary of the Commonwealth and many of them were in the Auditor-General's office, but this appropriation for 1912 was not made until after Auditor-General Sisson was out of office. Whether it so happened or not that was the fact in the case and Auditor-General Sisson could not pay these bills for 1912, and the present Auditor-General, who was not elected until after this advertising was all completed, took it upon himself, in his own way and for his own reason, to cut these bills from sixty per cent. to whatever per cent. he arrived at in conclusion, and in some cases nothing had he cut them. Now, gentlemen, I submit to you that this proposition is a proposition of debt, is a proposition to pay the newspapers of this State for work done not at their solicitation either. They did not solicit this advertising; it was sent to them, no doubt on the recommendation of County Chairman or Senators or Members of the House, as the case may be.

That advertising was done at that rate and they expect the same to be paid for at that rate. They have not received it, and here is an effort being made to keep them from receiving it, unless the Auditor-General chooses to pay it. He has declined to say he will pay and has for three years taken a stand against it. Now comes the question for us to say whether that provision as laid down by the Auditor-General is fair, whether we will endorse his stand in this matter, or whether we will endorse the proposition, in fairness, justice and equity, as stated by the newspaper bills for the previous years of 1909, 1910 and 1911, and also upon the same basis, which has been approved and paid by the Auditor-General for other bills. The newspapers of this State have published the statements of the Auditor-General and statements of the State Treasurer, asking for bids for roads in this State in different sections all over the State, and when these bills have come in, the Auditor-General has passed, and approved and paid them upon the same rate which he refuses to pay for the Constitutional Amendments. As late as last July he paid a bill on the rate which he repudiates in connection with the constitutional amendments, for advertising such as we speak of. For any other advertising the newspaper could be remunerated, but for this particular advertisement, for some reason or other, the Auditor-General has seen fit to make an arbitary, and, to a certain extent, a peculiar and unqiue exhibition in regard to this proposition.

Now, gentlemen, the newspapers only want what is fair and just, and I promise you that so far as the future is concerned there is no one more anxious than I am to put this in such a condition that there never will be any question about it in the future. I propose something of this kind: that the Secretary of the Commonwealth shall be authorized to receive from the various newspapers of the State of Pennsylvania a statement of what they charge, their rate for State advertising, and it shall be provided that no advertising shall be sent to any newspaper in this State which has not first filed the rate it will charge with the Secretary of the Commonwealth, so that before these advertisements are sent out they will know exactly what that newspaper is going to charge. If they think it is too high, they will not send the advertisement to that paper. But I submit to you, gentlemen, how is a newspaper going to tell, when it receives an order for advertising, of the same order, of the same kind, of the same style, which it has received for years, without solicitation, and goes ahead and publishes it, how is it going to tell there is to be a change in the rate unless notified accordingly.

I submit to you that the newspapers have a right to know and say whether they will receive the advertisement if it is going to be cut down. If the advertisement rate is cut down, and the Auditor-General cuts it down, the newspapers in this State, in many instances, would decline to publish it. The rate offered by the State of Pennsylvania for this Constitutional Amendment is at a less rate than is charged in these same newspapers to ask for a hired girl wanted, or a house for sale or rent, and that is the cheapest class of advertising in a paper. On the other hand the State of Pennsylvania does this with the newspapers, and I am not talking politically at all or on a partisan basis. They send from one, to five; to seven envelopes a day from the Health Department, the Dairy and Food Department, the Foot and Mouth Diseases Department and from the Auditor-General's Department, if you please, which has sent as much as three or four colums to a paper, which has been printed free and which could not be paid for; and so these various departments of the State send these various items, which are of interest in the enforcement of the laws, in the betterment of the State, and the upbuilding of the methods of the Commonwealth and the newspapers gladly print them without charge.

The only bill practically that amounts to anything is for the advertising of this Constitutional Amendment, and when the State sends those to a newspaper, and they have been settled for for years on a certain basis, the only advertising it can pay for, when it undertakes to have the pound of flesh and say that it shall include the heart, it is not fair, it is not just, it is not right. Every newspaper that published this advertisement in 1912 had a right to put into their bills collectively the amount it received in 1909, 1910 and 1911, upon that same basis. They had a right to charge for that Constitutional Amendment the same price this Auditor-General has paid for other State advertising in the meantime. They have a right to show that in their bills collectively, to their bank and to everybody involved, and to themselves; and when the State of Pennsylvania undertakes to settle at forty cents on the dollar among all the people that patronize the newspapers, I tell you, gentlemen, it is unbecoming, it is not right, and I do not belive this House and this Senate desire to put themselves on any basis of that kind. If the Auditor will agree to a basis upon which he will settle when he gets that amount appropriated, as we asked him to do last week; if he will make any reasonable proposition as to what he would agree to in regard to the matter when this money is appropriated, making it available for him to settle, so that he cannot say, as he said in the past, that he did not settle because he did not have the money, and have him say that he will pay on the basis of 1909, 1910 and 1911, there will be no question raised, and he should pay it on that basis without any consideration for any other basis. And now, when there is an attempt made and agreed to for an amendment, to say to the Auditor General that he shall pay the bills rendered, then this House and Senate get the proposition that it will agree to practically all other amendments and propositions in this bill but this one, and it says, "we will strike that out," presumably with the understanding that it is at the behest of the Governor, when it is not, Mr. Speaker, as stated by him, but it is at the behest of the Auditor-General.

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I simply want to make this suggestion to the House. The matter is all tangled up and I think the wisest and shortest course to pursue now is to non-concur in the Senate amendments and then proceed to appoint a committee on conference to take the matter up.

Mr. WILLIAM H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, there is no entanglement in this matter at all. I refrained from rising to a point of order because I desired to hear the gentleman from McKean County at length on this question. But the remarks of the gentleman from McKean County are not at all germane to the question before this House. This bill known as the General Deficiency Bill, passed this House and was amended in a number of instances by the Senate. It was then reported back to this House with those amendments. This House, on motion this morning refused to concur in the amendments. The Senate was notified accordingly and it then receded from the objectionable amendments and the only question before this House is whether or not it will concur in the amendments from which the Senate refused to recede; but in answer to my friend from McKean County and in order to clear his mind as to a misconception which he undoubtedly has pertaining to the circumstances surrounding the introduction and the amending of this bill. I desire to say to him and to the other members of this House, that this morning was the first time since the introduction of this bill by myself that any such amendment as is shown in Section Seven, Line Two, which reads as follows, "as shown by bills rendered," was brought to my attention.

Neither the gentleman from McKean County, nor any other member of this House conferred with me in reference to that amendment. What the gentleman from McKean County did take up with me was the question of the amount as specified in this section, the bill providing for an appropriation of one hundred thousand dollars to meet the deficiency in the payment of certain advertising bills. The gentleman came to me and he said that in his judgment that was not sufficient and wanted me to agree that one hundred thousand dollars be amended so that it would be increased to one hundred and forty-six or one hundred and forty-eight thousand dollars. I then told him that if he had such an amendment he had better take it up with the Senate and if the Senate agreed to it, that as far as I was concerned, there would be no objection on my part. He advised me subsequently that he did take it up with the Senate, but that the answer was that a separate bill should be introduced for the purpose of taking care of the additional deficiency, and asked me to be the sponsor for that bill, which I declined and refused to be.

Now, then, he evidently charges me with having had some conference with the Auditor-General concerning the provisions of this section. I say to you and to the rest of the gentlemen of this House that I have never spoken one word to the Auditor-General, nor he to me, concerning any provision, let alone this one in the General Deficiency Bill. I have no quarrel with the Auditor-General, if my friend from McKean County has. The Auditor-General runs his office to suit himself and without any advice either solicited from me or suggested by me. If the Auditor-General is of the opinion that the bills which have been rendered heretofore for advertising Constitutional Amendments are too large, that the newspapers of this State are attempting to mulct the Commonwealth, that is a matter for him to decide and not for me. I have no quarrel with the Governor of Pennsylvania, but I was advised this morning that the Governor did object to that particular amendment in this section, and I say to you, and I say to the other members of this House, that irrespective of whether the Governor of Pennsylvania objects to it or not, that I, the sponsor of the bill, do object to it.

Mr. HABGOOD. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WILLIAM H. WILSON. I will.

Mr. HABGOOD. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman whether it is, in his opinion, none of his business, as a member of the Legislature, to see that the State of Pennsylvania pays its bills one hundred cents on the dollar, even though the Auditor-General does not think so?

Mr. WILLIAM H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman from McKean, the position I occupy is this: That the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania should pay and should be compelled to pay every just bill which is presented to it for payment, but as to whether or not the bill is just or otherwise, that is the Auditor-General's business because he is commonly known and styled "The Watch Dog of the Treasury," but I assume to occupy a higher position in this House. If my friend has a bill to collect from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the provisions of this section, with the Senate amendment stricken out, does not restrict him in any of his rights.

But I, sir, conceive it to be my duty as a member of this House and I conceive to be the duty of the gentleman from McKean County, as well as every other member on the floor of this House, to see to it that that which is only just and right and reasonable and fair be sealed with the stamp of approval of this House of Representatives with such an amendment as we have in this section which has been receded from by the Senate to pay expenses incurred "as shown by bills rendered"—do you gentlemen conceive the import of that language? If I understand the English language, it means this and this only: That irrespective of what is right, irrespective of what is just, irrespective of what is reasonable, irrespective of what is fair that all that a citizen of the State of Pennsylvania who does work either in the advertising end or some other kind of work for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, all that he must do is to make up a bill at haphazard and present that bill to the Auditor-General for his O. K. and his hands are tied. He must accept from the man who performs the labor the statement as to the amount due and there is nothing else to guide him. I take it, Mr. Speaker, that a more unfair amendment was never offered in either the Senate or any other legislative body in the State of Pennsylvania or any where else. It is only fair that the Auditor-General is to look after the accounts of this Commonwealth and see to it that those things which are fair and reasonable are paid. Why tie his hands with such an outrageous amendment as my friend from McKean County has said, at his solicitation, the Senate of Pennsylvania put into this bill. I, therefore, say that I insist upon my previous motion that the amendments which were adhered to by the Senate be concurred in by this House and the other question as to whether or not this particular amendment should be inserted is not before this House, because the Senate has already receded from its position.

Mr. HABGOOD. Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from McKean, Mr. Habgood.

Mr. HABGOOD. Mr. Speaker, we have heard a very strong speech; it echoes from 1913 down these two years. It comes to this House in the same forceful way with almost the same statements, word for word, that were spoken in this House in 1913. Now, Mr. Speaker, this proposition simply resolves itself to this: These advertisements have been sent to these papers; nothing was said to them of the change of rate over the previous year. This gentleman talks about injustice and unfairness. I am not asking for a single thing that is not just, neither are the newspaper men of this State. I submit to him and to every man in this House if it is not just that they should be paid upon the same basis that they were paid in previous years for their advertisements during the past year. I think it is right and just, yet the Auditor-General will not agree to settle these bills on that basis and he does not want this amendment in and he never sent anybody to do this and then I ask you if it is not in all fairness and reasonable justice best and right to consider as to what basis shall be adopted by the Auditor-General in the settling of these bills? Shall he give up and repudiate the previous rates of 1912 and 1911 and 1909—repudiate the very rates which he himself has made to these same newspapers and drive them to take a less amount than he has paid for other State advertisements? That is the question and the newspapers desire to know whether this House and Senate is willing to let the Auditor-General decide whether the newspapers shall be satisfied to have him say, "I will pay you for one advertisement a certain price and for another advertisement, I will pay you another price," and for the advertisement that you ran in 1912, before I was elected, I will not pay you the same price that the previous Auditor-General paid." This House will say whether they endorse that, whether they do or not in the face of the fact that he Governor has not approved of it.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that there might be an honest difference of opinion in regard to this controversy, but I cannot possibly see how the gentleman from McKean County can bring the matter properly before the House at this time, in this way and in this manner. I would think that the only question before the House now is whether or not the House will pass this bill as amended by the Senate. I have no doubt that the gentleman from McKean who, no doubt, has a good argument and a just cause, can place this matter before the House in a separate bill or resolution. I would think that would be the way to proceed in the matter.

The SPEAKER. The point is well taken, but the question before the House is whether we will agree to the amendments insisted on by the Senate.

Mr. HABGOOD. Mr. Speaker, the House by refusing to concur in the amendments made by the Senate, may put this in Conference Committee where it can be arranged and adjusted.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, as I understand it, the Senate has receded from its amendment.

The SPEAKER. The Senate has receded from the amendment spoken of by the gentleman from McKean. The question before the House is whether we will agree to concur in the amendments insisted on by the Senate and on this question the Clerk will call the roll. Those agreeing to concur will vote "Aye" and those refusing to concur will vote "No."

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate.

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

The SPEAKER (Charles A. Ambler) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. F. W. Staley, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, we thank Thee that in Thy divine plan to protect and redeem man, Thou hast surrounded him with law, both human and divine. To the human law Thou hast attached a penalty. The man who violates that law suffers the penalty and inflicts upon himself his own punishment. To the divine law there is also a penalty, whether it is natural, moral or spiritual. The violator of that law suffers the penalty and inflicts upon himself his own punishment and carries with him the dreadful consequences, not only throughout this life but throughout the life to come. The decree has gone forth that "Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap; if he soweth to the flesh he shall of the flesh reap corruption; if he soweth to the spirit, he shall of the spirit reap life everlasting."

May we have the Saviour of men as our model, who summed up all law in the words "Love to God and Love to Man," we ask in His name sake. Amen.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings when, on motion of Mr. Gransback, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal was approved.

RESOLUTION NO. 4.

Mr. ROTHENBERGER. Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Berks, Mr. Rothenberger.

Mr. ROTHENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up Resolution No. 4.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Resolution.

The Clerk then twice read the Resolution as follows:

Be it resolved by the House of Representatives that it is the sense of this body that it is entirely unnecessary for the Appropriation Committee of either branch of the General Assembly to visit the various institutions public or private which ask for appropriation from the State And further That the recommendations relative to appropriations made after careful investigation by the State Board of Public Charities should be followed and that another investigation would be a great waste of State funds that could well be used for other and better purposes

On the question,

Will the House agree to the Resolution?

Mr. McCAIG. Mr. Speaker, I move that this Resolution be referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

Mr. ROTHENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, I cannot understand why this resolution should not be passed. There is no appropriation connected with it. I only wanted to present this before the House although my Democratic friends oppose me and say that I put this resolution in for spite work because I didn't get an appointment on the Appropriation Committee. That was not the reason for it. If I had been put on the Appropriation Committee I would have presented it any way. Most of the members don't know that this Appropriation Committee spends twelve thousand dollars of the State's money having joy rides over the State to look into the condition of these institutions and they never give a report to this House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Session 1915 — 121st of the General Assembly

VOL. 3. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 1915. No. 14.

SENATE.

MONDAY, February 15, 1915.

The Senate met at 9:30 o'clock P. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Frank B. McClain) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. Thomas W. Davis, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, our kind Heavenly Father, we thank Thee that our lives have been preserved to be here again this evening hour. We thank Thee for the blessed privilege we have of service among our fellow men, and that coming from different parts of this great State our own views may be corrected by the views of others, and having thought out the various problems with which we are confronted, we pray that they may be crystalized into the very best laws for the good of the entire Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. We ask in our Saviour's name. Amen.

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. VARE, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

RESOLUTION REQUESTING THE CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES TO REPEAL THE PRESENT TARIFF LAW.

Mr. VARE offered the following resolution which was twice read:

Whereas, The great industrial Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has suffered more than any other State in the Union because of the present tariff; and

Whereas, Under its operation our important steel plants, our textile mills and other industries have been operating only about one half capacity; and

Whereas, The Army of unemployed in our cities and towns has brought continued distress through inability to obtain proper food, raiment and shelter; and

Whereas, We believe present conditions will become worse instead of better at the close of the war, it is therefore

Resolved (If the House of Representatives concur), That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania, now in session, do request the Congress of the United States to repeal the present tariff law and replace it by a law giving adequate protection to our labor and industries, and, under normal conditions, sufficient revenue to warrant the repeal of the present unjust and uncalled for special methods of taxation now in operation.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39 be suspended in order to consider the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WASBERS and Mr. FARLEY and were as follows, viz:

"Section 9 Either party may within ten days after the entry by said court of any judgment in any civil action appeal therefrom to the court of common pleas of said county by taking and perfecting an appeal in the manner following

The party appealing shall procure from the county court a transcript duly certified under the seal of the court showing the proceedings had in said cases and shall file the same in the office of the prothonotary of said county and at the time of filing the same shall also make affidavit that the said appeal is not taken for the purpose of delay The appellant shall give bail absolute in a sum and with surety or sureties to be approved as hereinafter provided for his compliance with any judgment that may be finally rendered against him and for payment of all interest and costs likely to accrue All costs accrued up to the time of filing the transcript shall be paid by appellant in the first instance and if the appellant shall finally recover judgment in the case appealed he shall be entitled to receive and collect from the adverse party the costs so as aforesaid paid on appeal

The costs on appeals accruing at and from the time of filing the transcript shall abide the event of the suit and be paid by the unsuccessful party as in other cases Provided That if the plaintiff be the appellant he shall pay all costs which may accrue on the appeal if in the event of the suit he shall not recover a greater sum or a more favorable judgment exclusive of interest than was rendered by the county court And provided also That if the defendant either on the trial of the cause before the county court or before an appeal is taken shall offer to give the plaintiff a judgment for an amount which the defendant shall admit to be due and if said plaintiff shall not accept such offer then and in that case if the defendant shall appeal the plaintiff shall pay all the costs which shall accrue on the appeal if he shall not in the event of the suit recover a greater amount than that for which the defendant offered to give a judgment and in both cases the defendants bill shall be taxed and paid by the plaintiff in the same manner as if a judgment had been rendered in court for the defendant But provided further That in all cases where the judgment of the county court shall be in favor of defendant on a counter claim then the terms plaintiff and defendant in the foregoing provisions relating to costs on appeals shall be taken as inverted Any appellant shall have the right to appeal and demand and receive transcripts without payment of costs upon his making and filing with the judge approving the appeal bond an affidavit that he is unable through poverty to pay said costs provided said judge shall be satisfied of the truth of the statements in such affidavit All appeals taken and perfected in the manner above provided shall operate as a supersedeas The amounts of the penalties of and the sureties upon such bonds shall be approved by a judge of the county court

Or within ten days after the entry of judgment in any civil action either party may after such notice to the opposite party as the common pleas court shall require apply to any court of common pleas of said county or any judge thereof for leave to appeal the case to the common pleas court And if such appeal be allowed then after payment of costs in the county court as aforesaid unless the appeal be taken in forma papueris and upon filing the certified copy of said order of allowance the transcript shall be filed with the prothonotary as above provided but said appeal shall not operate as a supersedeas unless the court or judge allowing such appeal shall so order

Any party shall be entitled within ten days from the date of judgment or within such further time as the court of common pleas may grant to a writ of certiorari to remove the record to any court of common pleas of said county in the manner as now provided by law in regard to writs of certiorari issuing out of said common pleas but such certiorari shall not operate as a supersedeas unless bail absolute for said judgment interest and costs shall be given and approved by the court of common pleas from which such writ of certiorari issues

Provided That in all cases in said county court where judgment shall have been entered on the verdict of a jury no appeal to the common pleas court shall be perfected as above set forth until leave to take such appeal has first been obtained by the appellant from the court of common pleas or a judge thereof The application for leave to appeal shall be by petition to the common pleas court setting forth the reasons why a retrial of issue of fact is necessary to prevent an injustice This petition shall be heard after such notice to the adverse party as the common pleas court shall prescribe and if leave to take such appeal be granted a copy of the order allowing the appeal shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the county court" be and the same is hereby further amended and supplemented to read as follows

Section 9 Either party may within ten days after the allowance of an appeal to the court of common pleas as herein provided in any civil action appeal to the court of common pleas of said county by taking and perfecting an appeal in the manner following

The party appealing shall procure from the county court a transcript duly certified under the seal of the court showing the proceedings had in said cases and shall file the same in the office of the prothonotary of said county and at the time of filing the same shall also make affidavit that the said appeal is not taken for the purpose of delay The appellant shall give bail absolute in a sum and with surety or sureties to be approved as hereinafter provided for his compliance with any judgment that may be finally rendered against him and for payment of all interest and costs likely to accure All costs accrued up to the time of filing the transcript shall be paid by appellant in the first instance and if the appellant shall finally recover judgment in the case appealed he shall be entitled to receive and collect from the adverse party the costs so as aforesaid paid on appeal

The costs on appeals accruing at and from the time of filing the transcript shall abide the event of the suit and be paid by the unsuccessful party as in other cases Provided That if the plaintiff be the appellant he shall pay all costs which may accrue on the appeal if in the event of the suit he shall not recover a greater sum or a more favorable judgment exclusive of interest than was rendered by the county court

And provided also That if the defendant either on the trial of the cause before the county court or before an appeal is taken shall offer to give the plaintiff a judgment for an amount which the defendant shall admit to be due and if the said plaintiff shall not accept such offer then and in that case if the defendant shall appeal the plaintiff shall pay all the costs which shall accrue on the appeal if he shall not in the event of the suit recover a greater amount than that for which the defendant offered to give a judgment and in both cases the defendants bill shall be taxed and paid by the plaintiff in the same manner as if a judgment had been rendered in court for the defendant But provided further That in all cases where the judgment of the county court shall be in favor of defendant on a counter-claim then the terms plaintiff and defendant in the foregoing provisions relating to costs on appeals shall be taken as inverted Any appellant shall have the right to appeal and demand and receive transcripts without payment of costs upon his making and filing with the judge approving the appeal bond an affidavit that he is unable through poverty to pay said costs provided said judge shall be satisfied of the truth of the statements in such affidavit All appeals taken and perfected in the manner above provided shall operate as a supersedeas The amount of the penalties of and the sureties upon such bonds shall be approved by a judge of the county court but in allowing the appeal the common pleas court may for proper cause order that no bond be required or may otherwise prescribe the conditions of allowance of said appeals as may be just and proper under the circumstances

Any party shall be entitled within ten days from the date of judgment or within such further time as the court of common pleas may grant to a writ of certiorari to remove the record to any court of common pleas of said county in the manner as now provided by law in regards to writs of certiorari issuing out of said common pleas but such certiorari shall not operate as a supersedeas unless bail absolute for said judgment interest and costs shall be given and approved by the court of common pleas from which such writ of certiorari issues

Provided that no appeal to the common pleas court shall be perfected as above set forth until leave to take such appeal has first been obtained by the appellant from the court of common pleas or a judge thereof The application for leave to appeal shall be by petition to the common pleas court setting forth the reasons why a retrial of issues of fact is necessary to prevent an injustice This petition shall be heard after such notice to the adverse party as the common pleas court shall prescribe and if leave to take such appeal be granted a copy of the order allowing the appeal shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the county court Said application for leave to appeal shall be made to the common pleas court within ten days after the entry of judgment by the county court but where the case has been tried in the county court by a judge without a jury and a motion to open the judgment has been made within said court within such time as the county court may prescribe then the ten days for making application to appeal shall run from the date of the judgment of the county court on the motion to open judgment In disposing of the application for leave to appeal the court of common pleas may in its discretion direct the entry by the county court of such judgment as may be proper on its whole record and from such order of the common pleas court an appeal shall lie to the superior court of Pennsylvania

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 63, as follows:

An Act relating to moneys heretofore deposited in State Treasury prior to December thirty-first Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and thirteen by the State Highway Department as fees for registration of motor-vehicles and the licensing of operators and making an appropriation thereof

Whereas Under the provisions of an act approved the twenty-seventh day of April one thousand nine hundred and nine entitled "An Act relating to motor-vehicles regulating their speed upon the public streets and highways of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania providing for their registration and the licensing of operators by the State Highway Department establishing the rights of motor-vehicles upon the public highways with relation to other vehicles regulating the service of process and of proceedings in actions for damages arising therefrom prescribing the penalties for violations of the provisions of this act and providing for the disposition of fines imposed thereunder" the moneys derived from the registration of motor-vehicles and the licensing of operators were to be paid into the Treasury of this Commonwealth to be used in the improvement of the roads and

Whereas There remains in the State Treasury the sum of one hundred eighty-seven thousand seven hundred seventy-one dollars and forty-two cents being the unappropriated balance of funds derived from the registration of motor-vehicles and the licensing of operators and deposited therein prior to December thirty-one one thousand nine hundred and thirteen the date upon which act of Assembly number three hundred eighty-five dated July seventh one thousand nine hundred thirteen specifically appropriating all such moneys to the State Highway Department became effective

Whereas Owing to lack of specific appropriation the said moneys have not been available to the State Highway Department in the improvement of the roads and therefore cannot be used for the purposes for which such moneys were intended therefore

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the sum of one hundred eighty-seven thousand seven hundred seventy-one dollars and forty-two cents now in the treasury of this Commonwealth derived from the fees for registration of motor-vehicles and the licensing of operators thereof is hereby specifically appropriated to the State Highway Department for the purpose of maintenance repair and construction of the State highways described and as prescribed in the act establishing the State Highway Department approved the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven and supplement thereto

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. F. W. Staley, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, we thank Thee that Thou hast remembered us since we last met in this House. We rejoice tonight that Thou didst so love us as to give Thine only begotten Son to die for us and to redeem us. We rejoice tonight, O God, that Thou art mindful of us and Thou dost offer unto us Thy wisdom and Thy knowledge and Thy understanding; and may we use it for our good and for Thy glory, we ask, for Christ's sake. Amen.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of the proceedings of Wednesday, February 10th, 1915.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the proceedings of Wednesday, February 10th, 1915, when, on motion of Mr. Lafferty the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

The Chair laid before the House the report of Trustees of Mothers' Pensions of Westmoreland County, to December 31st, 1914.

BILL PLACED ON CALENDAR.

Mr. MILLIRON. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 198, File Folio 181, entitled:

An Act to amend section 1708 of an act entitled "An Act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" approved the eighteenth day of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and eleven introduced February 2d and reported from the Committee on Education on February 9th with a negative recommendation, be placed upon the Calendar, nothwithstanding the negative recommendation of the Committee.

Mr. CROMER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. MILLIRON. Mr. Speaker, my purpose in asking for the placing of this bill on the Calendar is due to the fact that Dr. Schaeffer, the State Superintendent of Public Instruction of our State, has asked for a hearing on the bill. We would like to have it placed on the Calendar so it can be recommitted to the Committee on Education.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Mr. MILLIRON. Mr. Speaker, I ask the unanimous consent to have this bill read for the first time.

The SPEAKER. Is there any objection? The Chair hears none.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I have no personal objection to this bill either being placed on the Calendar or recommitted to the Committee but I think the old custom that has obtained for many years in this House of reading a bill by unanimous consent is a bad one. I think the Constitution provides that all bills shall be referred to a committee, reported back and printed for the use of the members before being considered and I therefore take it that at this time, when the session is early and nobody will be hurt by our living up absolutely to the Constitutional provisions, that that wise custom be now established.

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman from Philadelphia is laboring under a misapprehension. The bill is on the Calendar and can be read by any of the members, so that the provisions of the Constitution have been complied with. I think the gentleman from Philadelphia is certainly aware of the fact that when a bill is returned to the House either with a negative or an affirmative recommendation, it is printed and placed on the files on the desks of the members. Now, the Constitution does not, in any place, refer to a Calendar, and the Constitutional requirements in this instance have been complied with and it is simply expediting the matter. As the reading comes out of order, for that reason it requires unanimous consent. The Superintendent of Public Instruction in our State asks for a hearing on the bill and there cannot be any harm in granting the unanimous consent.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I press my point of order that this bill is not on the Calendar and cannot properly be considered by this Legislature for first reading.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would state that this bill was just placed on the Calendar by motion of the House and when the Chair asked if there was any objection to having it read the first time the Chair heard none. The Clerk will read the bill.

BILL ON FIRST READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 198, entitled:

An Act to amend section 1708 of an act entitled "An Act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" approved the eighteenth day of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and eleven

And said bill having been read at length the first time,
Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. MILLIRON. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be now recommitted to the Committee on Education.

Mr. CROMER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL PLACED ON CALENDAR.

Mr. SHOWALTER. I move that House Bill No. 197, File Folio No. 179, entitled:

An Act to amend section one thousand three hundred ten of an act entitled "An Act to estblish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" approved the eighteenth day of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and eleven which was reported from the Committee on Education with a negative recommendation be placed upon the Calendar, notwithstanding the negative recommendation of the committee, due to the fact that the Deparment of Education desires to be heard on this bill.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. SHOWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to have this bill read the first time.

The SPEAKER. Is there any objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON FIRST READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 197, entitled:

An Act to amend section one thousand three hundred ten of an act entitled "An Act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" approved the eighteenth day of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and eleven

And said bill having been read at length the first time,
Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. SHOWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Education.

Mr. E. E. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 103, entitled:

An Act to amend an act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven entitled "An Act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith"

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Dunn.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, and Gentlemen of the House: Wishing that almost a unanimous vote of this House may be had on this very important bill that is to right a wrong on a certain body of hard working citizens of Philadelphia County, I will explain it as near as possible for the benefit of the members of this House. The district that I represent in the northeastern part of Philadelphia County is what is called the old farming district of that County. For many years it was composed of two townships—Dublin and Oxford townships. They levied their own taxes, they supported their own poorhouses and met peacefully in that northeastern part of Philadelphia County,—until the people in the resident part of the County forming this part of the city wished to consolidate that county and make the city co-extensive with the county and for that purpose the Act of Consolidation was prepared in 1854.

The inducement offered the farmers of these particular townships was that if they commenced to be included in this act of consolidation their taxes should remain the same; that they should maintain their own separate poor-houses and levy the taxes and support the same and that continued for almost fifty-eight years until those who prepared the School Code, prepared it not thinking, probably, because I don't think they were preparing an intentional wrong upon that class of citizens in that County, but in preparing that School Code they did not consider the promise made to these farmers but placed the school taxes in the first class school district in that County at no less than five mills or more than six mills. What was the result of that? It was to rate the school tax of the city proper with all the high school facilities for higher education where the children in that particular part of the County went to school and spent from five to ten cents for transportation to their school and back to their homes while on the farms, seventeen to eighteen miles out from the high school district, that County had levied upon it a tax which increased their school taxes 100 per cent., and in that time no additional privileges and no additional assistance was rendered the farmer's child but he was assessed 100 per cent. in addition to his regular tax to support the high school in the higher education of the city proper in Philadelphia.

The Board of Education recognized the claims of these farmers after the operation of the School Code went into effect after the first year when they levied a tax on the farmers at the same rate as was promised under the act of consolidation, the farmers' rate. Later on their attention was called to that School Code, that it called for five mills and while the Board of Education didn't wish to increase the tax upon the farmer, yet the School Code thought that it should be not less than five mills. The result was the next year the school tax of the farmers was raised 100 per cent., while the city tax remained the same and for the years 1912, 1913 and 1914, the additional tax of 100 per cent. has been levied on the farmers without any additional increase in the educational facilities in this farming district.

For this particular amendment to the School Code to make it so that it will be no less than two and a half mills and no more than six mills, it gives the Board of Education the powers to go down to the farm rate and if necessary go higher to the six mills, and then these farmers will receive the just consideration as was promised to them by the City of Philadelphia under the Consolidation Act of 1854. That is the purpose of the bill. I believe that every farmer in this House and every member here are here in the interest of justice. This has been a just claim based upon the needs of a class of the most industrious people in the State of Pennsylvania and especially in the school district of Philadelphia.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Aron, Walter,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

BILLS ON SECOND READING.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 66, entitled:

An Act making a deficiency appropriation to the Trustees of Temple University

The first section of the bill was read as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000.00) is hereby specifically appropriated to the Trustees of Temple University for the erection of a building for the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and the Teachers' College being the amount appropriated to said trustees by act approved the twenty-fifth day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirteen but which amount through inadvertance on the part of said trustees was not paid but reverted to the State Treasury

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment:

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Line 10. After the word "thirteen" insert the words entitled "An Act making an appropriation to the Trustees of Temple University."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

The title of the bill was read and agreed to as follows:

An Act making a deficiency appropriation to the Trustees of Temple University

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 76, as follows:

An Act making an appropriation to refund to the Crawford County Trust Company a corporation of Meadville Crawford County Pennsylvania moneys erroneously paid into the State Treasury

Whereas The Crawford County Trust Company a corporation organized and doing business under the laws of this Commonwealth and having its principal office at Meadville Crawford County Pennsylvania has heretofore erroneously paid into the State Treasury the sum of two hundred seventy-nine dollars and fourteen cents as State taxes on funds which however were in reality not taxable as being exempted by the Constitution and laws of the Commonwealth therefore

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the sum of two hundred seventy-nine dollars and fourteen cents is hereby specifically appropriated for the purpose of refunding to the Crawford County Trust Company a corporation organized and doing business under the laws of this Commonwealth and having its principal place of business at Meadville Crawford County Pennsylvania being the amount erroneously paid by it into the State Treasury as State tax on funds which were in reality not taxable being moneys belonging to the Centenary Fund Society of the Erie Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church and as such being exempt under the Constitution and laws of this Commonwealth Said amount shall be paid on warrant of the Auditor General on due proof that said amount was as aforesaid erroneously and actually paid into the State Treasury

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 206, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation for the payment of the expense of publication of amendments to the Constitution for the three years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and twelve

The first section of the bill was read as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the additional sum of forty-six thousand and forty dollars and eighty cents ($46,040.80) is hereby specifically appropriated for the payment of the expenses already incurred as shown by the bills rendered for the publication in the various newspapers of this Commonwealth of the several amendments to the Constitution of this Commonwealth for the three fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and twelve

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. HABGOOD. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Line 6 and line 7: On line 6 after the word incurred, strike out the words "as shown by the," and on line 7, strike out the words "bills rendered."

Line 10: After the word "twelve," add the following: "which expense for these three fiscal years shall be adjusted and paid as follows; In the case of newspapers that published any other State advertising ordered by any State Department since June first one thousand nine hundred and thirteen at the same rate that this Commonwealth approved and paid for such State advertising; In the case of newspapers which published no other State advertising ordered by any State Department since June first one thousand nine hundred and thirteen at the rate they were respectively paid for the Constitutional amendments published in any of the following years, 1909, 1910 and 1911 and the Auditor-General is hereby directed to certify and the State Treasurer to pay the same within twenty days after the passage of this act

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Habgood.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Habgood, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HABGOOD. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from McKean county the purpose of this amendment.

Mr. HABGOOD. Mr. Speaker, the purpose of this amendment is to indicate what the desire of this House is in regards to the basis on which these bills shall be paid. On the basis of the debt owed by the State for this advertising, and on which basis the Auditor General has declined to make settlement, although he has paid for the advertising from other state departments in these same newspapers, the same rates which he refuses to pay for these advertisements; and to indicate the wish of the members of this House that the bill for advertising in the newspapers of this State, which have been cut down in two or three hundred papers, should be paid on the basis and at the same rate as for other years by Auditor General Young and Auditor General Sisson, and at the same rate which Auditor General Powell himself has paid these same newspapers for other State advertisements, and that they wish these bills to be paid on that basis, or one hundred cents on the dollar.

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to further interrogate the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. HABGOOD. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from McKean whether or not the ultimate result of the incorporation of this amendment in this bill would be to tie the hands of the Auditor General so that he would have no leeway in considering the payment of these bills? Does not the amendment establish a fixed rate back of which the Auditor General cannot go?

Mr. HABGOOD. Mr. Speaker, it does not establish any rate that was not established by his predecessors Auditor General Young and Auditor General Sisson and has been established by himself—absolutely no other rate. But it does establish that rate for these bills, and the newspaper men are not asking for one penny that is not fair and just on the basis established by one and all of these Auditor Generals, and they only want what is justly due them. The Auditor General told me two weeks ago to-morrow, that if the appropriation was one million dollars he would not approve these bills on the basis as suggested in this bill as amended, although he has paid these papers money at this same rate for other State advertising sent by other State Departments.

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has answered my question in rather a lengthy manner, but I think sufficiently to put this House on notice as to what this amendment means, and by his amendments he cuts out a feature which appeared in the general deficiency bill which was before this House last week, and which this House repudiated; but in place thereof he puts in another feature which is just as objectionable. He has admitted that this amendment if incorporated in this bill would tie the hands of the Auditor General. I say to you and to the members of this House, to incorporate such an amendment in this bill, would be perpetrating an outrage on the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; that there would be absolutely nothing that the Auditor General could do but pay the bills as presented in accordance with a fixed flat rate and that, Sir, should not be done. I ask the members of this House to vote down the amendment.

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I think probably the House does not thoroughly understand what the amendments are and I think the House ought to place the amendments in the bill and pass it on second reading. That would not involve any danger whatever, and then each and every member can have on his desk the bill as it then reads. He can then vote on final passage according to his own judgment. I, of course, would be very glad at the present time to discuss the matter. I do not agree with my friend from Philadelphia, but I feel that under the present conditions, the House probably, not having the amendments in front of them as I happen to have, realizing the gentleman from McKean was not able to furnish copies to all of the members do not understand the amendments. I assure the House that there is no danger whatever in amending the bill at the suggestion of my friend from McKean. And then the House, each and every member, can examine the matter to their heart's content, seek reference, seek information, and then deal with the subject intelligently. Now, that is the only reason why I think that at the present time, the gentleman from Philadelphia ought not to insist upon the defeat of these amendments.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, there is no element of doubt about this matter at all. The gentleman from McKean has very frankly stated the real purpose of this amendment. He has admitted that it does fix a fixed rate by which the Auditor General is bound to pay for advertisements in accordance with rates specified during the year 1913. Now that is the only question, and surely that is so plain that he who runs may read it, and if you are going to do that and incorporate that amendment in this bill you are going to go back of what the House did last week in repudiating just such actions.

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I see no reason why my friend from Philadelphia should not allow the amendment to go in the bill so that the members could all have it and fully acquaint themselves with the conditions.

But I do not agree with my friend from Philadelphia, when he wants to give the House the impression that if you place these amendments on the Calendar tonight that you are going to fix upon the State an unfair opportunity for either the newspapers or anybody else to collect a bill for what the State does not in justice owe. As I understand these amendments, I think it is absolutely fair. I have no evidence that our present Auditor-General has been in controversy with several of the departments and with several of our citizens to pay certain debts or pay certain bills. That disposition has been carried more largely toward certain newspapers in our State, as I understand the situation, than it has towards any others of our citizenship. It appears to me that the question of whether a newspaper should be allowed to collect on the basis of what other newspapers have been paid is a fair proposition. I do not think it is fair for any public official to decide on what some other branch of the government handed over to these newspapers certain work to be performed for him to exercise his individual judgment for the services rendered as to what the party was entitled to, and it is because our Auditor-General has seen fit to exercise that power that the newspapers justly have a right to complain that they have not been treated fairly, and there is nothing in this amendment that proposes to treat the State any differently from what the State has already through its Auditor-General recognized as being right to other newspapers. Now I hope the House will not defeat this amendment—at least I hope they will place it on the Calendar to-night, examine it themselves and then decide upon third reading whether it wants these amendments or whether the whole bill should be defeated, or whether it should pass as amended. Now I hope that the House will do that. There is nothing dangerous about it. My friend from Philadelphia is unduly alarmed. I do not think that he wants to be unfair to the people who have rendered services to our State. I know he does not want to be unfair, and it is only fair that you should approve these amendments and allow the bill to be printed so that we can thoroughly understand the proposition. There is no attempt to take from the State any moneys that are not justly due to our citizens in these amendments now before you.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, the course pursued by the owners of these accounts against the Commonwealth is certainly very unusual. The Auditor-General in making these settlements no doubt worked along the lines of his Constitutional rights to settle all accounts between the persons having claims against the Commonwealth and the Commonwealth. Parties having these claims have sixty days in which to appeal from the settlement to the Dauphin County Court; failing to make such appeal they now come to the Legislature and ask the Legislature to assume the duties and functions—

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Tioga.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Tioga permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WILLIAMS. When I am through, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SPEAKER. The gentleman from Tioga, Mr. Williams.

Mr. WILLIAMS. I intended to say, Mr. Speaker, that I believed that the Auditor-General in settling these accounts was working under his constitutional rights as an elective official of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and that the parties having these claims for newspaper printing against the State had sixty days in which to appeal from his decision to the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County; failing to do that, they ask the Legislature to assume the functions of the office of the Auditor-General and make these settlements without knowing in detail what these accounts are. Now it occurs to me that the course which should have been pursued by the owners of these accounts was to present a bill to this Legislature asking that they be given authority to bring suit against the Commonwealth for the amounts of their bills, and if such a bill were introduced I would support it, but I am not for this one.

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker: I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Tioga, Mr. Williams.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Tioga permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WILLIAMS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, did I understand the gentleman from Tioga that it was his impression that these parties or newspapers that had not been paid by the Auditor-General could proceed through the Courts to collect their bills? Is that the impression?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I said they had sixty days in which to appeal from the settlement by the Auditor-General to the Dauphin County Court.

Mr. BALDWIN. Could they have begun suits in the Dauphin County Court against the Auditor-General or against the State?

Mr. WILLIAMS. They could have appealed from his decision, from his settlement to the Dauphin County Court and the Courts could have passed upon his settlement.

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, my impression was that suit could not be brought against the State before this Legislature had given them that right.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman from Delaware had listened attentively to what I said he would have heard in my closing remarks that I favored the introduction of a bill authorizing these newspapers in question to bring suit against the Commonwealth for the amount of their bills and in this way get a judicial settlement of them.

Mr. HABGOOD. Mr. Speaker, I am very much surprised at the argument on these amendments. I am more surprised to hear my friend from Tioga say that the only way that he would favor the newspapers of this State, between two and three hundred of them, getting what is justly due them is that each one of them would be compelled to bring a separate suit against the State at an expense which would involve as much, perhaps, or more than the difference involved, as deducted from their bills, and they could not get any action from an appeal to the Dauphin County Court without they could sue the State in doing so. That would mean nearly three hundred bills to go from this House to the Senate, permitting these nearly three hundred newspapers to sue the State of Pennsylvania. That would mean three hundred suits, almost, to be brought by these newspapers at an individual expense to each one of them, which would be adding insult to injury and adding a hardship to the holding up of the money which has already been held up, some for three years.

Now, gentlemen, of the House, I would ask your kind indulgence for a short time until, if possible, I can lay this matter fully before you, and then I am perfectly willing to submit to your decision. The newspaper men of this State are not so anxious for this particular money or these particular dollars as they are to know whether the members of this House are willing to go on record instructing the Auditor-General to pay one hundred cents on the dollar for the services they have properly rendered the State for their advertising or whether they intend to allow him to cut them down to from forty to sixty cents on the dollar as he desires to do.

In the first place I wish to call your attention to this point: and that is this, that there is not just two or three newspapers involved in this proposition. It has been stated in a paper which has been libeling and slandering me and libeling and slandering every one of these newspapers which have had their bills cut down that there are only two or three or a few newspapers effected by this cut, including my own, and that paper, as you all now know, is the North American, and they have undertaken to libel and slander me and every one of these newspapers whose bills were cut on the proposition, as they would put it, that these newspapers were trying to mulct the State when they ask the same price which had been paid them by Auditor-General Young and Auditor-General Sisson and which has been paid them by Auditor-General Powell, if you please, for other advertising sent by other State Departments. Can there be any question, gentlemen, as to whether the Auditor-General now in that office has mulcted the State in paying these newspapers the same rate for other advertising which he has refused to pay for these Constitutional amendments. Now there is on this list—I do not want to tire you by reading it—but there are newspapers on this list from every County in the State. If I should read it you would find on there newspapers from your own county which you know very well, newspapers that you know would not under any circumstances ask for one dollar which was not due them and there are nearly three hundred of them whose bills have been cut down. And I want to say to you that the Secretary of the Commonwealth came into this House in 1913 and asked to have a bill limiting these papers to two in each county which should have the advertising of the Constitutional amendments and it was not even brought out of Committee. In other words, this House said to him that they wished him to go on as he had been advertising and place this newspaper advertising in the different counties, not less than two in each county. I wish I could go on and read this list in full to you and if I should do so I assure you you would find that every county in this State is represented in this list. These newspapers are from the different counties, newspapers from Tioga County and newspapers from Philadelphia County, some of them and I just want to call your attention to one thing, gentlemen, and that is this right now: in the report which the Secretary of the Commonwealth made to this House in 1913 there is in that list the following items: on account of the bills rendered and the advertising furnished for 1912; among the list of newspapers there was the Philadelphia North American for $1,560.00; and I also want to call your attention to the fact that in their publication of August, 1913, when they published a list of all the papers that were cut down, nearly three hundred of them, as shown in this clipping of the original publication, a clipping which is here, their name was not in that list because their bill was not cut down one dollar.

Now, gentlemen I submit to you as to whether it is right to cut down these newspapers all over the State, in these country places and in the smaller cities and towns and try to undertake to show that because this Auditor-General cuts down under what Auditor-General Young and Auditor-General Sisson paid them, and under what Auditor-General Powell has paid them himself for similar State advertising from other Departments, that because he has chosen to cut them down that, therefore, this House should not under any circumstances dare to tread near his guard so as to indicate what their wishes in this matter be as to what is just and fair. Why, gentlemen, the Court in this State has told him what he should do when he said he would not do it, and it has been necessary for the Courts to tell him in some instances what he was to do and they have done so. It is not out of the way for the members of this House who authorized these amendments to be put in not less than two newspapers in each county, for them to say that they, at least, want to be sure to tell the Auditor-General and State Treasurer that they want these bills paid for at the rate paid for in 1909, 1910 and 1911 by the previous Auditor-Generals or upon the rate which the present Auditor-General has paid these same newspapers for other advertising sent them by other State Departments.

Gentlemen, I submit to you if this is not a fair proposition and does not appeal to every fair-minded man, and you cannot help but think that there must be some misunderstanding, some mistake or some improper inspiration and some misconception of the real situation that would prompt the gentlemen to make the statements they do in regard to the fact that this House should not stand for what is fair and just in this matter.

Mr. Speaker, I want to call upon the gentlemen of this House to vote for these amendments as proposed and to ask that you will pass this bill on final passage when the time comes.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from McKean.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HABGOOD. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, for a point of information I desire to ask the gentleman what purpose the Auditor-General has in cutting down these particular bills; why he refuses to pay the newspapers the sums that were paid to newspapers on previous occasions.

Mr. HABGOOD. That is a question which I have tried, day in and day out—I have laid awake at night to try to fathom. I would not impugn any ulterior motives to the Auditor-General of this State. I do not know why he does not pay these bills, because he has paid other bills to these same papers during his own term, from other State Departments, advertising, that was at the same rate paid in 1909, 1910 and 1911. If any man can explain to me why he will not, I wish he would. I cannot understand it and I do not see how the members of this House can.

Two weeks ago to-morrow I went to his office and was with him for two hours, and I urged him to agree upon some basis of settlement upon which he would settle these bills, as paid in 1909, 1910 and 1911, and as paid by him for other advertising, and he declined to do so. Now, what are we going to do and what are the members of this House going to do in the presence of a situation of this kind. Are we going to say that the Auditor-General shall pay these rates for other advertising and be permitted to cut this down as he chooses, and settle at forty, or fifty or sixty cents on the dollar, or put themselves in the position of saying to these almost three hundred newspapers of every County of this State that they are not in favor of them having their just pay.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from McKean.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. HABGOOD. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman whether he has ever asked the Auditor-General for a reason for his refusal to pay these bills as they have been paid heretofore?

Mr. HABGOOD. Mr. Speaker, I have asked him for a reason every time I have talked with him, and that has been numerous times in the past three years. I wish to say here that while the "Star Record" of Bradford, publishes this advertisement this year,—yet I am not talking now for the "Star Record" of Bradford, as I told the Auditor-General, but for all these newspapers throughout the State involved in the fullest sense. I have asked the Auditor-General why he has cut them down and he has simply said this: that he cut them down because he said, in the first place, he did not have the money, and I have a letter here under date of September 29th, 1913, in which he writes as follows: "I do not see how we can pay you in full, when there are no funds available for that purpose," and this is his personal signature.

Now, gentleman, I submit to you that there is at this time, as shown by his statement, a copy of which I have here, given to the Chairman of the Appropriation Committee of the House, eighteen thousand dollars almost in that fund for 1912, when he would have the newspapers believe the reason he cut them down was because he did not have the funds to pay any more. And now I want you also to notice how he worded this. He said: "I do not see how we can pay you in full when there are no more funds available for the purpose." Of course the newspaper men understood that he meant by that that there were no more funds available, but he meant them to believe that he could not pay any more when there were no more funds available.

Now, gentlemen, you can see exactly this proposition. How can we get at this proposition any other way. We could not sue the State unless you pass nearly three hundred bills through here permitting the newspapers to do it, and I ask you in the name of common justice to vote to-night to put in these amendments to pay them on the rates as paid by him, by Auditor-General Sisson and Auditor-General Young.

Mr. ROWELL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HABGOOD. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. ROWELL. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the question, if there would be any difference in the rate at that time and the rate today, if that matter was put before you and you were asked for a rate for the publication of that matter?

Mr. HABGOOD. Do you mean my particular rate, as far as my paper is concerned?

Mr. ROWELL. Yes. Would there be any difference between your previous rate and the rate you would contract for today?

Mr. HABGOOD. Not one cent difference. The newspapers put in their bills on the same basis they were paid by Auditor Generals Young and Sisson, and they had a right to make a report to their Banks and everybody else interested that this was a bill collectible for 1912 on that basis, and their only creditor who tried to settle with them for forty cents on the dollar, and tried to do so for three years, and now asks you to go along with him, is the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. HENRY I. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from McKean.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HABGOOD. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. HENRY I. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman that in case this bill passes in its original form, carrying with it forty-six thousand dollars, or about that, would that be sufficient to pay the bills of the newspapers that are intended to be paid by this bill?

Mr. HABGOOD. Mr. Speaker, in answer to that I would quote you the Auditor-General's own statement as submitted to the Chairman or the Appropriation Committee, Mr. Woodward, at his request, dated February 1st 1915, in which it is shown that $146,040.80 would cover fully the deficiency as adjusted on this basis for 1912, 1913 and 1914. And now, Mr. Speaker, and the gentleman from Jefferson and the members of the House, I want also to call your attention to this fact that two years ago this Legislature appropriated $170,000.00 for a deficiency on this proposition for one year and this is asking for $146,000.00 for three years. It is not unusual. It is not large. It is $24,000.00 smaller than was appropriated two years ago for the same purpose, when no question was raised on the rates of the previous year.

I might say further than that, if I would be permitted, that the gentleman from Philadelphia—I think it was Mr. Bleloch, and also the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Scott—at that time said that if the bills rendered for 1912 were two and two-thirds times more than those rendered for 1911, which was the difference in the size of the advertisement for 1911 and 1912, that when they would be rendered just and fair, and that is exactly what this amendment asks for and what this amendment says, that they should be paid upon the basis of 1909, 1910 and 1911.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. SPEAKER, I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from McKean. I desire to ask the gentleman, if at the time these amendments were submitted to the different newspapers of this State, whether any official having authority to do so, made any contract as to rates with the particular newspapers?

Mr. HABGOOD. They did not, Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the House, as far as I know. They did say this in their order; that these advertisements were sent and that the bills for the same would be paid by an appropriation to be made in the session of 1913, as had been done for years, as was done in 1910, as was done in 1908, as was done in 1906, and so on back. And there never has been this question raised before; not one single minute. They have been paid on the price of the previous years

Mr. HENRY I. WILSON. Now, Mr. Speaker, we have before us the question of whether we shall assume the responsibility of directing the Auditor-General as to what he shall do in a particular case, or any set of cases. From the information that has been derived here this evening; it would appear that the first excuse that was offered was insufficiency of funds. It would appear that the particular bill before us in its original shape will provide these funds. Now, then if there was no contract made by the Secretary of the Commonwealth with these different papers or the editors or managers of these papers, very naturally they would be entitled to submit their bills and it would be right for the State to pass upon them if they were fair and right, and they should be paid, in the absence of a particular contract to bind them down to a certain amount.

It is early in the session and it might only be fair to all that are concerned that this be given a little more consideration and that some few of us be given an opportunity to talk with the Auditor-General to see in what position he means to place the newspapers of this State and the members of this House particularly when they are considering amendments of this kind. Now, to bring this to a close for this evening, I understand that no consideration was given to the amending of this bill before the committee. No doubt the gentlemen of the committee may object to this motion, but I believe before we go against the amendment, or before we sustain the amendment, that we ought to be given a little better chance to find out about what is the proper thing to do. If the bills are just they should be paid. At first blush it would seem they are just, but on the other hand the only excuse offered that they were not paid is because there were insufficient funds to pay them.

Now we are about to provide these funds and I, for one, would hesitate to send binding instructions along with the specific amount, that being the only thing in dispute; so I move you, Mr. Speaker, that this bill be re-committed to the Committee on Appropriations, together with the suggested amendments.

Mr SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. HABGOOD. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. HABGOOD. The question before the House now is, will the House agree to this amendment?

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, a motion to re-commit precludes action on the question before the House.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. BALDWIN. An amendment is under consideration until the amendment is disposed of.

The SPEAKER. The Chair understands that the motion of the gentleman from Jefferson included the amendments.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I press my point of order, that the motion to re-commit precludes any other action, and it is now the only business properly before the House.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. Speaker, I see no reason for re-committing this bill to the Committee on Appropriations. It provides sufficient funds to cover the amount that the Auditor General says is contained in the various bills rendered covering this subject. We simply want to provide the funds, and if there is any question about the settlement, the funds are there and it is up to the Auditor-General to decide whether or not these bills should be paid.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I ask that the amendments be read.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The Clerk then read the amendments as follows:

Line 6 and line 7: On line 6 after the word incurred, strike out the words "as shown by the," and on line 7, strike out the words "bills rendered."

Line 10: After the word "twelve" and the following: "which expense for these three fiscal years shall be adjusted and paid as follows; In the case of newspapers that published any other State advertising ordered by any State Department since June first one thousand nine hundred and thirteen at the same rate that this Commonwealth approved and paid for such State advertising; In the case of newspapers which published no other State advertising ordered by any State Department since June first one thousand nine hundred and thirteen at the rate they were respectively paid for the Constitutional amendments published in any of the following years, 1909, 1910 and 1911 and the Auditor-General is hereby directed to certify and the State Treasurer to pay the same within twenty days after the passage of this act"

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I am afraid the House does not understand this amendment. I want to call attention to the fact that in regard to the words that we are amending to strike out of this bill, many members of the House are under the impression that this amendment requires the Attorney-General to pay on the basis of bills rendered. That portion that you are voting on now strikes this out and you are simply appropriating forty-six thousand dollars to be used to pay these bills on the basis that bills of a similar character have been paid. If there is not enough in this forty-six thousand dollar appropriation there will have to be some more appropriated, and if there is more than enough the balance reverts to the Treasury. The amendment only asks the House to endorse the proposition that the Auditor-General pay on the basis established by himself and by his three predecessors not a dollar more or a dollar less, and if on that basis it amounts to less than the money contained in this amendment the balance will revert to the Treasury. There is absolutely no danger in voting on this amendment and when the bill gets on the Calendar on third reading you can all refuse to vote on it then.

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman whether or not, if this amendment be incorporated, does it not fix a rate back of which the Auditor-General cannot go and makes it imperative upon him to pay in accordance with a fixed rate irrespective of whether or not the bills rendered are fair and just.

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I thought I had made it plain, and especially did I think that it was unnecessary to explain to my friend beyond what I have already said.

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I asked the gentleman to answer my question.

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I have the floor at the present time.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware has the floor.

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I tried to impress upon the House the fact that we are only asking in this amendment that the newspapers of this State be paid on the basis that they have not been denied by either the present Auditor-General or the two preceding Auditor-Generals.

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to further interrogate the gentleman from Delaware.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Baldwin, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like the gentleman from Delaware to answer my question.

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman from Philadelphia wants to answer the question in his own way, I will give him the liberty to do so, otherwise I wish to pursue my own methods of answering. If it is not satisfactory to the House, I suppose the House will act accordingly. I am really talking to the members of the House and not entirely for the benefit of the gentleman from Philadelphia. I say that this amendment only insists that the Auditor-General pay bills similar to the bills previously paid on identically the same basis and if it is not fair then this House ought to vote "No." If it is fair, then this House ought to vote "Aye." I think it is fair and I shall vote "Aye" on this amendment and then later on, upon very careful investigation after the whole matter is printed and I can read it thoroughly, I shall read it carefully and I will then decide whether I will vote "Aye" on final passage. By placing this amendment in there, does not mean that you will guarantee to support it if you find upon inquiry that there is a mistake or a misunderstanding insofar as you may individually look upon the subject. There is no danger in it at all.

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to further interrogate the gentleman from Delaware.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Baldwin, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know whether or not his answer does not mean that it does establish a rate back of which the Auditor-General cannot go?

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, absolutely not. He is required to pay on the basis that he, himself, and the two preceding Auditor-Generals established and back of that he should not go. The newspaper should be paid for that service and that is all this amendment is for.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Habgood and Mr. Baldwin, and were as follows:

REASONS FOR NOT VOTING.

Mr. HABGOOD. Mr. Speaker, I desire to say that because of an interest in this bill together with three hundred other papers, I have declined to vote on this matter.

The SPEAKER. The reason will be noted on the record.

Mr. WILLIAM W. JONES. Mr. Speaker, on account of being an interested party in the bill, I do not want to be recorded as having voted.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. William W. Jones, will not be recorded as having voted.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the Section as amended?

It was agreed to.

The title of the bill was read as follows:

An Act making an appropriation for the payment of the expense of publication of amendments to the Constitution for the three years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and twelve

On the question,

Will the House agree to the title?

Mr. HABGOOD. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The amendment was read as follows:

After the word "twelve" which is the last word of the title, add the following: "And directing the Auditor-General and the State Treasurer to cause the same to be paid"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to, as amended,

SENATE MESSAGE.

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

In the Senate, February 15th, 1915.

Whereas, The great industrial Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has suffered more than any other State in the Union because of the present tariff; and

Whereas, Under its operation our important steel plants, our textile mills and other industries have been operating only about one half capacity; and

Whereas, The army of unemployed in our cities and towns has brought continued distress through inability to obtain proper food, raiment and shelter; and

Whereas, We believe present conditions will become worse instead of better at the close of the war, it is therefore

Resolved (If the House of Representatives concur), That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania, now in session, do request the Congress of the United States to repeal the present tariff law and replace it by a law giving adequate protection to our labor and industries, and, under normal conditions, sufficient revenue to warrant the repeal of the present unjust and uncalled for special methods of taxation now in operation.

The SPEAKER. Under the rules the resolution will lie over for printing.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate which was read as follows:

TIME OF NEXT MEETING.

In the Senate, February 15th, 1915.

Resolved (If the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it shall be to meet on Monday evening, March 1st, at 9.30 o'clock, and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it shall be to meet on Monday evening, March 1st, at 9.30 o'clock.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk notify the Senate accordingly.

BILL INTRODUCED.

Mr. HABGOOD asked and obtained unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time and have the same read for information.

The Clerk read the bill as follows:

An Act relating to publication of notice required by the Constitution and Laws of Pennsylvania in newspapers of said Commonwealth.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker do I understand this bill was now given first reading?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman does not so understand. It was simply read for information and in due time will be referred to Committee the same as any other bill.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE.

Mr. GIBSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to report a bill at this time.

Mr. GIBSON, from the Committee on Counties and Townships, reported as committed, House Bill No. 176, entitled:

An Act requiring county commissioners in certain counties to provide quarters in the county buildings for the official county association of physicians and surgeons.

ADDRESS BY EX-SPEAKER ALTER.

The SPEAKER: We are highly honored to-night by having with us the Speaker of the last House of Representatives, the Hon. George E. Alter, whom I have the pleasure of introducing to you.

Ex-SPEAKER ALTER. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, it is very kind of you and it seems like old times for me to be in this stand. I have had some pleasant hours at this desk and som eanxious moments. (Laughter.) Upon the whole, I enjoyed it greatly. I would like first-rate to have a second reading calendar of about ten pages. That was the best exercise I ever got.

I am pround to have had the honor of occupying this Chair and proud to have had the honor of occupying it in the Session of 1913. It may never be said that I was a real Speaker, but it can never be denied that I was the Speaker of a real House. (Applause.) It showed its good judgment on the day it organized (laughter) and it continued to maintain a fair average to the day of its adjournment.

I shall not occupy your time to any extent because I know that the members of the House do not like to be interrupted in the course of their business and have their attention taken away from the diligence that is given to their calendars. I have no advice to give other than this, perhaps, that from my experience I would advise the House to conserve its time as far as possible because three months from now this room will be one of the hottest places this side of the tropics; and further than this I shall not detain you except to wish the best of luck to each member of this House and particularly to my old friend who occupies this Chair.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I move you that the remarks of our Ex-Speaker, Hon. George E. Alter, be spread on the Journal of the House.

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was unanimously agreed to.

RESOLUTION REQUESTING THE CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES TO REPEAL THE PRESENT TARIFF LAW.

He also presented communication from the House of Representatives informing the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows:

In the Senate, February 15, 1915.

Whereas, The great industrial Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has suffered more than any other State in the Union because of the present tariff; and

Whereas, Under its operation our important steel plants, our textile mills and other industries have been operating only about one-half capacity; and

Whereas, The army of unemployed in our cities and towns has brought continued distress through inability to obtain proper food raiment and shelter; and

Whereas, We believe present conditions will become worse instead of better at the close of the war, it is therefore

Resolved (If the House of Representatives concur), That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania, now in session, do request the Congress of the United States to repeal the present tariff law and replace it by a law giving adequate protection to our labor and industries, and, under normal conditions, sufficient revenue to warrant the repeal of the present unjust and uncalled for special methods of taxation now in operation.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. F. W. Staley, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, we thank Thee for the rest we have had during the past night and for the light of this beautiful morning. We enter upon the duties of this day in Thy name and for the sake of the people within this great State. We thank Thee that we can come to Thee for help; we need Thy help in our thinking; we need Thy help that we may do that which is right; we need Thy help to keep from doing that which is wrong, and we pray Thee that "Thy Kingdom may come and Thy will may be done on earth as it is done in Heaven. Give us this day our daily bread and forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us, and lead us not into temptation but deliver us from evil for Thine is the kingdom and the power and the glory, for ever and ever. Amen."

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order.

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 66, as follows:

An Act making a deficiency appropriation to the trustees of Temple University

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000.00) is hereby specifically appropriated to the trustees of Temple University for the erection of a building for the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and the Teachers' College being the amount appropriated to said trustees by act approved the twenty-fifth day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirteen entitled "An Act making an appropriation to the trustees of Temple University" but which amount through inadvertence on the part of said trustees was not paid but reverted to the State Treasury

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, just a word of explanation in reference to this bill.

At the session of 1913 there was passed and approved by the Governor an appropriation bill carrying with it $25,000 for the purpose of the erection of a building for the College of Libery Arts and Sciences and the Teachers' College, at Temple University, Philadelphia. Through some inadvertence, the Trustees failed to take this money from the State Treasury and it thereby reverted to the Commonwealth within the time allowed by law.

The purpose of this bill is merely to re-appropriate that $25,000 which they failed to take by reason of that oversight.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS.—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order.

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 206, as follows:

An Act making an appropriation for the payment of the expense of publication of amendments to the Constitution for the three years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and twelve and directing the Auditor-General and the State Treasurer to cause the same to be paid.

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and its is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the additional sum of forty-six thousand and forty dollars and eighty cents ($46,040.80) is hereby specifically appropriated for the payment of the expenses already incurred for the publication in the various newspapers of this Commonwealth of the several amendments to the Constitution of this Commonwealth for the three fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and twelve which expense for these three fiscal years shall be adjusted and paid as follows In the case of newspapers that published any other State advertising ordered by any state department since June first one thousand nine hundred and thirteen at the same rate that this Commonwealth approved and paid for such state advertising In the case of newspapers which published no other state advertising ordered by any state department since June first one thousand nine hundred and thirteen at the rate they were respectively paid for the Constitutional amendments published in any of the following years one thousand nine hundred and nine one thousand nine hundred and ten and one thousand nine hundred and eleven and the Auditor-General is hereby directed to certify and the State Treasurer to pay the same within twenty days after the passage of this act

And the said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I regret exceedingly that any additional time of the House should be taken up on this matter, and yet I feel it imperative that at least my position on this bill be made clear and stated as distinctly as I am able to state it. If this were the ordinary appropriation bill appropriating forty-six thousand dollars or thereabouts for the purposes specified in the bill, I would have no objection to it, but would support it, but the thing that constrains me from supporting it is the amendment which was voted into the bill during the session of last evening. If the members will turn to the bill on File Folio 187, they will find that the original bill contained the phraseology that this money was specifically appropriated for the payment of expenses already incurred as shown by bills rendered. The amendment struck out the words "as shown by bills rendered", and added the following:

"Which expense for these three fiscal years shall be adjusted and paid as follows In the case of newspapers that published any other State advertising ordered by any state department since June first one thousand nine hundred and thirteen at the same rate that this Commonwealth approved and paid for such state advertising In the case of newspapers which published no other state advertising ordered by any state department since June first one thousand nine hundred and thirteen at the rate they were respectively paid for the Constitutional amendments published in any of the following years one thousand nine hundred and nine one thousand nine hundred and ten and one thousand nine hundred and eleven and the Auditor-General is hereby directed to certify and the State Treasurer to pay the same within twenty days after the passage of this act

The language which was stricken out by the amendment appeared in that section of the General Deficiency bill which appropriated one hundred thousand dollars for this same specific purpose and which this House repudiated, passing that item with that language stricken out, but I fail to see upon an examination of the amendment as now in the bill the difference between that language and the language of the amendment inserted. The amendment inserted fixes a flat rate to my mind by which the Auditor-General is directed, irrespective as to the fairness and honesty of the claims presented, to pay those bills in just the same way as if the language were left as it originally was "As per bills rendered."

Now, Mr. Speaker, I would be the last man in this House to object to the payment of any bill which is just and fair. I have no objection to any claim which may be presented to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for services rendered, just so long as that claim is proper and just. I took the trouble this morning of going to the Auditor-General's office to ascertain what the real reason for the refusal of the Auditor-General to pay these bills for the advertising of Constitutional Amendments was. I there received the information that there was no objection to the payment for services rendered and for the advertisement provided that the bills which would be rendered for that advertisement were fair, honest and just, and compared favorably with like advertising in other papers in this Commonwealth. I am merely going to call the attention of the House to what these bills are, bearing in mind that the Constitutional Amendment which is authorized by the Secretary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to be advertised in the newspapers of this State, is the same, in the number of words, and the same in the amount of space which is taken up by it in each and every newspaper, and the Constitutional Amendment can only be advertised, I take it, in only one way, and that is the same way in every newspaper which takes that advertising and inserts it in its columns.

Now, when we come to the business end of this proposition we are confronted with the thought of what is a reasonable and fair basis for the payment of advertising of this kind, and in order that we might arrive at a proper conclusion I take it, sir, that one of the necessary and essential features that must be taken into consideration is the circulation of the newspaper in which the advertisement is inserted. Now, the gentleman from McKean County has frankly stated to the members of this House that he is either the owner or manager of the paper published in McKean County, known as the "Bradford Star-Record." Am I correct, Mr. Habgood?

Mr. HABGOOD. Do you wish to interrogate me?

Mr. W. H. WILSON. No. Mr. Speaker, that newspaper has a circulation, I am informed of fifty-two hundred. There was charged by that newspaper for the advertisement in question seventeen and one-half cents a line, and for the advertisement in question the total sum of dollars eleven hundred and fourteen dollars and seventy-five cents. Now, I merely want to call the attention of the House to the amount of that bill, as compared with the bills rendered for precisely the same advertisement by other large newspapers in the State. In Allegheny County "The Pittsburgh Press," which has a circulation of one hundred and twenty-five thousand three hundred and eighty-five presented a bill for the same kind of advertising, amounting to $1,378.00. In Berks County the "Reading Eagle," which has the largest circulation of any paper issued in Reading, 21,670, presented a bill for the same advertising for $296.80. In Erie, the newspaper of largest circulation there, is the "Erie Times," having a circulation of 23,400, and presented a bill for the same advertising amounting to $1,060.00. In Lackawanna County, the Scranton "Scrantonian," having a circulation of 26,670, presented bills for the same advertising, amounting to $689.00. In Luzerne County, the "Wilkes-Barre Record," which has a circulation of 15,500, charged for the same advertising $1,378.00. In Philadelphia, the Philadelphia "Inquirer," having a circulation of 196,202, charged for the same advertising $1,693.00; the "North American," having a circulation of 196,254, charged $1,638.00; the Philadelphia "Record," having a circulation of 176,766, charged for the same advertising, $1,548.75. A mere casual glance will show the comparison between the cost of advertising, as per bills rendered, in the largest newspapers from one end of the State to the other, to be out of all proportion to the bills presented from McKean County, of nearly eleven hundred and some odd dollars. Now, the only position that the Auditor-General takes is that it would be unfair to ask the State Treasurer to pay, advertising being largely based upon the number of circulation, bills which are so out of proportion to those rendered by other newspapers in the State. He has no objection to what is right and fair. He is willing and I am informed attempted to get the other newspapers whose bills were in question to pare down their bills so as to come within reason with the assurance that as soon as that was done and the money appropriated no objection to the payment of these bills would be raised.

Now, the purpose of this bill is to deprive the Auditor-General of the very power which is vested in him, to wit, the auditing of bills presented against this Commonwealth. If you pass a bill such as this, in the shape this is in, you are saying to the people of Pennsylvania that it makes no difference to us whether we have an Auditor-General, whose duty it is to scan the bills as presented, to pass upon their fairness and reasonableness, but you are saying to the people of Pennsylvania that irrespective of what the amount of that bill is, irrespective of its fairness and reasonableness, that it must be paid in accordance with a certain fixed rate. Now, in doing that, to my mind, you are depriving the Auditor-General, by legislation, of the rights which the Constitution gives him, of auditing the accounts. You are taking away from him the powers vested in him by his office.

Irrespective of what kind or character or description the bill is all that is necessary is to present it to the Auditor-General, forsooth, by reason of the provisions of this bill he must O. K. it and pass it on to the State Treasurer for payment. I have no interest one way or the other in this matter; it is absolutely nothing personal to me but I do feel, in justice to myself, and I feel that every other member of this House in justice to himself and to this House, before he votes on such a proposition as this he should consider, as I have said before, if this is simply an appropriation bill for forty-six thousand dollars and whether these bills are proper and whatsoever, if there is any, what the objection to them may be, but when you do pass the bill to make such an appropriation and then put the rope around its neck so that you cannot swerve from the right or to the left and that your hands are tied absolutely and bound, then my conscience dictates to me that I am obliged to vote against this bill.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. LIPSCHUTZ. Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Lipschutz.

Mr. LIPSCHUTZ. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. LIPSCHUTZ. Mr. Speaker, my point of order, in the first place is: That this act is unconstitutional as the title does not give sufficient notice as to that which is covered by the act itself. In a general appropriation bill it permits more than one title. The title can be covered by many subjects. In this bill the amendment brings up a separate and distinct subject not covered by the title and this being in a general appropriation bill the act is unconstitutional.

The SPEAKER. Under the rules, the gentleman has the right to submit a constitutional point of order to the House. Shall the point of order be sustained by the House?

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I certainly don't agree with the gentleman who thinks that the act is unconstitutional. This House has the power to direct any of its public officials in their action. This bill does nothing more than that. If the directions in this bill are unwise the House can vote the bill down. There is no doubt at all but what this body has the right to direct any of the public officials. This is one of the duties of a department in the management of the affairs of the State. In the absence of legislation, that official has a wide latitude but in many of the affairs of our different departments in this State the Legislature has in its wisdom not given them any latitude in specific cases. Here is one of those specific cases where the House has opportunity, if it thinks it wise, to direct that a public official shall do this or do so. I certainly don't agree with the gentleman that we are exceeding our constitutional rights in directing a public official to do a certain thing.

Mr. LIPSCHUTZ. Mr. Speaker, I ask your indulgence in order that I may read an opinion from Pennsylvania State Reports No. 161, page 586, by Justice Mitchell, May 21st, 1894:

"It is uncontroverted therefore that the legislature could do the substantial thing, and the only question is whether it could do it in the present form. In general, it will not be disputed that the legislature is the exclusive judge of the form in which its enactments shall be put, and its mandate in that respect cannot be questioned unless it transgresses a plain prohibition in the constitution. The only provision invoked here is section 15 of article 3, 'the general appropriation bill shall embrace nothing, but appropriations for the ordinary expenses of the executive, legislative and judicial departments of the Commonwealth,' etc."

Quoting further from Pennsylvania State Reports No. 58, page 233:

"It further objects that the act in question is contrary to the 8th section of the first amendment of 1857: 'No bill shall be passed by the legislature containing more than one subject, which shall be clearly expressed in the title, except appropriation bills.' The ground assigned by the Commonwealth, is that the title of the act does not indicate many of its provisions. The title is 'An Act to establish criminal courts for Dauphin, Lebanon and Schuylkill Counties.' There was necessarily included in the act provisions for the appointment and election of the judge as to who should act as clerk and how and by whom the grand and common jurors should be chosen and summoned. The people, in this amendment, never intended that the title of an act should be a complete index to its contents. It may be that the amendment is only directory, and even if otherwise, only that part of the law is void which is not referred to in the title; for both which positions respectable authorities in other States, where they have a similar constitutional provision, might be cited. It is not necessary to decide these questions. There is nothing in the act which is not embraced in the title, which does not relate and is not cognate to the establishment of a criminal court in the counties named."

Ordinarily the title to the bill shall state but one subject, but it makes an exception where there are appropriation bills. Now what was done in this case? How cleverly the intention of the Legislature is covered over in that title to the act? It does not give us a scintilla of evidence of what goes into the amendment. I therefore state, sir, that in this bill that is now before the House it deprives the Auditor-eneral of his discretionary rights and this House has no right to do that and to say that he is no longer expected or it is not contemplated that we should exercise that right.

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia made one of the best arguments that could be made for this very proposition rather than proving it as unconstitutional. He calls the House's attention to the fact that the judges states that the bill should be clear and direct as far as possible as to what a public officials shall do. Why, this amendment to this bill goes so far as to direct when it shall be paid. It clarifies the whole proposition—the amendment does. The case that my friend cites refers to an entirely different matter. The discussion of whether certain appropriations can be placed in the general appropriation bill and the reason why, given by the court, that certain bills should not be placed in the appropriation bill is here brought out. In the wisdom of the framers of the constitution were any such a provision placed under the constitution the general appropriation bill might have any matters thrust into it and the House would not know what it was voting on. This particular bill more clearly defines the intent of the Legislature, should they vote for it in this form, than any of the pending appropriation bills. It clarifies the situation and it makes plainer the intention of the Legislature. My friend would certainly not hold that the Legislature has not again and again and again by statute almost invariably where an office calling for a salary of over three thousand dollars stated the amount of money that might be paid for this particular service and this bill follows in that very line—that we are directing that for certain specific services rendered a certain sum of money shall be available and authorized. There is a reason why this bill differs from bills that are ordinarily passed in the House, and in my twelve years of experience I don't remember of an instance where we have specified as we have in this. There is a reason why and it was in the minds of some of the members of this House that we would particularize with this particular case and there must have been a reason or it would not have been done. What was the reason? Every member of this House knows what the reason was; because we have an Auditor-General who has acted differently from any other Auditor-General in the payment of certain expenses incurred. This House knows and the State knows that this Auditor-General has exercised, to a larger extent than any other Auditor-General, his own sweet will as to when he will pay a bill and that is why this is placed in the bill. I think most of the members of the House believe that that Auditor-General has gone too far in exercising his own judgment as to when he will pay a bill.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order. Is not the sole and only question before the House now the constitutional point of order raised by the gentleman from Philadelphia as to the constitutionality of this bill.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken. The only question before the House is the constitutional point of order raised by the gentleman from Philadelphia.

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I don't think that that point ought to be sustained on the question of whether it is constitutional. I have to some extent endeavored to clarify it by giving the reason for its being here; they are all legitimate reasons. The constitution intended that this Legislature should exercise all the powers it was entitled to. However, I am perfectly satisfied to allow it to go to a vote and then go back to the question before the House.

The SPEAKER. The question before the House is will the House sustain the constitutional point of order raised by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Lipschutz.

The point of order was not sustained.

Mr. HABGOOD. Mr. Speaker, I am very sorry that it is necessary to take up the time of the House with remarks on this bill, but it seems to me now that there is an effort to try to bring about the passage of this amendment which was formerly overwhelmingly defeated and my second reason is the making of a personal attack upon only one newspaper involved in this bill and one person connected with that newspaper through a constitutional point of order. Every vote so far has been in favor of the bill as it is. Now, Mr. Speaker, if I may be permitted to be so immodest as to say that I don't like to have my friend Mr. Wilson, from Philadelphia, go on the floor of this House, and wish to say that I don't believe he means it when he says such words as "fair," "honest," etc. and just what is a reasonable and fair basis—I don't believe that he means to say to the members of this House and to the Speaker that be believes that in the particular bill which he cites and the only bill which he cites that there is some opposition to those standards which he is talking about. I cannot believe that the gentleman means such a thing. There is one or two points to which I want to call the attention of this House, Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the House, in this connection and I am perfectly willing to admit and believe that I think my friend, the gentleman from Philadelphia, is laboring under a misapprehension of what he undertakes to say to the House characterized by him as not "just" and not "honest" etc.

This is the point, one of them, which I wish to call to your attention that it was not only this particular bill of the Bradford Star Record, which is the correct name of the paper, which was cut, but three hundred papers as well as that paper throughout the State, and therefore it would seem to imply that the reason that these papers were all cut was because their bills were unfair, unjust and unreasonable, which I know he does not want you to believe, and which I do not believe the Auditor-General wants you to believe, and which I am sure the newspapers would not for one minute have you believe. Now, gentlemen, the situation is this with regard to the large papers and the smaller papers. When a large paper makes a rate per line it makes it on the basis of an agate line, and a agate line is the smallest type that can possibly be manufactured, and there is not a line of it in any newspaper office so far as I know outside of the very largest. There are fifteen agate lines to an inch and I submit to you that the newspapers have fixed their rates—there is only one paper which he cites and tries to pick out as being unfair, unjust and dishonest—are based on the basis of a minion line which is only nine lines to the inch. You take the rate charged by the large papers and multiply by twenty-five, if that is the rate by fourteen or fifteen lines to the inch and then take the smaller paper which can only get nine lines into the inch and multiply that by seventeen, and you will find out that there is not one of us attempting to collect the rates which you seem to have authorized, that it takes over double the space on that basis than it does on the other.

Now, gentlemen, there is nothing about this that needs to be put under cover; there is nothing that needs to be done in a private office away from everybody else. Let us understand the real truth of the matter. Would any man in this House say that the State of Pennsylvania should pay to the newspapers of this State the same rate that you pay to advertise for a hired girl in your home, or a house for sale or rent? That is one class of advertising, and there are many classes of advertising, yet the Auditor-General has asked many of these newspapers to take less than any one would pay for cash in advance for a "want Ad" per line.

Now, gentlemen, here is the situation. Take for instance, the theatres in your district. They are on the same basis, practically that the State is on, except that the State has a different attitude toward the paper than the theatre has, and see what the attitude of the theatre is in that particular. Every theatre, so far as I know, at least in our paper, pays us forty cents, and why? Because it pays for comparatively little of what it gets, and what it gets it is only too glad to pay for that. And we give them many "readers" of a semi-news character in this particular, and they are courteous enough and kind enough to come back to us with eight season tickets, and their tickets are for seats in the same place for all performances. And this is not only the case of the one paper I know but all papers. And now, gentlemen, the State of Pennsylvania, has sent to my paper and to all the papers throughout this State every day from one to five to seven bulletins for the daily service from the Health Department, from the Dairy and Food Department, of the Foot and Mouth Disease of the State Veterinary Department, from the Forestry Department, and so on—from the Auditor-General's Department, if you please, Gentlemen of the House, and the Auditor-General has sent to my paper and to other papers in this State a statement within the last six months that took over three columns and a half and it was printed there for the good of the State and for the good of his Department. When he desires to state something for the benefit and information of this State the newspapers print it and then practically the only time that the State of Pennsylvania can pay for it then instead of reciprocating, instead of in any sense having any consideration for the newspapers, it assumes this attitude; "print everything free you can for us, and we will put you down to the pound of flesh, to the lowest possible basis we can figure on, and make you come in with the pound of flesh. Now, gentlemen, there are some things that should be considered in all fairness and in all justice. Let me call your attention here to another point. The consignments to this very paper which the gentleman sees fit to hold up singly and alone to seeming ridicule, to the insinuation at least, that it is dishonest and unfair, are two consignments from the State Treasurer as approved by the Auditor-General to this same paper, the Bradford Star Record. The first one in August, 1913 and one in July, 1914 for the very same rate that is charged in the constitutional amendment advertising for advertisements for the State of Pennsylvania. Now, gentlemen, I submit to you in all fairness to consider this as a question of common justice and common honesty. Did the Auditor-General rob or mulct the State when he paid those advertising bills? Why, certainly not. Did Auditor-General Young and Auditor-General Sisson rob and mulct the State when they approved those rates which these amendments call for either on this basis or the other basis or the basis paid three years ago, either one of the three? I have here a letter which I received permission by telegraph to use to-day, gentlemen, as I wired for it and as I would not use it without his permission—a personal letter which was written to me under date of December 11, 1913, and it is from a judge from one of the interior counties of the State and any of the members of the House or the Honorable Speaker who desires to see this letter can see it if they come to my desk, and it read as follows." In re the interview with State Treasurer Young"— This is the gentleman who passed these bills before on the basis which we want to put in here as the basis for settling these bills, and which you voted for overwhelmingly last night, and we ask you to stand by it to-day—"and stated that he had advised the Auditor-General in the beginning of last year that he was wrong, and gave him his views at the time,"—with regard to his position concerning this constitutional amendment advertising—"They were not well taken by Mr. Powell and Mr. Young. I made up my mind then never to mention the amendments to him again unless he first mentioned it to me. I thought at the time that he was wrong, and I think so yet." Gentlemen I appeal to you and to your kind intentions, and I ask you to support this bill on final passage as you did yesterday, in all common fairness to your papers.

Mr. CROMER. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, a great many of the gentlemen on this side of the House are becoming wearied by this prolonged discussion. We have remained quietly in our seats and listened to these gentlemen who have so ably, eloquently and impressively discussed this measure pro and con. We think we understand it thoroughly. We want to vote on it in a few minutes.

Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

The SPEAKER. The required number does not second the motion.

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I want to take up but a minute more of the time of the House. I listened attentively to the argument advanced by the gentleman from McKean and as near as I can make out it consists practically of one thing, that two wrongs make a right. He seemed to argue to the House that because bills of this character were o. k.'d by the previous Auditor-General that there should be no question raised as to the phraseology of this bill at this time. If this bill is defeated there is no harm done to the gentleman from McKean or anybody else having any claim of this character against the Commonwealth. They had, under the law, sixty days in which to appeal from the decision of the Auditor-General in refusing to pay these bills as rendered. Not availing themselves of that is no fault of this House, but as was said by the gentleman from Tioga last evening, when this matter was under discussion, and even now they do not come in with a bill and ask this House to give them the privilege to bring suit against the Commonwealth for these bills. I do not know what bills have been paid by the Auditor-General or what have been declined except I know this from the information obtained by me this morning, that a large number of the newspapers of this State, when their attention was called to the great difference to the bills presented and those presented by papers of much larger circulation, that they did pare their bills down in accordance with their wishes and the State Treasurer was thereby saved that much money. In many other instances, many of the newspapers which my friend represents refuse to pare down their bills one penny and that is the reason why these bills have not been paid.

Mr. HABGOOD. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from McKean desires to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, certainly.

Mr. HABGOOD. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman where he got the information which he has just given us?

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I got my information from the Auditor-eneral's office this morning.

Mr. HABGOOD. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman who told him that.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I will. One of the attaches in the office, Mr. Rogers, in the absence of the Auditor-General, who was not there when I called.

Mr. HABGOOD. Then I would like to ask the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, or any other member, to appoint himself a committee of one to wait on the Auditor-General personally himself and ask him if the gentleman from Philadelphia was told the truth—at their leisure.

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I move you that the gentleman from McKean be so appointed a committee of one to wait upon the Auditor-General who is now present in the House.

Mr. CROMER. Mr. Speaker, was my motion seconded or not?

The SPEAKER. It was not.

Mr. CROMER. Mr. Speaker, it was seconded by a gentleman near me.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will state to the gentleman that to move the previous question requires twenty members to second the motion.

Mr. CROMER. Then I might have been short, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DELL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from McKean.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Huntingdon desires to interrogate the gentleman from McKean. Will the gentleman from McKean permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HABGOOD. Mr. Speaker, certainly.

Mr. DELL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman to name the papers that in his judgment have been discriminated against; tell us where these papers are located and where they are politically.

Mr. HABGOOD. Mr. Speaker, I have a list here of between two and three hundred papers as published—

Mr. DELL. Mr. Speaker, we should like to have them read.

(Cries of No, No.)

Mr. HABGOOD (continuing) stating that these newspapers were cut, but I do not desire to tire the House, I assure you, with this list. You can se it, any of you, and see where the newspapers of your county are represented. You will find that the Republican and Democratic papers of your county are represented in these cuts. In my own county I have the honor or the dishonor, as the verdict of the people might be, to run a Republican paper. There is also a Democratic paper published in our county from which the State Treasurer is now withholding over one thousand dollars for the three years, a weekly paper run by an old gentleman who is trying to make both ends meet, but he cannot do it without the money which the State is withholding.

These are facts, and I ask you men to vote as you think best in justice to your consciences.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, my point of order is that this bill as amended is unconstitutional.

The SPEAKER. That point of order has already been decided by the House and is not well taken.

Mr. GLASS. I want to state my point, Mr. Speaker, that the question raised by the previous gentleman from Philadelphia is a little different from the point I will raise at this time. If the Speaker will indulge me I will state my point.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, the title of the bill discloses only one subject matter. The body of the bill as amended—

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. BALDWIN. My point of order is that this bill has already been decided by this House to be Constitutional. To raise that question now is out of order. A reconsideration of that vote might possibly be in order.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is excused from voting.

BILL SIGNED BY SPEAKER.

The Speaker announced that the Chief Clerk having reported that the following bill had passed both Houses of the General Assembly, and the same being correct, the title was publicly read as follows:

House Bill No. 11:

An Act authorizing the Secretary of Internal Affairs to appoint an assistant chief and a stenographer in the bureau of standards fixing their salary and increasing the salary of the chief of said bureau of standards

Whereupon,

The Speaker, in the presence of the House, signed the same.

RESOLUTION NO. 5.

Mr. W. H. WILSON asked and received unanimous consent to call up Concurrent Resolution No. 5, File Folio 223.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the resolution.

The Clerk then twice read the resolution as follows:

Whereas The great industrial Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has suffered more than any other State in the Union because of the present tariff and

Whereas Under its operation our important steel plants our textile mills and other industries have been operating only about one-half capacity and

Whereas The army of unemployed in our cities and towns has brought continued distress through inability to obtain proper food raiment and shelter and

Whereas We believe present conditions will become worse instead of better at the close of the war it is therfor

Resolved (If the House of Representatives concur), That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania now in session do request the Congress of the United States to repeal the present tariff law and replace it by a law giving adequate protection to our labor and industries and under normal conditions sufficient revenue to warrant the repeal of the present unjust and uncalled for special methods of taxation now in operation

On the question,

Will the House concur in the Resolution?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Herman and Mr. Geiser and were as follows:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 40, entitled:

An Act designating the mountain laurel (Kalmia latifolia) as the flower emblem or State flower of this Commonwealth

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STERN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to see a Mountain Laurel. I don't believe I ever saw one in my life.

Mr. GEISER. Mr. Speaker, while I am advocating the Mountain Laurel to be the State flower I did not intend to make a flowery speech; but I have here a photograph of the mountain laurel. Now, since I have the floor, I will take up the time of the House for a very few minutes in explaining this bill. This bill does not require much explanation, however. It simply provides that the mountain laurel be adopted as the flower of the State of Pennsylvania. Two years ago, the time of this House was taken up by the advocacy of a number of bills. One bill finally reached Governor Tener who vetoed it. I think the bill provided that the daisy be the State emblem. He vetoed it because he thought sentiment had not sufficiently crystallized. To prove to you that sentiment has crystallized in favor of the mountain laurel I would state that a number of prominent Pennsylvanians have endorsed the mountain laurel as the state flower—among them being J. Horace McFarland, President of the American Civic Association, located here in Harrisburg; Samuel W. Pennypacker, Kate Douglass Wiggin, Elsie Singmaster Lewars, Robert J. Burdette, Ellen A. Wile Wilson, John Luther Long, Jean K. Baird, Boies Penrose, George T.

Oliver, J. T. Rothrock. The poet of the Susquehanna, Lloyd Mifflin, T. A. Daly, Ida M. Tarbell, Helen R. Martin, Owen Wister, Edward Bok, David Bispham, W. J. Holland, Margaret Deland, Ethan Allen Weaver and Nathan C. Schaffer.

NAYS.—1.

Reel,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 182, entitled:

An Act authorizing boroughs to supply and to make contract for supplying electric current outside the limits of said borough

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WALTER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend the title, line 1, by striking out the word "contract" and inserting the word "contracts."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to insert the amendment as read? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendment will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

REPORT OF JOINT COMMISSION TO INVESTIGATE COMBINATIONS OF FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES.

Mr. BALDWIN presented the Report of the Joint Legislative Commission appointed to investigate and report upon the objects, methods and practices of the various combinations of fire insurance companies.

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO PRINTING REPORT.

Mr. BALDWIN offered the following resolution, which was twice read and considered:

Resolved, That the report of the Joint Legislative Commission appointed to investigate and report upon the objects, methods and practices of the various combinations of fire insurance companies be printed in to-day's Legislative Journal.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the resolution?

Mr. GARNER. Mr. Speaker, I would ask the gentleman to explain.

Mr. BALDWIN. Well, I would explain to the House that this was a Commission appointed two years ago under a Joint Resolution to investigate the objects and methods of fire insurance organizations or bureaus. This is the report. I desire to have it printed in the Legislative Journal so that it can be obtainable at the very earliest possible moment. Later I will ask the House to have a certain number of these reports printed in pamphlet form.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

(For report see today's proceedings.)

ADJOURNMENT.

Mr. JAMES O. CAMPBELL. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House do now adjourn.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 5:25 P. M.) the House adjourned until tomorrow morning at ten o'clock.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Report of the Joint Legislative Commission Appointed to Investigate and Report upon the Objects, Methods and Practices of Various Combinations of Fire Insurance Companies.

TO HIS EXCELLENCY, MARTIN G. BRUMBAUGH, GOVERNOR OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA, AND TO THE SENATE AND HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES OF THE SAID COMMONWEALTH.

Pursuant to the terms of Resolution Number 379, approved on the 27th day of June, A. D. 1913, the Commission appointed thereunder hereby makes its report and submits its suggestions and recommendations.

By the Resolution, said Commission was charged with an investigation of the objects, methods and practices of the various combinations of Fire Insurance Companies, more fully set forth in the Resolution itself, a copy of which follows:

A Joint Resolution authorizing the appointment of a joint legislative commission to investigate and report upon the objects, methods, and practices of the various combinations of fire insurance companies, organized and existing in this Commonwealth for the purpose of agreeing upon, fixing, establishing, and maintaining fire insurance rates, and to draft and report such legislation as may be deemed necessary; authorizing the employment of counsel, stenographer, and necessary experts by said commission; giving it authority to sit after the adjournment of the Legislature and compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of books and papers; and making an appropriation to meet the expenses of said commission.

Preamble.

Whereas, The fire insurance business is affected with a public interest, and is subject to legislative control; and

Whereas, The stock fire insurance companies incorporated under the laws of this Commonwealth, and the foreign stock fire insurance companies duly licensed to do business in this Commonwealth, acting through their agents and representatives in this State, have divided the entire territory of the State of Pennsylvania into three or more departments; and have formed in each of said departments various combinations, composed of said domestic companies and of said agents and representatives of foreign companies, for the purpose, among other things, of agreeing upon, fixing, establishing, and maintaining fire insurance rates,—in some instances in the form of flat minimum rates upon certain classes of risks, and in others in the form of rates upon individual risks,—alleged to have been arrived at through the application of the theory and practice of schedule-rating; and

Whereas, Said fire insurance rates, as fixed by said combinations, vary greatly in the different localities of this Commonwealth on the same classes of risks; and

Whereas, There is now no legislation governing or controlling the methods and practices of such combinations, or authorizing the supervision of said rates, which should be adequate to maintain the solvency of the companies but not unreasonable; and

Whereas, The owners of insurable property in this Commonwealth are compelled to pay the rates fixed by said combinations, because the members thereof control a practical monopoly of the fire insurance business within their respective territories, but have no redress against unreasonable and arbitrary practices and rates adopted and maintained by said combinations, through the infliction of penalties upon the members thereof for a violation of rules or rates, and through the cancellation of policies in the hands of the holders thereof; therefore,—

Commission to investigate and report upon objects, etc., of combination of fire insurance companies.

Duties.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That, upon the approval of this resolution by the Governor, the President pro tempore of the Senate shall appoint one Senator, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall appoint two of its members, and the Governor shall appoint two citizens of this Commonwealth, to constitute a joint legislative commission, whose duty it shall be to investigate in detail the objects, methods, and practices of all boards of underwriters, rating bureau, or similar organizations, associations, and combinations of fire insurance companies, or their agents or representatives, in this Commonwealth, formed for the purpose of suggesting, establishing, fixing or maintaining the premium rates to be paid upon fire insurance policies written upon risks located in this Commonwealth, and to report to the next session of the Legislature of this Commonwealth whether, in the opinion of said commission, such combinations of insurance companies, or their representatives or agents, are in accordance with wise public policy, necessary for the maintenance of the solvency of insurance companies, and beneficial to the public, and, if so, what if any legislation is necessary or advisable for the proper control and supervision of such combinations and their methods and practices, and the supervision by the Commonwealth, through any of its departments or governmental agencies, of the rates suggested, agreed upon, fixed, established, and maintained by such combinations, whether as minimum flat rates or arrived at by the application of the theory and practice of schedule-rating.

Organization.

Report.

Section 2. That said commission shall meet and organize within thirty days after its appointment, and select one of the members thereof as its chairman; and said commission shall have power to sit after the adjournment of the Legislature, and to hold its meetings at such times and in such places within this Commonwealth as it may deem advisable. The report of said commission, including the draft or drafts of any act or acts of Assembly deemed necessary by it to provide for the proper control, regulation, and supervision of the combinations of insurance companies, and their representatives and agents, herein referred to, and the rates adopted and maintained by the same, shall be made to the Legislature of one thousand nine hundred and fifteen, upon the first day of its session, or as soon thereafter as said Legislature is ready to receive the same.

Counsel and Employes.

Section 3. That the said commission shall have power and authority to employ one person, learned in the law, as its counsel, one stenographer, and such experts as it may consider necessary, and shall have power to fix the compensation of its counsel and employes. The members of said commission shall serve without compensation for their services, but shall receive all necessary traveling and other expenses incurred by them in the performance of the duties imposed upon them by this resolution.

Powers.

Section 4. That the said commission shall have power to issue subpoenas, signed by its chairman, requiring the attendance of persons and the production of such books and papers as in its judgment will assist it in the performance of its duties.

Appropriations.

Section 5. The sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby specifically appropriated for the purpose of paying the expenses of the members of said commission, and the compensation of its counsel and employes; the moneys hereby appropriated to be paid out of the State Treasury, upon warrants drawn by the Auditor-General upon the State Treasurer, based upon duly itemized vouchers approved by the chairman of said commission.

Approved—The 27th day of June, A. D. 1913.

JOHN K. TENER.

The foregoing is a true and correct copy of the Act of the General Assembly No. 379.

ROBERT McAFEE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

The Commission, consisting of Senator William E. Crow, Representatives Richard J. Baldwin and Robert S. Frey and Joseph S. Alexander and Frank McCann, organized at the City of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, on the 22nd day of December, A. D. 1913, by the election of Richard J. Baldwin as Chairman and Robert S. Frey as Secretary and Treasurer. Frank E. Baldwin was named as counsel for the Commission and Albert B. Smith as official stenographer.

On January 27th, 1914, the Commission had its first sitting in the City of Philadelphia. Adjourned meetings were held at Pittsburgh, Wilkes-Barre, Harrisburg and York, Pennsylvania, at which meetings a hundred or more witnesses were examined and about four thousand pages of testimony taken.

Invitations were forwarded to the Mayors of every city in the State, to the Chief Burgesses of the more important Boroughs, to the various Firemens' Organizations and to the Secretaries of Chambers of Commerce in the different cities of the Commonwealth, urging them to attend these meetings and asking that any complaints they might have be brought to the attention of the Commission. The Commission was ready, at all times, to respond to calls from any community in which there resided some one having a complaint against the fire insurance business, or any of the various organizations or combinations of Fire Insurance Companies.

The Press of the State was constantly kept informed of the meetings of the Commission and it was attempted, in this way, to give the greatest possible publicity to its working and objects. Representatives of the various newspapers were constantly in attendance during the hearings and full and complete reports usually appeared in public print following the different sittings.

The magnitude of the undertaking assumed by the Commission can scarcely be appreciated by those unfamiliar with the principles and the actual workings of the Insurance Companies and their different connections.

The Insurance business, and the different organizations and combinations affecting it, have grown up and been established through many years of labor and thought on the part of men who have given their entire lives to a study of the problem, and the investigation now concluded necessarily led rapidly along the trail blazed during the long years that these pioneers of the business toiled and builded.

A reading of the testimony by those interested will show that the Commission endeavored at all times to deal with the problem from the side of one having a complaint against the present method of conducting the Insurance business in Pennsylvania. Every effort was made to find and expose wrongs, and outside of the hearings the members were constantly endeavoring to get in touch with those having grievances against the companies and their various organizations and combinations.

It seems to be the prevailing public opinion that the rate making organizations of the companies are detrimental to the public good, but the significant thing shown by the testimony is that in but a single instance did any witness appearing before the Commission fail to admit that they were an economic necessity.

In order to cover as fully as possible the work of the more important of the organizations and combinations, the Commission visited the Laboratories of the National Board of Fire Underwriters at Chicago, Illinois, where many tests of different materials entering into the fire hazard were made for their benefit and some important testimony was taken.

The officers of the different Fire Insurance companies and rating bureaus were at all times extremely courteous and seemingly anxious to assist and aid in getting the fullest information possible.

It might also be pertinent at this time to state that this same attitude was not always shown by some affiliated with what are known as "Non-Board" companies and that in several instances, after witnesses had been subpoenaed with the idea of getting testimony that would be antagonistic to the Board method of rating, these winesses were very reluctant to answer the questions put to them by the members of the Commission and, in one case, refused absolutely to testify without first seeking the advice of counsel.

In order to more logically and consecutively present the matters about which inquiry has been made, the body of this report has been divided into the following subjects:

1. Fire and Insurance.
2. The Companies and Agencies engaged in Fire Insurance.
3. The Policy Contract, Forms, Clauses and Riders.
4. Kinds of Combinations and Organizations.
6. Rates and Methods of Ratemaking.
5. Reasons for Combinations and Organizations.
7. Reduction and Prevention of Fire Waste.
8. Expense of the Business.
9. State Supervision of Fire Insurnace by Insurance Commissioners and Fire Marshals.
10. State Rating.
11. Commissions.
12. Agents, the Licensing thereof and their Responsibilities.
13. Rebating.
14. Taxation.
15. Re-insurance.
16. Underwriters' Agencies.
17. Opinions of Experts.
18. Suggested Legislation.

FIRE AND INSURANCE.

Fire, man's best friend and helpmate, is the greatest destroyer of his monuments of industry. Perhaps no discovery of all the ages has done more to bring to the human family comfort and luxury. No one discovery has done so much to lighten the burden of labor and no one discovery, in all its uses, has had so great an influence upon civilization. Man, only, has a knowledge of any of its varied benefits and uses.

Who first discovered how to produce fire, perhaps antedates even Mythological History. In some parts of the globe, no doubt, fire and its effects on the temperature of the atmosphere was known since earliest times. We cannot but believe that volcanoes existed before man appeared as one of earth's mammals.

History indicates that the friction stick was the earliest method known of producing fire artificially. This was followed by the method of striking two hard substances violently together, such as two flint stones; then came the Grecian Sun Glass and about the same time the Roman Concave Mirror was used as an agency to produce fire.

About a thousand years ago, an Arab, named Bechel, discovered phosphorus. It took eight hundred years more to find the man who could produce the match stick. An Englishman, named Kankwitz, discovered that sulphur and phosphorus, when brought into friction, produced fire; thus the whole civilized world began carry fire about in its pockets.

So much for a brief history of fire, man's greatest friend, yet one that is constantly, in apparent fiendish delight, turning in its track and destroying the very monuments that it had been so instrumental in rearing. And to this must be added countless thousands of the human family who have, themselves, fallen victims to its ghoulish caprice.

Fire Insurance, as we know it, is but little over a century old. It is true that the idea or fundamental principle of Fire Insurance dates back over two thousand years. Civilization, prior to the eighteenth century, had but little need for indemnity against loss by fire outside of the city life. Prior to that date, man had not begun to harness this all-powerful agent, fire. It was not until the discovery of the steam engine, steam and hot air furnaces and stoves, as a means of making our homes comfortable, that the civilized world was aroused to the vital needs of insurance against loss by fire.

Apparently, in early history, or we might say prior to the fifteenth century, a very small portion of the human family lived under conditions that necessitated insurance on their wordly goods and chattels; the dwellings and outbuildings consisted of structures little more than what we now call shacks; their personal effects either in their dwellings or out-buildings were likewise of very small value.

When the age of mechanical science took possession of the people of the earth, all this began to change. Palatial residences, comfortable homes, great manufacturing plants of every character appeared. Each community began building what in ancient times would be called a city. Necessarily, this condition called louder and louder for indemnity against fire loss. Not only was the necessity for insurance increased a thousand fold, but also the means of fighting fire and its prevention became one of the problems of this new civilization.

The story of the evolution of fire fighting appliances is unique and one of the most interesting subjects of our time. It was not until about the latter part of the eighteenth century that hose came into use. Prior to that date the village bucket brigade was the only means known to fight fire.

No sooner had the fire fighting appliances been perfected to meet the necessities of the times than the architects, as we might almost believe purposely, began the rearing of structures so high that no known apparatus could throw a stream of water high enough to reach the devouring agent, yet men who were giving their life work to the conservation of man's monuments, proved equal to their task. High pressure water systems were established in the great business centers of our cities; great tanks were placed on columns higher than our sky-scrapers, or in their top-most story, with proper appliances for instant use when needed.

The Fire Insurance business, as now conducted in our State, consists of:

(1) Local Mutuals. By local is meant those companies doing business within a radius of twenty miles or less on the assessment plan.

(2) Factory Mutuals, known as the "New England Mutuals," insuring a special class of risks.

(3) Lumbermen's Mutuals, covering a special class of business.

(4) Druggists' Mutuals, also insuring a special class of risks, and

(5) The Stock Companies, insuring every class of risks.

Your Commission is of the opinion that the Local Mutuals are avoiding the danger of conflagration hazards. If they are not, the Insurance Commissioner should have the power of spervision over that feature of their business. A mutual insurance company can, if doing a reasonably large business, furnish indemnity at a slightly lower cost than the stock companies and deserve to be encouraged.

It is the judgment of the Commission that every policy of insurance issued on the assessment plan should have stamped in large type on the face when folded these words "The Insured, under this contract, is liable for additional assessments."

It is too often the practice of agents to misrepresent the policy contract for the purpose of securing business. No man, or set of men, should refuse to honestly label his goods. It may be said that it is the duty of the insured to read his contract, which cannot be denied, yet it is a fact that very few do so; thus the importance of requiring this feature of the contract being placed in bold type prominently on the policy.

The Factory, or senior and junior New England Mutuals, cover only sprinklered factory risks. Their field of operations is nation wide; their methods and practices in the past indicate that those conducting them are high-class, clean business men. Whether they are avoiding conflagration hazards, your Commission has not had the time and means of learning. The testimony tells us that their contracts limit the assessments to five annual premiums. This feature of the contract is certainly misleading, for, should they fail to avoid the conflagration hazard, the time will surely come when they will fail to make good their loss without exceeding this limitation, and this part of the contract should be eliminated.

The Commission feels that, with proper avoidance of conflagration hazard, they act as a healthy competitor to the stock companies; this the Commission can also say of the Local Mutuals.

What has been said of the Factory and Local Mutuals is largely true of the Lumbermen's and Druggists' Mutuals and your Commission feels that by suggestions, that may from time to time be recommended to the Legislature by the Insurance Commissioner of the State, this class of insurance companies will be given proper governmental regulation.

The activities and business of the above named companies figure to a very small degree in the great volume of the insurance business of the United States. Few, indeed, realize the magnitude of the fire insurance business in this country. The fire loss, plus what is spent for conservation and to fight fire, reaches the appalling figures of one million five hundred thousand dollars every twenty-four hours. The destruction of buildings each year equals in value one-half the cost of buildings erected. The bulk of this burden is borne by the stock Fire Insurance Companies.

The first thought of indemnity, or protection from fire loss, was along the line of mutual agreement to assist the unfortunate in any one community where the property value was practically of about the same class and the risks carried about of an equal fire hazard. This method or system of fire insurance was entirely practical and at present prevails, under these conditions, in sections throughout the State and he United States. When there was no conflagration hazard, or any single risk such as we now have reaching into the millions, this mutual system worked well and practically filled the needs of the times on the most economical plan. Yet, the stage coach and canal boat, as a means of passenger transportation; the old Conestoga six mule freight wagon, as a means of freight transportation; or the sailing ship against modern methods on the high seas, as a means of transportation, will, in comparison with present day methods of these activities, well exemplify the great strides of latter day methods of the Fire Insurance business. What is now known as the Stock Fire Insurance Business is but the result of conditions.

The great burden of conflagration hazard falls upon the stock companies. What might be called the retail fire insurance business, especially in the cities of ten thousand (10,000) inhabitants or over, must necessarily, by the very nature of the business, be taken care of in the future—as experience in the past indicates—by the stock fire insurance companies. There are probably not enough mutual companies in the whole United States to give proper fire indemnity to any one of its first fifty cities. Besides, it is almost useless to suggest the many reasons that make it abolutely impracticable to apply the mutual system to this class of risks.

The general feeling against stock insurance companies is undoubtedly due to a misunderstanding of the great necessity in our commercial world for such institutions, combined with a lack of knowledge of the effect of rating bureaus, as born out of years of experience. The public necessity, becaues of our multifold interests, demands the protection of fire insurance. The public wants this at the lowest rate or tax, consistent with solvency; the public demands, and is entitled to, uniform rates on the same class of property or essentially the same class of risks. This is impossible without a scientific method of estimating rates.

COMPANIES AND AGENCIES ENGAGED IN FIRE INSURANCE.

In this Commonwealth the Fire Insurance business is conducted by several classes of companies as follows: Twenty-seven Pennsylvania joint stock companies, with paid up capital of $14.462,500; one hundred and thirteen stock companies of other States, with paid up capital of $76,- 611,647.75; and forty-one American branches of foreign companies, with large deposits and with a grand aggregate of total admitted assets of $641,489,568.42, and whose annual premium income aggregates $298,397,399.64.

There are also, doing business in Pennsylvania, eighteen mutual companies of other States, and fifteen of Pennsylvania, known as factory, manufacturers or trade mutuals, together with two hundred and eighty-five Pennsylvania mutual companies, commonly known as "County" or "Local" mutuals.

It is not possible to compile, nor have we any knowledge of any authentic compilation of figures, showing the grand aggregate of fire premiums and fire losses, for all classes of companies, whereby can be intelligently shown, the results of the insurance business for the United States. But we submit the following figures of the amount of fire risks written; the fire premiums received and the fire losses paid by companies in the State of Pennsylvania:

Total risks written, Joint Stock Companies,	$2,952,833,335.82
Total risks written, Mutual Companies,	565,672,641.00
Premium received, Joint Stock Companies,	25,610,878.59
Cash premiums and assessments (Mutual Companies),	5,769,313.43
Losses paid, Joint Stock Companies,	11,665,477.93
Losses paid (Mutual Companies),	2,908,592.68

No data is at hand dissecting the expense account of the companies, so as to properly proportion to this State its share of the expense of the business, therefore, we are unable to arrive at the profit or loss on Pennsylvania business. The following table, however, presents in concrete form the final results of underwriting by Pennsylvania stock companies on their total business throughout the United States for a period of thirty-nine years, up to and including 1912:

The following table shows the ratio of profits and losses to premium income of Pennsylvania joint stock companies for the past thirty-nine years, covering the entire period from the establishment of the Department to the present time. The period from 1874 to 1880 shows good underwriting profit. The period from 1880 to 1890 shows small profits in four years and underwriting loss in the other six. The period from 1890 to 1900 shows profits in six years and losses in the other four. From 1900 to the present time there have been losses in five years and profits in the other eight years.

Ratio of profit to premium income 1910,	9.98
Ratio of profit to premium income 1911,	1.34
Ratio of profit to premium income 1912,	3.94

The above tabulation shows an average underwriting profit for the period covered, of about 1.43 per cent.

The average insurance rate for the United States for 1912, is $1.08 per $100.00 and the average rate for the State of Pennsylvania, based on the business of joint stock companies for 1912, is .99.

The Mutual Companies, as a rule (with the exception of Factory and Trade Mutuals and some few Companies of the Mutual class, who, departing from the accepted Mutual plan, hazard their assets on the same basis and plan as do the stock companies), confine their activities to properties either in small communities or those which are unexposed, such as farm and village risks, and it, therefore, follows that it is remote to suppose that they are, generally speaking, subject to a great conflagration hazard. Under such conditions, which eliminate the necessity of raising large sums of money on short notice, it seems to render the Mutual plan of accumulating its premium income, by the requiring of a deposit with assessment abilities, not a very difficult problem. The testimony tends to show that Mutual Insurance is not available to the protection of the general hazard.

The joint stock companies are expected to and do assume the liability of large congested areas in addition to the classes desirable to the Mutuals and are subject to conflagrations. The assessment mutual premium, as an average proposition, seems to be just as much fixed as is the stock companies' rate, excepting that it is collected at the termination of the contract, if on the purely mutual plan. The premium income of the Pennsylvania Stock Companies is on their business wherever written. Considering the fact that the average rate in Pennsylvania is lower than in all but six other States, the figures furnish a reasonable basis of comparison.

The difference between the final price of Mutual and Stock Company insurance is accounted for in the different methods of obtaining their business; in cost of supervision; liability to loss; expense of operation; methods of taxation and returns on capital.

It would be absolutely impracticable to underwrite the liability of the congested communities on the Mutual plan and, if it were, the public would face the requirement of assuming the losses occasioned by conflagrations, such as San Francisco, Baltimore and Salem, which would be a tremendous tax and which liability is now assumed by the surplus, and capital if necessary of the joint Stock Companies.

Generally, the business of the Stock Companies is conducted through General Agents, Resident or Local Agents, Special Agents and Brokers or Solicitors. There are approximately 15,000 agents and 3,200 brokers or solicitors in this State.

General Agents are those having authority over an extended territory, sometimes covering one or more States, and supervising the local agents in that territory who, as their name implies, are those restricted to a single locality.

Special Agents are the direct employes of the Companies and maintain a general supervision over local agents in a large territory.

Brokers and solicitors are those who solicit the business and place it or have it written by agents.

THE POLICY CONTRACT, FORMS, CLAUSES AND RIDERS.

There is no legal standard policy in the State of Pennsylvania. However, there is in general use, a form of contract known as the New York standard which has been adopted by statute in that State as the legal fire insurance contract.

Uniformity and standardization of contract are manifestly of great value to the insuring public and to the Insurance Companies as well.

The necessity for standardization has been so apparent that the Insurance Department of several States have been active in constructing a standard policy contract which may eliminate or more clearly define the condition of the contract, so as to avoid the misconstructions which have been placed upon them in the past, and thus saving the many disputes and litigations in this connection. It is certainly important that the contract be made standard by the Commonwealth so that the responsibility of the parties to it be fixed and determined by statute.

The united efforts of the several Insurance Departments and the Insurance people, have resulted in the production of a policy form which they believe will prove satisfactory to all interests and your commission will present in its suggestions the new form of policy contract for the consideration of the Legislature.

The conditions of the policy contract may be divided into two groups, viz: Those applying prior to a loss which include those requirements of the assured, the compliance with which tends to keep the property in the same classification under which it was originally insured during the full term of the policy contract; and those applying succeeding a loss including those requirements governing the actions of both the insurer and the insured after the occurrence of a loss.

In the writing and issuing of policies quite a number of forms, clauses and riders are used, owing to the peculiar conditions existing in individual risks. Among them are clauses relating to:

Builders or Finishing Risks.
Forms for distribution of liability.
Blanket policies,
Rent Insurance,
Reduced Rate or Co-Insurance.
Floating Insurance, Smoke Houses.
Lightning, Sprinkler,
Vacancy,
Natural Gas and Electric Light and Dynamo,
Consequential Damage,
Three-fourths value clause, and others of more or less importance. The majority of these clauses and riders are standard throughout the jurisdiction of the various associations of the State. One of the most necessary factors in the adjustment of losses is concurrence in the forms and clauses so that all policies may contribute uniformly. Therefore, we believe, in the interest of all concerned, that standards in this feature of the business should be maintained.

We know of no clauses used in this Commonwealth which are not generally in use in the other States. Practically, the forms and clauses in use have passed without comment or discussion, excepting the provisions of the so-called co-insurance clause and the three-fourths value clause.

Of all the clauses in use the Co-Insurance clause is probably less understood and the reasons for its requirement less appreciated by the public than any other. As a matter of fact, if the use of this clause could be enforced by law on every policy issued it would be the quickest and most effective way of ultimately bringing all insurance rates to the lowest equitable level which could be maintained by the companies with consideration to the continued safety of their existence.

For with the co-insurance clause in universal use, the fire losses sustained by the companies would at once be measured as a percentage of actual destruction and, assuming the 80 per cent. clause to be the basis for the rate, no policy would ever be fully exhausted by less than an actual 80 per cent. destruction of the property covered by it. Also every premium being based on that clause, every insurer would pay a premium at the rate determined on the same percentage of the value of his property (eighty per cent.) and therefore every insurer would be paying his exact rightful percentage of "all" premiums collected by "all" the companies, to pay "all" the losses incurred by "all."

It should be clearly borne in mind that the people, themselves (that is the insuring public), in the final analysis, really pay their own losses, for the insrance companies are only a means to an end. That is, they collect from the many sufficient money to pay losses to the few, plus the expense of such collection, plus a fair reserve against conflagrations happening, plus a fair return on the private capital invested in the various companies.

If the collection proves inadequate, then premiums must be increased and those insured pay the increase. Therefore, manifestly, any rate which tends to make every insured pay his premium on the same basis tends to equalize and, in the end, to reduce the amount of the payment necessary. Assume two identical buildings, occupied by identical hazards, each containing stocks of merchandise of a total value of $100,000, the rate on each being one per cent., without any reference to the co-insurance clause or amount of insurance to be maintained. One insured (call him "A"), recognizing his necessity for protection, takes out policies totaling $80,000, and pays a premium of $800. The other insured, "B," figures closely and, hoping that $40,000 is as great a loss as he would suffer, takes out $40,000 insurance, paying $400 premium therefor. Each has a fire and each one's loss is an actual 40 per cent. destruction of value, amounting in each case to $40,000. Both losses are satisfactorily adjusted; they each collect $40,000, but "A" has paid $800, while "B" has paid only $400. And bear in mind that both "A's" $800 and "B's" $400 went into the general premium pot to provide funds for the losses. Therefore, "A" contributed just twice as much as "B" toward the payment of their losses, although both had identical hazards and paid the same rate of premium. Beyond this is the important fact that the companies in paying "B" exhausted their total policies, while in paying "A" they only exhausted 50 per cent. of their policies. Experience indicates that a large majority of losses are partial losses.

This illustration clearly shows that a 10 per cent. property loss would, in many cases, become a 100 per cent. insurance loss, and such insurance would be absolutely unfair to the smaller insurers who, as a rule, insure their property at nearly its full value, whether the clause is used or not, and are, therefore, paying more than their proportionate share of what might be termed the insurance tax.

The Three-fourths Value Clause reads as follows:

"It is understood and agreed to be a condition of this policy that in the event of loss or damage by fire to any building insured herein, this Company shall not be liable for an amount greater than three-fourths of the actual cash value of such building (not exceeding the amount insured thereon) at the time immediately preceding such loss or damage; and in the event of additional insurance on such building—if any is permitted in writing hereon—this company shall not be liable for more than its proportion of three-fourths of such cash value at the time of fire. If, by reason of this clause, the liability of the Company shall be less on any building than the amount of insurance thereon for which premium has been paid, the Company will, on demand, refund to the assured for the full term of policy the premium received by it on the difference between the amount insured and the amount paid for total loss on such building."

This clause is designed to restrict the insurance on a given property to three-fourths, or seventy-five per cent. of its value.

The real reason for its use, boiled down, is the safeguarding of the moral hazard on certain classes of business not subject to frequent inspection because of the expense connected therewith. While your Commission agrees that every effort to discourage and prevent over-insurance and questionable fires should be commended and supported, we are in doubt as to whether the authority to place limits upon the insured to secure insurance should be vested in a Bureau whose sole object is that of producing and establishing adequate and equitable rates. Your Commission is of the opinion that the amount of insurance to be accepted on an individual risk should be a question for determination between the insurer and the insured.

The testimony of the insurance men, generally, was that farm property, while profitable in certain counties—owing to local conditions—generally speaking, the class throughout the State was so unprofitable as to be absolutely declined by the larger majority of stock companies; that the business being so scattered, inaccessible to systematic inspection—except at heavy expense—made it necessary, in the interest of the loss ratio, to throw some safeguard around the moral hazard.

The very large majority of protected risks are not insured for more than 80 per cent. of their value. The mutual companies, owing to the localization of their business, are able to so closely inspect the physical property and review the moral hazard as to better determine the amount of insurance to be granted on specific risks and are, therefore, in a better position to underwrite this class of business than the stock companies whose agents, probably, are not conversant with either the moral or physical condition surrounding the individual risks. Under these favorable conditions, many mutual companies deem the use of this clause necessary in the conduct of their business.

Generally speaking, there seems to be an effort upon the part of the companies, through organization, to standardize the forms, clauses and riders in use.

These clauses are used to broaden the scope of and extend privileges otherwise restricted by the policy and, in that they tend to prevent discrimination and establish concurrence, they should be commended.

KINDS OF COMBINATIONS AND ORGANIZATIONS.

The greatest of the different organizations, in point of territory covered, is the National Board of Fire Underwriters. This organization has been in existence since 1866 and embraces in its membership about 160 of the leading companies doing business in the United States. In its early days it endeavored to fix both rates and commissions for the whole of the United States, but this work proved impracticable and its purposes, as expressed in its present Constitution, are:

PURPOSES.

"1st. To promote harmony, correct practices and the principles of sound underwriting; to devise and give effect to measures for the protection of the common interests, and the promotion of such laws and regulations as will secure stability and solidity to capital employed in the business of Fire Insurance, and to protect it against [oppressive] impractical, unjust and discriminative legislation.

2d. To repress incendiarism and arson by combining in suitable measures for the apprehension, conviction, and punishment of criminals guilty of that crime.

3d. To gather such statistics and establish such classification of hazards as may be for the interest of members.

4th. To secure the adoption of uniform and correct policy forms and clauses, and to endeavor to agree upon such rules and regulations in reference to the adjustment of losses as may be desirable and in the interest of all concerned.

5th. To influence the introduction of improved and safe methods of building construction, encourage the adoption of fire protective measures, secure efficient organization and equipment of fire department, with adequate and improved water systems, and establish rules designed to regulate all hazards constituting a menace to the business. Every member shall be in honor bound to co-operate with every other member to accomplish the desired objects and purposes of the Board.

The National Board, through a corps of engineers, carries on an extensive work in making surveys of the conflagration hazard in cities. A report is issued on each city surveyed; this report is a basis for intelligent work in the betterment of conditions even by municipal authorities. It has, after an extensive study of the subject, also prepared a model building code, prepared statistics of fire losses and the causes of fires, and, at all times, is in close touch with the National Fire Protection Association and the Underwriters' Laboratories and frequently issues pamphlets, based on the work of these organizations as well as on the work of its own engineers, on the construction and installation of devices of a protective or hazardous nature. These pamphlets are given a wide circulation, gratuitously.

The Commission feels that the testimony taken clearly justifies it in saying that the work of the National Board is in the highest degree public spirited and its activities are to be highly commended.

The various combinations and organizations existing exclusively within this Commonwealth are:—

1st. The Philadelphia Fire Underwriters' Association.
2d. The Board of Fire Underwriters of Allegheny County.
3rd. Underwriters Association of the Middle Department.
4th. Philadelphia Suburban Underwriters' Association.

The Philadelphia Fire Underwriters' Association is an Association the membership of which is made up of the various companies doing business in the City of Philadelphia, each Company being represented in the membership of the Association by one of its officers or by delegated authority to its local agent; each Company being entitled to one vote on all matters coming before the Association. It endeavors to establish rates upon all property situate in the County of Philadelphia and promulgates the same to its members. The expense of the work done by this Association is borne by different Companies in proportion to the amount of business done.

The Board of Fire Underwriters of Allegheny County is composed of local companies and local agents, representing companies foreign to that County, and is supported in the same manner as is the Board in the City of Philadelphia.

The Suburban Underwriters' Association, having as its jurisdiction the Counties of Delaware, Montgomery, Chester and Bucks [is under company supervision.]

The Underwriters' Association of the Middle Department is composed of companies, being represented in its membership by Special Agents or Field Men, who are in the direct employ of the Companies. This Association covers the entire State excepting as heretofore explained.

REASONS FOR COMBINATIONS AND ORGANIZATIONS.

The reason for the existence of the different combinations and organizations of Fire Insurance Companies is the all important and vital question to be determined, [by this inquiry] and upon its proper solution depends the existence of these organizations in Pennsylvania. For, if the reason is valid and justifiable, then the principle is sound and the structure raised should be allowed to stand.

The different combinations and organizations, beginning with the largest in point of area covered, the National Board, and coming down to those whose scope of activity does not extend beyond the limits of the State, in a measure all have some influence upon the rate charged for Fire protection. The first named, it is true, only indirectly has any bearing upon the price finally paid by the insured, and it is for the existence of those combinations whose avowed purpose is the establishing and promulgation of rates that we must primarily find some justification.

In the early days when insurance was in its infancy, [and there were fewer companies] and many less risks seeking protection, it was possible and safe for those conducting and managing the companies to predicate the rate charged upon individual judgment for the reason that [competition was less keen,] risks were less congested and not as different in method, and character of construction. The rate charged was in every instance determined by the Company accepting the risk and was based almost entirely upon the experience of the Company selling the insurance.

When the construction of buildings changed and when Company managers realized that the material and appliances used therein could cause a great difference in lessening or increasing the fire hazard and would have to be taken into consideration in arriving at a rate, then they also realized that the fixing of that rate became a more difficult and costly process. If Companies continued to base rates upon their judgment as to the value of the same and in open competition undersold insurance in order to get the business, the result could be none other than financial ruin.

Affecting as it does the very heart of the business world by reason of the credit allowed and extended for ample and safe fire protection, the stability and solvency of the companies doing business is of most vital importance and anything that in any manner would be detrimental to it should be avoided.

When the matter of rate making began to [necessarily] include the personal inspection of buildings during and after construction; when the rate became, in short, the result of scientific research practically and individually applied; and when they became more costly to arrive at the nearer they approached the proper rate; Company managers apparently realized that the cost of rate making, if borne by each Company, would soon become so great as to make the rate itself prohibitive, but that if assumed by a number of companies, acting in concert, would consequently become less costly, [and] It was for these reasons [in this way] that Companies undertook the formation of associations which are to-day the various Underwriters' Associations throughout the Country. The Underwriters' Association, being admittably a combination of companies or company agents, through the application of scientifically created schedules, after extensive and intelligent surveys and examinations of buildings and properties by a trained force at their disposal, arrive at and promulgate a rate which is used by all companies working under, or having membership in the association, and the rate is given to them at a very small percentage of the cost that would be incurred by each Company if it separately attempted to arrive at a proper rate [by the same] [expensive] [processes.]

The methods used in arriving at a rate, which will be fully explained in this report, are at times so complicated and extensive that only men especially trained could be depended upon to do the work correctly.

In view of these facts, which are clearly set forth in the testimony without having been contradicted, it is a simple matter to conclude that if each company were forced to get a proper [its] rate [in the same manner,] insurance protection would cost much more than under the present system, which would seem to be a sufficient reason for the existence of these combinations and organizations from the stand-point of the insured.

RATES AND METHODS OF RATE MAKING.

The methods used for obtaining the price of insurance, called rate, by stock companies and the practices of Rating Bureaus have caused more discussion and differences of opinion than any other particular feature of the fire insurance business.

Evidently, the fire insurance business is of such a character that it must accommodate and adapt itself to all the changes and developments in every other business.

Prior to the year 1874, when the Insurance Department was established, there had been no effort on the part of the Commonwealth to supervise in any way the fire insurance business, [and] therefore, it is reasonable to infer that until that time the attention of the general public had not been attracted to the importance of this business. It is a fact that the price of no commodity was, until about that time, subject to the dissection that it has been since. Prior to 1870, all rates were flat or minimum (so-called) in this Commonwealth, the only distinction being as to whether the risk was of brick or wood construction and whether it was in or out of fire protection. However, preceding the recognition by the Commonwealth of the magnitude of this business, the insurance companies came to the conclusion that individual judgment or action was not satisfactory, either to the public or themselves, and this brought into existence in 1851 the Board of Fire Underwriters of Allegheny County and, a little later, the Philadelphia Fire Underwriters' Association of Philadelphia, which organizations seemed to confine their efforts to the Cities of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, respectively.

From the organization of these two associations commenced attempts at schedule rating. It is apparent that this evolution was brought about by the desire on the part of the companies to distinguish between profitable and unprofitable business at the then prevailing rates. It seems unnecessary at this time to detail the evolution of schedules used in rating but merely necessary to explain the reasons for and the mechanical application of the various schedules used to-day, from which it is quite evident that this business, by its use of present schedules and methods, has kept pace with the modern idea of efficiency.

At this time, this Commonwealth is divided into four rating bodies, the two above mentioned, together with the Underwriters' Association of the Middle Department and the Philadelphia Suburban Underwriters' Association. These four organizations differ in some degree in their general system, caused by the different conditions found in the various jurisdictions supervised by them, i. e. the Philadelphia Fire Underwriters' Association having jurisdiction over Philadelphia County, the Philadelphia Suburban Tariff Association, supervising Montgomery, Delaware, Chester and Bucks Counties; The Underwriters' Association of the Middle Department, supervising all other Counties in the State with the exception of the County of Allegheny, which is under the supervision of the Board of Fire Underwriters of Allegheny County, whose practices and methods we will now discuss for the purpose of illustration.

The schedule in use at the present time is based upon the Universal System which was amended and modified in 1902 by a co-operating Committee made up of thirty-seven fire insurance experts.

The starting point of the schedule is the assumption, based upon the consensus of opinion, that a standard building, unoccupied, in a standard city may be written at 25 cents per $100.

"A Standard City is one having gravity waterworks, with head sufficient at all hours, to throw over five-story buildings. The main supply pipe to be in duplicate unless intermediate storage reservoir be provided. Water pipes and mains to be not less than six inches in diameter in dwelling section, and not less than eight inches (as a minimum) in mercantile section (they ought to be ten and twelve inches); a paid fire department, 12 men to each steamer; not less than two steam fire-engines to each square mile of compact portion, or one to each 10,000 population up to 500,000 population; hook and ladder trucks, one to every four steamers; fire-alarm telegraph; efficient police; paved, macadamized, or other hard streets, the majority of which—say 60 per cent.—are 70 feet or more in width; a good building law, well enforced; no outlying exposures, such as lumber districts, etc., to cause sweeping fires; no unjust municipal and State taxation and a previous five-year, fire record of not exceeding $5 annual fire loss to each $1,000 of insurance."

" Standard Building is one having walls of brick or stone (brick preferred), not less than twelve inches thick at top story (16 inches if stone), extending through and 36 inches above roof in parapet and coped, and increasing four inches in thickness for each story below to the ground—the increased thickness of each story to be utilized for beam ledges. Ground floor area not over 2,500 square feet (say, 25 by 100); height not over four stories, or 50 feet; floors of two-inch plank, (three inches better covered by 7-8 or one-inch flooring, crossing diagonally, with water-proof paper or approved fire resisting material between (if tin or sheet-iron between, see deductions); wooden beams, girders, and wooden story posts or pillars twelve inches thick, or protected iron columns; elevators, stairways, etc., cut off by brick walls or by plaster on metallic studs and lathing, communications at each floor protected with approved tin-covered doors and fire-proof sills; windows and doors on exposed sides protected by approved tin-covered doors and shutters; walls of flues not less than eight inches in thickness, to be lined with fire-brick, well-burned clay or cast-iron, and throat capacity not less than 96 square inches if steam-boilers are used; all floor timbers to be trimmed at least four inches from outside of flue; heated by steam; lighted by gas; cornices of incombustible material; roof of metal or tile; if partitions are hollow or walls are furred off there must be fire-stops at each floor.

To ascertain the Basis Rate of a standard building in any city or town differing from the above standard, add to the basis rate of 25 cents for a standard building in a standard city, the following charges for the deficiencies of the city or town from such standard. (for the purpose of illustration, see Appendix, Exhibit "A").

The National Board of Fire Underwriters, through its Engineering Department, furnishes in detail a survey of the general and physical condition of a city, including every feature that might affect in any way the fire hazard of that city and from the information thus provided the Key or Basis Rate of that city is obtained.

Applying this schedule to the National Board survey of the City of Pittsburgh shows the following results:

Basis, (standard building in standard city).	.25
Additions—
Item No. 5. Direct pressure system water supply pumps operated by steam power, pumping machinery double,	.04
Item No. 14. Fire Alarm Telegraph,	.02
Note: Book says this charge at 5c where there is no fire alarm telegraph. There is a Fire Alarm Telegraph in Pittsburgh but its sub-standard condition warrants the change made.
Item No. 20. Fire Department not free from political control,	.04
Item No. 25. Building law inadequate; not well enforced and ordinance as to storage of explosives undeveloped,	.03

Item No. 27. Conflagration hazard,		.05

This same schedule produces in adjacent towns and Boroughs of Allegheny County the following Key Rates:

Arnold,	48c	New Kensington,	49c
Avalon,	45c	Parnassus,	43c
Bellevue,	44c	Russelton,	54c
Braddock,	38c	Springdale,	55c
Bridgeville,	51c	South Side (Pgh.),	30c
Dormont,	53c	Sharpsburg,	44c
Homestead,	39c	Tarentum,	42c
Leetsdale,	51c	Wilkinsburg,	38c
McKees Rocks,	45c	Whitaker,	54c
Stowe Twp.,	45c	Wilson,	49c

Schedules applying to different classes of property are in use as follows: Fire-Proof Mercantile, Non-Fire-Proof Mercantile, Frame Mercantile, Glass Factories, Planeing Mill and Wood Workers, Metal Workers, Electric Light and Power Plants, Coal Properties, Sprinklered Risks, Breweries, Theatres and School Houses.

The Key Rate established is the basis for all schedules. The Non-Fire-Proof Mercantile Schedule is sufficient for illustration, being the most common or numerous in its application. (See Appendix, Exhibit "B").

Application of the Schedule to a Given Risk.—The information upon which this schedule is applied to an individual property is gathered from surveys made up by inspectors of the association, who make their reports on forms. (See Appendix, Exhibit "C").

In addition to the survey of the general conditions of the risk a report on the electrical equipment is furnished by an electrical engineer. (See Appendix, Exhibit "D.")

The data, thus compiled, applied to the schedule produces the final rate of an individual risk.

Promulgation of Rates.—Immediately upon their completion, detailed copies of the survey, electrical report and schedule are forwarded, first, to the owner of the building and in addition to the tenant or tenants upon whose application the risk has been rated.

In order that the insured may have an opportunity to lower his rate by removal of the charges for defects or Faults of Management a rider is attached to his copy of the schedule stating that "If there are defects or Faults of Management existing in the property rated under this schedule the rate may be reduced by complying with the suggestions herein."

The original survey, schedule and electrical report are kept on file in the rooms of the association and are, at all times, accessible to all members of the association. For convenience the rating information regarding individual risks is printed on cards and distributed to members of the association who provide cabinets for filing and make requests therefor.

The sending of a detailed copy of all the information concerning his risk furnishes to the assured every opportunity for revision of his rate if he is not satisfied with the result.

It should be stated here that as a rule the standards established by the Underwriters and the compilation of their various schedules are the results of investigation and conferences of the National Fire Protection Association which is composed of national associations of all kinds which may be interested in the protection of life and property against fire, such as the American Institute of Architects, American Concrete Institute, American Electric Railway Association, American Institute of Consulting Engineers, American Institute of Electrical Engineers, American Institute of Mining Engineers, American Warehousemens' Association, American Gas Institute, National Association of Building Owners and Managers, National Association of Credit Men, National Association of Electrical Inspectors, National Association of Manufacturers, National Association Master Gravel and Slag Roofers of America, National Electrical Contractors Association, National Electric Light Association, National Hardware Association, National Implement and Vehicle Association, National Paint, Oil and Varnish Association, National Wholesale Druggists Association, National Wholesale Grocers' Association and many others.

While it is undoubtedly true that no system of ascertaining rates or prices to be charged for fire insurance has given unqualified satisfaction to all parties concerned, and probably no such system ever will give entire and unqualified satisfaction to everyone, yet the system hereinbefore described seems to be more scientific, exact, impartial and just—both to insurer and insured—than any other that has yet been devised. It gives to the insured an exact knowledge of the conditions of his property upon which the charges are based, together with an opportunity of bettering his rate by improving the character and condition of his risk.

This is well shown by reference to Items 136 to 154 of the schedule, entitled "Faults of Management Until Corrected." (See Appendix, Exhibit "B.") These charges are for deficiencies which are in no wise a part of the structure itself, but are the results of carelessness and poor housekeeping, which charges may be removed singly or in their entirety by the remedying of the the defects.

The testimony shows that upon the original application of this schedule in Allegheny County to a number of risks the average increase of rate, as compared with the schedule in previous use, was from 15 per cent. to 20 per cent., but that the removal of the defects resulted in an average reduction of almost 30 per cent., which in turn resulted in a much lower rate to the assured. And it is quite evident that the charge for Faults of Management is one of the most effective agencies in the interest of the reduction of the fire waste.

There are two methods of rating in use in this association; schedule rating, as illustrated above, and minimum or flat rates. It is evident that schedule rates are preferable to minimum rates. About 35 years ago there were practically no rates other than minimum or judgment rates. The adoption of schedules from time to time has gradually eliminated this method until, at present, dwellings and their contents; private stables and their contents are practically the only non-scheduled classes.

Minimum Rates.—In dwelling houses the only features in which the buildings differ are the construction material, class of occupancy, location, and whether in or out of fire protection and to this extent they are classified and rated separately under minimums.

The testimony supports the contention that any given number of risks of this class produce a composite or similar hazard and it is very apparent that the inspection and re-inspection, rating and re-rating of each individual risk would be a very expensive procedure without an appreciable difference in the result.

With the exception of sprinklered business this class of property pays the lowest rate per $100. of insurance and though the income from this class is large in the aggregate, it is collected in such small amounts that any additional expense would necessarily fall upon the small individual insurer. There is no question but that the method in use is the most reasonable and economical one.

Sprinklered Risks.—A comparison of the rates named and the methods used in rating properties protected by automatic sprinkler equipments with that of other classes is a wonderful exposition of how insurance rates may be reduced by the elimination of hazard.

These practices and methods in general are also in use in the territory supervised by the Philadelphia Fire Underwriters' Association.

Underwriters' Association of the Middle Department.—This association was organized in 1883 and is composed of Special Agents or Field Men representing a large number of fire insurance companies doing business in the Commonwealth, maintaining for convenience its head office in the City of Philadelphia and for further convenience offices under the care of District Secretaries in the following named cities: Allentown, Altoona, Bradford, Dubois, Erie, Greensburg, Harrisburg, Johnstown, Lancaster, Meadville, Pittsburgh, Pottsville, Reading, Scranton, Sunbury, Wilkes-Barre, Williamsport and York.

In 1902 there was adopted a schedule known as the "Conference Schedule" for the purpose of rating mercantile risks throughout its territory. Numerous changes have been made in the schedule since that time and for illustration the present schedule now in use is shown. (See Appendix, Exhibit "E.")

Like the other organizations, this association also uses numerous schedules for rating manufacturing or so called special hazards. Their methods of rating dwelling houses and private stables and their contents differ but little from the practices in effect in Allegheny County.

The ratings, themselves, are made and filed at the offices of the various district secretaries throughout the territory and are promulgated and open to inspection at all times to all members of the association and their respective agents in the territory. This association also maintains an electrical department.

Very little complaint is made against Schedule Rating. The system has had the almost unqualified approval and support of the various investigating commissions representing numerous States, particularly those of New York, Massachusetts, Illinois, Wisconsin and Missouri as the best method of preventing discrimination, which always tends toward the advantage of the large; never to the small insurer. In its recognition of better construction by credits and the deprecation of faulty and careless construction and poor house-keeping by penalties, it gives to the individual insurer the ability to build and practically name his own rate and is in the interest of the conservation of property and preservation of life, a subject which is engaging the attention of all.

It is not to be expected that in the near future construction in general will come close to being standard, but through this system of offering rewards, in the way of reduced premiums for correction of defetcs, can be seen the best incentive toward securing the co-operation of property owners to that ultimate end.

The complaints as a rule are not directed against the schedule itself, or the component parts thereof, but toward the makeup of the schedule from the data and information furnished by the survey. (See Appendix, Exhibit "C.") This is better illustrated by the fact that from the exterior two buildings may appear to be exactly alike. The general construction may appear similar, but a detailed inspection reveals in one case elevators enclosed according to requirements, wall thicknesses standard, floor joists of sufficient dimensions, heating apparatus properly protected, storage and care of oils according to standard, while in the other case, any one or all of these essentials missing, thus producing an entirely different risk.

The fire insurance business, or at least the method of arriving at the final result-rate,—is probably less understood and appreciated by the average citizen than any other business with which he comes in contact, for the reason that, until his loss occurs, he feels that he is paying for something which he does not receive. The man who exercises the greatest caution in the acceptance of any other security,—mortgage, deed or evidence of debt,—will accept insurance contracts without any investigation of scrutiny, either as to the worth of the company, or form of contract.

REDUCTION AND PREVENTION OF FIRE WASTE

It is pretty well agreed that the question of fire waste in life and property is of much greater importance to the public than that of expense, however serious and important the question of expense may be considered.

If it were not for fire waste, we all fully realize that insurance companies would not be necessary and the more that is done to reduce and prevent fires the cheaper will insurance protection be bought, as any company, whether mutual or stock, if it remains in business, must collect from its policyholders sufficient to pay its losses and the expenses of managing its business.

Your Commisson believes that our State Fire Marshal Act of June 3rd, 1911, and its supplements, is a most important step towards fire prevention and waste, and, while the Act is so recent that it is possible that time and lack of money have not permitted of the complete enforcement of all its features, yet a vast amount of good, we are certain, has been accomplished and that it will be instrumental in forcing a marked decrease in the burning ratio of the State and prove a great benefit to the people at large.

The Act is comprehensive and gives a great deal of authority to the Department but none too much. When it is in complete operation, with the legislation to be suggested to this legislature, if adopted, it will be possible for this Department to know about every fire in the State, outside of the cities of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh (which maintain their own Fire Marshals). And the Department will be in a position to inspect all buildings and premises within its jurisdiction "and wherever the representatives of said Department find any building or structure which for want of repair or reason of age or dilapidated condition, or for any other cause, is especially liable to fire and is so situated to endanger other property, he or they shall order the same removed or remedied, if same is reasonably practicable, thereby lessening the danger from fire." It provides for reports of all fires and thorough investigation and prosecution, when justified, of suspicious fires.

The Department already is becoming very active along these lines. Many prosecutions have been instituted and numerous convictions obtained. It might be expedient for the Fire Marshal to have the power to order payment of insurance delayed in suspicious cases, pending an investigation.

It is made "the duty of the Fire Marshal to prepare in consultation with the Superintendent of Public Instruction, books of instruction for use in public and private schools of students of all grades with regards to the dangers of fire and prevention of fire waste," and provides for the instruction of pupils of said schools by means of drills and otherwise.

Your Commission is strongly of the opinion that the enforcement of this legislation and other statutes will bring about many favorable results, and suggest such amendments to the State Fire Marshal's Act as will enable the Department to fully carry out and enforce all of its powers.

The Act authorized the Fire Marshal in his annual report to the Governor to recommend such legislation, if any, as in his judgment may be desirable to further carry out the purpose of this law for the purpose of preventing or reducing fire waste.

We believe the amendments now being proposed by this Department, when enacted into law, will have a most marked and beneficial effect upon fire prevention and waste.

Fire insurance rates in the United States are very high, and in many instances distressingly so, [but notwithstanding they have not been high enough during the past ten or twelve years to make good the fire waste and necessary expenses of the business, and certainly,] apparently the only hope for the relief of the public lies in reduction of fire waste [and expenses.]

Fire waste may be lessened in various ways: by the enforcement of more stringent rules for construction of buildings; by a more careful supervision by owners, the public and insurance companies, so that defective chimneys, flues, heating apparatus and other fire hazards may be corrected; greater care in storage and sale of combustible and explosive substances, use of safety matches, proper disposition of ashes, well equipped fire departments and many other precautions. This is especially necessary in the smaller towns and cities which are not now required to maintain these provisions but, as we have already mentioned, we hope for very marked results along these lines for the proper enforcement of our State Fire Marshal Law.

The public must fully realize that much depends upon it if it desires to have a lower and satisfactory insurance rate. One person should vie with another to see that his risk is as good as he can make it and if his neighbor neglect his risk, his attention should be called to it, and, if necessary, the attention of the insurance companies and the State Fire Marshal Department, so that no unnecessary hazard may be permitted to endanger and menace the life and property of the community.

The instructions in our public and private schools along these lines are most important and should help to arouse people generally on the subject and be very effectual in solving the problem of fire waste.

From interesting data furnished by the State Fire Marshal Department, the Commission submits the following as supplementing what has previously been said on the subject of fire prevention and waste and as giving some of the views of this Department as to further legislation that should be suggested.

"The active work of the State Fire Marshal dates from September 21st, 1912. Since that time there have been received to December 31st, 1914—17,231 reports of fires (7,707 in 1912 and 1913, and 9,528 in 1914) from sixty-five (65) counties, (excluding Allegheny and Philadelphia Counties). Of the number reported 740 were of supposed incendiary origin (306 in 1912 and 1913, and 434 in 1914). These cases were specially investigated, resulting in one hundred and fifty-three prosecutions for arson, terminating in ninety-nine (99) convictions (42 in 1912 and 1913, and 57 in 1914); thirty-six (36) acquittals (17 in 1912 and 1913 and 19 in 1914); twenty (20) suspects left the jurisdiction of the State (9 in 1912 and 1913 and 11 in 1914). The whereabouts of these suspects is unknown to the Department and may be considered by their acts to show guilt. Of those convicted four (4) committed suicide and one died in jail. There are twelve (12) cases in the hands of District Attorneys for trial; forty-four (44) cases still under investigation and of the balance there was either no evidence of incendiarism or insufficient evidence to warrant prosecution.

There were 11,581 inspections made in 57 counties (6,932 in 1912 and 1913, and 4,649 in 1914) into the condition of dilapidated buildings accumulation of rubbish, explosive oils and other inflammable material, and orders were issued for remedying conditions and in the majority of cases the orders were complied with, and in no case was it necessary to enforce them by law.

Investigation of incendiary fires, and the greatest number of the inspections were made at the beginning by four men and later increased to nine men, the present force.

The territory under the jurisdiction of the State Fire Marshall consists of sixty-five (65) counties or 44.329 square miles, requiring each man to cover an average of over 4,800 square miles and equally one man for each 880,000 of population. This is a totally inadequate force to properly cope with the great work of Fire Prevention, Protection and the Elimination of the incendiary.

In the endeavor to benefit and educate the public in the saving of life and property, the Department has distributed throughout the State 64,600 bulletins (13,600 in 1912 and 1913 and 51,000 in 1914).

The present law fails to provide for the payment for the removal of dilapidated buildings or material, which are a menace to a community, upon the refusal of the owner to do so when ordered by the Marshal, according to the Act, and further provides no penalty to punish the owner for refusal or neglect to comply with the order so issued.

It provides no police powers which is essential at times to enable the apprehending of suspected persons. Particularly is this so in the outlying districts where it is difficult to obtain the services of a suitable officer of the law.

It fails to provide for the employment of attorneys or detectives when such services are necessary for the prosecution or detection of the crime of arson.

It fails to provide for a penalty for refusal of owners or occupants of buildings or premises, permitting the Assistant of the State Fire Marshal to make inspection of the same as provided for in Section 5 of the Act.

The Act is for the benefit of the public by the reduction of the fire waste throughout the Commonwealth, and by so doing will effect a reduction in the insurance rates which increases as fire waste increases.

There should be an ample contingent fund appropriation for the purpose for which it is impossible to determine expenditures, viz; traveling expenses of Marshals, Deputies and Assistants, services of Attorneys, payment of fees of witnesses, Detectives, postage and outside stenographers' fees in reporting cases, and other miscellaneous expenses.

The subject of over-insurance is one of grave importance and should be given consideration."

EXPENSE OF BUSINESS.

In our judgment, next to the subject of reduction and prevention of fire waste, the most important subject affecting the cost of insurance to the purchaser is that of expenses, as the entire premium receipt is paid out in losses or expenses, unless there shall be a margin of profit after the losses and expenses are paid.

In the Insurance Commissioner's Report for 1913, is shown that the business of all stock companies, home and foreign, transacted exclusively in this State during the year, is as follows:

Total Fire Risks written,	$2,138,102,912.12
Premiums received,	21,253,748.71
Losses paid,	9,399,539.89
Ratio of premiums received to losses paid,	44.17
The year 1913 showing an increase over 1912 of,	.27

The Insurance Commissioner's report further shows the business of Pennsylvania Stock Companies during the year, 1913:

Income of fire premiums,	$29,256,271.72
Income from Marine and Inland premiums,	3,792,731.36
Total premium income,		$33,049,003.08
Paid for fire losses,	$16,452,624.12
Paid for Marine and Inland losses,	2,044,088.83
Paid for commissions,	7,421,137.78
Paid for salaries,	2,794,340.26
Paid for taxes,	1,095,183.03
Paid for miscellaneous expenses,	2,954,559.59
Total losses and expenses,		32,761,933.61
Excess of premiums over losses and expenses,		$287,069.47
Income from invesments,	$2,833,313.58
Income from rents,	174,214.96
Income from miscellaneous,	401,025.51
Total miscellaneous income,		$3,408,554.05
Total net income,		$3,695,623.52
Dividends,		1,936,727.38
Excess of income over expenditures,		$1,758,896.14
Ratio of losses paid to premium income,		55.96
Ratio of expenses to premium income,		42.86
Ratio of profit to premium income,		1.18

When we study these figures and find a ratio of losses paid to premium income amounting to 55.96 and a ratio of expenses to premium income of 42.86, we see at a glance how insurance premiums are used up in the payment of losses and expenses.

We have already had something to say in regard to the methods of lessening fire loss and at this time only expect to comment very briefly on the expenses of fire insurance business.

The Insurance Report shows that out of every dollar's worth of business done in Pennsylvania in 1913, that .4286 was paid for expenses. These expenses are divided in the following manner:

Commissions,	approximately, 23.56	per cent.
Taxes and fees,	approximately, 3.3	per cent.
Salaries,	approximately, 8	per cent.
Rents, Gen'l Administrative expenses,	approximately, 8	per cent.
Total,	42.86

Much of the largest single item of expense is that of commissions and your Commission, from their study and investigations, are very firmly of the opinion that the expense of doing business is much larger than it should be and might be reduced, and more especially the items of brokers' and agents' commissions which constitute approximately one-half of the cost.

This item, in the mind of the Commission and in the opinion of many supervising officials and fire insurance executives and managers, could be reduced, so as to make a very substantial saving to the companies and yet not mean discouragement to the legitimate agent or underwriter. We realize that the cost of living expenses have increased during the past several years and believe the insurance agent is entitled, like other people, to an increase in his earnings over those formerly received.

It is not reasonable to expect that the item of taxes and fees will be reduced as, with the more complete supervision and regulation by the State, it will require many more employees and a greater expenditure of money upon the part of the Insurance Department.

Nor may any very large savings be expected from salaries, rents and other administrative expenses. It cannot be said that insurance companies generally are making too large profits, as we see by our Pennsylvania Insurance Report that in the year 1913, the Pennsylvania Stock Insurance Companies only made a profit of 1.18 per cent on the premium income of that year.

The annual premium income of American and foreign fire insurance companies, doing business in the United States, has grown in the past fifty years from $29,000,000. to over $300,000,000. and about fifty-eight per cent. of these premiums have been returned in fire losses.

[We believe there should not be the difference in rates of commission paid by companies to agents and brokers. It is true the companies are now endeavoring to remedy this practice. We should enact and enforce comprehensive and clearly expressive anti-discrimination laws to be administered by the Insurance Department of the State. We are suggesting such an Act which, we believe, if passed and enforced, would have a strong influence in reducing expenses by preventing discrimination of all kinds.]

STATE SUPERVISION OF FIRE INSURANCE BY INSURANCE COMMISSIONERS AND FIRE MARSHALS.

It is agreed that modern conditions in the fire insurance business make State supervision on behalf of the public necessary, not only to determine financial responsibility, but to prevent monoply, unequal rates, discrimination, secret rebating, the appointment of incompetent agents, and to control the fire waste.

This supervision, to some extent, is exercised through the Insurance Department.

All joint stock insurance companies doing business in Pennsylvania are obliged to report to the Insurance Department the amount of risks written, premiums received, losses paid, and, in fact, a complete statement of their financial condition, and their books are open, at all times, and subject to an examination by the Department, so that any and all statements filed by them may be verified. We have already enumerated above, under the division of reduction and prevention of fire waste, some of the very numerous and important powers conferred upon the Fire Marshal's Department and, with the amendments being suggested to the Act, together with powers already conferred, and the legislation recommended by your Commission herewith and made a part of this report, giving the Insurance Department supervision over rate-making bureaus, requiring fire insurance companies to maintain or co-operate in maintaining and operating rate-making bureaus, and to provide for an inspection and survey by rating bureaus of all fire insurance risks specifically rated, the State would have all the control and supervising power necessary. We do not believe the State should have power to fix rates but it should be in a position to prevent discriminations and have a supervisory control.

STATE RATING—STATE INSURANCE.

Should the State attempt to fix the price of insurance? That is what State Rating means. Fixing the price of a commodity by Statute or Law is not a new proposition. History tells us that the practice is over two thousand years old and has been tried by all the older nations of Europe again and again, only to be discarded as impractical. The price of a commodity, or recompense for services rendered, is the basis of value in business affairs and is, to all practical intents, the value of that particular function or commodity. If all the elements that contribute to the production of any and every commodity were unchangeable, the proposition of fixing a legal price might be practicable.

If there could be a Statutory Standard of living, then perhaps a wage standard would also be practical. An attempt, even experimentally, to fix by Statute the price of fire insurance should not be made unless the evidence is conclusive that exorbitant or excessive charges prevail. A fair examination of the subject warrants no other conclusion than that this business produces a far smaller margin of profit than the majority of our industrial activities.

While State Rating might possibly be considered in a community with a small number of risks, the proposition in a State like Pennsylvania, with its thousands of risks, would be a stupendous and expensive one to embark in. Certainly, no one, fully acquainted with the facts, would ask or advise that the State, either by Statute or through a Commissioner or Commission, fix the price of fire insurance. Besides, no honest man could object to a law to recompense the company in case the rate proved inadequate to meet the loss. Should a conflagration occur in any one of the cities, the State might be called upon to make good an immense sum. The San Francisco loss would have entailed upon California a debt of over a hundred million dollars. The insurance companies complain, and with just cause, about useless, unreasonable and utterly impracticable statutes proposed and, in some instances, passed. Probably no business has, during the past quarter century, in our States been subject to the same degree of State regulation and attempted regulation. They continually ask, "Why are we thus so unjustly treated?" "Why are we the target to be harrassed by every legislative body in the State?" The Manager of every stock fire insurance company in the Union sighs with relief when he learns that a State Legislature has adjourned, Sine Die.

On the other hand, the reasons for supervision are many and natural. No one business has been more exploited. No field has been more fruitful to the social parasite. No field has been so diligently tilled by men of questionable methods. To a much smaller degree these practices still exist. This applies to every phase of the insurance business, as well as fire insurance. It is because of this condition that today every State in the Union exercises a supervising power of some kind over the business. It is only natural that novices should, by legislation, attempt to remedy whatever appears to them an evil or bad practice. Nowhere else in our social and commercial world is the old adage that "A Little Learning is a Dangerous Thing" better exemplified.

Your Commission feels that with the suggestions contained in the proposed legislation most of the ills existing will be reduced to a minimum. State Rating, we think impracticable. If properly done, it would entail an enormous expense and, so far as your Commission can learn, would give to the public very little, if any, lower rates of fire insurance.

State Rating and State Insurance should not be confused. The former implies the fixing of rates, under which the insurance companies must conduct their business; the latter, the actual assumption of the liability by the State itself.

The question as to how far the government should interest itself in the management of business has engaged the attention of statesmen and philanthropists for centuries. Plato's communistic ideas, now called Socialism, have been put to the test many times, only to be discarded, especially in communities of either large areas or populations.

Your Commission is fully aware of the fact that the subject, no matter how much discussed, would still be far from a conclusion.

Thus far, Pennsylvania has confined itself to delegating to certain individuals the right to make, administer and enforce laws, maintain peace and good order, protect property and regulate the management of corporations. Our State has not, in any other respect, interfered by competition in any of our commercial affairs. There are many who think the State should embark in business. All will agree, we think, that activities of a complex character should, at least, be last approached or experimented with by the State.

A careful reading of our report should quickly convince anyone that the fire insurance business in Pennsylvania, with its eight millions of people and billions of property liable to fire loss, so located that to solve the problem of equitable rates of premium, under the countless varying conditions, [it] would call for an army of experts to find the proper rates and keep informed of the constant changing of conditions, and would require a new Department, supervised by a corps of the ablest insurance men in the world, aided by a force of at least three to five hundred clerks and from three to four hundred field men and—in order to accommodate the public—not less than five thousand agents. Government control of any of the public utilities would be a much simpler proposition. To attempt it, is impracticable, as the revenue is not in sight to provide the necessary reserve to give the public proper protection. There are many congested districts in Pennsylvania where a conflagration might occur at any moment and the State might be called upon to make good a loss of many million dollars. Without providing a large reserve, the proposition would be absolutely impracticable. Individuals carry several millions of dollars on single properties.

Your Commission feels that a Department, dealing with a proposition requiring such a large force of employes and with a subject so complex and so close to every property holder, and one so impossible to reduce to a common standard, would soon hear the cry that favoritism was being practiced through political intrigue; that the whole Department would soon be in disgrace, whether rightfully or wrongfully accused; that public sentiment would quickly ask for the repeal of the law and abandonment of the whole proposition. Strange as it may seem, that portion of the public which cries loudest for government control complains most against the supposed general dishonesty of public officials.

Thus, after briefly considering the State Fire Insurance problem, we believe that the people of this State will heartily coincide with us in disapproving the proposition as utterly impractical at this time and, in all probability in a community such as Pennsylvania, for all time to come.

COMMISSIONS.

The commission proposition, like almost every other phase of the fire insurance business, when you come to study the subject, is so complex that it is very difficult to afford relief by statute regulation. Some localities afford a fair recompense for the fire insurance man at a fifteen per cent. commission while another locality, sparsely settled and with small values, would offer poor opportunity at forty per cent. A single property, with large values, would pay well at ten per cent. commission, while in doing what might be designated as a retail business, where the premiums seldom exceed ten dollars,—often falling as low as two dollars for the policy—a like compensation would be inadequate. In addition to these conditions, we find in certain localities, which would afford a fair field for two or three agents, rival companies planting ten to twenty agencies, consisting of men and women of almost every calling. At times, companies plant agencies with individuals knowing that they will not secure other than the insurance on his own property. Of course, where no other risks are expected than the agent's own property it practically amounts to rebating the commission. The testimony before your Commission shows that the companies would be glad to have the Legislature relieve this situation.

There are so many feautres entering into the solution of this question that it is our opinion they could be better solved by the companies and agents, themselves. However, we do believe that a proper regulation of the qualifications required of agents, brokers and solicitors will go a long way toward putting commissions on a proper basis.

AGENTS, THE LICENSING THEREOF, AND THEIR RESPONSIBILITIES.

The agent of the company is a very important personage in the insurance business. He is the man who, personally and directly, comes in contact with the insured and is responsible to both; to the company for the premium and the degree of moral hazard of the risk; and to the insured for the protection he desires and believes he has obtained.

The public, generally, is ignorant of the terms of its contract of insurance, and the different riders and forms attached thereto, and none but agents thoroughly familiar with the contract, and competent to explain it, should be permitted to solicit business.

With an agent, honest and capable in his dealings with his company, and careful and conscientious in his acceptance of risks which are of doubtful moral hazard, the companies would be safe-guarded and the public protected. This would eventually result in a lower loss ratio.

By changing, what may apparently seem a trivial form to the insured, the broker or agent is oft-times able to obtain for his customer a lower rate, but, when the fire comes and the loss is sustained, the insured finds that the trivial change has prejudiced his adjustment.

It seems to be the policy of the companies to employ agents, without regard to their fitness, ability or knowledge of the business and it is, likewise, the policy of the State to license them, without any further qualification than their ability to pay the small fee required by the Statutes of the Commonwealth and which, at times, is paid for him by the companies. This is a policy which cannot be too strongly condemned. Much of the evil now prevalent in the insurance world would disappear, or could be avoided on the part of the companies, if none but competent, intelligent and trustworthy persons were employed by them or licensed by the State.

It is due the companies, however, to state that the greater responsibility for the wrong rests upon the State, as the license issued by the Commonwealth is, and properly can be, taken by the public as a guarantee by the State of the fitness and honesty of the agent receiving the same. A recent report summarizes this important question in the following language:

"The Home or Department offices are remote from most of the business written, inspections of necessity are infrequent and then do not take into account the many local and purely personal considerations which contribute to differentiate between "good" and "bad" fire risks. These distinctions, in the main, are impossible to Home Office Inspectors, but easily within the knowledge of the local agent. If he is skillful and honest, he is the one individual who stands between the companies he represents and the dangerous risk and the careless or dishonest insurer. The agent may be naturally honest, but no man is born with skill and experience and no man should be permitted to acquire these at public expense.

"It is indisputable that the local agent is the most important personal influence in the reduction or increase of fire losses, and consequently the insurance cost, and the need is for men of character, trained in the business who know what sound underwriting means to the entire public, and who realize their personal responsibilities.

"Ignorance has no more place in the Fire Insurance business than in any other activity, and dishonesty has no place anywhere. Under the present system, no qualifications, training or experience are necessary to an agency appointment. While no doubt the companies prefer experienced men and secure them when possible, the fact remains that thousands of agents are appointed annually who have little or no conception of their power or responsibilities. Appointment of agents only after a proper examination might not make them honest, but certainly could better their mental and moral qualifications and, in a measure, remove the temptations that so often lead them to forget the best interests of their companies and the communities they serve."

Recognizing the necessity to the business, and consequently to the public which supports it, of the employment of a higher grade of insurance agents, we fail to see any other way to remedy the evil than to suggest the advisability of licensing as agents and brokers only such persons who successfully pass an examination as to their ability and fitness and to submit such proof of their honesty and integrity as may be required by the Insurance Commissioner, or some other person or persons as may be designated by him as set forth in the Statute recommended for enactment.

What has been said concerning the qualifications of local agents applies with equal, or even greater force, not only to brokers but to Special Agents and adjusters who represent their companies in the field.

Local Agents, Brokers and Special Agents represent the business-getting end of the business, and a safe standard of character and conduct would tend to stop the spread of the offensive features of commercialism which have done so much to bring Fire Insurance into disrepute.

From the testimony submitted to your Commission, over-insurance would seem to exist only in certain localities and within a very limited territory, but it is, nevertheless, a subject of considerable importance and should be guarded against in every possible way. Insurance companies are doing a great deal to prevent over-insurance as it is one of the most common causes of incendiarism.

The companies are, to a great extent, at the mercy of their agents, brokers and inspectors in this respect, as the agent and broker write the risk and should be more familiar with it than any one else, excepting the assured and ought to know more about its real value, as well as the moral risk, than anyone else connected with the company.

To a great extent, therefore, the qualifications, honesty, fitness and diligence of the agent and broker must help solve this very important question. He must not let his eagernes for commissions and his desire to please blind his duty to his company and to the public.

It would seem that a still more diligent campaign upon the part of the companies, through their agents, brokers and inspectors, might further lessen this evil. Also the numerous powers conferred upon the State Fire Marshal should have a strong tendency to discourage the practice of over-insurance.

REBATING.

The Pennsylvania Insurance Law, in the opinion of your Commission, has already provided about all the regulation of this subject necessary to control this phase of the business by making it unlawful to rebate any part of an insurance commission.

TAXATION.

To all appearances, the State revenues at present do not warrant any reduction of the State income. The stock fire insurance companies are, apparently, paying more than their share of the State taxes, independent of the licenses required to do business within the State. A stock fire insurance company, chartered to do business within the State is required to pay five mills tax on the market value of its capital stock and an addition of eight mills on its gross receipts on property insured within the State. Foreign stock fire insurance companies are required to pay twenty mills on the gross receipts of business done within the State. While this is a larger tax than is required of any other corporation, the most unfair feature of the law is that mutual fire insurance companies, operating under Pennsylvania Charters, are not required to pay any tax. Stock companies are absolutely essential to fill the needs of the insuring public; consequently, it appears only fair that the taxation, to be uniform, should be levied without regard to the character of the corporation.

REINSURANCE.

As here referred to, the term Reinsurance is applied to that system under which an individual company protects its liability in excess of the net amount it desires to carry on a given risk.

This is accomplished, either in the ordinary manner under a single policy, or under a general system involving one or more companies; this latter practice is commonly referred to as "Treaty Reinsurance."

The desire upon the part of the agent to procure a maximum line at the maximum commission, on the one hand, and the competition of companies as to service to the agents and the acquiring of large premium incomes on the other, has extended this system to a point where a legitimate and useful practice has become, at least, subject to criticism as one of the evils of the business.

Many companies are, in this way, accepting liability in the larger communities, where conflagration areas exist, which might prove to be in excess of their ability to pay and, in such cases, it would seem that they are more dependent upon the successful management of their reinsurers than upon themselves. It is quite easy to understand how a large conflagration, occurring at the present time, could through the unsettled financial conditions abroad seriously affect the financial conditions of some companies perfectly able to pay their liabilities under normal conditions, but who would now be forced into impairment and insolvency through their inability to promtly collect reinsurance from their treaty companies. Such an event affects the value of every other policy contract of the company, wherever the holder may be. No objections should be made to reasonable reinsurance, but it is difficult to arrive at or even suggest what might constitute the term "reasonable" in this connection. However, we note that recently requests have been made by several Insurance Departments for statements from companies, showing their gross liability in congested areas, together with the amount of reinsurances and the names of the companies reinsuring, as well as the net liability retained, and it is suggested that it might be of value to the Insurance Department of this Commonwealth to acquire similar data, at least in the larger cities of the State, to the end that a reasonable status of reinsurance may be reached.

Many very large lines are acceptable to the assured under the mistaken impression that reinsurance is effected for his direct benefit.

UNDERWRITERS AGENCIES.

Underwriters' Agencies consist of General Agencies which assume all the powers of the Home Office, or the principal office of a foreign company located within the State. This necessarily entails additional cost of supervision that apparently could be dispensed with. The system, undoubtedly, increases the danger of excessive liability in congested districts, increasing the possibility of loss that might endanger the solvency of the parent companies.

The practice is for the Agency to advertise the combined capital of two or more parent companies, as an asset, yet in fact the policy contract states that neither company is in any way responsible for any part of the liability of its sister partner and, as a fact, the Underwriters' Agency has no independent capital. Where such Agency issues a policy for, say $50,000, dividing the insurance equally between the two sister companies, one half the insurance may be protected by a company having assets of not over $3,000,000., while the other half may be protected by a company having $10,000,000 assets and the insured, believing his insurance is protected to the last dollar by the combined assets, amounting to $13,000,000., is misled. While your Commission does not find any evidence of such conditions having wronged anyone in the past, we think it bad practice to be permitted to continue.

The practice of permitting underwriting agencies, when representing only one parent company, is even more misleading to the public, for in such instances the same capital or assets might be used several times over and this might, ultimately, so mislead the public that only those versed in the insurance business could know the real financial standing of the insurer of their property.

The corporate laws of Pennsylvania, relating to all other industrial lines, prohibit, or at least do not provide for, the combining of corporations, no doubt because of the belief that were it allowed or provided for under the law monopolies would quickly exterminate all competition in that particular activity.

Under the National, or what is known as the Sherman Act Trust Law, these associations would be prohibited as violators of the principle of interlocking directorates.

While this Commission does not, with its limited opportunity, feel confident of its position on the subject, it appears to us that the causes that have led to this condition were due to various reasons and conditions; either some companies wanted two places for favorites when only one was possible, or to overcome a company agreement which they, themselves, had promulgated, namely, that not more than a certain number of agents should be established in any given territory. By organizing an Underwriters' Agency, with all the powers of the parent, yet without a dollar of asset of its own, an additional agent could thus be established in the territory already limited by the company's own, mutual, voluntary action; thus, in financial statements to the public the same assets are used twice or oftener.

There can be no doubt that men with intelligence and business acumen managing some of these offending companies well know that using the same capital as an asset more than once is questionable, if not actually wrong. They well know that this practice has reached such a condition that only a very few of the best posted men in the fire insurance business have a full and complete knowledge of the vexed and entangled alliances of several of the large fire insurance companies. By absorbing a smaller company and giving it the name of an underwriting agency, which does not have a dollar of capital and the only asset value it has in the world is its agency staff, and that of no benefit or protection to the public, but to its parent alone,—and that value being enhanced to its parent by evading the corporation tax, when previously constituting one of the State's corporations,—leads the Commission to suggest legislation that, perhaps will check, at least, this tendency that ultimately must drive all the smaller fire insurance companies to the wall or absorb them in a maw that has no limitation. It will, indeed, be a hard task to do this without disturbing the fire insurance business in our State to the disadvantage of the public. But, we feel that our suggestions are along sane, conservative lines and following Legislatures can, from time to time, shape the law to meet conditions as they arise.

OPINIONS OF EXPERTS.

Your Commission has used every means at its disposal to inform itself as to the status of combinations [of combinations,] through Rating organizations, for accumulating information upon individual properties and the enforcement of their rules and regulations.

The public utterances of men from all sections of the country who have given serious thought to this question have been read by the Commission and, while we do not reproduce them in this report because of their volume and the fact that they are readily obtainable through other sources, we find the consensus of opinion of such men to be that only through and by means of these rating organizations can be obtained the information necessary to the safe, economical and practical handling of this business and their total abolition for a number of years would be the only way to demonstrate to the public the necessity for their existence. This necessity has been shown by the fact that even those States that have abolished or prohibited such organizations have invariably adopted, in lieu of them, a practically identical system.

CONCLUSION.

The stock fire insurance companies assert that rating bureaus and their auxiliary associations, by their practices, are of great economic value to the public and, combined with the additional work of the companies, have resulted in great reduction of fire waste and, necessarily, fire insurance cost to the public. These activities have, they claim, produced greater uniformity of rates, or, in other words, reduced discrimination to a minimum. The Commission is mindful of the fact that in every calling there are some who disregard the Golden Rule and, according to the testimony, stock fire insurance companies, apparently, have amongst their number some of this class.

In our opinion, the purposes and practices of the four different rating bureaus operating in Pennsylvania, as laid down in their By-Laws, contain nothing of consequence that is inimical to the public interest if honestly observed in spirit as well as practice.

We find a few stock companies that are not members of any rating bureaus; we find several stock companies that are members of rating bureaus in one or more sections of the State but not in other localities; we also find some companies who knowingly violate their own rules and regulations, as laid down in their By-Laws, and also depart from the rates of their association.

Non-board companies, and companies that are non-board in certain localities but members in others, through their various agencies in non-board localities, and evidently for the purpose of securing business—advise the public that Rating Bureaus arbitrarily, without scientific examination or by the law of experience, fix the rates of insurance unreasonably high. So far as your Commission has been able to learn, these practices are confined to a very small number of the stock fire insurance companies doing business within the State. In not a single instance was there any testimony from men of experience—whether board or non-board—that Rating Bureaus were inimical to the public interest. The testimony of those operating non-board agencies was that, in their opinion, Rating Bureaus were a public necessity.

It must be admtited that it is hard to harmonize the theories and practices of a few of the companies upon any other assumption than that they—through greed for business—do not abide by their own obligations and frequently secure business from their competitors through unfair methods. This condition has largely contributed to the general public opinion that Rating Bureaus are inimical to the public interests and should be prohibited. Were the public fully informed on the subject of Fire Insurance, much, if not all, the complaint and criticism would disappear.

It is very evident that it costs the board companies a very large sum to maintain the various organizations to scientifically rate large properties and properties in congested areas where so many elements enter into the fire risk; to carefully inspect the municipal fire fighting appliances, water systems and pressure; to inspect the construction of risks; to reduce the fire loss by providing the most modern methods of fire prevention by the use of fire doors, shutters, wire glass and other means. Under the Decree of the Allegheny County Court the rate fixed by the Bureaus becomes public property and thus non-board companies, either mutual or stock, learn the board rate without any expense to them whatever, and are thus enabled to discount the board price. This, naturally, leads the public to consider Rating Bureaus as against public interest.

In conclusion, your Commissions finds from the testimony adduced before it from all sources, both from the insurer and the insured, as well as that of recognized experts in the fire insurance business, that such combinations of insurance companies, or their representatives or agents, are in accordance with a wise public policy, are necessary to the solvency of the insurance companies and are beneficial to the public. And we now suggest such legislation as, in our judgment, is necessary and advisable for the proper control and supervision of such combinations, their methods and practices.

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the Insurance Commissioner may address inquiries to any individual association or bureau which is or has been engaged in making rates or estimates for rates for fire insurance upon property in this Commonwealth in relation to the organization maintenance or operation or any other matter connected with its transactions and may require the filing of schedules rates forms rules regulations and such other information as may be required and it shall be the duty of every such individual association or bureau or some officer thereof to promptly make such filing or reply to such inquiries in writing Provided however surveys and completed schedules may be required only upon specific complaint being registered with the Insurance Commissioner on specified risks

Section 2 The Insurance Commissioner shall have power to examine any such rating bureau as often as he deems it expedient to do so and shall do so not less than once every three years A report thereof shall be filed in his office The Insurance Commissioner may waive such examination upon the filing with him of a report of such examination made by some other insurance department or proper supervising officer within such three years A statement with regard to such examination shall be made in the annual report of the Insurance Commissioner

Section 3 No fire insurance company or other insurer against the risk of fire or lightning, nor any rating bureau shall fix or charge any rate for fire insurance upon property in this Commonwealth which discriminates unfairly between risks in the application of like charges and credits or which discriminates unfairly between risks of essentially the same hazard and territorial classification and having substantially the same degree of protection against fire

Section 4 Every such company or other insurer shall at least fifteen days in advance of any variation by it from the bureau rate file with the bureau of which it is a member a schedule showing such variations

Secion 5 Except as contained in the policy and the usual agreement for other insurance no such insurance company or insurer or rating bureau shall make any contract or agreement with any person insured or to be insured that the whole or any part of any insurance shall be written by or placed with any particular company insurer agent or any group of companies insurers or agents

Section 6 Every fire insurance company or other insurer authorized to effect insurance against the risk of loss or damage by fire or lightning in this Commonwealth shall maintain or be a member of a rating bureau No such insurer shall be a member of more than one rating bureau for the purpose of rating the same risk. Provided however that the provisions of this section shall not apply to mutual fire insurance companies doing business under a Pennsylvania charter

Section 7 A rating bureau may consist of one or more insurers and when consisting of two or more insurers shall admit to membership any fire insurance company authorized to do business within this Commonwealth applying therefor who shall agree to abide by the rules and regulations of such association or bureau The expenses of the bureau shall be shared in proportion to the gross premiums received in this Commonwealth by each member during the preceding year to which may be added a reasonable annual fee [Each member shall have one vote]

Section 8 Every fire insurance company or other insurer aforesaid shall in its annual application for license specify each rating bureau making rates upon property located within this Commonwealth of which it is a member and during the year file written notice of any such other rating bureaus of which it shall become a member

Section 9 Every rating bureau engaged in making rates or estimates for rates for fire insurance on property in this Commonwealth shall inspect every risk specifically rated by it upon schedule and make a written survey of such risk which shall be filed as a permanent record in the office of such bureau A copy of such survey shall be furnished to the owner or his authorized agent upon request

Section 10 No fire insurance Company or any other insurer and no rating bureau or any representative of any fire insurance company or other insurer or rating bureau shall enter into or act upon any agreement with regard to the making fixing or collecting of any rate for fire insurance upon property within this Commonwealth except in compliance with this act

Section 11 Any such agreement may be made and enforced provided the same be not contrary to prohibitions conforming to law and practice of this Commonwealth and be in writing and prior to its taking effect a copy thereof be filed with the Insurance Commissioner and with each rating bureau of which any of the parties thereto shall be a member or subsriber

Section 12 The Insurance Commissioner may after due notice and hearing upon complaint or upon his own motion make an order disapproving any such agreement or any part of such agreement No such agreement shall be in force nor shall any rights be based thereon after service of a copy of such order upon each of the parties to such agreement and upon each bureau with which such agreement is required to be filed Service may be made by mail and shall be completed upon the expiration of a reasonable time for transmission fixed in such order The action of the Insurance Commissioner in making or refusing to make any such order shall be subject to summary review before a court of competent jurisdiction of this Commonwealth

Section 13 All acts or parts of acts in so far as the same are inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed

An Act to amend sections fourteen and seventeen of an act approved June first one thousand nine hundred and eleven entitled "An Act to establish an Insurance Department authorizing the appointment of an Insurance Commissioner and prescribing his powers and duties also providing for the licensing examination regulation and dissolution of insurance and surety companies and associations and for the licensing and regulation of insurance agents and insurance brokers also providing for the collection of fees and prescribing penalties for the violation of any of the provisions of this act and repealing all existing acts" as amended by an act of July twenty-fourth one thousand nine hundred and thirteen

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section fourteen of an act approved June first one thousand nine hundred and eleven enitled "An Act to establish an Insurance Department authorizing the appointment of an Insurance Commissioner and prescribing his powers and duties also providing for the licensing examination regulation and dissolution of insurance and surety companies and associations and for the licensing and regulation of insurance agents and insurance brokers also providing for the collection of fees and prescribing penalties for the violation of any of the provisions of this act and repealing all existing acts" as amended by the act of July twenty-fourth one thousand nine hundred and thirteen which reads as follows

"Section 14 Companies to which certificates of authority are issued shall from time to time certify to the Insurance Commissioner the names of all agents appointed by them to solicit risks in this Commonwealth Such agents may be either individuals co-parterships or corporations No agent shall transact any business until a certificate has been procured from the Commissioner showing that the company has complied with the requirements of law and that the person co-partnership or corporation named in said certificate has been duly appointed as its agent No license shall be issued to a corporation unless by its charter it is authorized to engage in the insurance or real estate business

When a license is issued to a co-partnership or corporation every officer of the corporation and each director thereof who engages in the business of soliciting insurance and each member of the co-partnership shall be required to have an individual license but no additional fee shall be exacted for issuing the license to the corporation or co-partnership

Certificates to agents of life insurance companies other than industrial agents collecting premiums on the weekly or monthly plan shall be issued upon written application which application shall be approved and countersigned by the company to be represented and shall be upon a form prescribed by the Commissioner and which shall give such information as he may require The Commissioner may refuse to issue a certificate to any agent or to renew the same or he may suspend or revoke any certificate when it shall appear to his satisfaction that the applicant for a certificate or agent holding a certificate has by misconduct or by misappropriation of collected premiums or by misrepresentation or incomplete or misleading comparison of policies oral written or otherwise for the purpose of inducing or tending to induce a policyholder in any company to lapse forfeit or surrender his insurance therein and to take out a policy of insurance in another company insuring against similar risks or otherwise proved to be unfit to hold such certificate When a certificate shall be refused or suspended or revoked the party aggrieved may appeal to the court of common pleas of Dauphin County" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 14 Companies to which certificates of authority are issued shall from time to time certify to the Insurance Commissioner the names of all agents appointed by them to solicit risks in this Commonwealth. Such agents may be either individuals co-partnerships or corporations. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to act as agent for any insurance company authorized to transact business in this Commonwealth until a license shall have been issued to him or it authorizing him or it to act as such agent which license shall specifically set forth the name of the person, firm or corporation so authorized to act as such agent in the name of the corporation or association for which the agent is authorized to act and the classes of insurance for which said agent is authorized to solicit and or countersign policies and otherwise transact business. No license shall be issued to a corporation unless by its charter it is authorized to engage in the insurance or real estate business

When a license is issued to a co-partnership or corporation every officer of the corporation and each director thereof who engages in the business of soliciting insurance and each member of the co-partnership shall be required to have an individual license but no additional fee shall be exacted for issuing the license to the corporation or co-partnership

Licenses to agents shall not be granted under this Act until the person, firm or corporation desiring to act as agent shall have filed with the Insurance Commissioner an application duly signed and verified upon a form prescribed by the Insurance Commissioner giving such information as he may require in order to determine his fitness to hold such license Provided that the industrial agents of life insurance companies collecting premiums on the weekly or monthly plan shall not be required to make individual application

The Insurance Commissioner may refuse to issue a license to any agent or to renew the same or he may suspend or revoke any certificate when it shall appear to his satisfaction that the applicant for a license or the agent holding a license has by misconduct or by misappropriation of collected premiums or by misrepresentations or incomplete or misleading comparison of policies oral written or otherwise for the purpose of inducing or tending to induce a policyholder in any company to lapse forfeit or surrender his insurance therein and take a policy of insurance in another company insuring against similar risks or otherwise proved to be unfit to hold such license When a license shall be refused or suspended or revoked the party aggrieved may appeal to the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County

Section 2 That section seventeen which reads as follows

"Section 17 An agent is an individual co-partnership or corporation authorized in writing by a company

(a) To solicit risks and collect premiums and to issue or countersign policies in its behalf or

(b) To solicit risks and collect premiums in its behalf

No individual co-partnership or corporation shall act as agent of any insurance company transacting business in this Commonwealth until a certificate has been issued by the Commissioner stating that the company has complied with the requirements of this act and that the individual co-partnership or corporation named therein has been duly appointed its agent

Any individual co-partnership or corporation transacting business within this Commonwealth as the agent of an insurance company without a certificate as required by this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of five hundred dollars" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 17 An agent is hereby defined as a person firm or corporation acting under express authority from any insurance company authorized to transact business in Pennsylvania to solicit insurance and or write and countersign policies of insurance and collect premiums therefor within this Commonwealth on behalf of such companies A solicitor is hereby defined as any person acting under express authority from an agent having authority to appoint solicitors of an insurance company authorized to transact business in this Commonwealth to solicit insurance for such agent but without the power or authority to issue or countersign policies or otherwise bind any company of which such agent may be the duly authorized representative

Any agent duly authorized as such and representing one or more insurance companies within this Commonwealth may employ such solicitors as he may desire to represent him and his agency but such solicitors shall not represent themselves by advertisement or otherwise as agents of insurance companies for which their employer may be the authorized agent Such solicitors shall in all instances represent themselves only as solicitors for said authorized agents

The Insurance Commissioner shall prepare a form of license to be issued by him to any such solicitor on requisition of any legally authorized agent in this Commonwealth The fee for each solicitor's license so issued shall be $5.00

The issuance of a solicitor's license shall be limited to persons who shall be residents of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania Provided however that the provisions of this section shall not apply to insurance brokers

Any individual co-partnership or corporation transacting business within this Commonwealth as the agent of an insurance company or as a solicitor without a license as required by this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of five hundred dollars

An Act to provide a standard form of policy contract to be issued by fire insurance companies transacting business in Pennsylvania designating the provisions thereof exempting certain policies and prescribing penalties for any violations

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That on and after January 1 1916 no insurance company shall issue fire insurance policies except policies of perpetual insurance on property in this Commonwealth other than those of the standard form herein set forth except as follows

First A company may print on its policies its name location and date of incorporation plan of operation whether stock or mutual and if the former the amount of its paid up capital stock the name of its officers and agents the number and date of the policy and if it is issued through an agent the words "This policy shall not be valid until countersigned by the duly authorized agent of the company at ————————"

Second A company may print or use in its policies printed forms of description and specifications of the property insured

Third A company incorporated in this Commonwealth may print in its policies any provisions which it is authorized or required by law to insert therein and any company not incorporated in this Commonwealth may with the approval of the Insurance Commissioner so print any provision required by its charter or deed of settlement or by the laws of its own state or country not contrary to the laws of this Commonwealth but the Insurance Commissioner shall require any provision which in his opinion modifies the contract of insurance in such way as to effect the question of loss to be appended to the policy by a slip or rider as hereinafter provided

Fourth The blanks in said standard form may be filled in print or writing

Fifth A company may print upon policies issued in compliance with the preceding provisions of this section the words "Pennsylvania Standard Policy" and may include the name of any state or states which may adopt this form of policy

Sixth A company may write upon the margin or across the face of the policy or print in type not smaller than long primer upon separate slips or riders to be attached thereto provisions adding to or modifying those contained in the standard form and all such slips riders and provisions must be signed by the officers or agents of the company so issuing them

Section 2 Said standard form shall be plainly printed and no portion thereof shall be in type smaller than long primer and shall be as follows

This policy is made and accepted subject to the foregoing stipulations and conditions, and to the stipulations and conditions printed on the back hereof, which are hereby made a part of this policy, together with such other provisions, stipulations and conditions as may be endorsed hereon or added hereto as herein provided.

In Witness Whereof, this Company has executed and attested these presents.

Fraud, misrepresentation, etc.

This entire policy shall be void if the insured has concealed or misrepresented any material fact or circumstance concerning this insurance or the subject thereof; or in case of any fraud or false swearing by the insured touching any matter relating to this insurance or the subject thereof, whether before or after a loss.

Property which can not be insured.

This policy shall not cover accounts, bills, currency, deeds, evidences of debt, money, notes or securities.

Hazards not covered.

This Company shall not be liable for loss or damage caused directly or indirectly by invasion, insurrection, riot, civil war or commotion, or military or usurped power, or by order of any civil authority; or by theft; or by neglect of the insured to use all reasonable means to save and preserve the property at and after a fire or when the property is endangered by fire in neighboring premises.

This entire policy shall be void, unless otherwise provided by agreement in writing added hereto,

Ownership, etc.

(a) if the interest of the insured be other than unconditional and sole ownership; or (b) if the subject of insurance be a building on ground not owned by the insured in fee simple; or (c) if, with the knowledge of the insured, foreclosure proceedings be commenced or notice given of sale of any property insured hereunder by reason of any mortgage or trust deed; or (d) if any change, other than by the death of an insured, take place in the interest, title or possession of the subject of insurance (except change of occupants without increase of hazard); or (e) if this policy be assigned before a loss.

Unless otherwise provided by agreement in writing added hereto this Company shall not be liable for loss or damage occurring,

Other insurance.

(a) while the insured shall have any other contract of insurance, whether valid or not, on property covered in whole or in part by this policy; or

Increase of hazard.

(b) while the hazard is increased by any means within the control or knowledge of the insured; or Repairs, etc.

(c) while mechanics are employed in building, altering or repairing the described premises beyond a period of fifteen days; or

Explosives, gas, etc.

(d) while illuminating gas or vapor is generated on the described premises; or while (any usage or custom to the contrary notwithstanding) there is kept, used or allowed on the described premises fireworks, greek fire, phosphorus, explosives, benzine, gasoline, naphtha or any other product of petroleum of greater inflammability than kerosene oil, gunpowder exceeding twenty-five pounds, or kerosene oil exceeding five barrels; or Factories.

(e) if the subject of insurance be a manufacturing establishment while operated in whole or in part between the hours of ten P. M. and five A. M., or while it ceases to be operated beyond a period of ten days; or Unoccupancy.

(f) while a described building, whether intended for occupancy by or tenant, is vacant or unoccupied beyond a period of ten days; or Excepted property.

(g) to bullion, manuscripts, mechanical drawings, dies or patterns; or Explosion lightning.

(h) by explosion or lightning, unless fire ensue, and, in that event, for loss or damage by fire only.

Chattel mortgage.

Unless otherwise provided by agreement in writing added hereto this Company shall not be liable for loss or damage to any property insured hereunder while incumbered by a chattel mortgage, and during the time of such incumbrance this Company shall be liable only for loss or damage to any other property insured hereunder.

Fall of building.

If a building, or any material part thereof, fall except as the result of fire, all insurance by this policy on such building or its contents shall immediately cease.

Added clauses.

The extent of the application of insurance under this policy and of the contribution to be made by this Company in case of loss or damage, and any other agreement not inconsistent with or a waiver of any of the conditions or provisions of this policy, may be provided for by rider added hereto.

Waiver.

No one shall have power to waive any provision or condition of this policy except such as by the terms of this policy may be the subject of agreement added hereto, nor shall any such provision or condition be held to be waived unless such waiver shall be in writing added hereto, nor shall any provision or condition of this policy or any forfeiture be held to be waived by any requirement, act or proceeding on the part of this Company relating to appraisal or to any examination herein provided for; nor shall any privilege or permission affecting the insurance hereunder exist or be claimed by the insured unless granted herein or by rider added hereto.

Cancellation of policy.

This policy shall be cancelled at any time at the request of the insured, in which case the Company shall, upon demand and surrender of this policy, refund the excess of paid premium above the customary short rates for the expired time. This policy may be cancelled at any time by the Company by giving to the insured a five days' written notice of cancellation with or without tender of the excess of paid premium above the pro rata premium for the expired time, which excess, if not tendered, shall be refunded on demand. Notice of cancellation shall state that said excess premium (if not tendered) will be refunded on demand.

Pro rata liability.

This Company shall not be liable for a greater proportion of any loss or damage than the amount hereby insured shall bear to the whole insurance covering the property, whether valid or not and whether collectible or not.

Noon.

The word "noon" herein means noon of standard time at the place of loss or damage.

Mortgage Interests.

If loss or damage is made payable, in whole or in part, to a mortgagee, this policy may be cancelled as to such interest by giving to the mortgagee a ten days' written notice of cancellation. Upon failure of the insured to render proof of loss such mortgagee shall, as if named as insured hereunder, but within sixty days after such failure, render proof of loss and be subject to the provisions hereof as to appraisal and time of payment. On payment to a mortgagee of any sum for loss or damage hereunder, if this Company shall claim that as to the mortgagor or owner, no liability existed, it shall, to the extent of such payment be subrogated to the mortgagee's right of recovery and claim upon the collateral to the mortgage debt, but without impairing the mortgagee's right to sue; or it may pay the mortgage debt and require an assignment thereof and of the mortgage. Except as stated in this paragraph, the agreement between a mortgagee and this Company shall be only as stated by rider added hereto.

Requirements in case of loss.

The insured shall give immediate notice, in writing, to this Company, of any loss or damage, protect the property from further damage, forthwith separate the damaged and undamaged personal property, put it in the best possible order, furnish a complete inventory of the destroyed, damaged and undamaged property, stating the quantity and cost of each article and the amount claimed thereon; and, the insured shall, within sixty days after the fire, unless such time is extended in writing by this Company, render to this Company a proof of loss, signed and sworn to by the insured, stating the knowledge and belief of the insured as to the time and origin of the fire; the interest of the insured and of all others in the property; the cash value of each item thereof and the amount of loss or damage thereto; all incumbrances thereon; all other contracts of insurance, whether valid or not, covering any of said property; and a copy of all the descriptions and schedules in all policies; any changes in the title, use, occupation, location, possession, or exposures of said property since the issuing of this policy; and by whom and for what purpose any building herein described and the several parts thereof were occupied at the time of fire; and shall furnish, if required, verified plans and specifications of any building, fixtures or machinery destroyed or damaged. The insured, as often as may be reasonably required, shall exhibit to any person designated by this Company all that remains of any property herein described, and submit to examinations under oath by any person named by this Company, and subscribe the same; and, as often as may be reasonably required, shall produce for examination all books of account, bills, invoices, and other vouchers, or certified copies thereof, if originals be lost, at such reasonable time and place as may be designated by this Company or its representative, and shall permit extracts and copies thereof to be made.

Appraisal.

In case the insured and this Company shall fail to agree as to the amount of loss or damage, each shall, on the written demand of either, select a competent and disinterested appraiser. The appraisers shall first select a competent and disinterested umpire; and failing for fifteen days to agree upon such umpire then, on request of the insured or this Company, such umpire shall be selected by a judge of a court of record in the state in which the property insured is located. The appraisers shall then appraise the loss and damage stating separately sound value and loss or damage to each item; and failing to agree, shall submit their differences only, to the umpire. An award in writing, so itemized, of any two when filed with this Company shall determine the amount of sound value and loss or damage. Each appraiser shall be paid by the party selecting him and the expenses of appraisal and umpire shall be paid by the parties equally.

Company's options.

It shall be optional with this Company to take all, or any part, of the articles at the agreed or appraised value, and also to repair, rebuild, or replace the property lost or damaged with other of like kind and quality within a reasonable time, on giving notice of its intention so to do within thirty days after the receipt of the proof of loss herein required; but Abandonment.

There can be no abandonment to this Company of any property.

When loss payable.

The amount of loss or damage for which this Company may be liable shall be payable sixty days after proof of loss, as herein provided, is received by this Company and ascertainment of the loss or damage is made either by agreement between the insured and this Company expressed in writing or by the filing with this Company of an award as herein provided.

Suit.

No suit or action on this policy, for the recovery of any claim, shall be sustainable in any court of law or equity unless the insured shall have complied with all the requirements of this policy, nor unless commenced within twelve months next after the fire.

Subrogation.

This Company may require from the insured an assignment of all right of recovery against any party for loss or damage to the extent that payment therefor is made by this Company.

Section 3 Any person corporation or company that shall either as principal or agent wilfully issue or cause to be issued any policy or contract of fire insurance on property situated within this Commonwealth contrary to the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not exceeding five hundred dollars Any policy issued in violation of this act shall nevertheless be construed in accordance with the provisions of this act Provided however that as the provisions of this act are not applicable to policies of perpetual insurance such perpetual policies shall not be required to conform to the requirements of this act

1. NON-FIRE DEPT. TOWNS.—If town is deficient in having no water-works (11), fire-engines (12), fire-alarm telegraph (14), police system (15), fire department organization (16), fire marshal or fire coroner (22), nor other appliances than bucket and cisterns, add ..... 32 cts.

Note.—This clause is intended to group the charges of towns having no fire-department or water-works, to save time in making up the "key-rate," and covers items 2 to 22 both inclusive.

It is not necessary to elaborate upon the explanation of this clause; it greatly facilitates computing the key-rate of towns which are entirely without fire appliances.

2. WATER-WORKS—If gravity system but not standard pressure, being simply sufficient to keep mains full for supply of engines, charge..... 2 cts.

Note.—This deficiency will entail charges for No. 12, if no steamers to supply needed pressure, and will, also, not entitle the city to reduction for auxiliary steamers, No. 33, which will practically increase charges. The advantages of water-works are brought home to each risk by hydrant deductions, Nos. 155, 190, &c.

A gravity system of water-works with standard pressure is of importance for two reasons:

1st. The pressure is always available night and day for supplying the necessary force, which cannot be said of the so-called direct pressure systems, such as the Holly system, and others, which may not have steam up for the pumping engines, or which have been known to break down when most needed.

2d. Exerting a uniform pressure on the pipe system, there is less danger of rupture of mains than in the case of direct systems, which exert suddenly an abnormal pressure for an occasion.

The schedule is, therefore, based on a standard of gravity water-works with sufficient head, and any variation from this requirement entails a charge, not measured simply by the two cents in the key-rate above, but, as suggested in the above note, subjecting the city to the charge for absence of steamers, at No. 12, and depriving the city of the reduction for auxiliary steamers, No. 33.

Indirectly the advantages of a gravity system are recognized by hydrant deductions later on, 155, 190, &c., and the deduction for gravity pressure on both buildings and stocks, pages 47 and 50. These properly recognize the advantages of a gravity system.

3. If not gravity, standard pressure, but instead thereof a direct pressure system, duplicate pumps operated by water power, add ..... 3 cts.

For reasons already stated, a direct pressure system is not equal to the gravity, and should be charged for. Water power pumps are preferable to steam pumps as steam might not be up at time of fire.

The succeeding paragraphs, Nos. 4, 5 and 6 recognize the difference between duplicate pumps and single pumps and pumps operated by steam power, both single and duplicate machinery.

4. If pumps not in duplicate, charge instead of No. 3, ... 5 cts.

5. If direct pressure system, pumps operated by steam-power, but with the pumping machinery in duplicate, charge ..... 4 cts.

6. If direct pressure system, pumps operated by steam-power, pumps not duplicate, charge..... 7 cts.

The duplication should extend to all essential features of the plant, boilers, etc.

7. If direct pressure, but without stand-pipe or reservoir with capacity of ten hours' supply, at full pressure—75 lbs. at hydrant, (unless pumping machinery is in duplicate, in which case add 2 cts.), charge in addition to Nos. 3, 4, 5 or 6, ... 5 cts.

A stand-pipe or elevated reservoir even of ten hours' supply is of advantage, but particularly in cases where the pumping machinery is not in duplicate, as is recognized in this paragraph.

8. If pumping station is endangered by, or occupied in part for, electric-light station, special hazard, or for other purpose, add not less than..... 10 cts.

The fault of utilizing the machinery and building of a pumping station for an electric-light station or other hazard, whose destruction would endanger the pumping station, in itself not likely to burn, seems to be overlooked with a frequency that is incomprehensible.

Fire-Proof Pumping Station.

It would seem unnecessary to state that the building on whose existence the safety of a city depends should be safe from fire and separated from dangerous manufacturing or other hazards and especially from Electric Lighting Stations. It will be observed that charge is made (item No. 8) for an electric-light station or other special hazard in the pump-house or exposing it. It is a grave question if this charge ought not to be higher, even to the extent of making the "key-rate" of a city having a direct pressure system, so jeopardized, higher than that of a town without any water-works at all, in view, first, of the fact that individual risks in such a town get credit afterwards for proximity to hydrants to the extent possibly of 15 per cent. (see Nos. 155, 156) and, second, of the fact that a company's conflagration line in the direct pressure town would have been increased by reason of the pressure, but all benefit of the system lost if a fire destroying the pump-house should happen to be coincident with the raging of a conflagration in the city.

9. If not duplicate Supply Main from reservoir or pumping station, add ..... 2 cts.
(If intermediate storage reservoir or stand-pipe with 10 hours supply to be relied upon in case of breakage, no charge.)

This charge probably does not need suggestion as to its propriety.

10. If water pipes in mercantile portion be less than 8 inches, as a minimum, or if hydrants be less than 6-inch barrels, charge according to deficiency, but not less than ..... 3 cts.

This matter will be found to be more fully explained in the article on Water Supply.

11. If the only water supply is from public and private wells and cisterns, or natural streams, canals or ponds near enough to compact portion to be available with engine, suction, charge, according to supply, not less than ..... 10 cts.

This clause is self-explanatory, but it may be well to state here, what will probably be observed, viz., that it does not measure the entire difference between a town without any water supply other than private wells and cisterns and a town with a poor water supply; an unsupplied town would have higher rates by not securing the deductions later on for proximity to hydrants, etc., Nos. 155, 156, etc., page 45.

WATER-WORKS IN THE UNIVERSAL SCHEDULE.

It will be observed that the schedule recognizes efficiency and reliability of water-works in the following order:

1. Gravity system, with an "effective head" and "volume" at the hydrants. For recognition in schedule rating, the reservoir should contain at all times at least five days' supply for domestic and fire service which should be maintained and is more reliable if supplied by hydraulic pumps in duplicate, from a river or other inexhaustible supply, not liable to drought. If the pumps, whether steam or hydraulic, are arranged to secure also direct pressure on the pipes in emergency, as already explained, both kinds of service may be secured.

2. Hydraulic Pumps, in duplicate, with storage reservoir or tank standpipe of ten hours' supply for domestic and fire service.

3. Steam Pumps, in duplicate, with a tank stand-pipe or storage reservoir of ten hours' supply for domestic and fire service.

4. Direct pressure from Hydraulic Pumps, in duplicate, without tank stand-pipe or storage reservoir.

5. Direct pressure from Steam Pumps, in duplicate, without tank stand-pipe or reservoir.

A reservoir system is preferable to all others, and insures uniform pressure in pipes, involving less danger of breakage. While a large reservoir is desirable for storage purposes, however, it is not indispensable for fire purposes. A reservoir sufficient to hold a supply for both domestic and fire service of ten hours would probably be ample for extinguishing any fire. One million gallons storage will supply eleven, standard, 250 gallon fire streams for six hours, and for the ordinary city up to 15,000 inhabitants, a million gallons could be considered an ample storage reserve for fire purposes.

CAPACITY OF CISTERNS OR STAND-PIPES IN U. S. GALLONS.

For each 12 inches of depth.

The following table will enable any one to estimate the capacity of tank stand-pipes or cisterns of cylindrical form in U. S. gallons for each 12 inches of depth:

4 feet diameter....	94	11 feet diameter....	711
5 feet diameter....	147	12 feet diameter....	846
6 feet diameter....	211½	13 feet diameter....	993
7 feet diameter....	288	14 feet diameter....	1,115½
8 feet diameter....	376	15 feet diameter....	1,322
9 feet diameter....	476	20 feet diameter....	2,350
10 feet diameter....	587½	25 feet diameter....	3,672

For example, a cistern 25 feet in diameter would contain 3,672 gallons for every foot of depth; and if 10 feet deep, 36,720 gallons, or 918 bbls.

A simple rule may be stated as follows: To find the contents in U. S. standard gallons for each foot of depth of a cylindrical cistern with a circular base, multiply the square of the diameter (in feet) by 5⅞; the product will be the contents in gallons.*

For example, a cistern 20 feet in diameter and 10 feet deep would contain 20x20x5⅞x10=23,500 gallons (see table on page 16).

12. Steam Fire-Engines—If none, add..... 7 cts.
Steam Fire-Engines—If one, add..... 4 cts.

No charge for absence of steam fire-engines, if direct pressure system or gravity water-works with head sufficient to throw a 1⅛ inch stream through 200 feet of hose over highest building and sufficient good hose for at least six streams. This would require an effective head at hydrants of 160 feet, or say a pressure of 75 lbs.

This charge is intended to measure the absence of steam fire engines only in the key-rate and its effect upon all risks in the town. The standard requirement is two steamers per square mile and this is a deficiency charge.

13. Hose—If less than 1,000 feet of serviceable hose per steamer (there should be 2,000 feet) or less than 20 feet per hydrant, if direct pressure (but not less in any case than a total of 2,000 feet), charge according to circumstances, size of town, character of buildings, etc., but not less than..... 3 cts.

(No charge, of course, if charge has been made for absence of steamers, of direct pressure, etc.)

14. Fire-Alarm Telegraph—If none, add..... 5 cts.

(Underground wires preferable.)

Note.—If fire alarm system is by key boxes (objectionable), the keys to be deposited in some public place accessible to citizens as well as policemen and firemen. Neighboring drug stores, for example, are good depositories, because accessible at most hours of the day and night. The Central Station should not be in a dangerous building.

The keyless boxes are preferable to make sure that an alarm will be sent in promptly and to save the delay of searching for the key. The fears that alarms will be sent in by mischievous persons prove unfounded in actual practice. Underground wires, of course, prevent interruption of service by storms or falling buildings.

15. Police Organization—If none, add..... 2 cts.

Self-explanatory.

*The cubic contents in feet of a cylinder like a cistern are obtained by multiplying the area of the circle by the depth in feet. Inasmuch as the area of a circle is obtained by multiplying the square of the diameter by .7854, and inasmuch as a cubic foot of water contains 7.48 gallons, it is only necessary to multiply the square of the diameter by the product of 7.48×.7854=5⅞, to obtain the result in gallons, without the longer computation.

16. Fire Department Organization—If none, charge 6 cts.
(If charge is made for 16, omit 17, 18, 19, 20 and 21.)

17. If less than 12 paid men to each steamer, or four men to each hose cart where direct pressure or gravity system is relied upon, add..... 2 cts.

18. If only engineer and driver paid, add..... 3 cts.

If not paid by municipality but by Volunteer Department charge 4 cents and omit No. 21.

(No charge if no steamers.)

19. If firemen paid according to number of fires attended, charge same as No. 16..... 6 cts.

20. If paid fire department, but not free from improper political control and influences, add from 1 cent to ..... 4 cts.

21. If volunteer, add ..... 5 cts.

These charges will be self-explanatory.

22. Fire Marshal or Fire Coroner—If none, add.... 2 cts.

The smallness of the charge would probably be the only criticism made upon it; but it was carefully considered and is believed to be relatively correct.

23. Streets—In mercantile section, if not paved or macadamized, or if exceeding say 10 per cent. are impassable for engines during wet seasons, add..... 2 cts.

Note.—While streets are impassable the fire engines and extinguishing appliances of a city are, of course, practically useless.

24. If exceeding 40 per cent. of whole number in mercantile section are less than 70 feet wide, add.... 2 cts.

These clauses need no explanation.

25. Building Law—If none, or not well enforced, or if no ordinance as to storage of explosives, etc., add 3 cts.

It has been suggested that charge No. 25 is too low, but the intimation overlooks the fact that this entire schedule is, in effect, a building law and, by its penalties of charges and encouragement of deductions, will do more to enforce proper building methods than any municipal or state regulation which is simply mandatory.

26. Electric Trolley (or other dangerous) system of street railway, add ..... 2 cts.

27. Conflagration Hazard—Danger of sweeping fires from outlying exposures, such as extensive frame or lumber districts, aggregations of special hazards, especially wood-workers, about a common water-power, or along a water-front near enough to endanger city, not less than ..... 5 cts.

This charge should be very carefully considered. The schedule is based upon the ordinary conflagration hazard of the average city. Where mercantile and other buildings are abnormally high, especially in the class of towns known as "six-story towns with two-story fire departments," water mains small, and general construction poor, by reason of incorrect building methods, defective bricks and mortar, etc., a liberal charge should be made under this item. The "lay of the land" also should be taken into account, and an extra charge should be made for cities built upon a hill or mountain-side, such as Quebec, St. Johns, N. F., Lynchburg, Va., etc. Such conditions minimize the separating effect even of wide streets. Where cities are located in canons, also, a charge should be made, as in the case of Hot Springs, Ark., Virginia City, etc. (The latter town was destroyed in 1875.) In Astoria, Ore., the business section is built on spiles, with an air space below, and is therefore more liable to a sweeping fire by reason of this fact.

The destruction, in May, 1900, of Ottawa and Hull, Can., due to the burning of large accumulations of lumber, outlying exposures, etc., is a more recent instance enforcing the importance of studying the environment of cities.

28. Natural Gas or Oil for Fuel, add ..... 2 cts.

The hazard of natural gas has of late years been better understood, and the great number of fires due to its use when first applied for heating, cooking, etc., has been largely cut down. Meanwhile, the insurance companies stood in the breach, as it is always their misfortune to do in the case of all new hazards, and paid for all mistakes and lack of proper precautions.

29. High Winds—If city subject to high winds, add according to hazard, say ..... 5 cts.

30. PREVIOUS FIRE RECORD—This schedule is based on the supposition of a normal fire record of the city or town to be rated. If, however, the previous fire record of the place has been abnormal and disastrous, a higher basis rate for a standard building in such place should be made, in accordance with such record. An average annual loss on mercantile risks for the previous period of five years of not exceeding $5 for each $1,000 of insurance or value, as shown by the books of the principle insurance agents, may be regarded as normal. For each dollar of loss or part thereof, in excess of $5 per $1,000 of insurance on Mercantile Business, 20 per cent. should be added to the above basis rate of a standard building in the city to be rated.

(Twenty per cent. of the key-rate to be the maximum increase or addition for any one sweeping fire or conflagration.)

For example, if the average annual fire loss for the previous five years has been at the rate of $7 per each $1,000 of insurance, and the rate of a standard building in such city has been ascertained, as above, to be 40 cents, 40 per cent. thereof, or 16 cents, should be added, making 56 cents as the basis rate of a standard building.

By way of illustration, let us suppose a town whose insurance on mercantile values—buildings and stocks—amounts to $20,000,000. If its average losses amount to $100,000 per annum, they would be at the rate of $5 per $1,000 of insurance, or normal. If the average rate be 1 per cent. the premiums would be $200,000, and the loss ratio 50 per cent.; but, let us suppose that instead of $100,000 losses per annum, the annual loss is $140,000. This would be at the rate of $7 per $1,000 or $2 per $1,000 in excess of normal, and 70 per cent. of the premiums at 1 per cent. The schedule would increase the rate 20 per cent. for each dollar in excess of five, or 40 per cent., and, at a rate of 140, the premiums would be $280,000 on which the $140,000 of losses would be 50 per cent. Mercantile values of a city and the annual fire loss can be estimated with approximate correctness by an intelligent expert, assisted by the local agents or by the Companies. Even where not possible to get accurate figures, however, anything gained under this item of the schedule will be a practical improvement on present methods, which ignore this feature of previous fire record altogether.

REDUCED FIRE WASTE—There should be a reduction, also, of 1 per cent. of premium rate for each 1 per cent. decrease in fire waste below 55 per cent., not exceeding 15 per cent. on a three year period. (See page 123.)

31. Exceptional Features of City—If the city or town has unfavorable features [not provided for in the schedule] which are exceptional, and which should be provided for in the general city charge as affecting all structures in the compact portion, charge according to danger, ...

Note.—The only supply water-main for an important Southern city, for example, crosses a wooden railroad bridge, The locomotives using wood for fuel. An important Western city was dependent, at one time, upon the working of a telephone to secure water for fires. It did not work and a conflagration was the result. Such faults should be roundly charged for.

The Galveston, Texas, water supply was cut off by the great storm of September, 1900. The water supply of an important city in North Carolina depends upon a single fireman some distance from the city and an accident to him would cripple the service. It is strange that such contingencies are so frequently overlooked.

DEDUCTIONS.

32. Chemical Engines on Wheels—For each deduct (not exceeding 5 per cent. in all) from foregoing total 3%

These are admirable in their way, and where used with intelligence by the chief of the fire department frequently save immense loss to underwriters, which would otherwise result from throwing large quantities of water on damageable stocks, like hardware, millinery, etc. They are gradually winning their way, so that most of the practical fire chiefs are using them.

33. Auxiliary Steamers—Where a city has gravity water-works, with head sufficient to throw over highest building, or direct pressure system, and sufficient hose for six streams, if one or more steam engines, maintained in good condition, are also provided, deduct 5%

It is too frequently the case that municipalities with gravity water-works, or with a direct pressure system, fail to provide fire steamers, or, having them already, dispense with them upon securing the direct pressure system. Those towns which keep them should have recognition of them.

34. Hook and Ladder Trucks—One to every four steamers 5%

Result—The Basis or "Key-Rate" for a standard Building in said city .....

(For illusration see page 59.)

This basis rate once obtained, in this manner, will be the "Key" Rate for rating all buildings in the city, and so ascertained, it is only necessary, thereafter, to use the following schedules for rating all structures.

FINAL RATE ON BUILDING .....

N. B.—If building not within 300 feet of a hydrant on a properly fed 6-inch or larger water main increase rate 20%

Rate of building occupied, No. 128, above ..... cts.

Deduct a sum equal to 10% of deficiencies of building (i. e. 10% of excess of item No. 127 over 20 cents) or .30 or .35) as follows:
Rate 127.....cents, minus 20 cents (or .30 or .35), equals ..... cents; 10% of which (.....cents) deducted from No. 128 leaves.....

Key Rate.

This will be the KEY OR BASIS RATE FOR ALL STOCKS IN BUILDING

Add 75% of amount named for stock to be rated (No.....) in second column of Occupancy Table .....

Add, if entire stock is above or below grade floor, each floor, 5 cents .....

If distributed over two or more floors, add the charges for all and divide by the number of floors covered to get the average. For example, for third floor 10 cts., fourth 15 cts., and fifth 20 cts., total 45 cts., divided by 3 equals 15 cts. If stock extends only over the three floors—grade, basement and second floor, no charge or deduction.

EXPOSURE

Calculate the exposure as per tables, for given distance or condition for each side and enter in its column, add or substract from charge as follows: carrying the net result by successive processes down the column to the bottom.

	Front	Right	Rear	Left
Height Rate
Distance
Length of Side
RATE OF EXPPOSURE LESS THAN 1 PER CENT., pro rate charge.
BUILDINGS SEPARATED.—With openings. N. B.—(Wooden Cornice or Wooden Mansard same as openings.)
BLANK WALL OF RISK towards exposure deduct 4-5 of charge. (No deductions if wooden cornice or mansard.)
BLANK WALL of Exposure towards risk, deduct ½.
BLANK WALL TO BOTH, deduct 90 per cent.
OPENINGS NOT OPPOSITE each other, deduct 30 per cent.
OPENINGS ON GRADE OR FIRST FLOOR ONLY, deduct 25 per cent.
IF BUILDINGS ADJOINING.—Charge as per tables E and F.
WALLS NOT THROUGH ROOF.—If division wall between two adjoining risks does not extend through roof, cutting off roof timbers, charge same as per tables E and F for communications above first floor with single fire door.
LENGTH OF EXPOSED SIDE OF RISK.—Less than 75 running feet, 1 per cent. less for each foot. No deduction if adjoining with communications.
LENGTH of Exposure.—Less than 75 feet, ½ per cent. less for each foot. (N. B.—No deduction under these items, however, if the exposure building contains oils or other "grese risks." Wholesale Drugs, stocks of Furniture, Agricultural Implements, Carriage or Wagon Materials or other Wood risks—hazards of intense combustibility.)

HEIGHT OF EXPOSURE.—If less than 5 stories, deduct 10 per cent. for each story less than 5. If over 5 stories, add 25 per cent. for each story over 5.
FALLING WALL HAZARD.—Add not less than 2 per cent. of the rate of the exposing risk.
GLASS FRONT OR SIDE OF RISK.—Increase charge 10 per cent. if first story, 20 per cent. for second, and 10 per cent. for each additional story.
GLASS FRONT OF EXPOSURE.—Increase charge 20 per cent. for each glass story above first or grade floor.
STANDARD FIRE SHUTTERS OR WIRED GLASS WINDOWS.—To window openings of risk, deduct 2-5.
STANDARD FIRE SHUTTERS OR WIRED GLASS WINDOWS.—To openings of exposure, deduct 1-3.
STANDARD FIRE SHUTTERS OR WIRED GLASS WINDOWS.—TO BOTH risk and exposure, deduct 45 per cent.
LARGE AREA OF EXPOSURE, exceeding 10,000 square feet and height exceeding intervening distance, increase charge 20 per cent. and add a further 2 per cent. for each 1,000 in excess of 10,000.
FRAME EXPOSURE, increase charge 50 per cent., but not exceeding a sum which shall make rate of risk equal to 80 per cent. of exposure.
IF BOTH RISK AND EXPOSURE RATES ARE BELOW 1 PER CENT.—Take such percentage of final result as the rate of risk bears to 1 per cent., e. g., if 65 cents, 65 per cent.; if 45 cents, 45 per cent., etc.
Total Exposure Charge for all sides.
HEIGHT OF RISK.—If under five stories high, deduct 15 per cent. of total charges for each story less than five. If over five stories high, add 15 per cent. for each story over five, not exceeding 75 per cent.
Deduct 10 per cent. from final exposure charge as working margin. Charge remainder as building exposure. Deduct from building exposure 25 per cent.; charge remainder as contents exposure.	Bldg. ..... Conts.

ELECTRICAL REPORT

Schedule No.

Town..... Street.....

NOTICE

Care should be taken to employ on all electrical work none but the most COMPETENT AND EXPERIENCED MECHANICS, AND OBTAIN FROM THEM A GUARANTEE that the same is in accordance with the published rules and will pass inspection of the Board of Fire Underwriters of Allegheny County. IT IS DANGEROUS TO EMPLOY INEXPERIENCED MECHANICS.

The following paragraphs refer either directly or indirectly to the rules of the National Electrical Code and indicates specific defects and remedies by marginal check marks. Since no concessions will be made, time of the Inspector will be saved and assistance rendered the assured in securing the reduction in rate by covering every requirement specified at once.

If you are unable to interpret any part of the checked paragraphs apply for further information to the Electrical Department of the Board of Fire Underwriters of Allegheny County, Commonwealth Building, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Service Wires, Switches and Appliances.

1. Service wires, where they enter buildings, must have drip loops outside, be separated not less than 6 inches and the holes through which the conductors pass must be bushed with non-combustible, non-absorptive insulating tubes—slanting upwards towards the inside.
2. A main double-pole knife switch must be placed on the service wires in a readily accessible place as near as possible to the point where the wires enter the building within easy access from floor and must cut out the meter.
   Location .....
3. A main double-pole cut-out must be placed on the service wires where they enter the building.
   Location .....
4. Service wires must be thoroughly protected from any contact with buildings or awnings.
5. Service wires must be supported by petticoat insulators on iron brackets.
   Location .....
6. Service wires not in use must be removed.
7. Main switch, now in position, not approved. One or more substantial pattern must be substituted, having heavy metal fittings mounted on slate or marble base.
8. Remove dead and unused wires and fittings.
9.
10. Switches of the Baby-knife type will not be approved.
11. Switches for 25 amperes or over must be equipped with lugs firmly bolted or screwed to the switch into which the conducting wires should be soldered.
12. Hinges of knife switches must not be used to carry current unless they are equipped with spring washers held by lock nuts or pins, so arranged that a firm and secure connection will be maintained at all positions of the switch blades.
13.
14. Snap switches must be mounted on sub-bases on open or moulding work.
    Location .....

Cut-outs and Their Application—Specifications, Etc.

15. Cut-outs required.
    Location .....
16. Cut-outs with porcelain bases, with link fuses, with or without covers, will not be approved.
    Location .....
17. Cut-outs known as "bug" or other designs not approved in fixture canopies, and must be removed.
    Location .....
18. Cut-outs must not be located in show windows or over inflammable material.
    Location .....
19. Any constant potential above 125 volts must be supplied with cut-outs of the cartridge or open fuse link type, slate or marble base.
20. All cut-outs and tablet boards for branch circuits must be placed in distribution boxes. The cut-outs or distribution boxes must be constructed of, or lined with, fire resisting materials. A suitable box can be made of marble, slate or wood, strongly put together, the door to close against a rabbet so as to be perfectly dust tight, and should be hung on strong hinges and held closed by a hook or spring catch. If the box is wood, the inside should be lined with sheets of asbestos board one-eighth inch in thickness, neatly put on and firmly secured in place by shellac and tacks.
    Location .....

21. Exit lights must be taken from a point on street side of main service fuses.

22. Connections on tablet boards must be on the face; if otherwise arranged the wires must be accessible. Distribution boxes for tablet boards with back connections should be provided with doors on both sides for easy access.
Location .....

23. Branch cut-outs should be so placed that no more than 660 watts will be dependent on any cut-out.
Location .....

24. Each arc lamp or series of lamps must be protected by a double-pole cut-out.
Location .....

25. Cut-outs for 30 amperes or over must be equipped with lugs firmly bolted or screwed to the cut-out.
Location .....

26. Cut-outs not approved in following location:
Location .....

27. The fuses in branch cut-outs except for motors must not have a rated capacity greater than that given as follows for circuits at various potentials: 55 volts or less 12 amperes, over 55 but less than 125 volts 10 amperes; 125 to 250 volts 3 amperes.

28. All power as well as lighting circuits must not be fused beyond the rated carrying capacity of the wires. (See Rule 18, National Code.)

29. Refillable cartridge fuses are not approved except Economy fuses, and must be replaced by approved fuses of the plug, cartridge or special open-link type. Permission has been granted for the use of the Economy refillable fuse.
Location .....

Wires, Grades, Sizes, Etc.

30. Wires.
Location .....

31. Wires placed in moulding, conduit or used for concealed work must have an approved rubber insulating covering, also wires used on open work in damp places.
Location .....

32. Wires must be increased in size to be not less than N.....B. & S. Gauge for the feeders and No..... B. & S. for the branches.
Location .....

33. All wires must be thoroughly insulated from any contact with the building, gas, pipes, etc., and must be pulled taut and rigidly supported on porcelain insulators not smaller than No. 5½ or cleats—placed not over 5 feet apart and each side of every cut-out and switch.
Location .....

34. Wires must be attached to the insulators with insulated tie wires; except where split insulators are used, the wrapping or twisting the wires around the insulators will not be approved.
Location .....

35. All splices must be well made, soldered and wrapped with three or more coverings of insulating tape equal to the insulation of the conductors. Where rubber wire is used this will require the use of rubber as well as friction tape.
Location .....

36. At every point where a tap is made on the circuit wires an insulator must be placed on the branch wires to relieve any mechanical strain on the splice.
Location .....

Mouldings, Running Boards, Bushings, Etc.

37. Extra "plaster" bushings are required in plastered partitions.
Location .....

38. Mouldings must not be used in damp places, nor outside of buildings.
Location .....

39. Approved porcelain bushings of the proper length must be used where wires pass through the woodwork or other building material.
Location .....

40. Bushing passing from the floor to the ceiling must be long enough to bush the entire length of the hole in one continuous piece. Circular loom tubing may be used provided it is first encased in iron conduit tubing.
Location .....

41. Porcelain tubes through brick or other walls to be secured rigidly into place.

42. Wires must be encased in moulding, in order to protectthem from mechanical injury.

43. Wires for moulding must be rubber covered.

44. All wood moulding must have, both inside and outside, two coats of waterproof paint or be impregnated with a moisture repellant. It is recommended that only hard-wood moulding be used.
Location .....

45. Wires on side walls must be securely boxed protecting them from mechanical injury. A conduit may be substituted for boxing, in which case each wire must be separately encased in continuous lengths of approved flexible tubing.

46.

47. Wires to be removed from open joists and run on the under side of blackboards at least five (5) inches in width or guard strips not less than 7-8 inch in width and high as insulators must parallel all wires crossing floor timbers, rafters, etc.
Location .....

Flexible Cord, Prohibited and Approved.

48. Flexible cord for portables must be standard.
Location .....

49. Flexible cord for pendant lamps is not approved; only the National Code cord should be used.
Location .....

50. Flexible cord must not be used in show windows for pendants or temporary lighting. Permanent fixtures or receptacles or metal covered flexible cord with proper fittings must be used instead.

51. Flexible cord must not be run across walls or ceilings through partitions or any portion or building material. It will be approved for use only where it can hang freely in the air and must be suspended from a rosette or other approved split insulator placed between the circuit wires.
Location .....

52. Flexible cord drops must be cut to a convenient length and all surplus cord removed.
Location .....

53. Flexible cord must not be used in supplying current to arc lamps.

54. Flexible cord must not be used for connecting any but pendant switches.
Location .....

55. Flexible cord is limited to pendants, portable lamps and small portable motors, and these must be free from any portion of walls or buildings.
Location .....

56. Where extensions are desired use attachment plug socket, with wood handle and metal ferrule and re-inforced cord, so same may be disconnected when not in use. The lamp must be protected by a wire guard.
Location .....

57. Not more than one flexible cord may be hung upon each ceiling cut-out, and all pendants must be provided with a rubber bushing or an approved wood handle with a metal ferrule and approved lined socket.
Location .....

Concealed Work.

58. Flexible or brass conduit tubing must not be used for bushings or runnings to light and switch outlets on brick walls or behind furred work.
Location .....

59. Wires running to light and switch outlets on brick or stone walls and behind furred work must be encased in iron conduit tubing, and must be continuous from outlet to outlet and comply with the rules covering interior conduits. All conduits must terminate in junction or outlet boxes.
Location .....

60. Where wires are fished they must be encased in an approved flexible conduit, running continuous lengths from insulator to insulator, or from outlet to outlet.
Location .....

61. Where armored cable is used, same to be continuous from outlet to outlet and comply with the rules covering interior conduits. (See National Electrical Code.)

62. Bell and signalling wires must be separated from light wiring not less than 2 inches.

63. All light, switch and other outlet wires must be protected with approved flexible tubing, extending in continuous lengths from the last insulator to one inch beyond the gas cap or plaster line.
Location .....

64. Wires in 2 inch partitions must be encased their entire length in flexible tubing.

65. All conduits, armored cable and metal moulding must be grounded. (See Rules 27, 28, 29 National Code.)

66. Junction outlet and switch boxes must be rigidly set and provided with lock nuts and bushings.

67. All flush switches and receptacles must be enclosed in boxes constructed of iron or steel.
Location .....

68. Wires must not be run on upper edge of joinst.

69. In open work ends of all conduit armored cable and metal moulding must be equipped with approved fittings such as a conduit or pipe end, the wires to emerge from same through separate bushed holes.

Fixture Work and Ceiling Fans.

For connecting combination fixtures, see page 19.

70. Wiring will not be permitted in show cases unless enclosed in metal or wood moulding.

71. All fixture wires must have an approved braided rubber insulating covering (flexible cord not approved) and applied as follows:

Arms, No. 18 B. & S. Gauge.
Stems 1 to 3 feet long not less than 18 B. & S. Gauge.
Stems, 4-6 feet long, not less than No. 16 B. & S. Gauge.
Stems, 7-12 feet long, not less than No. 14 B. & S. Gauge.

72. A seven-eighth inch wooden block not less than four inches wide, must be fastened between the studs or floor timbers flush with the back of the lathing to hold the wires in place, also for support of fixtures and switches.
Location .....

73. On iron ceilings, canopy of the fixtures must rest against suitable insulating collars or ceiling plates.

74. Fixture wires in conjunction with conduit systems must be protected from any contact with gas pipe fixture stud or the outlet box.

75. Straight electric fixtures, unless attached to gas or conduit-piping or metal outlet boxes, must be fastened to wood rosettes or blocks properly filled, securely screwed to the lath and plaster.
Location .....

76. Fixtures attached to gas pipes must be provided with insulating joints of an approved type.
Location .....

77. Unused outlet wires to be thoroughly closed with insulating tape and protected from gas pipe or back plate.
Location .....

78. Ceiling fans and cluster lights must be provided with insulating joints or hangers where attached to pipes or iron ceilings.

79. Ceiling fan must be protected with an approved cut-out.

80. Ceiling fan canopies or iron ceilings must be protected with insulating collars or ceiling plates.
Location .....

81. All Westinghouse sockets must be replaced by approved sockets of the Edison type.

Miscellaneous.

82. Arc lamp globes must have wire nettings with meshes not larger than 1¼ inches.
Location .....

83. Weather-proof sockets must be adopted, and circuits to which they are attached should be provided with switches.

84. Starting box or rheostat must be mounted on slate or marble.
Location .....

85. Fuse rosettes and key sockets must not be used.
Location .....

86. Meter must be removed from
Location .....

87. Wires connecting meters must be properly insulated or encased in tubing.

88. Approved tubing must be pushed back in one continuous piece as far as possible on outlet wires.
Location .....

89. Supply conductors and the splicers on the fixture wires must be kept clear of the grounded portion of the insulating joint and the gas pipe. The gas pipe must be covered with an insulated tube having a flange on the lower end where it comes in contact with the insulated joint.
